OFFICE OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE PARSEE PUNCHAYET FUNDS AND PROPERTIES

A good English translation of the Pahlavi Nirangastan has been wanted by students of our religion for a long time. On the recommendation of the Victoria Jubilee Pahlavi Text Committee, the Trustees of the Parsee Punchayet entrusted the work of supplying this want to Mr. Sohrab J. Bulsara, M.A. To show how well Mr. Bulsara has acquitted himself in this difficult task the Trustees cannot do better than quote the opinions of two well-known Pahlavi scholars to whom his translation was submitted.

Shams-ul-Olama Dastur Darab Peshotan Sanjana, B.A., Principal, Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy Madressa, writes : “ એ તરજુમો ‘નીરંગસ્તાન’ ની કેટલીક મુશ્કેલ એખારતના સંબંધમાં તપાસતાં એકસરખી રીતે જોયો શુદ્ધ બની શકે તેટલો કરવાની કર્તાએ કોશિશ કીધેલી લાગે છે, અને તે બધી અને ઉપયોગી કોશિશ માટે હું તેમને મુબારકબાદી આપું છું. એક પહલવી ગ્રંથના તરજુમામાં બે અબ્યાસીઓ વચ્ચે મતફેર પડે તેમ હુબ્બી કેટલાક ફકરાઓના સંબંધમાં જુદી સમજ ઉપજાવું, પણ સામાન્ય રીતે નીહાળતાં એક ઉમંગી અને ખાંતી અબ્યાસી આ પહલવી ગ્રંથના સંબંધમાં પહેલી કોશિશથી જોવો સરસ તરજુમો કરી શકે તેવો આ તરજુમો છે; અને મારી નમ્ર ભલામણ એ છે કે એ ભાષાએ લીધેલી જોડમતના બદલામાં મીઠા બલસારાને મહેરબાન તરતી સાહેબોએ પુરતું ઉત્તેજન આપવું.”

Mr. Behramgore Tehmurasp Anklesaria, M.A., Principal, Mulla Feroze Madressa writes : “ શેઠ બલસારાએ તરજુમો કરવામાં અને ટીકાઓ લખવામાં લીધેલો શ્રમ વખાણુને પાત્ર છે. તેઓ સાહેબના કેટલાક વિચારો અત્યાર સુધીમાં બાહર પડેલું પહલવી સાહિત્ય ધીરજથી જોતાં તેઓ ફરવશે એવી મારી ખાત્રી છે. ... .. ‘નીરંગસ્તાન’ ના પહેલા તરજુમો કરનાર તરીકે હું શેઠ સોરાબ બલસારાને મુબારકબાદી આપું છું.”

PREFACE

WHY THIS WORK WAS SO LATE TO APPEAR

It was not owing to any small importance of the work that these valued portions of the great Hûspâram Nask had been left untranslated so long by scholars. It was rather due to the great difficulties besetting the undertaking. That profound scholar of Iranian, Prof. Darmesteter, wrote about it in his introduction to the translation of its basal Avestan text in the Annales du Musée Guimet: "The translation of these texts presents very great difficulties, in the first place because of the corruption of the text, and then especially because of the technical nature of the ideas which no effort of philology can determine." Darmesteter's may safely be taken as an echo of the opinion of many scholars in the west; and some eminent scholars on this side also have held no other view. One of the most respected and experienced of these candidly opined that the largest possible reward would not incline a scholar to venture the undertaking. Another, equally distinguished, and with a special accomplishment, wondered whether any sense could be made out of these writings.

As a translation of the work was not thus forthcoming, the respected Trustees of the Parsee Panchayet Funds, moved by Victoria Jubilee Pahlavi Text Committee, came to a decision to try and get it prepared under their patronage. And in the earlier part of 1903 their learned Secretary, Shams-ul-Olama Dr. Jivanji Jamshedji Modi, advertised an honorarium for its best translation, allowing two years' time for sending it in. No translation was presented on the expiry of that term. So about the close of the year 1905, Shams-ul-Olama Dr. Modi, with the permission of his Trustees, offered to entrust me the work if I would accept it, and kindly promised an increase in the honorarium. It was no doubt quite a stiff task for a young scholar to undertake. But I had both the leisure and the will to take it up, especially when the offer came from so influential a body; and I wrote to Dr. Modi accordingly. And the work was at last formally entrusted to me in January, 1906, and was finished and forwarded to them in November, 1909.

Indeed I had not quite the fullest idea of the real difficulties of the work at the time I undertook it; but as I progressed through it I gradually realised it to its best extent. At every step difficulties arose, in many places the text was corrupt, and forms of words spoiled; every now and then strange words appeared; quite unknown subjects came constantly before view; special knowledge was usually assumed; many points were indicated simply by hints; and to all these were added the difficulties of the usual curtness of the Pahlavi. And hence special efforts were to be exerted for overcoming them all. All the Iranian languages were to be explored every moment, and Semitic elements were diligently to be searched; numerous contexts were to be sifted to find the exact significations of terms; a good deal of material was to be utilised to throw light on many an obscure point; and above all constant and deep reflection was to be exercised to discover the sense of these difficult writings. The search in single cases extended to hours and sometimes to days, till a satisfactory meaning was found in every instance. And care has been taken to see that not a word is left as obscure, not a sentence unsuited to its context, nor a theme irrelevant to the current of thought. And so a work which was shrouded in darkness is now made as clear as these efforts could possibly make it, and is disclosing for us quite a store of knowledge with features absolutely distinct from what appear elsewhere in our ancient writings.

GENERAL PLAN OF THE WORK

Despite all efforts however to render it otherwise, a certain uncouthness must cling to a work of this nature if it is to be literal; and it is never wise to give quite a free rendering to any ancient work marked with special difficulties. Still every effort has been made, especially by means of glosses, to remove as much of it as possible. And it is hoped that making allowance for the difficulties of the themes themselves, the matter will be found expressed in altogether a clear language.

In the notes affixed to the translation care has been taken to make everything explicit to the commonest reader, hence the scholar must be prepared to find explanations which are quite plain to him, alongside those that may serve him as well.

The type is so used as to make clear the nature of the different elements in the work quite at a sight. The original Avestan text is so constantly corrupt that it has been thought advisable to transliterate it all in Italics. The translation of the basal Avestan text is put in black type to show that it also represents the Pahlavi translation of the Avestan, which the text always places close to the Avestan matter. Whereas the additional or supplementary matter of the Pahlavi is represented in ordinary type. The Pahlavi gives no translation of the Avestan passages that it quotes from other works; still it is thought advisable to give their translations also in English; and they are all enclosed in single inverted commas to mark them out from the rest. Even where the Pahlavi gives the translations, if it omits some words or expressions through error, they too are indicated by single inverted commas. And whatever is to be emphasised is put in spaced type. Whereas all the glosses of the present translator are enclosed in French commas.

The numbers on the margin indicate the folios of the text. A indicates the first side of a folio and B the second, each having a regular number of fifteen lines in the original. When a number is preceded by P. it has reference to the page of the text added from TD to the photo-zincograph of HJ.

PLAN OF TRANSLITERATION

Avestan or Pahlavi words transliterated in the notes are all given in Italics. The rules followed in the transliteration are just these: in the case of Avestan, compound letters, semi-vowels, the pure nasal, the soft dental, and the middle sibilant are all given in distinct type, whereas in case of Pahlavi all abnormal values are distinguished that way. All the long vowels are expressed by the circumflex, excepting the Gathic ǣ which is expressed by the acute accent, and the æ which is expressed by a swerving line over æ. An inverted crescent is placed over cuphonic initial vowels, and also over such as must be suppressed in pronunciation.

As a rule Avestan semi-vowels are transliterated and pronounced in quite a wrong way among students. These errors are obviated here, so that the letters which are wrongly represented by ere and are usually, are here correctly rendered err, rrr, or arr to reproduce their true vowel nature, y and v following i and u respectively are evidently semi-vowels. The pure nasal n must fall under the same category; and so do ss and ff in, for instance, yass-tat and raffdhrahyâ, though modern error reads them se and fe so absurdly. The Avestan metres should have made these pronunciations clear to students long ago, as I was enabled to show in a lecture on Avestan Prosody some years previously.

One more important point regarding the transliteration remains to be explained. There are those words in Pahlavi, purely of Semitic origin, which invariably end in ʔ in the MSS. In their original forms they end in letters which generally represent â, whereas in the Pahlavi of the inscriptions they end in a letter of a peculiar shape which might possibly be corrupted into ʔ. Accordingly modern scholars are inclined to take this terminal ʔ as a corruption of that peculiar symbol, and as representing the sound â. But it should appear strange why, in the first case, the terminal letter assumed an invariable corruption in the case of these peculiar words only and never in other cases, and why indeed, in the second, the ancients had recourse to inventing a special symbol if they did not wish it to represent a value distinct from any that 𐬨 had, and why, in the last, they lapsed into forming a confounding symbol when they had quite a clear letter which they could as conveniently have used in the MSS. as they did in the inscriptions. One might rather think that the ancients did mean 𐬨 to represent man and nothing else, simply because they disliked the harsh Semitic suffix marring the melody of what they wished to remain the "sweet, high-piping Pahlavi." Hence the readers will find this termination invariably transliterated with man in this work, and taken as an artificial suffix which perhaps represents the Avestan man.

PLAN OF TRANSLATION

We may just explain here a little the plan of this translation. Our modern translations generally retain in them some of the well-known and technical names and ideas in their original forms. No doubt this is wise in one way, because in the case of many of them the sense is so condensed and so elastic in detail that it would not be doing full justice to them to attempt their translations, besides that the reader would not easily see in their translations the reference to just those original terms. But while submitting to this difficulty we fall into another of a greater import, because the retention of these terms in their original forms keeps veiled from the comprehension of lay readers just the central ideas, making the whole thing an unmeaning jumble of words. And hence in the present translation it is sought to meet this greater difficulty even at the risk of falling into the other. Still all care is taken to make these translations as suggestive of the original as possible; so that the Ashem Vohu is invariably represented as the Praise of Righteousness, the Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô as the Glorification of the Lord's Holy Pleasure, the Yasna and the Yazeshn as the Holy Thanksgiving Service, the Yasht as the Worship, the Gâhambâr as the Season Festival, and so forth, carrying the same idea into the translation of the various Divine Names, Powers, and Attributes. Indeed the plan adopted is so simple and suggestive that just a little close attention from the reader will make it clear after quite a little practice.

ADJUSTMENT AND CLASSIFICATION OF THE TEXT

For the division into chapters the present translator alone is responsible excepting in a couple of cases where the heading is marked with an asterisk to indicate the chapters which the Pahlavi names. The chapters are numbered according to the basal Avestan text, and whatever additional matter of the Pahlavi can be gathered into chapters is passed under appendices to the basal chapters which such matter follows or intrudes into.

The division into sections also is worked out by the present translator. Every complete idea is separated from another, and numbered. Paragraphs which supply little beyond what is said in statements just preceding are appended to these, and are not therefore numbered distinctly.

In many cases the appendix chapters of the Pahlavi are found in the text in the midst of basal chapters and they are therefore intentionally transferred to the end of such chapters. Such displacements occur after about the middle of the Second Book of the Nirangastân. But intrusive statements of smaller extent occur much earlier as interspersed notes, and may be found from the very commencement of the work. They disturb even the continuity of single sections; still it would be too much trifling with the original text to transpose all such disturbing texts, so in the case of such sectional disorders they are given just as in the original, but the continuity of the broken section is indicated by the repetition of its number with consecutive letters affixed to it.

DISPLACEMENTS IN THE TEXT

It is however evident that not a few of the several displacements in the text are due to the actual displacement of folios in the latter half of the earlier copy or copies of the work, because there are its clearest evidences here. These displacements have not occurred with the folios of the last copies that we have, for, were it so the displacements could not be found in the very body of the folios, but should have consisted of entire folios themselves. Thus the chapter on the kinds of the Milk for the Holy Service is found so early as in ll. 6-23 of Folio 118 and continues so late as at Fol. 136, l. 29; the chapters concerning the Barsom in Fols. 166-168 intervene the theme about the Sacred Vestures, and the chapter on the Varying Numbers of the Sacred Barsom Twigs which breaks off so suddenly at Fol. 168, l. 22, is resumed so late as at 173, l. 11, this case being the clearest of all because the break appears here just in the midst of a sentence; the chapter on the Barsom Band which breaks off at Fol. 173, l. 11, is resumed at Fol. 175, l. 26; the chapter on the Right Manner of Spreading the Barsom has a limb thrown so far off as at Fol. 187, l. 12 although the theme apparently closes at Fol. 180, l. 18; and lastly, the chapter on the Sacred Fuel and Incense which is suddenly found starting at Fol. 185, l. 24, has its opening portion commencing so late as at Fol. 190, l. 17. Whereas a leaf about the Boiling of the Vars is prefixed to the work, and the Colophon to the earliest known copy from which HJ has descended is placed between it and the right commencement of the work. All these discrepancies are however rectified in the translation, and the actual order of the folios as it is, is indicated on the margin for the guidance of the student. The completer and the additional texts from TD are joined up at their right places; and the leaf about the Boiling of the Vars hair which is prefixed to the entire text is introduced as an Appendix at its proper place.

EDITIONS OF THE WORK

There could be no clearer proofs of the displacements than these. And we have already explained how the displacements had evidently occurred before the immediate original of the extant copies was written. This should no doubt be due to a long neglect of the work. As a matter of fact there has been no post-Sassanian edition of the writing, because its latest references are to Sassanian times only, and to the rule of Zoroastrians. And it may be even said that there is not the least sign of any such edition after the time of Chosroes the Great. Indeed it must have been considered too sacred to be touched by later divines although it was in their hands for consultation and study. Whereas later still, it must have found the fate of similar writings which could not be given sufficient attention during the sad vicissitudes of those who held them precious. In any case this work was lost afterwards for an indefinite time either entirely or into the possession of those who could take no sufficient care about it. And it should be some happy destiny that had preserved it even to the extent to which we have found it.

The work however was, as we have just said, in the hands of the Zarathushtrian divines in the early periods just succeeding the glorious regime of the Sassanide ; because it is clearly mentioned in at least one work which was composed then. Indeed it is also quoted in works which were re-edited at that period ; and altogether the Hûspâram Nask or its great sections are quoted or mentioned in Bah. Yt. II, 37 ; III, 29,—in Sh. Lâ-Sh. X, 21 ; XII, 1, 7, 14, 31 ; XIII, 17,—and in Dât. D. LXI, 3 ; LXVI, 1, besides references in the Pahlavi Vendidad, and the summary in the Dinkart mentioned below. Of these the Bahman Yasht, and the Shâyast Lâ-Shâyast appear to have been re-edited in post-Sassanian times also, but they were edited more than once in Sassanian times too, and their last great edition, alongside that of the Pahlavi version of the Hûspâram Nask, no doubt took place during the reign of Chosroe the Great, hence one cannot be certain whether the references to this Nask or its great sections in those works were there already at the time of the earlier editions, or were introduced during their later recensions. Whereas the composition of the Dâstân ê Dinik occurred at quite a definite time, and that is determined to be the close of the ninth century of Christ. So about this date the Hûspâram Nask and its Nîrangastân section were still studied and consulted.

As regards its last great edition there is one important fact which may lead us to a satisfactory conclusion. Indeed, as just said, the Hûspâram Nask and its great sections are quoted in the Pahlavi version of the Vendidad at IV, 10 ; V, 25 ; XV, 22, besides the references in the books named above ; and Dinkart Bk. VIII, Chaps. XXVIII—XXXVII give the analysis of the entire Nask ; and these too evidently have all a reference to the great Sassanian edition, because their own last authorised versions which must necessarily have contained these references, belong just to that period. But besides that, Dr. West has already mentioned the fact that the first epistle of Mânûshchîhar, written about 880 A. D., states in IV, 15, 17 that Nîshahpûhar, whose name we have preferred to read Vakhshâpûhar<sup>1</sup> in this work, was, about the middle of the sixth century of Christ, on the Grand Council of Chosroe the Great, and was Grand Master of the Holy Church, and a great doctor of the Religion. And as his name occurs among the holy doctors quoted in the Pahlavi Vendidad and constantly in the Nîrangastân, these works may safely be taken to have been edited about his time, especially when we remember the facts that all last great editions were prepared at the latest in the time of Chosroe the Great and that there is not the least indication of any post-Sassanian edition.

COMPILATION OF THE WORK

— The interesting question may be considered at this stage as to what ages contributed to build up this work. There is no doubt that the basal matter belongs just to that period when the ordinary Avesta was written. In other words, it belongs to the same age when the Vendidad and the Yashts were written; hence that must be assigned to an indefinite hoary past. Whereas as regards the Pahlavi, at least the portion translating the Avestan, and some of the additional matter could have been prepared as early as in the days of Vologeses I, the pious Arsacide; but if that were not so, it can at any rate be assigned to the time of Ardeshir, the great founder of the second Persian empire, because his illustrious reign is distinguished for a religious revival as much as for the national. The religious activities of the reign of the great Shahpur, under Saint Âtröpât Mâhraspand, must have added considerably to the accretions. Whereas the work must have been cast in its final mould in the days of Chosroe the Great, as we have already just seen.

It is evident that a work of this nature and prepared under state patronage, cannot be the fruit of any individual man's labour. A council of divines must no doubt have sat on illucidating these holy texts; and they must not only have utilised the works of past savants but must also have consulted all their great contemporaries. Some twenty-seven doctors of the religion are expressly mentioned in the work, whereas others are referred to without being named. Of these Afrog, Kîryâtrö-Bûjît, Sôshâns, and Vakhshâpûhar are mentioned the most often, Âzâtmart, Gaôgôshnasp, Mâh-Gôshnasp, and Raôshan being cited less frequently, and the others<sup>1</sup> still less.

There are two things however which might lead one to suppose that if not the whole work, at least its different books were prepared under special doctors. The introductory Benediction prefixed to the second book of the Nîrangastân states that it was prepared and published according to the teaching of Sôshâns, and as Darmesteter has understood it the Benediction prefixed to the whole work mentions Pêshagsar as the compiler of its first book. We have explained below on p. 2 why this last name cannot be accepted to have belonged to any doctor of the religion. Still, after a large portion of the work had passed through the press, the present translator had the occasion to see closely through the Mâtîgân ê Hazâr Dâtastân, and there he came across the word Pêshaksîr used six times altogether in that entire work. It might be that word which might have led Darmesteter to his supposition ; but in all the six cases that the word is found in, it is invariably used in the plural number. This decides that the word cannot be the proper name of any person. Yet the contexts on the support of the radical sense suggest "religious experts" as the most probable meaning ; and hence even interpreting the word this way, the work would be attributed to a council of expert divines, which is just the thing possible to understand.

As regards the introductory Benediction prefixed to the second book of the Nîrangastân, assigning that portion to Sôshâns, there is nothing in the present form of that book which may lead us to take the meaning in quite a close sense, because Sôshâns is quoted in that book itself as often as any of the most frequently quoted divines. That statement however may simply refer to a previous work of Sôshâns having been taken by the council of divines as the base to start their work upon.

EXTENT OF THE COMPLETE WORK

Comparing our work with the analysis given in the Dînkart, Book VIII, Chaps. XXVIII and XXIX, we discover that the portion of the Aêrpatastân that is preserved to us covers simply the matter epitomised in just a little less than the first three sections of Chap. XXVIII, whereas the quantity of the preserved Nîrangastân extends up to the matter condensed in just a little less than the first seventeen sections of Chap. XXIX. In other words the preserved Aêrpatastân is only about a third of the whole that existed and the Nîrangastân a little over three-fourths. The preserved Aêrpatastân is but one Fragart not yet completed ; and the Nîrangastân comprises just three Fragarts complete. Hence the original Aêrpatastân might have about three Fragarts ; whereas Dât.-D. LXVI, 1 bears the witness that the Nîrangastân originally comprised five Fragarts, and that would be just what could be suggested by the actual extent of Dînk. VIII, Chap. XXIX, as compared with the substance of the three preserved Fragarts.

It will be seen that the published translation of the epitome of this work in Dînk. VIII, Chaps. XXVIII and XXIX must want corrections in the light of this translation relating to the complete work. Still surely indeed Dr. West has done the best he could do with the means at his disposal ; and in such a way that we all have to recognise the high merit of his achievement. His task was little better than groping in complete darkness ; and yet with his patient labour, the suggestiveness of his vast erudition in this branch of study, and the flashes the light of his knowledge here must have given him, he has been enabled to have given us a translation so very near the correct.

Placing the analysis of the work in the Dînkart along its entire extent here, we find that the analysis compresses the whole into only about a ninth of its original volume. Such condensation must certainly give quite but a bare outline ; and it does not even come up to the extent of the headlines to the chapters of this translation. This must give us some idea of the vastness of the lost portions of the grand sacred literature of the Zarathushtrians.

It may besides be noted that the basal text and its translation form but about a little more than a fourth of the whole work, whereas the actual basal matter must come up evidently to much less. Such vast accretion is usually peculiar to the legal Nasks, to which class the Hûspâram belongs. It is the seventeenth Nask and corresponds to the word â in the Ahunvar formula. About the names and the classification of the Nasks the reader may be referred to the first chapter of Dinkart, Book VIII, which describes them on the oldest testimony.

THE MANUSCRIPTS

As regards the history of the MSS. I can add little to the excellent information of Dr. West in the Grundriss der Iranischen Philologie, and of Shams-ul-Olama Dastur Darab in his introduction to the photo-zincograph of the MS. HJ which he has edited, and which was stipulated to be the main text for this translation. Still it may be said in brief that the earliest copy from which HJ has descended was written in 840 A. Y. or 1471 A. C. by Shahpuhar Jâmâsp Shatrôyâr Tahworôin<sup>1</sup>-Shatrôyâr. This Shahpuhar Jâmâsp was just the person who had written the letter which Narîmân Hôshang brought to India seven years after. Hence it appears likely that people in India might have come to know about the great work which Shahpuhar had copied. In any case, it appears from the colophon at the end of HJ that a hundred years after, in about 1578 A.C., the grandfather of Jâmâsp Âsâ had undertaken to procure and copy the work, but for some reason or another it could not be procured till 1090 A.Y. or 1720 A.C. and the copy could not be made till Jâmâsp Âsâ prepared it after seven more years had elapsed.

HJ is the copy named after its possessor late Dastur Hoshang Jâmâsp of Poona, whereas the other valuable MS. which is distinguished in the work by the symbol TD and is constantly availed of, is named after its owner late Ervad Tehmurasp Dinshawji Anklesaria. Its date is not known because its colophon is lost, and it is not written by the same hand that had copied the Bundaheshn with which it is tied up, although according to West that Bundaheshn contains colophons and appears to have been copied successively in 1530, 1699, and 1743 A.C. And it is also not certain whether its descent can be traced from the same copy which Shahpur Jâmâsp had written in 1471 A.C., and from which HJ is apparently descended ; still it is plain that its immediate predecessors must be distinct.

Although TD does not go up to the same extent as HJ, it is the better preserved of the two MSS. It can be seen from the notes how often it corrects HJ, although both help each other to give us the most faultless text possible. TD ends at about the middle of the folio 168 of HJ, but besides a better preserved text in the commencement, it has some additional matter after folio 153.

THE TRANSLATOR'S OBLIGATIONS

Now there remains for me the pleasant duty to acknowledge my sincerest gratitude to all predecessors in the field, to the great minds of all times who have worked in all ages to preserve and illumine the knowledge about Iran and her old genuine religion. Among them I have to mention some specially who have rendered me particular and invaluable aid while preparing this work. Prof. Darmesteter and Dr. West are among the first to whom my gratitude is due. Prof. Darmesteter has rendered me substantial help through having worked on the basal matter in a previous attempt, notwithstanding that a greater difficulty was lying with the portions he had left over and with the remaining work. And who indeed is there who has not some debt to pay to Dr. West on having worked at anything Pahlavi? Late Ervad Kavasji Kanga's Avestan dictionary and grammar have been constantly consulted by me, and so have been the late Dastur Peshotan Sanjāna's works. Late Ervad Tehmurasp Anklesaria's peculiar publication Yasna bâ Nîrang has been to me of excellent aid in consulting on modern ritual, although I have invariably striven to verify and supplement that knowledge by seeking informatoin from various Mobeds and Ervads who are engaged in the actual pursuit of the holy profession. Maulawi Fazl-i-Ali's handy Persian Dictionary has been an excellent help for elucidating many an antique word. And last but not least, that excellent work by Dr. Adolf Rapp on the Religion and Customs of the Persians and Other Iranians translated and published in the last seventies by our late savant Khurshedji R. Cama has proved of immense service in gathering the evidence from Greek and Roman writers for the introduction to this work. To all these I inscribe my best and most expressive thanks.

In the end I take the opportunity to express my great indebtedness to the respected Trustees of the Parsee Punchayat Funds and Properties for granting me the benefit of Sir Jamshedji Jijibhoy Translation Fund and assisting me in the preparation and publication of this translation, and for kindly also returning me all rights relating to the same. ## I. THE HOLY MINISTERS OF THE NOBLE ZARATHUSHTRIAN CHURCH

THEIR GREAT POWERS

The whole antiquity thrills with the glories of the Persian race; and none the less glorious is the fame of its holy divines. To all ancient world they were the most sapient of sages, most profound of philosophers, and most holy of adepts. Their vision, to traditions, penetrated all past and all future, and read the destinies of men and of nations. It was that vision which led them to the infant Christ<sup>1</sup>, and foretold the blessings of his mission to mankind. It was that vision which divined the events of the holy wars<sup>2</sup> and predicted the lives of the Anointed Cyrus<sup>3</sup>, of Artaxerxes the Sassanide,<sup>4</sup> and of the ill-fated Yazdajard<sup>5</sup>. It was that vision which presaged the fall of the mighty empire<sup>5</sup> and prepared a refuge in the guarded and hidden valleys of farther Iran.<sup>6</sup> And it was that vision which read the whole past of the world's creation,<sup>6</sup> and the future of its happy end.<sup>6</sup>

It should be a high spirituality indeed which could be so far-reaching and so glorious. And the sages of the past have borne a testimony to that eminence in a way so as to convince. The learned Greeks looked upon them with awe and reverence; and not on mere hearsay did they learn to admire and venerate them, for many of them had known them personally, and were struck with amazement at their greatness. Indeed they have noted facts which speak so highly of those divines, that they leave us to marvel if really these holy men have left behind them none of their eminent orders, and only the corrupt phase of their quite lowest ranks. The seed so highly sown however can never die out altogether, and may bloom into its fullest blossoms some day again.

THEIR QUALIFICATIONS

All that is said by the writers of the west finds a clear support in the Zarathushtrian writings; and among them the work we present in the following pages is one of the greatest value. The very first chapter of the Aêrpatastân strikes a note of the brilliance of the holy orders. The selection of the candidates was to be made most cautiously and with the highest standards. A soul yearning after Righteousness alone could be fit; and that fitness was to be judged by a vote of expert divines<sup>1</sup>. The Dinkard would require him to be wise, righteous, and happy in God,<sup>2</sup> as the Pahlavi elsewhere would want him to be innocent, discreet in thought, word, and deed, and truthful<sup>3</sup>. The Vendidad must see him patient, grateful and good-hearted, in contentment, in composure and in peace<sup>4</sup>, and seeking divine wisdom to the extent of sitting up all night to fathom and imbibe it<sup>5</sup>; whereas the Nîrangastân must find him intelligent and bright<sup>6</sup>, vigilant and careful<sup>7</sup>, benevolent and liberal, and inspired with the noblest charity and holiest love<sup>8</sup>.

While selecting the candidate all physical, mental, and spiritual disqualifications were to be taken into account. The Aêrpatastân could not allow for the candidature one deaf or dumb, blind or maimed, asthmatic or sickly<sup>9</sup>. And the Âpân Yasht carried the disqualification further to the leper, the hump-backed, the deformed, and to one with disorderly teeth<sup>10</sup>. The Aêrpatastân would not again have the dull or the idle<sup>11</sup>, and the Nîrangastân would reject the profane and the perverse<sup>12</sup>, the transgressor and the sinful<sup>13</sup>, the rebel and the heterodox.<sup>14</sup> And again the Âpân Yasht would bar the tyrannous, the wrathful, the fraudulent, the coward, the mean, the miserly, the prodigal, the lustful, and the wicked<sup>15</sup>.

INSTRUCTION AND STUDY

These are but some of the standards of selection; and the care taken to allow in just the most fit, made the holy fold purer and nobler. Nay the selected candidate was to be placed under a chosen preceptor. The preceptor was to be a divine decidedly most virtuous, most clever, and most wise<sup>1</sup>. He was to have the highest imparting powers, and the readiest will to explain and to solve<sup>1</sup>, and the kindest zeal to teach and to instruct<sup>2</sup>. A divine who had passed all criterions of the holy fold, and had shone afterwards through his brilliance, could not but prove an efficient master and the successful creator of a holy race.

The times of study were the early dawns and the mornings, and the afternoons and the forenights<sup>3</sup>. The student was to expand his knowledge, to raise his mind by instruction and training, and to lift his soul by sacred discipline, by holy practices, and by divine rites<sup>3</sup>. And among these he was to develop the most fixed concentration<sup>4</sup>, not inwardly alone but outwardly too on things and on men.<sup>4</sup> He was to imbibe all holy knowledge<sup>5</sup>, and was above all fully to drink in the ambrosial knowledge of the Holy Songs of Zarathushtra<sup>6</sup>, and to realise to their best extent their great power and holy efficiency for human blessings and for world's salvation<sup>7</sup>. His naturally sweet voice was specially to be trained to a calm rhythm and a silvery sweetness of the highest melody<sup>8</sup> to enable it to thrill the hearts of men and to lift them to the holy realms of Heavenly Song, and of Divine Pulsation.

THE INITIATION

The candidates were thus carried through the choicest of courses of this noble instruction for full three years at the least for their mere initiation into the holy orders<sup>9</sup>. That was necessary for the initiation only, because their progress under higher masters continued for years and years afterwards. At the end of that three years' instruction the candidate for holy initiation was placed, according to Lucian<sup>10</sup>, under a special master. The initiation ceremony commenced from the new moon day and continued for full twenty-nine days. Each day the neophyte was bathed in the morning, and the initiating master recited holy texts with his fullest concentration on Divine Glory as he faced the rising sun during the while. Invoking thus holy powers he gazed thrice in the face of the youth, reading the standard of his spirituality and inspiring in him the glory of the holy life both at the same time. This continued each day of that lunar month; and every day of that month they ate nothing but fruit, drank nothing but milk, honey, and water, and slept only on the verdant pile of the emerald lawns of the green, and under the radiant and sapphire vault of the glorious heavens. At the end of that period the master took the other to a great noble stream, had him bathed in its purest waters, and having him wiped clean perfumed him with soothing fragrance which charmed the body and lifted the soul, reciting the glorious texts all the while; and then he invested him with the sacred vestures of wisdom and purity, and the priestly robes of holy divinity.

THE TRIPLE ORDER

After the initiation, as Strabo has said, they plunged deeply into holy life<sup>1</sup> and steadily rose higher in spiritual scale. Naturally the Mazdean divinity formed into a spiritual hierarchy of the highest order. The mention in the Âpân<sup>2</sup> and Behrâm<sup>3</sup> Yashts of there having been three sacred orders has puzzled our scholars a little as to their exact nature. But Porphyry has noted for us the valuable information that three things marked out distinctly the Mazdean priests into three holy orders. The lowest regulated their diet, and avoided many a thing the common people ate. The middle specially abstained from the meat of domesticated animals. And the highest and the most learned did not only abstain from all animal food, but even avoided the vicinity of butchers and hunters.<sup>4</sup> According to Diogenes Laertius<sup>5</sup> they dressed themselves the most plainly, slept on naked ground, and ate vegetables, cheese, and light bread. This would then show that the life led by the neophyte and the initiating master for the month of initiation, and described from Lucian above, would be but a cope of the daily life of the highest of Mazdean divines. And Diogenes even says that they used little sticks to help them to eat their things with the highest purity. Clemens has gone to the extent of noting that they completely observed sexual abstinence. No doubt the Zoroastrian scriptures are not only averse to asking the laity to live the life of celibacy, but knowing well the frailty of human nature as a whole, are even strongly advocating married life not only for the layman but also for the ordinary priest. Still indeed if the higher order of souls should prove themselves quite above the stings of passion, there is no reason why the ancients might not have allowed them that life of the purer ideal, limiting it, without any special recognition, to that noble band of quite a few<sup>1</sup>. One need not ask why Righteous Zarathushtra who was far far ahead of the best of them all, married; for, if he did marry he had then to see that nothing in his life was such by which the generality of mankind, to lift whom he had come on his holy mission, might be misled to an ideal quite impracticable for them, and involving the greatest danger to human morality and to animal progress.

THE QUINARY ORDER

Besides the triple there is also a quinary hierarchy distinguished in the holy Zarathushtrian Church. We know that its highest pontiff is called Zarathushtrôtema; and that holy dignitary is associated with four other of decreasing rank,—the Dakhyuma, the Zantuma, the Visya, and the Nmânya. If we but look to the holy texts of the five Gâhs, and Visp. I, 9, for instance, we can immediately perceive that taking these four as lay ranks is quite a blunder so often committed by scholars. The temporal ranks, it could have been seen, all end in paiti and <sup>1</sup> It should be noted, however, that if this highest order was not formed quite directly but arose by progress through lower ranks, this abstinence might not cover their whole life but might commence at its later stage only. This would make quite a difference; but the point is not clear.

hence they must be distinct from these other. We shall treat this subject more fully in the second part of the Introduction, on the Mazdean ritual. Still it need just be told here that in many cases the Mazdean philosophy becomes understandable only when, with the help of philology, we discover a higher sense in the special sacred terms with apparently commonsense meanings. In Sufeeism, for instance, "fire" does not mean the fire of the material hearth, the "wine" does not mean the alcoholic drink, the "tavern" does not mean the public house. And Mithraism will supply other instances of the kind. In not a few cases has the Iranian mind found it well to express itself in symbolism, and that with a reasoned purpose. We must find that symbolism in the Avesta too; or else we do not always understand it.

Strangely enough it is philology of the most decisive type which comes to our aid in restoring the higher symbolical meanings in the Avesta, and not mere hypothesis. Nmânya<sup>1</sup> radically ought to mean the Steady, Visya<sup>2</sup> ought to mean the Advanced, Zantuma<sup>3</sup> ought to mean the Enlightened, Dakhyuma<sup>4</sup> ought to mean the Beatified, and Zarathushtrôtema<sup>5</sup> ought to mean the Radiant Ones shining with the halo of the Golden Glory. They evidently mark the stages of the advancing soul. And this becomes further obvious from the association of Brrrjya, Sâvanghi, Frâdat-Fshu, Frâdat-Vira, and Frâdat-Vispâm-Hujyâiti, respectively with those terms. These last signify the Aspirant, the Benefitted, the Advancer of Natural Prosperity, the Advancer of Nobler Humanity, and the Advancer of all Good States in Being, each for each. Hence no doubt these explain the states of the rising spiritual grades. And as Zarathushtrôtema did signify a pontifical dignity, the rest too must have indicated the other grades of the hierarchy.

THE OCTONARY ORDER

Besides the triple and quinary grades there is also an octonary classification having a special reference to the holy ritual. It comprises the offices of the Hâvanân, the Âtarvakhsh, the Frabrrrtar, the Âberet, the Âsnatar, the Raêthwishkar, the Zaotar, and the Sraoshâvarz. The Haoma, we shall see below, indicates the Glow of the Life Eternal; and these grades of divines have a reference to its evolution and attainment. The twenty-seventh chapter of the second book of the Nîrangastân describes their respective functions, and we can just see that those functions have a direct reference to the exact state of each grade. Thus the Hâvanân marks the state of one who is involved in the Strain and the Toil of Life<sup>1</sup>; the Âtarvakhsh is one who has raised in himself the Glow of the Life Eternal<sup>2</sup>; the Frabrrrtar is one who is overflowing with the Spirit of Sacrifice<sup>3</sup>; the Âberet is one who has acquired the Lustre of Heavenly Glory<sup>4</sup>; the Âsnatar is one who has attained the Purity and the Polish of the Life Eternal<sup>5</sup>; the Raêthwishkar is one in whom Life is awakened to Union with Eternity<sup>6</sup>; the Zaotar is one who has established Spiritual Concord with the Being Supreme<sup>7</sup>; and the Sraoshâvarz is the Lord of Prophetic Visions and the Dictator of Heavenly Commands.<sup>8</sup> These holy ranks indicate the rising order of divinity, each of whose grades has a special qualification to fulfil the function assigned to each office in the holy ritual, as can be quite clearly seen on the smallest reflection.

MINISTERIAL OPERATIONS

All these three standards of grades point to the most highly spiritual ideals as their basis. And we have already seen how well these ideals had been worked out in themselves by these noble divines.

A holy graduation started on so choice a selection and perfected by so glorious a system of training and discipline could not but prove quite a worthy band of brilliant souls to guide the right progress of humanity to the glories of heaven and the felicities of the beatified life. There are exceptions to the rule everywhere ; but there is little doubt that the noble part played by the ancient glorious Persian race in the history of the world was in a great measure due to the influence and exertions of their holy order of divinity. Indeed their energies for ministering to the spiritual wants of mankind were so great that they not only moved out of their centres to districts close at hand <sup>1</sup>, but also proceeded to distant lands for the spread of Truth and the diffusion of Heavenly Light.<sup>2</sup>

POLITICAL INFLUENCE

Their functions were not limited to Religion pure and simple ; they were as much active in society and in the affairs of state. They commenced their influence in state early with having the education of princes in their hands. Plato, Cicero, Plutarch and Nicolaus Damascenus have noted that the divines instructed the princes in righteousness, in truthfulness, and in law. In other words they initiated them in religion, in morality, and in politics. And as the guardians of the holy church they had the privilege to perform the coronation ceremonies, investing the new monarch with royal robes and regal insignia amidst a superb ritual.<sup>3</sup> These close associations, begun so early, were continued ever afterwards. And the divines always exercised a beneficent influence on the monarchs in all affairs of state. Indeed in Sassanian times at any rate they often filled the office of the Prime Ministers of the Empire. And we see from such works as Mâtigân ê Hazâr Dâtastân that the high church dignitaries were invested with great powers in the government of social affairs which they exercised with vast wisdom and with immense benefit to the people. History has told us how, for instance in the reign of Chosroe the Great, they took pains to see that none of the subjects of the vast Empire suffered through any erring official of the Government.<sup>1</sup> According to Agathias they officiated as judges too; though indeed that could not be their special function, excepting perhaps in the social government just mentioned.

PROFICIENCY IN THE HEALING ART

According to the Avesta the priest is the spiritual physician; and that point is most clearly borne out in a passage<sup>2</sup> of the Ardibehesht Yasht which deems the holy divine the best of healers and the most efficient physician, far above all the rest. Now this has a reference to his being a curer through the holy word which appeals directly to the spirit and touches the very foundations of life.<sup>3</sup> The soothing charm of the Holy Thought and the Holy Word to the aching soul and the paining body has always been well known. But these ancient divines did not rest content with that alone. They sought other means of cure too. According to the Vendidad, Thrîta, who was a prince and a priest, was also the first great healer<sup>4</sup>; and he had sought it not only through the holy word but also through herbs and surgery and possibly through chemicals too.<sup>5</sup> Ever since that the priests had pursued this noble art diligently; and we find from ancient western writers like Pliny how proficient they had become in their days even in that sacred pursuit, and what wonderful discoveries they had made therein.<sup>6</sup>

POWERS OF DIVINATION

They even scanned the heavens and read the stars: and their close observations not only advanced them far in astronomy, but also led them to infer the influence of stars on the destiny of men. The Zarathushtrôtema and the Sraoshâvarz grades, according to explanations given above, were placed so much in touch with the divine, that it could be quite according to expectations if they did claim to possess high prophetic powers as history has apparently proved and antiquity attested. We have stated at the very commencement that the ancient Mazdean divines did exercise, with their other noble attainments, divination too as one of their special accomplishments. Indeed, in their perfection, they were just the souls fitted to fathom the depths of futurity and the abyss of the past.

NOBLE SERVICE OF THE WORLD

The high knowledge they thus attained enabled them to retain a peaceful calm despite universal upheavals and sweeping revolutions of time. They were souls so highly reliant on the perfect wisdom of God, His triumphant Power, and His noble benevolent plans, that they could not but be composed in the peace of that high knowledge, and in the all conquering might of Virtue and Truth. With their sublime spirituality, with their marvellous attainments, and with their benevolent and beneficent occupations, these holy divines were just the proper ministers for the salvation and happiness of all the human race.

Such then is a brief picture of that noble order of divinity which once ministered to the spiritual wants of millions and millions of mankind, lifting them fast and far above the average level of humanity, and enabling them to play a glorious part in the world's great history and to fill the pages of its most brilliant epochs. That holy order is all but gone now ; still let every Zarathushtrian minister of today hold up that again as an ideal before his vision, let him rise to the greatness of that noble end and with all effort in his power strive to reach it by all possible holy means; and the glories of his high mission may yet dawn on him, and may enable him again to attain that benevolent nobility which once had won him the affection of the world and the esteem of mankind.

II. THE GRAND RITUAL OF THE MAZDAYASNAS

THE GREAT PROBLEMS

The Mazdean genius soared to the highest flights of holy search, and arrived at truths too sublime to be gauged by the common intelligence of the ordinary man. It therefore clothed some of its loftiest ideas in symbolism, preserving thereby the precious knowledge it had attained, and at the same time making it understandable in some form or another to the whole generality of mankind. Its search ranged along life and nature, and truth and virtue, and found that the Universe is governed under a settled, inviolable, beneficent plan,<sup>1</sup> by One Supreme Being 'having boundless Wisdom<sup>2</sup>, infinite Love<sup>3</sup>, most sublime Righteousness<sup>4</sup>, and limitless Power 'to do good<sup>5</sup>. It realised that the Universe<sup>6</sup> is vast and unbounded<sup>6</sup> and exists in inseparable association with infinite Time<sup>7</sup>, and that God rules it out of mere Benevolence<sup>8</sup> to lift all world to be like Himself<sup>9</sup>. It found too that man is playing a great part in the Universe, the beauties whereof are designed to raise him to the glories of Heaven and the charms of the Everlasting Life<sup>10</sup>.

Much has been said of Angra Mainyu, Ahriman, or the Principle of Evil as it has been understood by students of Zoroastrianism; and no doubt the idea has been personified in some of our sacred writings themselves; but one who reads our Scriptures closely and catches their right spirit and logical import, finds nothing else in the idea but the sum total of the inevitable Defect in the rising Soul, and of the Suffering and Sorrow, and Disease and Affliction which accompany it through Moral Causation, effecting also corresponding Corruption and Loss in the Physical World.

THE ESSENTIALS IN RITUAL

The Everlasting Life in its glorified state is represented in Mazdean Theology by Haoma.<sup>1</sup> And the whole of the grander ritual of the Mazdayasnas centres round that holy idea. The aim of human life is the lifting of itself to its best condition; and the evolution of that condition is represented in the Haoma ritual, and is marked by five stages of gradual rise. These stages are symbolized as the five Gâhs or Gâthas. The second book of the Nîrangastân treats of the Services of these five Gâhs,<sup>2</sup> alongside the Service of the Holy Saps,<sup>3</sup> evidently because the Holy Saps represent, besides the principles of health, beauty, and grace, also the lustre of the glorified life attained through the cleansing of life therewith<sup>4</sup>. The other essential in the holy ritual is the Holy Flame, the principle of Holy Vitality represented in all life and in all light, and comprising energy, health, and happiness<sup>5</sup>. Ideally it is the glorified state of Divinity in its supremest splendour, and is always represented at the holy ritual by the sacred fire blazing before the attending congregations and guiding their thoughts to the sublime, beneficent, and gladdening radiance of God, and His Holy Perfection<sup>6</sup>. These three form the basal elements in the grander ritual of the Mazdayasnas. Everything else pertaining to ritual and described in the Nîrangastân is accessory only<sup>7</sup>.

It must however be remembered that the divine ritual in every instance has been dedicated to one or more or all of the Holy Names of the Deity, even when it has been celebrated for the peace of a departed soul, or for rejoicing the spirit of the faithful. In whatever services they celebrate, the grateful and reverent Mazdeans invariably glorify the Holy Name of God and sing the goodness and beneficent sublimity of His Holy Power, and express their everlasting gratitude and love for Him, and devoutly applaud the beauty, the majesty, and the boundless utility of His noble works<sup>1</sup>.

FIVE STAGES OF THE LIFE ETERNAL

We have just seen that the whole Mazdean ritual turns round the Glow of the Life Eternal, the Holy Sap, and the Holy Flame, and also that the illumination of the Endless Life is divided into five stages, and that these five stages are known in Mazdaism as the Gâhs or the Gâthas. We shall therefore now consider, on the basis of the Avestan texts glorifying these Gâhs, their exact nature and import.

The first stage is the Ushahina as we find it in our text<sup>2</sup> and as we ought to take it for evident reasons<sup>3</sup>. In common sacred practice the Ushahina is placed last, not because it is really so, but apparently because the average man or the average divine has already passed it. It marks just the Dawn of the Illumined Life when there arises consciousness<sup>4</sup> without strife or struggle, when the soul just hears the Voice<sup>5</sup> of Heaven<sup>6</sup> and feels the facts of Eternal<sup>6</sup> Truth<sup>6</sup>. The stage is yet steady<sup>7</sup>, because it precedes the stage of the moral and intellectual strife, and because in it the soul can only receive and perceive, but cannot distinguish. Still however, the soul is awakened in it to a state of the Aspiration<sup>8</sup> to know, and is rising to shake off the dark shades of moral unconsciousness and to emerge into light.

The next stage is the Hâvani. Here the soul becomes awakened to light and finds itself confronted with the strain and strife of moral and intellectual consciousness.<sup>9</sup> It is not subject merely to the Voice of Heaven,<sup>10</sup> but perceives the Justice<sup>11</sup> and Friendship of the God of<sup>11</sup>

Heaven, and begins to ask itself Questions <sup>1</sup> on Existence and on the Government of Life's Things and of the Universe.<sup>1</sup> Every strife in experience and every step in progress lift the soul into higher knowledge; and despite its pains, it feels itself benefitted<sup>2</sup> and advanced<sup>3</sup> at that experience and that growing consciousness.

The third stage is the Rapithwina. It is the mid-stage of spiritual Illumination. And through that Divine<sup>4</sup> Justice and Love<sup>4</sup> which the soul has been experiencing from the earlier stage, it now becomes lifted into the Warmth<sup>5</sup> and Ardour of the True Devotee,<sup>5</sup> and begins to discover the Prospering<sup>6</sup> Holy Word of Meditation,<sup>6</sup> which calms the strain of spiritual strife and establishes a rhythm between the soul and nature and promotes<sup>7</sup> Prosperity in Life and in the World.<sup>7</sup> Accordingly, the soul in this stage finds itself enlightened<sup>8</sup> and illuminated in a marked degree<sup>8</sup>.

The fourth stage is the Uzayêirina. Here the Warmth and Ardour of the True Devotee experienced by the soul in the previous stage, become so overflowing that the currents<sup>9</sup> of Holy Lustre and Divine Magnetism<sup>9</sup> begin now to flow from it to all about, and fill everything with life, animation, and brightness. And the Higher Questions and the Holier Meditations experienced in the earlier stages fetch it the Delights<sup>10</sup> of Knowledge and the Joys of True Experience<sup>10</sup> which always accompany the enlightened ones. And both by example and by precept the soul promotes here in itself and outside, a Nobler<sup>11</sup> and a truly Illustrious Type of Humanity<sup>11</sup> and finds itself in the Beatific<sup>12</sup> State<sup>12</sup> of superior felicity which is the peculiar lot of nobler and higher souls.

note 4 on p. xxxiv, Int. I.

The fifth, the last, and the highest stage is the Aiwisruthrema. It is the stage of the most supreme spiritual illumination when the soul finds itself in so perfect a concord with God and Nature that it experiences in it the divine music<sup>1</sup> of Higher Voices and Sublime Intonations,<sup>1</sup> and the beatific<sup>2</sup> consciousness and the divine apperception of the Realised Self.<sup>2</sup> The expansion<sup>3</sup> of the soul reaches here its farthest growth and gladness, and attains supreme peace and usefulness.<sup>3</sup> And hence it becomes promoter<sup>4</sup> of all Good States in Being<sup>4</sup> through the high efficiency of its beneficence and holy power. And through that sublime state of itself it shines<sup>5</sup> with the golden glory of the most magnificent self-illumination and holy lustre.<sup>5</sup>

THE HOLY EQUIPMENT

It can easily be seen that these five stages are most splendidly conceived, and do deserve constantly to be held before the eyes of mankind by their embodiment in a magnificent ritual and a noble symbolism, alongside the glorifications of God's Holy Names, Attributes, and Powers. And agreeably with this lofty aim the holy doctors of Mazdaism have prepared such an appendage for that grand ritual as has few parallels in the religious history of mankind.

The officiating divines as well as those having the services performed are required to be the most pure in body and mind<sup>6</sup>, and the most devoted in heart.<sup>7</sup> And they are to dress themselves in vestures specially sanctified and endowed with rare virtues.<sup>8</sup> They are then to equip themselves with a holy apparatus intended to utilize as much of the subtler science as the ancients possibly knew, to create the most beneficent results for themselves and for all the world.

Q. Their first equipment comprises the sacred shirt and girdle. And these are understood to be "a protection to the body and something far better for the soul."<sup>1</sup> They are prepared from approved materials<sup>2</sup> specially sanctified, and are to be put on in ways particularly laid down,<sup>3</sup> so as to shield the body and to float the soul.

Dressed in these sacred vestures, the officiating divines are required to be fully acquainted with the efficacy of the Holy Word,<sup>4</sup> and to know how to use it aptly in the holy ritual.<sup>5</sup> It is upheld and always implied in the holy ritual of the Mazdayasnas that the Holy Word does not simply fix the mind of the worshipper on lofty ideals and high aspirations, but also that it is intended to create just those holy environs in the spiritual as well as the physical atmospheres,<sup>6</sup> as are fitted to the end in view, and refreshing and helpful to the contemplation of Holiness.<sup>6</sup> The Holy Word is used not only throughout the grand ritual, but also at the holy Preparatory Service and at marking and hallowing the holy Precincts<sup>7</sup> for the performance of the Main Service itself.

THE SACRED FIRE

The first thing to strike us within the sacred Precincts marking the space for the holy Service, is the Sacred Fire.<sup>8</sup> The glory of the Holy Flame ever strikes the mind and elevates the soul. Whereas its purifying energy not only rids the atmosphere of all impurities and fills it with life and animation for all breathing it, but is also instrumental in creating pyro-electricity<sup>9</sup> with that of other kinds<sup>10</sup> so apparently sought in the holy Mazdayasnan rituals. So that it also contributes to the concentration of all the nobler forces in Nature to help the beneficent effects of <sup>9</sup> There can be no other meaning in the officiating divine touching the edge of the fire-altar with the fire-spoon after having established contact with the other priest or priests by holding one another's hands, and also in his touching with that spoon so charged, the vessels containing the consecrated things. Even though the principle may have been forgotten now, the practice clearly points to a thermo-electricization.

those grand and subtle operations. We have already seen above the elevating symbolism of the sacred flame.<sup>1</sup> But alongside the sacred fire are also to be found in the holy precincts the sacred Fuel<sup>2</sup> and the sacred Incense<sup>3</sup>; and these symbolize the fuel of good deeds which feeds and the incense of virtue which perfumes the Holy Fire of Life.<sup>4</sup>

We cannot pass further without noticing a curious fact which while most strange in itself, finds a further support in our well-known traditions. We have already described the great virtues and powers of the ancient Mazdean divines. Among their marvellous achievements is one related by the ancient writer Pausanias. He had found among the Lydians that there the Magi could ignite the sacred fire in a mysterious way. The qualified Magus entered the holy of holies, he says, and placed dry wood on the altar, and recited certain holy chants before it, and lo! the wood ignited of itself without the medium of any other fire and blazed with a glorious light.<sup>5</sup>

THE HOLY WATER

The next thing within the sacred precincts is the Holy Water.<sup>6</sup> It symbolizes the Holy Sap whose profound meaning we have already seen above.<sup>7</sup> In other words, it represents the healthy circulation of the Sap of Life and the consequent beauty, grace, and lustre which accompany all virtuous and healthy Life.<sup>8</sup> To mark the contributions unendingly poured by generations of mankind to the ocean of the Holy Sap in their adoration of the Beautiful and Illustrious Life, the Mazdayasnas symbolize them by their holy libations so constantly and variously poured in their noble rituals.<sup>1</sup> But according to a mysterious under-current characterizing them, none of these libations can be poured at any other time excepting the time of daylight.<sup>2</sup> The apparent sense seems to run to some physical effect<sup>3</sup> beside the fact that the glorification of the Holy Sap must never be dissociated from the lustre of the Illumined Life.

<sup>5</sup> Pausanias, V, 27, 3. Apparently the virtue is claimed to the efficacy of the Holy Word, though the less believing would attribute the phenomenon to the peculiar virtues of the combustibles themselves. That too at any rate would show in these ancient divines the special knowledge of those little known virtues and of combining them properly to attain the desired end. But so much has been said on the side of the efficacy of the Holy Word, and so often among various nations, that despite the lack of demonstrations in the present age, one may be led to take it with greater respect. Cf. also what Hindu Music claims for the Dipak Râg.

THE BARSOM

The sacred Barsôm draws our attention next. The twigs are now represented by metal rods; but both our holy scriptures<sup>4</sup> as well as the testimony of the ancients<sup>5</sup> say that originally they were the twigs of some sacred tree. Without doubt, they have a reference to the Tree of Life<sup>6</sup> which is a symbolism of the growing life in all departments of nature<sup>6</sup>. The Barsôm therefore points to the ideals of High Growth, inviting us to the sublimer, more lofty and more efficient, more controllable and more luminous planes of Life. But a little reflection leads us to suppose that it also is intended to perform an important scientific operation. The fact that the twigs have for a long time been replaced with metal rods, and that these are bound together in varying numbers and constantly held up and laid down on a special stand by the officiating divine during the sacred operations, at once suggests to us a purpose to generate a mild electric current by the contact of heterogeneous metals<sup>7</sup>. Indeed the idea of using the Barsôm for the purpose of electrization need not be considered as a novelty latterly introduced into the service on the metal rods replacing the vegetable twigs: the ancients might have discovered a similar effect in certain vegetable twigs also<sup>8</sup>.

<sup>7</sup> No doubt the rods now used are not of heterogeneous metals; but that may be due to the modern priests having forgotten the real purpose.

<sup>8</sup> Cf. electro-biology. Some fish and fur-animals give electric shocks at touch. If animals can, vegetables too may exhibit similar powers, though perhaps less palpably; and one becomes confirmed in such views when one learns about the highly instructive studies of the well-known Indian scientist, Dr. Bose.

THE VARS, THE MORTAR, AND THE PESTLE

The idea of electrization is quite clear in the case of the Vars ring<sup>1</sup>. The tying of the hair on the metal ring and briskly rubbing or agitating it during the sacred operations can have no other sense. The constant splashing with it of the water in the basin before filling it in for sacred purposes must evidently be for its special purification<sup>2</sup>; and the same must be the purpose of using it while straining the prepared Haoma drink<sup>3</sup>. And so long as the pestle and mortar would be of heterogeneous metals the same might be the purpose of ringing the mortar with the pestle in a way peculiar to the pounding of the Haoma in the sacred ritual<sup>4</sup>.

THE SACRED DRINK

Creating these subtle forces in so various ways and with such minute attentions must not only be for chastening the atmosphere and for enlivening the bodies and brightening the intellects of the devout ministers and their pious congregations<sup>5</sup>, but also to enhance the efficacy of the sacred drink so carefully expressed and compounded<sup>6</sup>. The Sacred Drink represents the Water of Immortality, and the enormous labour and care bestowed in its preparation, point to the long and laborious way to Conscious Immortality. Its components are the Haoma,<sup>7</sup> the Urvarâm, the Sacred Water, and the Milk. And these represent, as we have already hinted, the Glow, the Growth, the Sap, and the Pure Nutriment of the Life Eternal. The part played by each of these in lifting the devotee to the highest stage of the Glorified Life is essential, subtle, toilsome, and long. But the pious aspirant patiently strives on, and at each step he sees newer vistas of beauty and sublimity unfolded before his eyes through his heavenly progress on the Noble Path of Duty and along the Life of Glorification.

<sup>6</sup> The ancients always thought in these matters that however innocent the components of such mixtures might in themselves appear to be, the resulting mixture, when properly prepared, always exhibited wonderful powers.

<sup>7</sup> Recall the testimony to its ancient use from Plutarch's Isis and Osiris, 46, and the Sanskrit Soma.

DRON AND AFRINGAN SERVICES

Besides the Grand Haoma Ritual, which underlies each of the greater services, there are smaller rituals too. The most constant among them is the service of the Dron Consecration<sup>1</sup>. It forms an essential and initial part of the greater services themselves, and is otherwise constantly performed in other associations. Another again is the holy Âfrîngân service<sup>1</sup>. Both these comprise the holy bread, butter, wine, water, and milk, and flowers, fruits, and sweet and fragrant herbs. These are intended to represent, besides certain symbolic meanings, all the bounties God in His eternal goodness has provided for our use; and the devotee presents them in the spirit of devotion, sacrifice, and thanksgiving to the glorification of some Holy Name of God, or for the peace of the soul of some faithful.

DEDICATION AND SACRIFICE OF ANIMALS

As a rule butter and milk represent the animal world and win our gratitude for their creation and utility for spiritual advancement. But the following pages<sup>2</sup> will also disclose what is already made known elsewhere<sup>3</sup> that animals too were dedicated and sacrificed in the holy services of the Mazdayasnas<sup>4</sup>. In view of what has been said of the highest order of Zarathushtrian divines avoiding animal food altogether,<sup>5</sup>

<sup>4</sup> This is noted here merely as a fact current among our ancient people, and not as an essential element in our ritual. It seems to have been associated with ritual simply because when the ancients slaughtered animals for meat, they seem to have thought it a pious thing to dedicate, with philosophical associations, the best of them, before destruction, to the Creator of all Life. Indeed Righteous Zarathushtra has so strongly deprecated destruction of life in such writings as Yas. XXXII, 12, that animal sacrifice could not be given even the most desultory place in strict Mazdean Ritual.

this ought to appear strange. And indeed it forms no essential part in Mazdean rituals; but recalling the highly mysterious and symbolical associations animal sacrifice had in, for instance, Mithraism, that great branch of Mazdean theology, we may conceive the same associations in these cases also. It was symbolical, for instance, of breaking up and dissolving the transient body and separating the imprisoned soul to soar up to the realm of spirit and meet there its kind, a symbolism of the effort again vastly laborious, toilsome, painful, and long. This may also find a further support from the fact that in the great Haoma ritual the prepared sacred drink is finally poured into a body of water, apparently symbolizing the ultimate union of Life with Eternity.

GLORIFICATION OF FRAVASHIS, OBSEQUIES, AND MARRIAGE SONGS.

Some rituals are also specially devoted to the Fravashis<sup>1</sup> or the Eternal Spirits and Ideals which aim at a union with the Holy Idea of Perfection and the most Excellent Good Mind.<sup>2</sup> Here too the widest sweeps of thought cover all eternity and disclose the most perfect blessing in those ministerial conceptions, and the ideas soar to their highest grandeur of comprehensive thought, and vividly hold before the eyes of man the splendours of the Everlasting Life and of Eternal Heaven. Even from their obsequies to their marriage songs the same grand ideas pervade the beliefs of the Mazdeans. While the vicissitudes of life in the strife and strain accompanying its long and heavy way to Everlasting Blessing are impressed on us by the former as essential and patiently to be borne with the idea of the happy end,<sup>3</sup> the realisation of the beatific state of the union of Life with Paradisial Eternity through mutual help and the bonds of love is foreshadowed by the other.<sup>4</sup>

THE GRAND CONCEPT

Behold then here an image of the grand Infinity in its clearest and most cheering conception! How brilliant and luminous the whole idea is, and what a glorious garb it is given! What beneficence is sought in its impression, and what a halo thrown round its name! And how well indeed have the Mazdayasnas upheld the holy concept when never in their pious devotions have they been seeking favours through flattering addresses or through temporary offerings! Ever have they been placing before the Altar of Heaven their devout glorifications, dedications, thanksgivings, and pious aspirations in the Holy Temple of the Most Blessed Good Mind, and ever indeed have they been dedicating them to the Most Benevolent and Beneficent Goodness of the Most High and Most Wise Ahura Mazdâ<sup>1</sup> Who is the Friend, the Brother, and the Father of the glorified saint<sup>2</sup> as much as of the poor erring soul.<sup>3</sup> May we not then hope and pray that these pure ideals of the Mazdayasnas may again revive in the world and fill it with that condition of Happy Peace which ever is the lot of the pious and devout souls? And may we not then pray for the disappearance of unhappy discord from all creeds, all nations, and all the world<sup>4</sup>?

<sup>4</sup> A great deal more might still be said on many an other point reflected in the following pages; but that would swell the bulk of this work beyond its proper limit, hence we have had to be content with focussing such points in the Index from which the reader may build up any further dissertation he may choose to construct.

P. 13 In the NAME of the Creator, the Perfect<sup>1</sup> in Himself<sup>1</sup>, the Virtuous, and the Most Wise Lord of the spiritual and the earthly ones, «with prayer» for the health, victoriousness, fame, and happy state of him<sup>3</sup> for whom are<sup>3</sup> written<sup>4</sup> «the Aêrpatastân<sup>5</sup> and» the Nîrangastân, and with the supplication<sup>6</sup> «that» in being<sup>7</sup> taught<sup>7</sup> «and in» being<sup>8</sup> learnt<sup>8</sup> they<sup>3</sup> be FELICITOUS.

<sup>2</sup> 𐬨 is manifestly the personal pronoun and equivalent of the Semitic olman. It is without doubt the precursor of the Persian او. Some nevertheless think that the appearance of this form here is due to an error arising out of the confusion of olman with ol, the preposition, and the substitution of its Aryan equivalent 𐬨 (â-ô). This explanation apparently sees a proof in the fact that in Pahlavi texts there is sometimes met with ol where evidently olman should have occurred. But surely this is due to nothing more than an error in pronunciation committed by one who read the text aloud for another who wrote it down as he heard it pronounced.

Darmesteter reads the word Pêshagsar and takes it to be the name of the expositor of the first Fragart of this work; but besides the unfamiliar form of the name, it should be very strange that a doctor so much concerned with an eminent work should not be mentioned but once again anywhere else in Pahlavi literature, not even in this work itself.

ON THE HOLY PURSUIT

CHAPTER I

ON THE QUALIFICATIONS OF THE ASPIRANT FOR THE HOLY OFFICE

1. Kô<sup>2</sup> nmânahê athaurunem<sup>3</sup> parayât? Which «individual» of<sup>4</sup> the house<sup>5</sup> shall proceed to<sup>3</sup> become the pursuer of the sacred calling<sup>3</sup>? i.e., who from the house<sup>5</sup> of the good ones<sup>5</sup>

<sup>1</sup> As already noticed what follows is not all Nîrangastân, but constitutes up to Folio 27, l. 19, the previous portion of the Aêrpatastân; hence that extent of the text which comprises about the eighth of all the text we have, should be brought under the latter denomination.

<sup>2</sup> The text has 𐬕𐬀 of which 𐬀 is Pahlavi but can be a corruption of the Avestân letter 𐬀. Shams-ul-Olamâ Dastur Darab proposes to correct this corrupt form into yô; but certainly we want an interrogative here, and the Pahlavi mûn in this case may be supposed to render the interrogative kô rather than the relative yô. 𐬀..... is perhaps a fragment of a Pahlavi word belonging to some preceding text that is lost, and 𐬀𐬀 (mô) can easily be seen to have been corrupted from 𐬀𐬀 (kô) by an inversion of the Avestan letter 𐬀 into 𐬀.

Darmesteter reads the word knmô and remarks that n is evidently an error of copy for a vowel, and that that vowel which resembles n most is e or é which should give kemô from a base kama which is precisely the base he has assumed for the Afghan interrogatives kôm and kam. He further observes that the Pahlavi chî-kâm-châi also assumes the form kâma. One however sees no necessity to go so out of the way to discover the correct reading here.

As it is already so believed, it seems that the sacerdotal household only is intended. And what follows on page 14 is rendered accordingly; nevertheless one may hesitate to assume that the laity were altogether excluded so early as that from pursuing the holy calling. Under any circumstance however the candidate was required to show special qualifications before his admission into the sacred pale shall proceed to attend the duties of the Holy Doctorship<sup>1</sup>?

3. When a great man is very<sup>7</sup> friendly<sup>7</sup> towards the soul, then notwithstanding that he is great he will proceed «to attend the sacred function».

P. 14 4. Behold, when it so happens that where a single man ought to be able to proceed if two together «only» are able to go<sup>8</sup>, then they are not in propriety «in that respect». Nevertheless when they do proceed «to the sacred function» then if their «right» friendship towards the soul is manifest, then shall they have proceeded well qualified<sup>9</sup>; because a person in little worth in the soul cannot commence the duties of the Holy Doctorate.

<sup>3</sup> The truest friend of the soul is he who loves and follows righteousness, for righteousness procures the soul's highest good.

<sup>4</sup> Darmesteter has read these as one word here as well as in the fragment from the Zend-Pahlavi Farhang, which he has numbered 25 in his edition. But probably it is erroneous to do so; whereas our reading is understandable, and ista may be taken as the agentive noun from ish=to be a man of means; cf. isti=wealth; means. This likewise removes Darmesteter's doubt as to whether the reference is to age or power, even as the Pahlavi simply renders by mas=great.

<sup>5</sup> This is a strange word, although Darmesteter tries to improve it into yaoishtô, and to relate it with Sanskrit yavishtha=the most youthful; but it seems that the reference is rather to means than to age.

<sup>7</sup> Dôstar may be for dôst-tar, but we have the Persian comparative dôstar similarly.

<sup>9</sup> It is not quite plain whether this qualifies the previous statement by permitting the two together under special conditions; still however as the special condition of being a true friend to the soul is mentioned just above as a necessary qualification of every aspirant for the sacred office, hence it may seem that there is perhaps no intention of qualifying the previous remark.

5. The criterion of one's having little worth in the soul is such that when one is not «sufficiently» good to pursue the duties of the Holy Doctoratè one is to be held as having little worth in the soul<sup>1</sup>.

6. Gaôgôshnasp said: Behold, when a person is too bad to pursue the holy learning, then as soon as one is entirely the most qualified must one proceed «to the sacred function», for thus «should it be» the best<sup>2</sup> «in that case».

2B, —yim vâ ainîm hadhó-gaêthô<sup>3</sup>, or who is unto another a partner in property, i.e., a member<sup>4</sup> «of the sacred» association,<sup>5</sup>—

7. The association is to be for<sup>6</sup> this object<sup>6</sup> that whenever one may have to proceed for the «spiritual» guidance of those «of the people» it may be possible «for one» to entrust one's property to a director<sup>7</sup>; for they must indeed be in<sup>8</sup> a very odd condition<sup>8</sup> if just when one may have to proceed for the «spiritual» guidance of

<sup>1</sup> If one be found too dull, neglectful, or wicked to learn anything of the sacred knowledge, that should be a manifest sign of such a one's soul being of little worth. And one who is so low in the worth of the soul can have small regard for the soul and its real good.

When one has some defects which disqualify one from pursuing sacred knowledge, one should not rest satisfied with such a condition, but should apply oneself diligently to remove those defects, and on removing them, should undertake the sacred duty.

<sup>5</sup> Hambâgîh; Av. ham = among those together, and baj = to divide; to have a share. Otherwise hambâzîh, Pr. همبازی (ham-bâzî) = association.

Darmesteter observes that the priests form a true business association, and recalls Bhâgariâ = shareholders, the appellation of the Navsari priests.

One may however simply see here a reference to the association of priests working in the same centre and under the same temple, and helping in one another's duties and affairs. References to such associations will also be found elsewhere in our text.

2c. — hazaosha<sup>2</sup> pâongha<sup>3</sup> chayân.<sup>4</sup> «whom» those other good brethren «of the order» 'have chosen' unanimously and of their own free choice for guidance<sup>5</sup> in higher questions.<sup>6</sup>

CHAPTER II

ON THE CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH ONE HAS TO PROCEED TO THE HOLY OFFICE

P. 15 1. Para paoiryô âiti; He shall go out for the first time «in the year» in the manner I shall presently describe,<sup>6</sup> when he has been attached<sup>7</sup> «unto a duty outside»,—there is one who says thus,—when he has to proceed to attend the duties of the Holy Doctorate ; para bityô âiti ; para thrityô âiti. he shall go out for the second time ; he shall go out for the third time<sup>8</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> Indeed without a satisfactory arrangement for the management of the affairs of the priest going out on duty to a distance and for some time, a confusion may result in the priestly fold, and much material loss may be sustained.

The candidate for the sacred office is not only required to possess the above qualifications, but is also unanimously to be chosen to the membership of a sacred order by its constituent members.

<sup>6</sup> The conditions and circumstances under which he has to proceed are described below.

<sup>8</sup> Members of every priestly order had to proceed to special places under their ministry to attend the sacred office once every of three times in the year ; so that once every four months they could return to the centre of their order if they had to attend any affair there ; if however their presence was not specially required at the central place they could remain the whole year round at their special office ; see below, P. 19, l. 3.

Verily, as regards «the circumstance of» these bounties,<sup>12</sup> the bounties<sup>12</sup> «must be understood to exist» in that case «only» when the land is standing with crop<sup>13</sup>.

Parâyaiti is subjunctive, and can be analysed thus : 𐬨𐬀 + 𐬀 + 𐬨𐬀 + 𐬀 + 𐬀 + 𐬀 + 𐬀.

<sup>4</sup> He knows to manage property so well that all other members of the order are below him in that respect, and so he is entrusted with the entire management of the financial affairs of the order, and none else can replace him in that capacity without causing loss to its properties.

The sense is that just as a land which stands ripe with crop will waste it if the man in charge forsake it, and the loss will be just so much as when it be stolen, and the man will be held responsible for such a loss, similarly, a priest in charge of a property will be responsible for any loss or injury to it if he leaves it without entrusting it to some other, even though that loss or injury be not owing to actual theft, robbery, or damage, but simply to want of care.

3. Dât-Farrokhô said : Surely, «the idea of» the robber cannot apply in this «respect», because the robber does not «of his own accord» go away from things of value<sup>1</sup>.

4. This «indeed is» manifest from the Avesta «the text of Holy Wisdom, that» the priest<sup>2</sup> shall not depart<sup>3</sup> from the Way of Propriety<sup>3</sup> ; «and he shall» distinctly «study» the Sacred Teaching in the Law and the Commentary, «even as it is said :—» Kat Dâtahô Zarathustrôis ? ‘What of the Zarathushtrian Law’?

«Surely» as the Avesta has given : Maghnô Mûthrô. ‘The Plain Holy Word’.

P. 16 5. «One shall proceed to it» when the way is not more «distant» than thirty<sup>5</sup> Parasangs<sup>5</sup> from the house «as the text says»: thrikhsh-aparem hathrôkem<sup>6</sup> ‘the whole distance of three nights «and days»’, and when in money there is suffered no greater<sup>7</sup> expense<sup>8</sup> than thirty Dirhams<sup>9</sup>. «But because the text says :» Gaêthanâm<sup>10</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The statement of Dât-Farrokhô arose probably from a remark of some doctor that as the land left unreaped is said to be robbed of its fruit, so the man who leaves it so, may be called its robber, and similarly the priest who leaves unguarded the property under his control, may be called a robber. Dât-Farrokhô replies that the idea of a robber cannot apply here, because a robber will rather take with him the things of value than leave them behind.

<sup>3</sup> Patmân ; Pr. 𐬱𐬀𐬭𐬀, lit.=the proper measure ; the golden mean. It is distinguished from Frêhebût (= excess) and aibibût (= deficiency) which in Pahlavi writings are both recommended to be avoided.

Four Mads made a Zôzan or a Dirham, and 4 Zôzans made a Stir. These relative values however seem to have varied.

It is possible to read here Zôzan 3 ; or again, if we take 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀 to be corrupt for 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀, that must give the figure 60. But if the reference is really to the expenses of the journey, the 3 Dirhams should be too little for them ; for, a daily journey of 10 Parasangs or about 40 miles cannot easily be conceived to have been performed on an expense of one Dirham only even in those simple primitive times. Such a long and rapid journey must have required the services of a riding animal like the horse, the camel, or the mule, and an attendant. All this could hardly have cost only one Dirham daily. A daily expense of ten Dirhams may therefore be taken as a fair estimate of the real cost.

asprrrnô<sup>1</sup> avôit<sup>2</sup> 'He shall help the full prosperity of wealth,'<sup>3</sup> «so» verily if «there appear» to one the great danger of «incurring the risk of» an Arrdôsh «of 30 Stîrs<sup>4</sup> or of personal injury, then if» yô avadha<sup>5</sup> aiwyâsti 'one «proceed to» apply oneself to studies there,' «that shall» not «be» lawful;—ay it shall not be lawful even if one go â paiti brrrtîm errjistâm<sup>6</sup> 'for the sake of the most valued gift.'<sup>7</sup>

6. When the way is further distant than thirty<sup>8</sup> Parasangs, «while» it is allowable if one go, «it is also» allowable if one do not go. «But» when there is the danger of «incurring the risk of» an

This quotation indicates that because one has to help the full prosperity of wealth, one shall always be careful where another good action comes in conflict with this interest, that if the cost thereby to be incurred to wealth be disproportionately great and in no manner saving some real risk, that good action be given up. Zoroastrianism of course forbids all inattention to worldly affairs : if earthly goods were of no use, God would never have created them ; and he has not created them to be mere allurements : they have each their proper employment in the Righteous Government of the world ; and when one has wealth, one has also the means of doing so much good. If men use wealth badly, that is no fault of wealth itself ; it can be the means of achieving much happiness and peace, though these be not the final Happiness and Peace of Supreme Spiritual Excellence, but only the steps on the way leading on to them. Zoroastrianism has therefore determined the attainment, preservation and right use of wealth as lawful, though of course and always subservient to pure virtuous excellence.

As however the term originally signifies a hurt actually done, the reference may here be to a personal danger on the journey; see Vend. IV, 17.

7. Thus it is manifest that whenever it may be required to proceed to the Thanksgiving Service, «it should always be remembered» that while it is lawful to proceed unto it when expense in money is up to thirty<sup>3</sup> Dirhams, it is not lawful when expense therefor in money is essentially<sup>4</sup> greater.

9. There is however one who says thus : Verily, both these may be realised even thus : the Sacred Learning may so be attended to, that as « may be » the worship even so will it have to be fulfilled, and the sin that can<sup>7</sup> be performed<sup>7</sup> may be kept<sup>8</sup> under complete<sup>9</sup> control,<sup>9</sup> so that for each and all in the world it may not thenceforward be necessary to be with disease and affliction.

10. Verily, this shall be achieved by the son<sup>10</sup> of Zartôhesht,

12. Katârem âthrava<sup>10</sup> athaurunem vâ parayat, gaêthanûm vâ asprrrnô avat? Which of these two which I just mention «shall» the priest «do»: shall he proceed to the duties of a pursuer

<sup>3</sup> It appears to be a noun from Av. 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 = 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀=to bestow, and seems to be related with 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀.

<sup>4</sup> The text has 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬀𐬭𐬀, but cf. Vend. III, 2 where the word is rendered 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬀𐬭𐬀 by the Pahlavi. The word may have been shortened from 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬀𐬭𐬀 + 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬀𐬭𐬀.

<sup>5</sup> This seems to be the imperative, Parasmaipada, second person plural of 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀. If so, the root is treated as belonging to the second class, though of course ordinarily it belongs to the third.

<sup>9</sup> The priest's fee is to be determined even though that is to be nothing more than Truth's Blessing ; and Truth's Blessing will be the sure fee of that priest who performs his duty so whole-heartedly that not even the worst influence can prevent him from pursuing it.

<sup>10</sup> Thus HJ ; TD has 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬀𐬭𐬀.

perity of wealth, that is to say, manage lordship over wealth.

better than to attend the duties of the Holy Doctorate.<sup>2</sup>

Doctorate is better than to observe<sup>4</sup> the monthly sickness.<sup>4</sup>

*Even if a wolf «should fall» upon the homesteads—'; «and» from this it is clear that to observe the monthly sickness is better than to manage wealth, on the consideration of this that the observance<sup>6</sup> of monthly sickness is better than anything whatever<sup>7</sup>; «but in view of» Yêzicha aêsha daênu—'If this female—' to

<sup>2</sup> Evidently the reference is merely to some individual act of attending the Sacred Lore which individually may not be considered so weighty an affair as managing the very means of maintenance.

וְעַתָּה in the texts which both are imperfect and incomplete here.

The deduction from this and the previous statement together is that to manage lordship over wealth is better than to observe the monthly sickness.

<sup>7</sup> This must be the import of the text which is here referred to, at least as the writer here has understood it ; but another doctor whom he just quotes, holds a different view. As however we have not the whole text to see the correctness of one interpretation or the other, we are not in a position to pronounce any opinion in this case. The writer however has, from his own stand-point, applied correct logic to detect the fallacy in the argument.

make it thus otherwise cannot be<sup>1</sup>.

15. There is one who says thus : Surely, to manage wealth is better than anything whatever «of these<sup>2</sup>; and the sense of» Yêzicha aêsha daênu—‘If this female—’ «is this that» to attend the duties of the Holy Doctorate is for removing disease and affliction<sup>3</sup>; «and in the text» Yêzicha vêhrkô gaêthô—‘If a wolf «should fall» upon the homesteads—’ it is about the wealth of others that we speak, that the wealth of others should be looked after before one’s own<sup>4</sup>; «because the text P. 19 says» Paoiryûm dim<sup>5</sup> varem âdrrrzayôit hé yâ<sup>6</sup> hvahê<sup>6</sup> hvanem<sup>7</sup>—‘First one shall make secure the wealth of another rather<sup>6</sup> than one’s own<sup>6</sup> belonging—’— «The text here is» defective.<sup>8</sup>

16. Chvat nâ âthrava athaurunem hacha gaêthâbis<sup>9</sup> parayât? How often for money<sup>10</sup> shall he who is a priest proceed from the property<sup>11</sup> unto the priestly office? that is, according to

<sup>1</sup> It is said above that to attend the Sacred Lore is better than to observe the monthly sickness, in view of which it cannot be maintained that the observance of monthly sickness is better than anything whatever.

<sup>2</sup> Indeed to attend the Sacred Lore must in its best sense be understood to be the highest boon for human salvation as that can remove all our faults and ills; but as we have already said above, merely an individual act of attending it may not be considered so weighty an affair as managing the very means of maintenance.

<sup>3</sup> And hence, it is for removing the evil of the monthly sickness, and so better than it. The words margîh va rîshitakîh have already occurred at P. 17, l. 3 in the same relation as here; hence the critic here may be the same who spoke there.

<sup>10</sup> Khvâstak (?); the text has ܡܕܢܐ; if it be read dûkhêst it may be translated “pay”; cf. Pr. ܡܕܢܐ=to pay, to perform,

17. Yat hīs, thris yā hama aiwis-iti.<sup>1</sup> According to «the extent of» those «riches», up to three times in the year shall he go; that is, every four months once shall he go again.

18. Indeed, in a doubt<sup>2</sup> when one does not know whether one<sup>3</sup> has made proper arrangement for the management of the property,<sup>4</sup> one shall go back once every four months. If however one knows that one<sup>5</sup> has made proper arrangement for the management of the property it is lawful if one attend the duties of the Holy Doctorate the whole while and go not back.

19. When one knows that one<sup>3</sup> has made no proper arrangement, then «surely» it is not proper unless one go back at the required times; P. 20 but this is not clear as to at what<sup>5</sup> time shall one go back.

20. Behold, Dât-ê-Âtrō-Aûharmazd has said that one must go «to the holy office specially<sup>6</sup>» on the occasion of the Fravartînikân,<sup>7</sup> «the days sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences»; and then whenever<sup>8</sup> one can go «only» for one out of these two,<sup>9</sup> one shall go for studying,<sup>10</sup>

𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬀 according to the Pahlavi translation means “year,” and must therefore be corrupt for 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬀 = summer. Darmesteter observes that the corresponding Sanskrit Samâ and Armenian Am have both the sense of “year.”

Aiwis-iti seems to be verb, present, Parasmaipada, third person singular.

<sup>7</sup> These constitute the days that fall at the end of one year and the commencement of the next.

and one shall not go for offering<sup>1</sup> the thanksgiving praise,<sup>1</sup>—verily because, as he said, fruit will have come to the world at this time.<sup>2</sup>

21. He who said « this<sup>3</sup> » to refer to the spiritual world<sup>4</sup> « maintained that » one should go back every four months 3 times.<sup>5</sup> « But according to » athaurunūmcha<sup>6</sup>—‘and of the priests—’ once « every four months » is evident from the Avesta, « the text of the Holy Wisdom ».

22. Chvat aiwistim<sup>7</sup> parayat? How far shall one go for the sacred study? i.e., how far is the limit of the way up to which it will not be lawful unless<sup>8</sup> one go?

23. Thri-khshaparem<sup>9</sup> hathrâkem<sup>10</sup>; khshavas khshafnô âcha paracha, Up to the way of three nights’ measure which includes<sup>11</sup>

<sup>2</sup> The time of the Fravartinikân evidently, which thus must have fallen at harvest time when this was written.

The time of earthly toil being over and of enjoying its fruit with rest having come, the priest may well proceed to attend higher duties.

<sup>6</sup> This text is cited to make the following point clear, and not that which we had just above, probably because hama might have made it doubtful to the ancient scholars whether the reference was really to the year or only to the season, and whether it signified three times in the year or three times every of the seasons.

<sup>7</sup> Cf. Aiwistis of Yas. IX, 24 where also it is rendered apar-aûshmoreshnih which is the Aryan equivalent of madam-manitûneshnih that is found here. The word may be traced to Av. 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬎𐬀, lit.=“to be seriously about anything,” hence,=to study.

The form of the word in the text is aiwistem; but the forms elsewhere all suggest aiwisti as the correct base.

<sup>9</sup> Khshapara signifies the whole day of 24 hours commencing at nightfall, as distinguished from khshapar or khshapan the period from nightfall up to dawn; cf. Vend. V, 12; VIII, 9; IX, 33, etc.

<sup>10</sup> About hathrâkem Darmesteter remarks that it comes from hâthra the well known measure, and has here the general sense of measure simply; cf. West, Bûnd. XXVI, 1 (note). It however seems to indicate the whole distance for traversing, and may well be derived from 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬎𐬀 = altogether, and 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬎𐬀 = to go. The form is also to be found in Yt. X, 66 with a different signification.

nights as well as days;—note that «this distance is of» 30 Parasangs—
«and that which will take» 6 ‘nights for going and returning’.

P. 21 convenient<sup>8</sup> with the quadrupeds.<sup>9</sup>

25. Yô baoyô<sup>10</sup> âêtahmât parditi, If a person has to go

<sup>1</sup> Cf. Yas. LXII, 5 where this is quoted in relation with the time of repose, and also Vend. IV, 45 where the time for study and rest is specified.

<sup>2</sup> A Hâsar was a measure both of time and distance, but evidently a Hâsar of time is meant here because the Avestan quotation indicates time and not distance.

See West’s valuable notes to Bûnd. XXVI, 1, and Sh. Lâ-Sh. IX, 1, and notes 5 and 7 below.

<sup>5</sup> As 10 Hâsars thus correspond to a third of the day and the night, the whole day is given 30 Hâsars of time; see also below at Fol. 16, l. 27, though elsewhere the numbers assigned it are smaller; see West’s notes referred to in note 2 above.

<sup>7</sup> This must signify that one Hâsar of time was just the time requisite to walk over a Hâsar of distance with average speed. One should then have traversed ten Hâsars of distance in ten Hâsars of time in the morning, and an equal number in the evening; thus one would have travelled altogether in the whole day and night twenty Hâsars of time and twenty Hâsars of distance, spending the remaining ten Hâsars of time in halting every day in the middle of the day and of the night. As our text has said that the total distance to be traversed in 3 days was to be 30 Parasangs, the journey of each day would be 10 Parasangs; and we have just concluded it to be 20 Hâsars, hence 10 Parasangs must be equal to 20 Hâsars in this case.

<sup>10</sup> This may be a word not preserved elsewhere in the Avesta, and may mean “a person” from the root 𐬨𐬀, as having the same form as in 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀, 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀, etc. Otherwise it may be corrupt for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 as Dastur Darabji suggests, though that form will not fit easily into the meaning.

further than that, i.e., further than the proper measure of way, noit paschaêta an-aiwistim âstryêitê.<sup>1</sup> then that « person » shall not be held culpable for not<sup>2</sup> teaching,<sup>2</sup> i.e., if one do not attend the Sacred Lore one shall not then be sinful.

26. Note that either<sup>3</sup> of these two shall do<sup>3</sup>: (1) when in 3 nights and days 30 Parasangs can be traversed, one must go that far, «but» it is allowed if one do not go farther; and (2) when in 3 nights and days «only» 10 Parasangs can be traversed, it is allowed if one go «only that far and no further».

CHAPTER III

ON THE CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH A WOMAN MAY PROCEED TO HELP AT THE SACRED FUNCTION

1. Katârô athaurunem parayât, nâirika vâ nmânôpaitis vâ?
Which of the two shall proceed unto the sacred ministry, the lady<sup>4</sup> or the master of the house, i.e., the husband<sup>5</sup>?

2. Yêzicha va<sup>6</sup> gaétháo vîmá,<sup>7</sup> katârô parayâdt. If both<sup>8</sup> «can have» control<sup>7</sup> over property, i. e., if both can manage wealth

2  $\frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2}$  is wrong for  $\frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2}$ .

It appears from this and elsewhere that besides the complete management of the home affairs ladies were allowed a goodly share in the general life of the community by the ancient Iranians. That they could perform some sacerdotal functions is evident from here, from Fol. 62, l. 29, and from Sh. Lâ-Sh. X, 35, etc.; whereas according to Dink. Bk. VIII, XXII, 21 they were even fit for judgship. Darmesteter quotes Anquetil who says that according to Dastur Darab, his master, two women who were no Jûddins could perform even the functions of the Râspî and the Zôti.

best, either of the two<sup>1</sup> may go—Sôshâns said—to attend the duties of the Holy Doctorate. Nairyô<sup>2</sup> ratus-karô<sup>2</sup> nmânô-paitiṣ gaêthdo, nâirika parayât. If «only» the master of the house «can<sup>3</sup> have» the 'proper' control<sup>3</sup> over property, i.e., if he can manage wealth better, the lady shall go. Nâirikâi gaêthdo vis,<sup>3</sup> nmânô-paitiṣ parayât. If the right control over property «be due» to the lady, i.e., if she can manage wealth «better», the master of the house shall go.

3. Indeed,<sup>4</sup> from this it may be inferred that women can well be fit for «even» the guardianship of the Fires, aye, that they can be so fit even where the Varharân Fire «dedicated to Victory»<sup>5</sup> is enthroned.<sup>6</sup> «But according to» Nôit avachina dâitîm vaênât . . . 'It shall not be looked upon as so lawful . . .', it is plain that «in that case» that shall be lawful «only» for the Service of the Novitiate,<sup>7</sup> verily because this Fire has in itself the other Fires.<sup>8</sup>

4. Behold, there is one who says thus: Verily, they are always fit for the Service of the Novitiate as is manifest from the passage

<sup>3</sup> Nominative singular of vi = control (?), a word which may be traced to Av. vi = to encompass. If however nâirikâi which, is an irregular dative, be wrong for nâirika then vis must be taken as an adjective applying to that term.

<sup>8</sup> Perhaps the Farnbâk, Gôshnasp, and Bûrân-Mitrô Fires; cf. Bûnd. XVII, 9; or rather perhaps those of the inferior temples that are collected along with others from various sources, to form the Varharân Fire. The writer says that it may be inferred from the foregoing that women may be eligible for officiation at the Sacred Fires and even at the Varharân Fire; but at the same time he quotes an objection in view of an Avestan text which allows officiation by women at the seat of the Varharân Fire, only in the Service of the Novitiate. Cf. below, Fol. 63, l. 20, ff.

. . . , ' and this must also be the case where there is «needed» no fire in the place.<sup>2</sup>

5. Yô anyêhé nâirikâ<sup>3</sup> andhakhtô<sup>4</sup> athaurunem paranghachâiti,<sup>5</sup>
 If one take with one the wife of another without<sup>6</sup> instruc-
 the sacred ministry,'<sup>8</sup> notwithstanding that «her lord» may have P. 23 told thus: "Go to attend the Sacred Lore," but may not have said as to with whom to go,<sup>9</sup> kat hê vâ ashîm<sup>10</sup> vrrrzyât yâ nâirika, nmânô- paiti vrrrzyêiti?<sup>11</sup> then in that case,<sup>12</sup> shall the lady perform for that «person» righteous<sup>10</sup> obedience<sup>10</sup> unto the Reverend<sup>13</sup> Lord<sup>13</sup> even as she must perform on «advice from» her husband?

6. Vrrryýt usaiti, nôt anusaiti. She may perform it if she please «and be» willing<sup>14</sup> for the risk,<sup>15</sup> but not if it may not please her.

<sup>8</sup> Vâch Dâtôbar. Otherwise "at the command of the Judge"; cf. Fol. 8. 1. 18 where we have vâch-ê-dastôbarih. It is not plain whether this freely renders athaurunem or whether it is a mere gloss. In the latter case we must supply the rendering of athaurunem, as that will not then be found in the text.

7. Âhakhîbô paranghachâiti, «Whereas» if one takes her off to help, according to instructions and with the permission of her lord, then vrrizyât usaiticha anusaiticha.<sup>1</sup> she shall perform it<sup>2</sup> whether she be willing or unwilling; so that it shall be proper

8. Note that while she is thus engaged to perform what is fit for men to do even as what is fit for women to do, it will not be lawful if she do such things as dressing and adorning the head<sup>3</sup> and washing
 6 B the clothes, while her duty<sup>4</sup> «is» to perform thanksgiving service upon the sacred Drôn cake. Even<sup>5</sup> so<sup>6</sup> in this «case she has to keep» the foundation of matrimony<sup>7</sup> according<sup>8</sup> to propriety,<sup>9</sup> so that she must not let it be corrupted; for if she were to let it be so corrupted, she would be faithless<sup>7</sup> to her husband.<sup>7</sup>

9. Frôit<sup>8</sup> varé<sup>9</sup> paranghachâiti, âkâo hazangha,<sup>10</sup> andkâoss-<sup>11</sup> tâyus. If one take her off to help with the evil<sup>12</sup> intention<sup>12</sup> of . . . . .<sup>13</sup>, and if with «all apparently» clear

<sup>5</sup> Dôk; it may also be read danak, Pr. دن = passion; the translation must then be "the seat of passion."

The woman must fully understand the duty to which she is called, and not let it be disturbed by petty attentions to toilet, or by evil-intentioned advances of others or her own flirtations.

10. This however is clear from the Avesta «the Holy Wisdom» that if it so happen that although one take her with the intention of . . . ,<sup>6</sup> still if one do not . . . <sup>7</sup> one will not have such . . . in<sup>8</sup> actuality.<sup>8</sup> But when «one has it so» in actuality, and if with «apparently» clear «previous behaviour», one is as a robber,<sup>9</sup> whereas if with «previous» dubious «behaviour», one is as a thief.

11. «Thus» although one raise one's hand and . . . <sup>10</sup> her,<sup>10</sup> «still» one may «only» be as a thief according to circumstances,<sup>11</sup> «notwithstanding that one is as» a robber in actuality;<sup>12</sup> for, thievish 7 A

<sup>3</sup> The point is that if one takes a woman away with oneself with the apparent purpose to help oneself at the Sacred Office but really with a bad intent, and if one allows no suspicion to arise, then one's conduct afterwards becomes as violent as that of a robber; but if one allows suspicion to arise, then one's conduct afterwards does not become so violent as that of a robber, because like that of a thief it is less oppressive, as through one's previous suspicious behaviour one has thrown out a warning of the risk to the woman and to those concerned who could have prevented her from accompanying that person, and thus obviated the danger. The other gives no such warning, hence his conduct is worse and more violent.

<sup>5</sup> This means to say that when one takes the permission of her lord to take her with oneself, one gives rise to no suspicion of one's evil intention; but when one does not take that permission one gives rise to that suspicion.

The same conduct may have to be judged differently according to the different circumstances under which it may be manifested.

<sup>12</sup> Hâsar as in TD. Looking to the act itself it is found as violent as that of a robber, but the circumstances under which it took place might be such as may not permit one to judge it so.

intention «must be» distinguished<sup>1</sup> from «one's being as» a robber<sup>2</sup> in actuality, even as thievish intention is to be distinguished from violent intention.<sup>3</sup>

12. And note that one does not become as a robber «only» through the act of violation,<sup>4</sup> as that «fact of one's being» as a thief or as a robber is according to circumstances, and because when any one has not actually had . . . . . that may be through the betrayal<sup>5</sup> «of the fact that» one may never have had that intercourse.<sup>6</sup>

ON THE CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH A CHILD MAY BE TAKEN TO HELP AT THE SACRED FUNCTION, OR FOR HOLY INSTRUCTION

8 B 1. Yô anyêhê aprrrndyûkahê<sup>13</sup> andhakhtô athaurunem parang-hachâiti,<sup>14</sup> if one take forth for help the child of another<sup>15</sup> for

The law of heredity is here maintained with a conviction; and the qualities of the blood are understood to govern all the kin.

the Word<sup>1</sup> of Canon<sup>1</sup> at the priestly office, without instructions «from its parents», pascha hâthra,<sup>2</sup> tanûm parayêiti. then «if one take it» beyond a Hâthra, one becomes a transgressor in one's person; «i.e., one is» in<sup>3</sup> mortal discredit<sup>4</sup> for the length of a year.

2. Yat aêsha<sup>4</sup> yô aprrindîyûkô sraoshê<sup>5</sup> vâ anu-tachaitê, If that who «is» the child should «either» hasten towards one on hearing,<sup>6</sup> «i.e., when» it hears that there goes for it a person to attend the Sacred Lore, and it goes with one «accordingly», aokhtô vâ hê vaokhtê<sup>7</sup>: Thwat pairi anguha,<sup>8</sup> or 'on being asked' should say unto that «person»: 'We both'<sup>9</sup> have been «depend- 9 A ent» on thee «herefor», and hence I shall come with thee to attend

<sup>2</sup> The text has 𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥 which apparently is corrupt. It is omitted in the Pahlavi translation, probably because it stood in this unaccountable shape even when that was prepared. It however seems to stand for hâthra; see the third line of the next folio where we have hathra which may be for hâthra. If the correct word here were hathra, the meaning might be, "then immediately one will be. . ." But it appears from the Pahlavi writer's notes below that under certain conditions it could be allowed to take the child without its parent's permission.

<sup>4</sup> For this being masculine, nominative, singular cf. Kanga's Grammar, § 215, note 1; or the word may be aêta, instrumental, and the Pahlavi seems to take it so when it renders by ol olman.

<sup>6</sup> 𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥 of the text should be 𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥 or 𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥 which renders 𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥 in its primary sense of obedient hearing.

<sup>7</sup> Thus, if the word is to be in the present tense; the text has 𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥; but if the word were really formed from aoj the correct form would be 𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥𐭠𐭡𐭣𐭥.

the Sacred Lore, «then also» pascha hâthra<sup>1</sup> âfrasrûiti<sup>2</sup> -shê paiti tanûm parayêiti, «by having» the Holy Singing for it «to be» beyond a Hâthra, one becomes a transgressor in one's person; i.e., one is in mortal discredit for the length of a year.

3. «All» this «that we specify below is» not clear «from these statements here<sup>3</sup>; but» it may be discovered from the Avesta «the Holy Wisdom, from elsewhere», that when one knows<sup>4</sup> «for oneself» of what sort one is,<sup>5</sup> as when, at any rate, that «person» is<sup>6</sup> so stupid<sup>7</sup> owing to weak-mindedness,<sup>8</sup> that being tired<sup>9</sup> «of the charge» will take «the child» back, and will not have «even» the sense<sup>10</sup> capable of giving information «as to where it had been»; or as

<sup>2</sup> TD has â-fra-sruti; HJ has a-fra-sruti. The Pahlavi too is against the privative; otherwise the meaning may be "by not having the Holy Singing for it (even) beyond a Hâthra . . ." This may signify that when the child follows the priest of its own accord, then he must take it to attend the Holy Lore even though that is to be beyond the distance of a Hâthra. As however in this case also the child seems to go to the priest without the special permission of its parent, this sense will be contradicting the previous statement in the Avestan text.

Darmesteter observes here, "The general sense appears to be that if a priest take a child as a helper at officiation without the authorisation of one who is concerned, the ceremony must be performed within the radius of a parasang from the child's home," evidently meaning Hâthra by parasang, as these terms are sometimes synonymous.

It must however be noted that aêrpatastân kartan signifies instruction in and exposition of religious knowledge rather than attendance at ceremonial observances. Hence the child here accompanies the priest perhaps to attend religious discourses rather than ceremonials.

<sup>3</sup> Evidently this is meant. The writer cannot mean that the previous passages are not clear to him, and that hence he has to offer the possible meanings of those statements; rather, he simply marshals before our attention other considerations suggested by the partial facts indicated in the text.

when one is able to sing<sup>1</sup> « the holy text » and still will not sing it, then in such circumstances « one is » in transgression in one's person and in mortal discredit for the length of one year.

4. « It is also » not « made » clear « here that » if one is able to bring « the child » back one has to bring it back, « and that » if one cannot take « the child » with the knowledge « of its parents » one has to deliver it back with informing them, « and that » if one cannot deliver it back with informing them one has at any rate to take good care about it.<sup>2</sup>

5. « It should be clear enough that » when one is able to bring it « safely » back, and delivers it to « the parents » with informing them « as to where it had been », then one is not a sinner ; and note what<sup>3</sup> is also said that even if one's servant takes<sup>4</sup> it, and is able to deliver it with informing « the parents as to where it had been », and takes good care about it,<sup>5</sup> « even then » one is no sinner which<sup>6</sup> one verily becomes if there extends no care<sup>2</sup> from one unto it ; because when under any circumstance one views the child or the beast wrongly it is never right except when they are properly guided.

There is one who says : Verily the child is ever<sup>6</sup> to be looked after ; « but indeed » when it has advanced<sup>6</sup> in all education it is never proper except when one guides it as it may be fit.<sup>7</sup>

The word may be yadrûntan ; if so, 𐬵𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬭𐬀 can have quite a different meaning which it derives from Av. 𐬵𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬭𐬀 = to take care of ; the translation in that case may be = "or when one is able to take it, and will not receive it under one's care." But the writer's sense seems rather to be that if one is well aware how incapable one is and yet takes a child to attend the Holy Word, but after a while one becomes tired of one's charge and takes it back, or if one has the capacity to teach the holy texts and yet will not teach, then such people are doing sinful acts.

<sup>7</sup> The point is whether Sardârih vabidûntan is the fit idea with reference to a child. The sage quoted contends that a mere child can only be simply looked after ; it can be guided only when it acquires all proper education and the consequent discretion.

<sup>11</sup> This word occurs once again in the other Avesta in Vend XIII, 17, in the form The Yujayasti or Yujiyasti is a measure of sixteen Hâthras of one thousand steps of the two feet each.

<sup>12</sup> The dainghaot after this is intrusive and must be omitted. To assign it a place here will not be consistent with what follows.

<sup>15</sup> Darmiester observes that the distance is so less in the latter case because they have then to proceed to a country strange and less secure; it seems however to refer generally to the case of going out of the provincial jurisdiction as well as to the case of going out of the country.

8. This is clear from the Avesta «the Holy Wisdom» that it shall be thus only when a voice<sup>5</sup> of authority<sup>6</sup> has not said thus concerning the teaching<sup>7</sup> «viz.»: “Do not take it”; then «alone» as it is thus manifested and as it is evident from the Holy Wisdom, it is 11 A allowed to take «the child. If again, that voice of authority» has told to teach it the «Holy» Words,<sup>8</sup> but has not stated as to at which place to teach, then «evidently» it is allowed to take it to any place at which the Law<sup>9</sup> is understood<sup>10</sup> to be taught,<sup>10</sup> on the consideration «indeed» that in this affair<sup>11</sup> it should be wrong to take it away

If austân be taken to signify "the threshold," the meaning will not suit so well, though it can be made to fit a little awkwardly.

«only» in accordance<sup>1</sup> with «the parent or guardian» having said: «Verily, thou mayest teach the Sacred Words, but take it not away from here.»

10. Chvat anâbdôistem<sup>13</sup> ayanem paranghachditi? How much at<sup>14</sup> the most<sup>13</sup> on that way<sup>14</sup> shall one take it?

Sôshâns said: Verily, «the rendering should be», How much shall one carry it?

<sup>2</sup> If it is a present verb, it must be vaokhtē as we have previously suggested, if an aorist, it should be aokhta. The text has aokhtē.

<sup>13</sup> This word is obscure, and it is not certain whether its form is correct. The text has anâ dbôistem. Darm. takes anâ bdôistem, and remarks that it seems to be a superlative of anâbdâ, whence comes the anâbdâtô of the Vendidad XVIII, 54, signifying "not bound or covered," from which may be derived the sense of "at the most." He further suggests that bdôistem may be an inversion of bâdhistem.

The form we have chosen can be analysed into ana (=not) + a (=not) + bda (=𐬀𐬀𐬀=step) + ista (the superlative suffix) = "the least non-traversable," which yields fair sense and may agree with the Pahlavi vâlist = at the most.

Kiryâtrö-Bûjît said: Verily «the rendering should be», How much may one carry it? <sup>1</sup>

11. Yâ frdyêirinê<sup>2</sup> vâ uzayêirinê vâ avân<sup>3</sup> aiwyâstis<sup>4</sup> anghat. 12 A
As much owing to which there must appear perspiration<sup>5</sup> in the morning or the evening.

12. Sôshâns said: Verily, «on traversing» one Hâsar in the morning and one<sup>6</sup> in the evening there appears perspiration. Kiryâtrö-Bûjît said: Verily perspiration owing to heat is in the same proportion<sup>7</sup> «in a child» as in a grown<sup>8</sup> up person.

13A, Yô aêtahmât paranghachâiti, If one take it beyond that, ——Sôshâns said: Verily «it signifies», If one take<sup>9</sup> it at a greater distance than that «of a convenient stage»—Kiryâtrö-Bûjît said: Verily «it signifies», If one take it contrarily<sup>9</sup> «to the above injunction»,
——nabânazdistem hê para paschaêta raêshacha adhwadâityascha<sup>10</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The difference is only on grammer. Sôshâns perhaps had paranghachaiti before him, and Kiryâtrö-Bûjît paranghachâiti, or rather perhaps both might have disagreed as to how the subjunctive was to be rendered.

<sup>3</sup> If this be the demonstrative adjective, the Pahlavi 𐭪𐭫𐭬 may be read and the correlative of chand; but if so taken the meaning is not quite plain in the remarks that follow.

It may however be taken as a cognate of ava=anguish, and meaning "perspiration (through anguish or toil)." Then the Pahlavi may be read khavak-i=perspiration; Pr. 𐭪𐭫𐭬.

<sup>5</sup> Or "two" according as the text be read aê (= one) or 2. It should be easy to understand that more distance must be traversed in the evening than in the morning before perspiration may appear.

It may literally mean "not supplying necessities," and Darmesteter notes that according to the Farhang it indicates the sin of not giving sufficient food to the animal or the workman. Secondly it seems to signify any harsh treatment of one's dependents. The word is stereotyped into the Pahlavi Atwadât; cf. Dink. Bk. VIII, Ch. XVII, 6; Ch. XX, 97; etc.

15. Raôshan said : Behold, when there is improper exercise of guardianship, then even though there have been manifested no harm

It however appears that the culpability is first assigned to the nearest relation of the child if that person has not taken proper care to see that it shall be treated properly by the person to whom it is to be entrusted. If however he has discharged his duty well in the affair, then of course he is deemed guiltless by Afrog. The guilt applies next to the priestly master when he is party to such wrong act.

<sup>9</sup> Inasmuch as it is the nearest relation's duty to have the child attend the Holy Lore, and inasmuch as that person has used all the proper care in one's power to see it properly provided and entrusted, such a person is not culpable for any maltreatment of the child when this happens despite one's best care.

still « does one prove to be » lacking in conscientiousness ;<sup>1</sup> and one must get oneself redeemed therefrom « especially » because the sinfulness is not great ; so that even if one have not turned the « guilt » back up to « death's » appointed time, still, even after « the setting in of » the appointed time, if one partake of the pastry<sup>2</sup> of sinlessness at just the time of passing<sup>3</sup> away, even then « can one become » sinless.<sup>4</sup>

16. Vêh-Dôst said : There cannot be found a single<sup>5</sup> « case in which » one lacking in conscientiousness can so be opposed to the Pasûshhaûrûn,<sup>6</sup> « the Code on the Care of the Flocks », as can « at the same time » be made « out » to be staunch in the Tôrâ,<sup>7</sup> « the Code on the Care of the Herds ».<sup>8</sup>

<sup>4</sup> The text is not quite clear ; but as it is rendered it signifies that the guilt is of such a light nature in this case that one can expiate it even at the time of death, and become sinless for the next life.

<sup>8</sup> Vêh-Dôst seems to mean that if one has true faith in any opinions, then one should equally maintain faith in all opinions related therewith ; and therefore one must be understood to have half-hearted creed only if one makes a child attend the Holy Instruction according to duties prescribed in one book, and violates the instructions of another by letting the child be treated wrongly in the course of its attendance at the sacred function.

Sôshâns discovers from this place that in exercising mastership over the boy or the girl in apprenticeship,<sup>1</sup> the master<sup>2</sup> in apprenticeship « should behave » very properly.

Note that if one carries<sup>9</sup> through<sup>9</sup> the affair peaceably<sup>10</sup> and honourably<sup>10</sup> at the expense of more than 500<sup>11</sup> Dirhams, then compensation<sup>12</sup> to one is highly merited.<sup>12</sup> There is one who says thus : Verily, this is no affair for compensation.<sup>13</sup>

<sup>13</sup> One critic is of opinion that the master may be justified in not restoring the child unless there be granted him compensation if he has spent more than five hundred Dirhams on it. Another replies that this is an affair in which compensation should not be taken into consideration.

<sup>15</sup> If the time of returning the child is fixed beforehand, one must restore it then ; if it be not fixed, one may be excused for not being able to return it at any particular time, though it be asked for ; because then one is justified if one supposes that one is at liberty to return it whenever one may find it convenient.

Thus then in either case of the two <sup>2</sup> there is either peremptoriness or no peremptoriness.<sup>3</sup> Hence 14 B note «in this case» how through <sup>3</sup> «there being» no peremptoriness «for one» is manifested as result the peremptoriness «for the other».

21. Sôshâns said that if one be certain about «being exposed to» the peril of peremptoriness <sup>4</sup> it should not be lawful if one take «the child then».

22. Sôshâns said this on that occasion when on the side of the Good Legislation there was not to be found manifested the case when one should not be culpable by restoring «the child just at any time» when it were asked for.<sup>5</sup>

The point here is that one side cannot have peremptoriness and no peremptoriness both together in this case.

<sup>4</sup> If one be certain that one will have to violate some law or obligation.

<sup>5</sup> The two cases mentioned above were, one, that of having to restore the child at a fixed time, and another, that of having to restore it at one's own convenience; hence the case of having to restore the child just at any time whatever when it be asked for is not considered in the Avestan text just above. That must be the case in which it has been stipulated from the first that the child shall be given up at any time whatsoever when it be asked for by the parent or the guardian.

26 If « the child » die « a natural death » within the space of the year,<sup>2</sup> then « the person who thus gives it over » does not become of the worth of death. Sôshâns « however » said : Verily, « when » one gives it over « as » for killing,<sup>1</sup> one at once becomes of the worth of death<sup>3</sup> ; for, indeed in whatever way may the child's « birth » have come, in no degree is its lineage<sup>4</sup> destroyed, but is preserved in it as is clear from this place : ...yavata hê nâfô avathwarstô<sup>5</sup> « ...so long is its lineage determined.'<sup>6</sup>

<sup>1</sup> It is not quite plain whether the killing is meant to be metaphorical or literal. If metaphorical, the sense should be that by living with those to whom it is restored its nature inherited from the good seed will be destroyed, and it will be as it were killed in reality. If, however, the sense be literal, the reference may be to the fact that the barbarians may actually kill it because of its foreign origin.

<sup>2</sup> And thus escape the corruption of its nature by living long with those to whom it is restored, or the fate allotted by barbarous customs to children thus born.

<sup>2</sup> The sense is that if a person of the Good Religion have kept a woman of other creed, or of the classes mentioned above, and if that woman give birth to a child which is instructed in the Good Religion, then it becomes a question whether the mother is to be taken subsequently into wedlock or no; one scholar has answered that there is no need; otherwise the point is undecided. We have noted previously that the whole day is fixed in this book to have 30 Hâsars of time; see note 5 to Chapter II, 24, or P. 20, l. 17, above.

4. Afrog noted in connection<sup>4</sup> with this that if a person<sup>5</sup> of wicked creed come over to the Good Religion, all the children that may have been born of his conjugality<sup>6</sup> shall be brought over along with him «to the Good Religion», as is manifest from the passage :... vîspaēibyô aprrrndyubyô, nôit chahmâi aprrrndyunûm<sup>7</sup> ... ‘...in the case of all the children, not of any particular one only of the children...’<sup>7</sup>

« Indeed » if that person be one whose wealth consists of gardens<sup>2</sup> or of cattle, and if such a circumstance « of providing a sustenance » must arise « in his case », then « for doing that », nothing<sup>3</sup> at all « of his stock is such as » need be used up,<sup>3</sup> because it consists of gardens and of cattle. « That must of course happen when » there may arise to him the circumstance that portions be « absolutely » divided off, and « when » the portions must indeed come out from the « very » midst « of the stock itself » ; so that « when » the portions will have to be « absolutely » divided off, the property must<sup>4</sup> go off and come off<sup>4</sup> into portions. Hence when the person has 18 A to assign the cattle « to the wife for her sustenance », it be best that the man assign it in such a way « that she may not appropriate the stock itself ».<sup>5</sup> Otherwise one should not transfer it to the wife « herself », lest there arise the circumstance for that person whose wealth consists of gardens and cattle, that he may have to give it up all for ever.<sup>6</sup>

7. If a woman of wicked creed have lived with a man of the Good Religion, and if she die of<sup>7</sup> age,<sup>7</sup> « then because » she will have been in deadly worth, so verily she cannot lawfully be borne « in a Mazdean

<sup>1</sup> This means that if any property be assigned a woman in such circumstances by her husband for her maintenance, that property must pass to her husband on her decease ; and therefore the husband will really lose no part of his property for ever, as he must do when he may apportion it finally to others.

<sup>5</sup> I.e., the property should suffer no loss in principal, and there should revert to him, on her decease, all that is assigned her for her maintenance.

<sup>6</sup> When an alien is converted to Zoroastrianism his wife may or may not choose to be likewise converted. If she does not choose, she must not be compelled ; but she cannot then enjoy full conjugal rights owing to the altered conditions. Nevertheless the husband is bound to assign her means of sustenance, in such a way that if they be of the nature of yielding a regular income without being exhausted themselves, they must be kept intact and must return to the husband on her death.

9. And note besides that wealth earned through unchastity<sup>6</sup> should neither be stolen nor accepted as gift,<sup>7</sup> «because that is» unlawful. And to.....with the adulterous<sup>8</sup> ignoble barbarians, and those of the worth of death, and those of wicked creed we declare to be as degrading<sup>9</sup> as.....with females of quadrupeds. and ignoble barbarism are both manifested « together. And » every person « among them » is so adulterous that even when one becomes « sinfully » pregnant,<sup>1</sup> there takes place no agitation<sup>2</sup> « owing to that ». So one through whom<sup>3</sup> one of the wicked creed, an ignoble barbarian, « or » one in the worth of death acquires....., becomes a transgressor in one's person and of the worth of death, because one should not thus have lived<sup>4</sup> so close as even up to a Hâsar's distance from<sup>5</sup> such<sup>5</sup> « a person. <sup>6</sup> The Margarjân sin is more heinous than the Tanâpûhar ; cf. Sh. Lâ-Sh. II, 40, 82, etc. Dr. West notes that it is usually considered equal to fifteen Tanâpûhars each of which incurs a penalty of 1200 Dirhams.

When a man committed the Margarjân sin he was to submit himself, with his possessions, to the High Priest who either prescribed him duties to absolve him from the sin, or commanded his death, according as he thought fit. When he was put to death he was supposed to have been absolved from the sin at once ; see Sh. Lâ-Sh. VIII, 2, 5, 6, 21, as West has already suggested in his note to Sh. Lâ-Sh. II, 40.

The sense of morality is evidently very lax among barbarous peoples and they often commit the most heinous sins with perfect indifference. Hence it is forbidden to live very close with them.

It might have been through a consideration of such danger that Chosroe Noshervan had refused to allow his subjects to have any dealings with the barbarous Turkomans.

12. Bear therefore ye well in mind that you acquire the Sacred Learning according to the Law and the Commentary, «and act agreeably therewith».<sup>3</sup>

- 19 B 13. Yêzi antarât naêmât aêtahê hûthrahê<sup>1</sup> drenjayêiti, para pailyâiti, vîraodhayêiti, If while<sup>5</sup> one recites slowly, i.e., commits to memory<sup>6</sup> «the sacred lesson», according to the right measure, that «lesson» goes out again at last, so that one loses it out of mind,<sup>7</sup> hûthrem navainem<sup>8</sup> aêthrapaitiîm<sup>9</sup> upôisôit; atha thrîîm upôisôit; aêvatha tûrîm upôisôit. then verily one shall seek 'instruction' anew<sup>10</sup>; and so one shall seek it for the third time; and in<sup>11</sup> a like manner<sup>11</sup> one shall seek it for the fourth time.—There is one who rendered thus:—and so<sup>12</sup> one shall seek it for the fourth time.

<sup>1</sup> It may be presumed that the parent's responsibility and culpability for the child's evil actions must last only until it comes of age, though of course for the evil influence which has moulded the child's nature the parent is responsible for ever.

Darmesteter reads dandêt, translating "forgets," and he may receive support from Pr. 𐭥𐭥𐭥 = lost.

<sup>8</sup> Av. 𐬀𐬀𐬀 = new, and the suffix 𐬀𐬀𐬀.

<sup>11</sup> Aêvak âinînak. Thus, instead of the adverb of manner the Pahlavi translator has evidently taken the adjective of number as the component of aêvatha. It will however be seen from what follows immediately that there was no agreement among the ancient scholars themselves to render the word thus, for, some rendered it by aitûn; and it may be noted besides that at Vend. V, 17 also the word is rendered aitûn-ach.

14. Yêzi avat vaêthât<sup>1</sup> vaênatha<sup>2</sup> antarât naêmât hâthrahê 20 A drenjayâtcha, naêmcha paschaêta vîraodhayât.<sup>3</sup> When one shall verily go<sup>7</sup> out again,<sup>8</sup> i.e., one will<sup>7</sup> not lose<sup>9</sup> it out of mind.

15. If one have lost<sup>10</sup> it out of mind through faultiness,<sup>11</sup> then because «that is» through fault, it should be fit at that time to be satisfied even up to the fourth time till one knows thus: I have learnt it up by heart and shall not lose<sup>12</sup> it out of mind.

16. Raôshan said: Behold, when it so happens that it is owing to faultiness that one loses<sup>10</sup> it out of mind, then because one has lost it out of mind owing to faultiness, it is not fit unless one «first» remove entirely that «faultiness». Note that the removal of the fault 20 B is to be such that every time that it may have to be recalled it may not be lost out of mind, even though that must be the Dvâzdah-Hômâst

<sup>4</sup> Such should have been the correct rendering of vaênatha, but the Pahlavi either omits it or seems to render it into khadîtnam which we have preferred to take as belonging to the gloss.

18. When however it so happens that without any fault «of one's» one has lost<sup>5</sup> it out of mind, although thrikkshaparem dūzdrem<sup>6</sup> «the application of three days<sup>7</sup> «should have sufficed»,<sup>8</sup> then because such a thing happens that one loses it out of mind without «one's» fault, it is just the case wherein such an individual is to be held «naturally» dull.<sup>9</sup> Azât-Mart<sup>10</sup> said: Verily, when nothing whatever comes forth «from one's brain then alone» is one to be held dull.<sup>9</sup>

21 A 19. «The sages, however,» have been agreed in this that when one recites a thing thrice over, and one knows to recall it at the fourth time, then one is to be held as having good memory.

<sup>1</sup> The Rivâyats give this name to the Dâmdât Nask. See West's note 3 to Selections of Zât-Sparam, Chap. IX, 1. Usually however and more appropriately it is the name of a great service which lasts for  $12 \times 22 = 264$  days in which prayers are recited in honour of 22 Divine Powers; see West's note 5 to Bahman Yasht II, 59. The meritoriousness of celebrating this service is the greatest of all excepting the Stôt, and equals in value 120,000,000 Dirhams.

The celebration of the Dvâzdah-Hômâst involves the recitation of a Yasna and a Vendidad, each of the 264 days; hence the point of our text is that even recitals so long and so successive should not involve the priestly member in any mistake of forgetfulness.

Natural defect is not to be held as one's direct fault.

<sup>10</sup> The text has Āzât-gabrâ of which gabrâ is the Semitic equivalent of the Iranian mart; but it is evident that the true forms of the names of Iranians must entirely be Iranian, hence no person in Iran could ever have been called Āzât-gabrâ in actuality. It is for this reason that we see the advisability of reading the name in the true Aryan fashion here; and we follow the same rule in every other case where Iranian names or their parts appear in Semitic forms in the text. The case noticed here is repeated at Fol. 32, l. 18; and Fol. 70, l. 16 writes Dât-ê-Shapîr for Dât-ê-Vêh.

CHAPTER VI

ON THE DUTIES OF THE PRECEPTOR
AND THE DISCIPLE

1. Kem aêm at<sup>1</sup> aêthrapaitîm upayat? To which preceptor then shall this «disciple» go «for instruction»?

2. Apanôtemem dahmem, To the most excellently virtuous,—the most efficient one, yass-tat apayêiti pârantarem isôit. such as<sup>2</sup> has<sup>3</sup> knowledge of one's attainments<sup>3</sup> thus: I have the spiritual knowledge—there is one who explains thus: Behold, «when rather one knows thus: Verily I am» the most efficient<sup>4</sup> for the individual on the other side who should seek «this way»: «Verily I shall go to the most<sup>5</sup> unique<sup>5</sup> that I may be satisfied<sup>6</sup> in mastering the subject «of my study» through him.»<sup>7</sup>

3. Yavat aêtahmya zru<sup>8</sup> Staotanâm Yasnyanâm dâdrajoit,<sup>9</sup> By as much as the time wherein can be taken in<sup>9</sup> the Staota<sup>10</sup> 21 B

<sup>1</sup> The text has aêmat which we have broken up into the demonstrative pronoun and the adverb. It may however be, as one word, a form of imat used adverbially; the Pahlavi renders aithm.

It is advisable to choose carefully an efficient preceptor; for, an inefficient master must turn out the pupil also inefficient.

<sup>8</sup> According to its qualifying adjective we expect 𐬎𐬎𐬎 the locative form; but we cannot be certain whether 𐬎𐬎𐬎 is a mutilated form.

<sup>9</sup> Intensive potential from Av. 𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬎=to hold, to take in. The text has 𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬎 which cannot suit.

<sup>10</sup> The Staota Yasna was given the last place among Nasks according to one classification; still it was the first of the Gâthic Nasks, and had 33 chapters which are all supposed to have been preserved in the Yasna with its supplements in the Visparat. While it is not wholly known which particular chapters of the Yasna formed the Staota Yasna, it appears probable that Yas. XIV formed its beginning and Yas. LVIII, its end, while the Gâthas and the Yasna Haptanghâiti formed its essential portion.

Yasnyas<sup>10</sup> « the Thanksgiving Services of Glorifications », i.e.,

According to reasons given in his valuable note 1 to Dink. VIII, chap. XLVI, 1 in S. B. E. Vol. XXXVII, West assigns to the Staota Yasnya the Yasna chapters XIV-XVIII, XXII-XXXIV, XXXV-XLII (which according to Dink. IX form only one chapter of the Staota Yasnya), XLIII-LI, LIII-LV, LVIII, and LIX, making up altogether the 33 chapters of the Staota Yasnya.

Darmesteter gives a slightly different list, viz., the Yasna chapters XIV-XVII, XXII-XXVII, XXXV-XLII (forming one chapter), LIV, LVI, the Gâtha chapters XXVIII-XXXIV, XLIII-LI, LIII, and the three holy formulas of Ashem Vohû, Ahuna Vairiya, and Yéinghê Hâtâm.

Of these Dr. West's list is indeed a better one; still it is not quite satisfactory: It is not easy to see how Yas. XV, XVIII, and XXVII which are evidently made up from other original texts to serve some design, and Yas. LIX which contains little besides portions of Yas. XVII and XXVI, could have formed distinct and original chapters of the Staota Yasnya? And although in Dink. IX Yasna Haptanghâiti is really treated as forming but one chapter of some Nasks, still might it not have been that in the Nask to which it specially belonged, its chapters, even as it is indicated by its very name, might have been counted as quite distinct?

Under such doubts as these the following will appear a more satisfactory restoration: We may accept the testimony of Sh. Lâ-Sh. XIII, 1 that Yas. XIV formed the beginning of the Staota Yasnya, and then supposing that the order of the chapters that belonged to the Staota Yasnya was the same as it is now in the Yasna, we may proceed to see which chapters following it can best be fitted to be original and distinct chapters assignable to the Staota Yasnya. As already observed, Yas. XV is a made up work. Whereas Yas. XVI is a clear chapter containing a list of the 30 worshipful things, beings and ideals; and so also is Yas. XVII. Yas. XVIII again is a made up work, and Yas. XIX-XXI belong to the Bagha Nask. Yas. XXII and XXIII on the other hand are distinct chapters containing special ideas. Whereas Yas. XXIV and XXV have little new except almost a repetition of what is contained in the two previous chapters, and Yas. XXVI treats a theme already handled in Yas. XXIII, and contains texts really belonging to the Yashts, so that it cannot be an original chapter. And Yas. XXVII is again a made up work. Then follow the Gâtha chapters with the Yasna Haptanghâiti intervening, which both form the essential portions of the Staota Yasnya. It will be seen that the seven chapters of the latter will have to be counted distinctly to make up the required number; but Yas. XLII is evidently only a supplement to it and cannot be original. Yas. LII is apparently out of place, but there is nothing to disqualify it from having been a chapter of the Staota Yasnya. Again Yas. LIV and LV are important chapters, and they both make distinct references to the Gâthas and the Staota Yasnya. Whereas Yas. LVI and LVII belong to the Sraosha Yasht. Then comes Yas. LVIII with that peculiar glorification of the Staota Yasnya at its close which usually marks the end of chapters belonging to some special themes; cf. Yas. XIII, 8, Yas. XLI, 7, the close of each Gâtha, the close of Yas. LIV, etc. Hence we may be justified « wherein » they can be mastered thoroughly, yatha tat âframaremnô<sup>1</sup> khvyât, atha tat âframaremnô<sup>1</sup> âstârayêiti, and by as much as one should be capable of studying, by so much is 'that student' responsible « for finishing one's course in time »,<sup>2</sup> âêtavatcha aêshâschit âstârayêiti. and even by that much is responsible he the preceptor « to help one to finish one's course in time ».

5. Behold, with regard to discourses in instruction it must be clear in this place that whenever one discusses, then that is only to be allowed so long as they do not render « the discussion » detrimental to the help « of the study itself »——Kiryât-rô-Bûjît said: « also so long as » not in closing the Staota Yasnya with this chapter. The next chapter, Yas. LIX, no doubt similarly mentions Staota Yasnya; but it mentions it only along with other things, and as we have already observed, it contains little besides portions of Yas. XVII, and XXVI, so that there is nothing special about it. We have similar promiscuous reference to Staota Yasnya so late as in Yas. LXXI, §§ 7 and 18, but we need not therefore look so far back for a chapter of the Staota Yasnya. These must be considered all as merely general references. Still however one may suspect that the ten Ahunvars and the ten Ashem Vohûs as well as the other customary concluding formulæ at the close of Yas. LIX might have concluded the Staota Yasnya itself.

Thus then we mark out as chapters originally belonging to the Staota Yasnya, the Yasna chapters XIV, XVI, XVII, XXII, XXIII, XXVIII-XLI, XLIII-LV, and LVIII, which make up together the number thirty-three.

<sup>4</sup> Patkârêt; this very closely renders the sense of the original which must be traced to the root ṭṭ=to dispute; to argue. The initial a in that word may represent â; but Darmesteter suggests to correct it into âperemnâi.

4B. — kô hê paourunûm aêthrapaitinûm afraokhtêê<sup>6</sup> âstryêitê? then which among the many preceptors of one's is rendered culpable through not explaining<sup>7</sup>?

6. Nabânazdistô, Even « he first of all who is » one's nearest relation,<sup>8</sup> âat havatûm<sup>9</sup> naba<sup>9</sup> yahmi pareiti. and then he who is in<sup>10</sup> the same relation as the kindred,<sup>10</sup> « i.e., the chosen preceptor », <sup>11</sup> with whom one discusses.

7. Vîspaêshu pareiti,<sup>12</sup> vîspaêshu afraokhti, âstryêitê. Amidst all in every discussion,<sup>13</sup> for every « act of » not explaining amidst all, is one rendered culpable.

<sup>1</sup> If the discussion is to the point and helpful in promoting knowledge, it must be allowed. According to Kiryâtrô-Bûjît it need not be quite to the point ; if it simply helps to promote knowledge of any kind, it must be entertained.

<sup>8</sup> Cf. Fol. 12, ll. 13, 18. It appears that the nearest relation, i.e., the guardian or the paterfamilias, is understood to be the first preceptor of all, probably because in the ancient Mazdean household home education preceded all other instructions. Here however he is held responsible not because he is directly concerned in the instruction, but because he has not provided the child with an efficient preceptor.

<sup>11</sup> Cf. Fol. 13, ll. 11, 12. The preceptor is so closely concerned* with the child's life that he is said to be in the same relation as its kindred ; he is held responsible if he fails to fulfil the charge undertaken by him.

8. Note that if one discusses with one's nearest relation «and this does not explain» then both are in fault,<sup>1</sup> but if one discusses with the most<sup>2</sup> competent<sup>2</sup> person of the town «and this does not explain» then only one<sup>3</sup> is in fault.

CHAPTER VII

ON THE CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH ONE MAY BE EXEMPTED FROM THE SACRED STUDY

1. Yô asrut-gaoshô vâ afravaochô vâ nôit ôim-chinem vâchim aiwyâs,<sup>4</sup> If through not being able to hear,<sup>5</sup> i.e., through deafness,<sup>6</sup> or through not being able to speak,<sup>7</sup> i.e., through dumbness,<sup>8</sup> one has not learnt up even a single word; as when one cannot say Ashem Vohû, «the Praise of Righteousness»—there is one who says: «as when one cannot say» the Zend, «the Holy Commentary», nôit paschaêta anaiwisti âstryêitê. «then» one is not in any case rendered culpable through not having learnt up; i.e., if one have not studied the Sacred Learning one does not become sinful.

2. Yêzi âat ôyum pê<sup>9</sup> vâchim aiwyâs, anaiwisti âstryêitê. If «however» one is able to learn up even a single moderate<sup>9</sup>

The most competent person is of course the chosen preceptor; see Fol. 21 ll. 3-14, or §§ 1-2 of this chapter.

<sup>3</sup> I.e., the most competent man, because he is the most proper person whom the student could have asked, and because he does not fulfil his duty if he does not condescend to explain the difficulty of the student.

<sup>9</sup> This is an obscure word which the Pahlavi understands to mean معتد. It seems to be an absolute form like the pôî of Yas. XLIV, 15, 16.

23 A text, as when one is able to have said Ashem « Vohû, the Praise of Righteousness », then through not having studied one is rendered culpable; i.e., if one have not studied the Sacred Learning, one verily becomes sinful.

3. Note besides that just only if one have practised chatter <sup>1</sup> « during the sacred recital, it would be deemed » quite as if one had not performed the adoration out of sinfulness, notwithstanding that every time that the individual might not have recited, « that might have been only » through not having been able to speak for reciting even the Ithâ âat yazamaidê... .., « the ' Thus then do we adore..... ' prayer », and Ashem Vohû, « the Praise of Righteousness ».

4. Besides, if one be able to recite even only one out of both, then one must recite the Ithâ âat yazamaidê... .., « the ' Thus then do we adore... .. ' prayer », or one must recite Ashem Vohû, « the Praise of Righteousness, as the case may be ».

5. If one is able to recite « for instance » Ashem « Vohû, the Praise of Righteousness, and yet » one does not recite it, then one will be as much sinful as if one had been able to recite all and still one had not recited <sup>2</sup> even one « single thing ».

23 B 6. Behold, Raôshan said : Verily as this happens thus just even in the case when one is able to perform the devotional psalm <sup>3</sup> and still one does not perform it, hence when one is not « even » able to perform the devotional psalm <sup>3</sup> one is already so indifferent <sup>4</sup> « spiritually »

This portion of the Âerpatastân and the fifth chapter of Shâyast Lâ-Shâyast may well be read together here.

It is meant here that even when one is unable to perform any service or recite any sacred text through some natural defect, then also one should be solemn at the Service : because if that person were to practice unseasonable chatter at the time one would be as guilty as the person who did not fulfil the sacred Service through quite his direct fault.

The word may also be read zank, Pr. زنگ = bells ; or hank, Pr. هنگ = morality.

that such an individual should not practise any chatter « to become worse ». Indeed lest the « Holy Service of » Gêtee Kharî<sup>1</sup>, « the Purchase on Earth of Heavenly Reward », may not take effect, there should not be practised any chatter « during the Service ». The desert of such chatter is the Tanâpûhar penalty « of 1,200 Dirhams »<sup>2</sup>.

7. Note however that this is not clear whether « this<sup>3</sup> applies » to every « entire » Thanksgiving Service, or to every part<sup>4</sup> service,<sup>4</sup> or to every « particular » sacred recital.<sup>5</sup>

8. Gaôgôshnasp said : Verily, when one will not « oneself » have performed the adoration through no fault « of one's own », then the penalty for chatter « by one during its performance by others » will be no more than three<sup>6</sup> Srôshôcharanâms « of 48 Dirhams only ».

9. Yô avadha nôit airoyâsti a-shaya<sup>7</sup> arrdusha havayanghem<sup>8</sup> akhtîm,<sup>9</sup> If one does not study this way owing to « the fear of » the painfulness<sup>7</sup> of blows likely<sup>8</sup> to cause<sup>8</sup> illness,<sup>9</sup> i.e., when one has « the danger of suffering » the pain of the Arrdûsh<sup>10</sup>

<sup>1</sup> A holy service of great sanctity ; see Dr. West's note 1 to Bûnd. XXX, 28. It is also said to involve the performance of the Yazeshn for 9 days.

<sup>2</sup> In Pahlavi times the apparently physical punishments were commuted into fines ; hence among others the second section of Sh. Lâ-Sh. Chap. I states the values of various kinds of sins in money and in weight, according to which the Tanâpûhar sin is estimated at three hundred Stîrs, each Stîr equalling 4 Dirhams. See again Sh. Lâ-Sh. V, 3-4.

The Srôshôcharanâm has, according to Sh. Lâ-Sh. XVI, 5, the value of a Farmân sin which is estimated at from three to sixteen Dirhams. See Dr. West's very valuable note 3 to Sh. Lâ-Sh. IV, 14.

The penalty is so much less according to Gaôgôshnasp probably because one's natural inability to occupy oneself in the Service has given one a chance to chatter.

<sup>7</sup> Thus corrected according to the Pahlavi min a-shâtîh, and according to the form in line 13 of the next folio. There is an adjective ۛۛۛ=glad ; cf. Vend. III, 24. The grammar will be feminine, instrumental singular.

24 B 10. Vâthmaini<sup>13</sup> ashaya khvafna vâ, anaiwisti âstryêitê. « If however one does not study » owing to trouble or unpleasantness, or ‘fondness<sup>14</sup> for repose,’<sup>14</sup> then through not studying one is rendered culpable; i.e., if one does not attend the Sacred Learning one becomes sinful.

<sup>2</sup> This compound word must evidently be traced to 𐬨𐬀=to breathe, and 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀=to draw ; to stretch. The Pahlavi renders it into tanshnih, cf. Pr. 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀=to be suffocated ; or tôshnih, cf. Pr. 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀=dying convulsion ; or taneshnih=perplexity cf. Pr. 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀=to deceive.

<sup>8</sup> Thus corrected. We have supposed the adhwadâityascha of Fol. 12, l. 14 to be the genitive singular ; and that must yield adhwadâiti as the base.

CHAPTER VIII

ON A DAEVAYASNA PRECEPTOR OR DISCIPLE

1. Kat nâ<sup>1</sup> daêvayasnât vâ tanuprrrthât aêthrapatôit pairiatw-yanghat? Shall one study before a master among the demon-worshippers, i.e., the ignoble barbarians, or those who are ingrafted with sin in their persons, i.e., those of the worth of death? In other words, if one has to study, may one receive lectures « from such a master »? or shall one receive « them »?

2. Frasrâvayô ava dâthra yim<sup>2</sup> dim<sup>2</sup> vaênât evistâêshva<sup>3</sup> vandânem,<sup>2</sup> If for discoursing one must view the recipient<sup>2</sup> « of the learning » with no<sup>4</sup> expectations concerning profit<sup>5</sup> in the « shape of » remuneration, i.e., if one shall teach without any remuneration, « then one may study under that person », nôit ava<sup>6</sup> yâ<sup>6</sup> vistaêshva; « but » not if one be in such expectations concerning that « profit », <sup>7</sup> i.e., if one be certain thus: The teaching « will be given » me « only » for the sake of remuneration; nôit hê ashi-shyao-thanânûm vrrrzyôit, « for, » there shall be done unto him none of the acts of the blessing of recompense, i.e., not even any payment<sup>8</sup> of the fee<sup>8</sup> itself shall be made unto « such a person ».

3. This is what becomes manifest from the Holy Wisdom that when one knows thus: “ In teaching me he has no consideration<sup>9</sup> of payment<sup>8</sup> « therefor », ” then that is just as if one is assured thus: “ His teaching « shall be » quite proper for me.”

4. Note however that the person that may « thus » be available for « teaching » one, may be stupid,<sup>1</sup> or that the person who will « thus » occupy the post « of the master », may be incapable of instructing one.

25 B 5. Kat nâ daêvayasnâi vâ tanuprrrthâi vâ aêthrydi chashât ?
Shall one teach a disciple among the demon-worshippers, i.e., the ignoble barbarians, or those who are ingrafted with sin in their persons, i.e., who are of the worth of death ?—or this might mean, Shall one have taught so?

<sup>4</sup> The text should be واچند. If واچ be not a corrupt reading of the Av. واچند it may be related with Pr. واور =feast.

<sup>10</sup> Darm. thinks that in this case one could teach the profane sciences but not the mânthras, though such idea is not evident in the case of one who might be an exception to his class.

7. Chvaiti shê aêsha zemana anghat ? How much<sup>2</sup> shall be 26 A that remuneration for that « person » ?

8. Yatha gâus fravaiti. As much as « the fruit of what » a bull may plough « every day, shall be » the remuneration of one's daily fee.

9. Vehrkaî hizvâm dadhâiti yô a-zarazdâi mâthrem chashtê. One « as it were » supplies a tongue to a wolf, who instructs one who has no 'heart' in the advancement<sup>3</sup> of the Holy Word, i.e., who is the ignoble barbarian.<sup>4</sup> There is one who says that the wolf here signifies the apostate.

10. This is manifest from the Holy Wisdom that when one has neither the bread nor the meat, and when one is not able to request

<sup>1</sup> It is advised here that if a person among notoriously bad people proposes to teach, it is obligatory on us to test whether his motive is fair; and among the tests to determine this, is that when such an individual is ready to teach without any reward, because such disinterestedness is quite exceptional among really bad people.

In the contrary case when a disciple among notoriously bad people requests to be taught, his earnest motive also is first to be tested with his willingness to pay for it; and only such persons among the good who cannot obtain their maintenance in any other manner are to undertake it, if, as later explained, no harm is likely to result therefrom.

It is no narrowmindedness that advises this cautious policy: time after time in Iranian history there were seen many infidels, heretics, and apostates who came to teach under various pretences their own opinions which everywhere quickened sparks of disunion, unrest, and unhappiness in the Iranian realms, or who came to learn with the intention of attacking later the Zoroastrian notions, creating doubt among those incapable of judging correctly.

<sup>4</sup> This is why cautions are given above. The next remark makes it plain, that it was not definite even among the ancient scholars as to to whom the statement directly points.

anything from others,<sup>1</sup> then it is lawful if one teach « such people » for the remuneration of every daily payment of as much as the fruit of what the bullock ploughs, because when one can thus be engaged, it is not proper to suffer<sup>2</sup> «unnecessarily». And when one has accepted « such an employment », then though one be able to request things 26 B from others, it is not allowed « to request so » except when one has left « the employment ». There is however one who says to the effect that indeed it is allowed « to request so » even though one may not have left « it ».

11. Verily this « must be » under doubt « whether one can accept giving such instruction » in the case when one does not know whether there is committed « any » sin by such « instruction » ; whereas « it must » not « be so » in the case when one does know that there is committed a sin thereby, because of the corruption and the harmfulness « that may be owing to such people » ; and then it must be unlawful to teach them, inasmuch<sup>3</sup> as there can be no remedy « for it » otherwise.<sup>3</sup> So because of their corruption and harmfulness it must be unlawful to give instruction to the apostates.<sup>4</sup>

12. Farrokhô said : This must be without doubt « also » in the case when one knows that there is committed no sin thereby<sup>5</sup> ; inasmuch as the doubtfulness when one has to know whether it is committed thereby « exists just » according as there is doubt as regards the corruption

<sup>4</sup> It is here argued that so long as it is not clear that there is no corruption or harmfulness, as of the apostate, in the case of the alien offering to teach or to be taught, it remains doubtful whether it is lawful to teach or to be taught by such a person ; for, wherever such corruption and harmfulness are suspected it is unlawful to teach, since that corruption is so deep-founded that it cannot be shunned by any other means except of avoiding contact with such persons, and because that corruption must necessarily lead to a corrupt use of the means afforded them.

<sup>5</sup> Even as in the above statement it is said that there can be no doubt when one knows that there is committed a sin through the deed, so also there can be no doubt when one knows that there is committed no sin.

THE CODE OF THE DIVINE SERVICE

BOOK I

ON THE MINISTRY OF THE HOLY OFFICE

CHAPTER I

ON THE CARE AND VIGILANCE ESSENTIAL IN THE HOLY MAN

1. Dahmô dahmâi aokhtë: «When» the holy man<sup>1</sup> addresses the holy man, i.e., the neighbouring<sup>2</sup> priest of the same order<sup>3</sup> «speaks» to the neighbouring priest of the same order<sup>4</sup>: Frâ mâ nrrr! gârayôis,<sup>5</sup> yat ratus fritis âsât, «Wake<sup>6</sup> me up O man<sup>6</sup>! as there will have set in the celebration of the Praise of the Spiritual Lord”—«and» this implies that when the season festival is to be celebrated, all indolence should be cast out—, vîsaiti dim fraghrârayô, nôit fraghrârayêiti, «and if» he accepts his request by awakening him, «if some other»<sup>7</sup> need not awaken him,<sup>7</sup> âêshô ratufris 23 A yô jaghâra.<sup>8</sup> ‘then that «shall be» the praiseworthy «priest» who has been «so» vigilant.’

<sup>4</sup> The words might be heard among the priests of the same order and living together, on the night preceding the morning when the great services were to begin, for it was then essential to rise specially early. Darmesteter here recalls Vend. XVIII, 26.

2. Sôshâns « said » : Verily, « that person is » in right priestly worth who is so diligent<sup>1</sup> that the season festival is celebrated by that « individual just in the proper way » and there is not the « least » source of indolence<sup>2</sup> in one ; but that « person » is wanting in right priestly worth when owing to there being an inclination<sup>3</sup> to indolence<sup>4</sup> in that « individual it so happens that » the season festival is not celebrated at its « very » setting in.<sup>5</sup>

3. Kîryâtrö-Bûjît said : Verily « only » such « person » is in right priestly worth who is « so entirely » diligent<sup>6</sup> that there is no source of indolence « whatsoever » in that « person » even in the case when there is no season-festival to be celebrated by that individual ; whereas that « person » is lacking in right priestly worth who by « one's very » nature<sup>7</sup> is in such indolence that « even in the case when » there has to be celebrated the season-festival,<sup>8</sup> « that individual » will not « celebrate it » just at its setting in.<sup>9</sup>

4. According to the teaching of both these<sup>10</sup> « however », if owing to one's weakness<sup>11</sup> in « the fulfilment of » this circumstance it must so happen that all through until the season-festival lasts the celebration of the Thanksgiving Service still remains « to be performed », then there must take root in one the Khôr penalty « of Sixty Stîrs ».<sup>12</sup>

<sup>8</sup> Or " may have to sing thanksgiving to the Divine Power at the Season Festival," if the term چار (yêzat) is not intrusive here.

<sup>9</sup> Kîryâtrö-Bûjît argues that it is no point for the consideration of the priest's worth whether he has performed any particular service or no ; it suffices to establish that worth if he has shown earnest diligence in his office in every way ; and when one fails to perform a service at the proper time, one lacks worth not because one thus fails, but because of the indolence that is in one's very nature and which brings about such failures.

<sup>12</sup> This is not of course a deduction from the above ; but it is a fact related with the circumstance and agreed upon by both the above doctors. Unavoidable difficulties may prevent one from performing the Service at the exact time, but if there should be no reason that the Service could not have been performed during the whole period of the festival, then one is particularly at fault, and deserves special degradation if one fails to perform it at all.

CHAPTER II

ON THE NUMBER OF THE HELPING DIVINES

1. Chaiti narâm hakhtô<sup>1</sup> zaota ratufris How many<sup>2</sup> of men 28 B
 « may be allowed at the Service » by permitting whom the Leading Priest « will remain » in right priestly worth, i.e., how many helping priests « may be allowed » at the Thanksgiving Service according to propriety Ahunem Vairiûm frasraoshyêhê ? at the pronouncement « of the words » “As the Lord Being in His Holy Pleasure——” ? i.e., How many shall listen to « the words »
 “So the Lord of Holy Order——” ? ”

2. Vîspaêibyô aêibyô yôî hê madhemya vacha frasrâvayamnahê vâ upa-sûrunvanti, yat vâ yasnem yazemnahê.<sup>1</sup> « He shall give permission » to all those who as helping priests can respond to<sup>5</sup> the words on his—viz., of the Master Priest’s—pronouncing the Avesta « the text of the Holy Wisdom » by himself at<sup>7</sup> a medium voice and moderate loudness,<sup>7</sup> or<sup>8</sup> can « all » listen attentive- 29 A ly to the words of the Holy Service on his celebrating it.<sup>8</sup>

3. This is manifest from the Avesta « the Holy Wisdom » that the Service of the Season Festival is not essentially different from other Thanksgiving Services ; hence as regards this proper number « of the priests » it is made clear from the Avesta « the Holy Wisdom » that because the number of men is to be proper in the Thanksgiving Service

The reference is to the fact that at certain points in the Sacred Service when the Zaotar pronounces the words : Yathâ Ahû vairiyô zaotâ frâ mê mrûtê, the Ratu repeats : Yathâ Ahû vairiyô yô zaotâ frâ mê mrûtê; and the Zaotar pronounces again : Athâ Ratus Ashâtchît hachâ frâ ashava vîdhvâo mraotû !

as « is manifested from the text » Frâ mâ nrrr ! ... .. 'Forth me O man ! ... ..',<sup>1</sup> « the number at the Service of the Season Festival should be the same » as the number in the Setûih « the Service of the Three Nights after Death »<sup>2</sup> and in the Service of the Fravartikân « the Days Sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences »;<sup>3</sup> hence the number at the Thanksgiving Service will be proper if the number of the persons is seven;<sup>4</sup> and the Worship will be well performed when, as regards every one in the seven, any one « whatsoever is » so very good as no other three « would be together ». And hence it is that the Service should not be celebrated with only six,<sup>5</sup> inasmuch as even for a single person « of these » that may not join in the celebration of the Service, the performance must go to merit the retribution of a sinful act.<sup>6</sup>

4. There is one who says thus : Verily, the text for the Service of the Season Festival is to be the same as that for all other Thanksgivings. « And » the number « of the priests is to be taken as » fair when the number of the persons « for the Service is such as » is determined and manifested according to the teaching of the good people and the upholders of the Primal Creed.

29 B 5. As regards the sacred Drôn cake they have been agreed that <sup>1</sup> See the commencement of the first chapter. It is probably meant that the fact of the priest's taking special care to get awake at the proper time to attend the Service indicates the weightiness of the occasion and the necessity of the attendance of a proper number of priests.

<sup>2</sup> This indicates all the services held for the benefit of the spirit of the departed on the first three days including the day of decease ; but those to which the reference is here specially made must be the three Srôsh Yazeshns on these days, where the full assemblage of the whole priestly graduation is thus necessary ; see Sh. Lâ-Sh. XVII, 3. Cf. Pr. سفر = triple.

<sup>3</sup> For an association of these services compare Sh. Lâ-Sh. X, 2; and XII, 31.

<sup>4</sup> This must have reference to the seven priests attending the several functions at the Holy Service with the Zaotar at the head of officiation, as is mentioned in Vend. V, 57-58 and in Visp. III, 1, and below, at Fol. 155, l. 6 and 159, l. 18. The Zaotar must of course be beside the seven.

It may be seen that this is the least proper number that is considered essential at one of the greater services ; and although the number of the priests that could actually perform special duties at the superior services was probably thus fixed, the original does not appear to indicate that a larger number might not join ; and indeed at the close of Fol. 32 opinions adjudicating 15, 20, and 25 as fitting numbers, are quoted. <sup>5</sup> See TD. <sup>6</sup> Cf. Shâyast Lâ-Shâyast, XVIII, 4.

the number <sup>1</sup> of the sacred cakes « is required to be » correct equally as the number of the persons « to celebrate the Service is required ».<sup>1</sup>

6. « The text » Haurvô paschaêta <sup>2</sup>....., 'All together then.....' «also » does not differ « on this point ».

Raôshan said : Verily, « this text » “ All together then <sup>3</sup>——” « simply signifies as to » how it should be in perfect harmony <sup>4</sup> that the Thanksgiving Service is to be performed.

7. It « would be » very proper that the Leading Priest should have given notice as to when the Helping Priest should join again <sup>5</sup> in the Service ; inasmuch as, when the Helping Priest would join again in the Service, his coming ought not to be «such as might go» against the satisfaction of the holy man.<sup>6</sup> « For, as early as » when the recital of the Leading Priest comes up to the prayer “ I glorify—— ”<sup>7</sup>, the « Helping Priest » is likewise to recall and recite aloud the whole “ I glorify ” prayer.<sup>7</sup>

CHAPTER II : APPENDIX

ON THE MANNER OF CONDUCTING THE HOLY SERVICE

1. When in<sup>8</sup> reciting the special formula for opening the Holy Function <sup>8</sup> the Leading Priest goes through Frastuyê—<sup>9</sup> « the <sup>1</sup> This of course does not mean that the Drôns also are to be seven ; in modern practice only one Drôn is necessary in all Yazeshns. The idea expressed here is simply that the number of the Drôns also is to be such as is properly determined by wise men. And the reference might be to Drôns required in other services.

The reference is to the prayer in the commencement of the Yasna Service, which is required to be recited by the Zaoî and the Râthwî together ; see Ervad Tehmurasp's Yasna with the Ritual, p. 6. This text recurs at Yas. XI, 17.

30 A "I glorify—" prayer », Ashem Vohû 3 « the Praise of Righteousness 3 times, and » Fravarânê Mazdayasnô—« the Confession of the Faith, and the glorification of » what period of the day one may « then » have, « then » they must pronounce the Propitiatory Dedication<sup>1</sup> « all in unison ».

2. He should then recite « again » the special formula for opening the function as at the commencement.<sup>2</sup> While he recites the formula for opening the function, if he look about on every thing, that shall not be proper. Indeed if the Leading Priest look on anything except either the sacred Fire « or » the sacred Barsôm twigs, that should be improper.<sup>3</sup>

There is one who says thus : Verily if one look upon any one particular point<sup>4</sup> that should be allowed.<sup>5</sup>

3. As soon as one hears the call « to the recital » it is fit that one should recite the formula for opening the function ; and one should pronounce the recital so aloud as may be heard by every one to whom it may concern ; so that when all can hear the recital in perfect harmony,<sup>6</sup> only then should it be quite proper.

4. Farrokhô said : Whenever the Helping Priest recites the formula for opening a function it should be very well if he repeat in perfect unison<sup>7</sup> the text of the Holy Wisdom. « He also said that during its recital » the Leading Priest should keep his hand on the sacred Barsôm twigs, and the fire should be kept blazing. He besides observed that

<sup>2</sup> The reference, it may appear, is to the text recited immediately before the commencement of the Yasna proper, and made up of Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô Zaoâtâ ..... etc., which formula also occurs further up at the commencement of the Introductory Service ; see pages 2 and 7 of Ervad Tehmurasp's Yasna.

<sup>3</sup> If ~~no-oo~~ be for ~~no-oo~~ = the meaning will be :—" Indeed if the Leading Priest look on either of the sacred Fire and the sacred Barsôm twigs, that should be allowed."

whether the formula for closing the function need not be the same in the sacred Drôn cake Service as at the Service of a Holy Worship,<sup>1</sup> is not <sup>1</sup> clear.

5. In the Thanksgiving Service it is given as lawful « to recite » 30 B the opening formula on every occasion with « such texts as » the texts to be repeated twice, the texts to be repeated three times, the texts to be repeated four times,<sup>2</sup> and the performance of Dedication.

6. « On the authority of the text » Višpâi..... 'For all.....'<sup>3</sup> there is one who says thus in the matter of singing slowly<sup>4</sup> by oneself<sup>5</sup> the text of the Holy Wisdom, that verily wherever it is given as lawful « to recite only » once, « it must be understood to have also been » given as lawful « to recite » many times.<sup>6</sup>

7. On having « recited » Ashaya nô paiti-jamyât'! ..... 'May there come unto us in Righteousness!' ..... Amesha Spenta<sup>8</sup>! ..... 'O Ye Immortal Beneficent Powers! .....' forwards, it is given as quite requisite « to have repeated the holy text » several times<sup>9</sup> at that place

<sup>2</sup> Usually these are the Ashem Vohû and the Ahunvar formulas; but for the reference to special texts see Vend. X, 4, 8 and 12, and Fol. 55 below, and Fol. 84, ll. 6-7.

As there follows at the end of § 4 of Yas. VIII a little operation in which the Leading Priest has to partake of bits from the Sacred Cake and butter and to attend to some cleaning manipulations, reference is here made to the necessity for this priest to keep in mind the link of the text to follow, so that no confusion may arise.

for this reason that when the Leading Priest will recite the special <sup>1</sup> formula for opening and closing the function <sup>1</sup> « of tasting the sacred Drôn cake » at the head of the sacred Fire before « the continuation of » the text of the Holy Wisdom, « the point of continuity » will not then become effaced <sup>2</sup> « from his mind ».

31 A 8. There is one who says thus : Verily, it <sup>3</sup> can be continued « even without this », because « unless » he « be » indifferent « in such case, as that » when during the Thanksgiving Service the Leading Priest partakes of the « Consecrated » Meal at the head of the sacred Fire, he cannot have forgotten « the link of the text ».<sup>4</sup>

9. There is one who says thus : Behold, it shall be continued even when there arises to him a gale <sup>5</sup> ; he shall recite the special formula « for closing the function of tasting the sacred Drôn cake » and shall recite again the special formula <sup>6</sup> « for continuing the recital of the Holy Text » ; and then it shall be to him as if he were at the very commencement « of reciting ».

10. There is one who says thus : Verily, if the Meal « for consecration » be not before and some one must <sup>7</sup> deliver <sup>7</sup> it « afterwards », then one will have fulfilled the function but indifferently.

11. When the Leading Priest « is engaged » in the Thanksgiving Service at the head of the sacred Fire, then if he be indifferent in any

<sup>4</sup> The first argument has been that he cannot forget the link because the point of continuity is fixed in his mind through a special repetition of the text at that place ; the second is that he cannot forget because he must be closely attentive.

<sup>5</sup> Here it is meant that he should not allow himself to be disturbed in the continuation of the Service, merely by a powerful wind that may arise, because in that case the attendants can at once protect him from its annoyance.

circumstance <sup>1</sup> that may have then arisen, indeed he shall be required to repeat the Thanksgiving Service over again.

13. The acts of the Helping Priest shall be just such as those of the Leading Priest on that occasion and at that place, as also at places following.<sup>5</sup>

14. «There must then be recited» Ashem Vohû 3<sup>6</sup> «the Praise of Righteousness 3 times, and the text» Aiwi-grrrdhmahê Apûm 31 B Vanguhinûm<sup>6</sup>..... 'Instructive lessons do we take from the Blessed Saps.....'

15. «If any of the Helping Priests» be not at the «exact» place at that time or come up to it afterwards, he shall be reproved<sup>7</sup> by the Leading Priest; and the Leading Priest shall have to be again at<sup>8</sup> the recitation of Ashem Vohû 3 «the Praise of Righteousness 3 times, and the Confession of the Faith»: Fravarânê Mazdayasnô Zarathustris ..... 'I confess myself the adorer of the Most Wise Lord, of the faith of Zarathushtra .....', «and the glorification of» what period of the day he may «then» have, and the repetition of the Dedication.

The priest has all the while not only to be very attentive, but has also to concentrate his mind upon the operations of the Service, because its efficacy would be lost if his thought were to wander away to other things, and the whole affair would have to be repeated.

Probably some text is missing from before this section; because, just after the note on Yas. VIII, we are swooped far down to a note here on Yas. LXI.

16. The son of Dât-Farrokhô said : Behold, according to the upholders of the Primal Creed this « last » efficacious formula<sup>2</sup> may be left out here, inasmuch as whenever during the Thanksgiving Service the Leading Priest has to recite before the sacred Fire the special formula for opening a function,<sup>3</sup> there need not be repeated then the Propitiatory Dedication.

CHAPTER III

ON SCORING SPIRITUAL MERIT ACCORDING TO CAPACITY

These texts here are the same as are mentioned at the close of Fol. 29 and the commencement of Fol. 30. The reference there was to their occurrence before the commencement of the Yasna proper ; but it is plain from the next remark that the reference here is not to the commencing of the Yasna over again but simply to a repetition of these just at the next function where the Helping Priest was unready or late. It is impossible that any of the priests could be missing just while commencing the Service; and hence the reference can be not to a priest's coming late to the Service itself, but to the indifference of the Helping Priest actually present at the Service yet so inattentive as not to be ready to join in with his help just at the place and time required. This consideration must help us to believe independently that only a special repetition of the latest function commencing with the texts that are here mentioned was necessary to correct the fault, and not a repetition of the whole Service.

It must however be noted that in modern practice the Râthwi is permitted, in the course of the Service, to mind some other sacred concern of his, if his services are not immediately wanted at that time ; but we cannot be certain how far that was allowed when this was written.

<sup>4</sup> The Sraoshâvarz occupies a distinct position as the Superintendent of the Holy Service ; hence he cannot be assigned a place among these.

the Helping Priests « shall be perfectly » under « his » guidance,<sup>1</sup> i.e., « when » the Leading Priest can take care to manage this way : “The 32 A Helping Priests shall be « perfectly » under my guidance,”<sup>1</sup> nôit upa-sraotârô<sup>2</sup> zaothrô, and not ‘the Attending Priests’<sup>3</sup> « can take heed about the duties » of the Leading Priest, i.e., « not » the Helping Priests can manage things « wherein the Leading Priest has to direct »,<sup>4</sup> zaota ratufris, then the Leading Priest has the « whole » worth of spiritual mastership : and indeed he surpasses the Helping Priests « in priestly worth », aêtavatô<sup>5</sup> upa-sraotârô yavat framarentê.<sup>6</sup> « whereas » the Attending Priests « score it » for just so much « of the Service » as they celebrate by themselves as their own individual performances.

2. Sûrunaointi<sup>7</sup> upa-sraotârô zaothrô, When the Attending Priests can take heed about the duties<sup>7</sup> of the Leading Priest, i.e., the Helping Priests can manage things thus: “We can be

The Master of the Service must be able not only to intimate directions to the Helping Priests, of course by means of hints previously explained, but also to see that they follow out carefully those directions ; otherwise he lacks in spiritual worth.

Darmesteter reads what is and-shân in the Pahlavi as khvêshân, and therefore thinks that the word may be for khvâêtavô, but the and-shân of the Pahlavi is supported by chand that follows here, as also by the and-ash chand in the translation of the following quotation where the word occurs again. The Pahlavi copyist himself however has transcribed erroneously 𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥 for 𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥 a little later.

according to the directions «which ought» to proceed from the Leading Priest,<sup>1</sup> nôit zaota upa-sraotaranâm, and not the Leading Priest «can take heed about the duties of» the attending Priests, i.e., not the Leading Priest can direct «them»,<sup>1</sup> upa-sraotârô ratufrayô, then the attending Priests<sup>2</sup> have the «whole» worth of spiritual mastership, i.e., they surpass the Leading Priest «in priestly worth», aêtavatô<sup>3</sup> zaota yavat framaraitê. «whereas» the Leading Priest «scores it» for just so much «of the Service» as he celebrates by himself as his own individual performance.<sup>1</sup>

3. Âzât-mart<sup>4</sup> said: Verily, by that much can one «be said to be able to» manage guidance, by so much as one need not be under the guidance «of others.»<sup>5</sup> Hence «among all such «men» one surpasses another «only» at that time when one is able to take care about that<sup>6</sup> other.

4. Mâhgôshnasp said: Verily,<sup>7</sup> this «superiority need» not «be implied» in «the capacity for» guidance, inasmuch as in «the capacity for» guidance is not always implied the capability to take care about «others»<sup>8</sup>; since, it is because the Leading Priest is given superiority in guidance over the six<sup>9</sup> persons engaged in the Thanksgiving Service

<sup>1-1</sup> It means that the Leading Priest does not know to guide them, but they know how he should have guided them, and manage themselves accordingly.

The Leading Priest can earn spiritual merit for his Mastership of the Sacred Service only by his thorough knowledge to manage it perfectly; otherwise he scores spiritual merit only for that part of the Service which he performs as his special portion.

<sup>8</sup> Mâhgôshnasp means that implicit obedience to the directions of the Leading Priest is essential in the Helping Priests; hence these are guided by him not essentially through any personal capability of his, but through the rule that they must follow the directions of the Leading Priest even as they are given.

<sup>9</sup> The texts are uncertain: HJ has و and TD has و.

As the Sraoshâvarz is the Presiding Priest, and the Zaoti the Leading Officiating Priest, the number of the remaining Priests in the Holy Graduation must be "six."

« through the very fact of his being in that post, that » every one of these has to act just according<sup>1</sup> « to his guidance » even though they be in « entire » disagreement with the Leading Priest « in his views ».<sup>2</sup>

5. There is one who states « the requisite number in the Service » to be fifteen ; there is one who states that to be twenty ; there is one who states that to be twenty-five.

6. Afrog said : Behold, when a person who lacks no faith pre- 33 A pares the sacred Drôn cake after purities<sup>3</sup> according to the Qualifying<sup>4</sup> Summary Ritual,<sup>4</sup> and performs the Thanksgiving Service thereon for the peace of one's soul, then that person « scores » a good deed of the value of three hundred Stîrs<sup>5</sup> ; and « as to » whosoever « else » that may happen to be there, « if that individual also » says grace on the sacred Drôn cake and partakes of the « Sacred » Meal, then that individual also « must score » the good deed of the value of three hundred Stîrs.<sup>5</sup>

7. The sacred Drôn cake should be « ready » there when there is recited « the holy text » Ashaya dadhâmi<sup>6</sup> ..... ' I dedicate in Righteousness ..... ' according to the guidance of the Leading Priest. Whether « in this case also » the other who is conjoint<sup>7</sup> with him in reciting the Ashaya dadhâmi ..... ' I dedicate in Righteousness ..... ' « service,

<sup>2</sup> Strict obedience to the Master of the Service is necessary for the efficacious fulfilment of the Service ; and individual differences of the Helping Priests from the Leading Priest, must not permit them to disobey.

<sup>5</sup> Tanâpûhar. This has the value of 300 Stîrs ; and each Stîr (Gr. στανήρ) is valued at four Dirhams. Cf. Sh. Lâ-Sh., XVI, 6.

<sup>7</sup> Dôkânak. Most of the passages in Yas. VII and VIII are recited by the Zaothi and the Râthwi together. And according to Fol. 152, l. 5, ff., etc. the Helping Priests also could partake of the offering.

2. Ahê zî nâ Sravanghem a-framarenti<sup>1</sup> âstryêitê, yatha Gâthā-nāmchit. And verily «it is» in accordance with this that through a person not recalling by oneself the «other» sacred text «of the Holy Wisdom», that person is rendered culpable, when it is not performed «as» manô-mrrrtanāmcha 'mentally recalled,' even as through «not singing» the Holy Songs «of Zarathushtra», when «these are» not recited «as» vachô-mrrrtanāmcha 'recalled aloud.'<sup>2</sup>

3. Behold, to all the text of Holy Wisdom which the Leading Priest shall recite by himself, the Helping Priest shall attend with care; and to all that the Helping Priest shall recite by himself, the Leading Priest shall attend with care. Indeed if they may not thus attend, then they must give up attending the Holy Sciences. 34 A

4. The Helping Priests, one under the other, shall have acted each even as a right Spiritual Master «should», in such a way that when the Leading Priest shall recite the Glorification<sup>3</sup> of the Spirit of the Moral Order,<sup>3</sup> the Weapon-Bearer<sup>4</sup> of the Spirit of the Moral Order<sup>4</sup> shall stand up «in attending to that recital»; and when that place «of worship belongs to» the Sacred Varharân Fire «dedicated to Victory», then both the Leading Priest as well as the Weapon-Bearer of the Spirit of the Moral Order shall not allow a neglect in this particular.

<sup>2</sup> The rest of the Avesta may be recited only mentally when another recites it aloud; but the Gâthas must be recited aloud by all; hence there is here a consideration of the culpability for not reciting the rest of the Avesta mentally, and for not reciting the Gâthas aloud. Of course, those engaged in the Service must recite aloud all their specially assigned texts. See what follows.

one gains merit for all the Holy Songs whatsoever<sup>1</sup>; Yasnem yazâiti, Gâthanâm srâvayamnanâm paitisti, whereas when one glorifies the Holy Text of Praise and Thanksgiving « of the Seven Chapters », and is only attentive<sup>2</sup> to the Singing 34 B of the Holy Songs,<sup>3</sup> Yasnahê aêvahê ratufris, a-ratuftris Gâthanâm, then one gains merit simply for the Holy Text of Praise and Thanksgiving « of the Seven Chapters », but gains no merit for the Holy Songs.

CHAPTER IV : APPENDIX

ON THE OMISSIONS WHICH INCUR SPECIAL PENALTY<sup>4</sup>

1. Verily, according to all the teachings, at the times whenever « there is to have occurred » the formula for opening or closing a function in the Hôrnâst<sup>5</sup> « the Service of All the Worshipful Ones », the extremities<sup>6</sup> must not have been left out.

2. And this is wherein Âzât-Mart is of the same opinion that also when the Helping Priest may have left out that Holy Text of the Holy Songs which is to be repeated four times,<sup>7</sup> then neither what precedes nor what follows can contribute anything to the Service, as the text of the Holy Wisdom is not dealt with as it should be by the Helping Priest : in other words, such « should be the case » when he is to recite the formula for closing the function at the close of « the Holy Song » Yâ shyaothnû, yâ vachanghâ... ..<sup>8</sup> 'With what action, with what word... ..' And when he holds again the formula for opening the « next » function, then

<sup>6</sup> Rôyêshman simply signifies " the end, " but the additional texts both in the beginning and in the end of the main subjects appear to be meant.

<sup>8</sup> The opening words of Yas. XXXIV. This Holy Song is closed with twofold repetition of the Ahyâ Yâsâ strophe, 4 Ahunvars, 3 Ashem Vohûs, etc.

also as he listens to<sup>1</sup> the Holy Text of Praise and Thanksgiving «of the Seven Chapters», there becomes manifested at Humatanām... ..<sup>2</sup> ‘Of Good Thoughts... ..’ «the case wherein he has to join in the recitation to render the Service valid».

3. In this way it is manifested that if he omit the text to be 35 A recited twice over<sup>3</sup> when there should appear for him the text to be repeated twice, «or similarly if he neglect to recite» when there should appear for him the text to be repeated thrice,<sup>4</sup> or when there should appear for him the text to be repeated four times,<sup>5</sup> or «also», when there should appear for him the formula to be recited by him for opening or closing a function<sup>6</sup> during the entire Service as it may last, «and» if he omit the formula for opening or closing a function whenever there should appear the formula to be recited by him for opening or closing a function, —then the Holy Thanksgiving Service cannot be fulfilled «in all such cases».

CHAPTER V

ON SCORING SPIRITUAL MERIT IN PROPORTION TO AS MUCH AS IS RECITED INDIVIDUALLY

1. Gaôgôshnasp said: Verily, the Helping Priests score the good deed of the Sacred Service «in the proportion of» as much as they recite «by themselves individually». He makes that out from this passage «here»:—

Yâ Gâthdo afsmainya rayatô,<sup>7</sup> va<sup>8</sup> ratufris<sup>8</sup>; When any two persons—“e.g.”, the Leading Priest and the Helping Priest—recite

ustânazastô raffdhrayâ 'With devoted homage and with high-aiming efforts do I pray for this Gladness,' «in such a way that» when one has<sup>1</sup> Ahyâ yâsâ another will have nemanghâ, «which should be absurd».

4. It should be very well whenever they recite jointly together.<sup>2</sup> 36 A
If however one of the two is to recite before, it should be very befitting if the Leading Priest<sup>3</sup> recites before, notwithstanding that when the Helping Priest «recites» before that also is allowed.

CHAPTER VI

ON TWO LEADING PRIESTS CELEBRATING SERVICES SIMULTANEOUSLY

1. Yâ Yasnem yazôithê<sup>4</sup> afsmanivân vâ, vchastastivat vâ, va ratufryâ. When two Leading Priests «simultaneously» celebrate<sup>4</sup> the Praise and Thanksgiving Service in metric measure<sup>5</sup> or in stanzas and strophes, both can acquire spiritual merit. Hûmsrut-vâcha yêdhi yazôithê,<sup>4</sup> va a-ratufryâ. But when they celebrate the Service in mutually attentive<sup>6</sup> speech, i.e., when each attends to the other «not entirely minding one's own work», both lose spiritual merit.<sup>7</sup>

2. Kat hûm-srut-vâchimna? How «does it become the» mutually attentive speech «at the time» they celebrate the Service,

<sup>2</sup> Those portions of the text which are to be recited by both the Leading Priest and the Helping Priest may preferably be recited by both at once.

<sup>4</sup> The Pahlavi has yazend. The Avestan is throughout erroneous: it gives 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 in the first instance, and 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 in the next; but evidently a present, Atmanepada, third person dual is wanted.

<sup>7</sup> When two or more services go on simultaneously in the same place, those engaged in each should not wander away, in their attention or occupation, to what may be going on in any other, but should mind their own work with fixed attention, and undivided devotion of their energies.

such that when each attends to the other both lose the spiritual merit ? <sup>1</sup>

36 B 3. Yat hakat âmrutô <sup>2</sup> afsmānivāncha vachastastivatcha, When both speak at a time in metric measure <sup>3</sup> and in stanzas and strophes, avi chayô <sup>4</sup> sūrunvainti, nôit anyô. and they are attentive each to the other, and not each to oneself.

4. Aêshô ratufris, yô nôit aiwi-srunaoiti. He <sup>5</sup> is in spiritual merit who does not « thus » wander in his attentiveness.

5. This is what becomes manifest from the Holy Wisdom that « even though these » two Leading Priests <sup>6</sup> perform the Praise and Thanksgiving Service with care <sup>7</sup> « otherwise », and straight through, then « even though they thus » carry it to the end and recite all the texts « that there are », still the case will not be different, <sup>8</sup> « and there must occur » the sinfulness <sup>9</sup> of the value of three <sup>10</sup> Srôshôcharanâms « of twelve Stîrs ».<sup>11</sup>

6. « Such » Thanksgiving Service should « at once » be closed,

It is also not quite clear whether they attempt each to serve as the Râthwi to the other, and thus recite also the Râthwi's portions and render themselves sinful again differently. Still the lightness of the penalty mentioned in this paragraph as well as the difficulties of managing the affair thus, would go against such supposition.

Darmesteter seems only to think that the idea is simply that of covering and disturbing each other. This would be quite compatible with the Avestan and the remark at the close of this folio and the commencement of the next; but what might be the purpose of the remark preceding this last in stating in this connection that the Service should be closed when there are no Helping Priests, unless the writer thought even then that their absence also could have some consideration here ?

<sup>11</sup> Dr. West has ascertained that though not always so taken, the Srôshôcharanâm has generally the same value as the Farmân which is estimated at four Stîrs each of four Dirhams.

« when » there are no Helping Priests ; « inasmuch as » the rest of the text of Holy Wisdom « which it is for the Helping Priests to recite » cannot indeed occur « in that Service ».

7. There is one who says : Behold, notwithstanding that there may be the Helping Priests « at such Service », and notwithstanding that there may occur the rest of the holy texts « which it is their special function to recite, there must nevertheless take place in such a case » the sinfulness of the value of a Tanâpôhar « of three hundred Stirs ». <sup>1</sup> Whether however, the Thanksgiving Service may « at all » be performed « in such a case » or no, is not clear. <sup>2</sup> 37 A

ON THE DUTY OF THE QUALIFIED PERSON TO SING THE HOLY SONGS

1. Yô Gâthanûm anumaiti vâ anumainyêtê, When « although » one understands the Holy Songs with deep comprehension, i.e., comprehends them and meditates thereon, anyêhê vâ srâvayantô paitisti,<sup>3</sup> still such a one either « simply » attends to another singing them, i.e., when another utters them one simply lends « to them » the ear,<sup>4</sup> anyô vâ hê dahmô srutâo Gâthâo dadhâditi, a-ratufri; or another holy man makes over for such « a one's benefit the good deed of » having sung already the Holy Songs, then such a one does not <sup>5</sup> score « any » spiritual merit—« as

<sup>2</sup> Though the person concerned in a Service of this kind must become culpable, it is not clear whether that Service itself becomes totally useless, or even perhaps harmful, or whether it can have some value.

<sup>4</sup> When a person knows for certain that one is thoroughly acquainted with the Gâthas so as to understand perfectly their signification, it is one's personal duty to manage them for oneself and for others; yet if one does not do so but lets another manage them, and oneself simply listens to what that other attempts though one knows one can manage best for oneself and for others, then one is losing spiritual merit.

This circumstance is one case of losing spiritual merit; what follows is another of a different kind. The disjunctive vâ separates the two cases here.

when the other may have said », “ Here, this <sup>1</sup> worship that I have performed I give over to thee ”; a-srutāo dadhāiti, ratufriś.<sup>2</sup> when however he gives over « for such a one’s benefit the good deed of their » having still to be sung, then « on singing them » one can score spiritual merit— « as when he may have said », “ Look here, because of thy proficience <sup>3</sup> I give over the Worship « unto thee ».”<sup>4</sup>

2. When a person is highly qualified therefor he may lawfully perform the Thanksgiving Service for payment; and there must be attained a good deed for both « himself and the other » for the Dirhams that one pays : indeed to both must be attained the good deed for <sup>5</sup> personal spiritual worth.<sup>6</sup>

3. There is one who says : Verily, there must be « attained the merit » unto him who has performed it, only in the case when if he were able to perform it even without the payment, even then would he have performed it.<sup>6</sup>

4. « The double advantage in this case here is » even as « in the case wherein » it is lawful for a person of superior strength to make captive a noxious creature as well as to sell it for a price. « Indeed » there arise « herein » two good deeds in altogether two ways—« one » from making

<sup>4</sup> Darmesteter renders this passage differently: “ One who contemplates the Gāthas mentally, (without chanting them for oneself), or listens to them chanted by others, or makes them chanted by another faithful for one’s self, is not at all approved . . . . ,” but he cannot accordingly render what follows.

It is indeed a virtuous qualification that one should be able to perform the Holy Service; and it is a distinct virtuous act that one should pay for its performance when one is not able to perform it oneself.

<sup>6</sup> For, if one performs the Service not for one’s love of the Holy Office, but merely out of one’s love for the money its performance may fetch, then evidently one does not score any spiritual merit.

it captive<sup>1</sup> and «one» from killing it.<sup>2</sup> And in so far as when the good deed of killing it «straight» might have been performed, that of making it captive could not be performed, «so the act of making it captive is a distinct good deed, hence» it will not be altogether<sup>3</sup> a contemptible thing<sup>3</sup> when one pays Dirhams beforehand «for its capture» in order that «the good deed»<sup>4</sup> be attained to both «oneself and the captor».

5. It is requisite «in a case as this» that the noxious creature be kept in great abstinence,<sup>5</sup> in so far as it is not lawful to give it the food «which is obtained» with death and destruction<sup>6</sup>; and when one gives it «food», it must be «of as low a kind» as dust<sup>7</sup> and clay,<sup>8</sup> because whenever a person keeps «such a creature» there happens to one no advantage,<sup>9</sup> but there is «always» caused harm «thereby».

CHAPTER VIII

ON CONTINGENT PARTICIPATION IN THE CELEBRATION OF THE HOLY SONGS

1. Yô Gâthâo srâvayêiti apô vâ paitis khainê,<sup>10</sup> If some one is singing the Holy Songs while «one passes» along an aqueduct,<sup>11</sup> i.e., if then there comes a voice from along the water, raodhanghō vâ krrrsûm vâ sadhôtanûm,<sup>12</sup> or along a river course, i.e., while one passes<sup>13</sup>

<sup>6</sup> It must be under-fed and kept on abstinence not only to avoid destruction of life to feed it, but also to prevent its retaining its wild strength and blood-thirsty nature.

over a river course<sup>1</sup> there arises a voice from along the river course, or in gorges,<sup>2</sup> i.e., the voice « arises » from the gorges, or in wildernesses,<sup>3</sup> i.e., there proceeds a voice from the dreary places,<sup>4</sup> gaêthanûm<sup>5</sup> vâ vayantanûm,<sup>6</sup> or while they pass on the highways of commerce,<sup>7</sup> as when one proceeds on a camel, yêzi hvaêibyô ushibyô aiwi-srunvaiti, ratufri. then if one gives ear thereto by one's attentive senses,<sup>8</sup> one is in spiritual merit.

2. Yêzi âat nôit hvaêibyô<sup>9</sup> ushibyô<sup>9</sup> aiwi-srunvaiti, apayât, If however one cannot give ear thereto by one's attentive senses, and will rather join it, viz., that singing « itself », yêzi apôit,<sup>10</sup> âat nôit apôis,<sup>11</sup> yet although one will like to be able to have joined, i.e., to be able to have sung aloud « the Holy Songs », still one has not the means to join,<sup>12</sup> aêtadha madhemya vacha fra-maremnô, ratufri. then in that case if one merely

The "voice" is the voice of the singer. Darmesteter takes it to be the noise of the waters as covering the voice of the singer.

Darmesteter prefers to read gadhôtinûm in the Avestan, and translates it with the previous word, "in the depredation of bandits"; but the word as it is, can yield good sense.

This passage refers to a beautiful practice among the ancient Zoroastrians of performing the Holy Worship, or joining in it, even in circumstances of inconvenience and difficulty. It appears that all those who were within hearing the Holy Songs sung, and could join, had to join, while the rest were to listen attentively thereto. Those who were so disadvantageously situated as could not even give ear, were to recite in a slow voice, if they desired the benefit thereof.

<sup>9</sup> The text here has byâ; if this be correct Darmesteter's rendering must be preferred, but then this should be the spelling in the previous sentence also.

contemplates them meditatively «to oneself and » at a medium voice, one obtains spiritual merit.

3. This becomes manifest from the Holy Wisdom that when there arrives the voice<sup>1</sup> of celebrating the Thanksgiving Service then if one<sup>39</sup> A be able to sing<sup>2</sup> «so», one ought to sing<sup>3</sup> «aloud jointly»; if not,<sup>4</sup> aêtadha madhemya vacha . . . 'then in that case «one should sing slowly to oneself» with a medium voice.'

4. If one joins into the Service at the time of the very commencement of «hearing that» voice «of celebration, then alone» one does not pass into retribution<sup>5</sup>; but if one may not do so, then one must pass into retribution: this is what Raôshan «maintained».

5. Afrog said: Behold we<sup>6</sup> must not overlook<sup>6</sup> this «circumstance» as to when does it happen that one «is» qualified to have participation «in the Service», and as to when does it happen that one «is» not qualified to have participation «in the Service»: when one can procure the fire and the fire seat, and the Barsôm twigs and the Barsôm stand, then «only is» one qualified to have participation «in the Service»<sup>7</sup>; if not, one «is» not<sup>8</sup> qualified to have participation «in the Service».<sup>9</sup>

6. Chvat nû nilema vacha Gâthâo srâvayô ratufris? On singing the Holy Songs at how much the lowest voice does a man gain spiritual merit?

<sup>7</sup> Afrog thinks it necessary for that person who is not actually present at a Worship, but hears at a distance the voice of those celebrating it, and desires to join therein, (probably without proceeding to that spot), that that person should procure the fire and the fire seat and the Barsôm twigs and the Barsôm stand and then sing aloud the Holy Songs, if one desires to do so in perfect qualification. As the person referred to here is travelling, it is implied that one must have kept with one the necessary things ready while travelling.

7. Yat hê nazdistô dahmô vî-srunvaiti, yavat vâ aêm<sup>1</sup> havaêibya ushîbya. At so much as the nearest pious man may hear of him without effort, such that if one is closest to him one must hear him, or at so much as this « person's own self may hear clearly » with his own senses.<sup>2</sup>

CHAPTER VIII: APPENDICES

* ON THE TAKING OF THE DRÔN<sup>3</sup>

APPENDIX A

ON "THE PREPARATION" IN THE SACRED DRÔN SERVICE

1. Behold, the thing that is after all manifested concerning this Sacred Cake is, that relative to the sacred Drôn cake are these three things: the PREPARATION, the ARRANGEMENT, and the DEDICATION.<sup>4</sup>

2. As regards all species of corn that may be, what<sup>5</sup> is made of wheat<sup>5</sup> is best, as manifested from this passage: Gantumô yavanâm ratufris 'The wheat among corns has great value,' inasmuch as the wheat<sup>6</sup> is chief among corns.

3. All<sup>7</sup> the flour for the sacred Drôn cake<sup>7</sup> is to be dealt with with the most clean operation.<sup>8</sup> And whosoever may deny<sup>9</sup> it that under « the excuse of » being poor is wrong.<sup>10</sup>

40 A 4. Parîk said that the « flour must be » dry,<sup>11</sup> and must be moistened<sup>12</sup>

The meaning is that the lowest voice that may be allowed here is what must distinctly fall on one's own ears. <sup>3</sup> See note 9 on previous page.

with clean water,<sup>1</sup> and with that clean water must it be mixed together<sup>2</sup>; and whosoever may knead<sup>3</sup> it «has to mind that» so long as that «kneading» is not perfect<sup>4</sup> it is unfit, and «that» as soon as it is kneaded<sup>5</sup> «to propriety» the adding<sup>6</sup> of clean water<sup>6</sup> must be stopped.

5. One should make nine<sup>7</sup> small cuts<sup>8</sup> on «the Sacred Cake». There is one who says: that the cuts need not be made,<sup>9</sup> for, that is a trifling<sup>10</sup> matter.<sup>10</sup>

CHAPTER VIII: APPENDIX B

ON "THE ARRANGEMENT" IN THE SACRED DRÔN SERVICE

1. It should be very convenient that<sup>11</sup> the sacred Drôn cakes be prepared as many «at a time» as may be utilised during the day. Besides it is requisite for the Service<sup>12</sup> that there be also prepared the Frasast<sup>13</sup> cakes; so that for every one<sup>14</sup> thereof there may increase the good deed of offering the sacred Drôn cake; and lest it may not increase «as much as it should», there must also be set in the places<sup>15</sup> of both, the garden rue,<sup>16</sup> «which is the herb of grace, along with» clarified butter «and» garden herbs.<sup>17</sup>

The water is to be added slowly till the dough is requisitely softened.

<sup>7</sup> The text has هفت which signifies "seven." If that be correct it may be indicative of the seven Amesha Spentas. At present they are three times three, indicative of the Good Thought, the Good Word and the Good Deed, triplicated.

The word may also mean "abundantly," but that meaning cannot fit in what follows.

There is one who observes thus: Verily, the garden rue is not excluded from garden herbs.<sup>1</sup>

2. Note that the utensils must be arranged before the sacred Drôn cake.

40 B 3. There must be wine<sup>2</sup>; and there must likewise be the pomegranate flower.<sup>3</sup> When this is tender<sup>4</sup> and when it is shrivelled<sup>5</sup> it is not<sup>6</sup> fit for use.

4. When there is water on,<sup>7</sup> it is not allowed. Kiryâtrö-Bûjît said: There must «also» be placed a little water, verily because there should not be any deficiency<sup>8</sup> in the arrangement «of things for the Service».

5. It is best to have it in full view<sup>9</sup> when one's set<sup>10</sup> «of things for the Service» is complete.

6. Juniper<sup>11</sup> should be placed under the wine «cup» and sweet marjoram<sup>12</sup> should be placed thick<sup>13</sup> upon that juniper just on the right hand side—there is one who says it should be placed on every side.

7. «Then», fresh fruit should be placed on thick myrtle<sup>14</sup> and ivy.<sup>15</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The argument is that when you say that there should be garden herbs, you include in them the garden rue also, and so need not mention it separately. But it is mentioned separately apparently because it is specially required. The objection could however have been obviated if the previous statement had been "other garden herbs."

Or, these last words may all be the names of some herbs or flowers, or even of utensils.

8. One should direct one's face where the Barsôm twigs are. One should place three « portions » of the fragrant wood and the incense on the right hand side.

9. Everything else that one desires to dedicate should be on the right hand side, even as that is « just the » proper « way ».

11. Afrog said: Behold, all that lies besides the wine and the Frasast cake is not necessary in the Service of Thanksgiving and Praise.<sup>5</sup>

12. If indeed one like, one may sit forth in indigence and gaze at the woods; but after all it is not lawful with regard to one's « prescribed » meditations to add thereto or lessen them. There is « however » one who says thus: Verily, it is allowed to add thereto but not allowed to lessen them.<sup>6</sup>

13. Mâhgôshnasp said: Behold, one must gaze only at so much as one offers up in dedication.

14. It is not lawful that one take up the sacred Barsôm twigs and place them on the left.

<sup>5</sup> Afrog believes that everything besides wine and the Frasast cake is unnecessary at the Dedication, as these represent all drink and food which are among the essential blessings God has provided us.

<sup>6</sup> There is here a provision for the utterly poor to contemplate the Dedication Service before a wood, without preparing the things above described. Sincere admiration of the bounties Nature has provided and devout expression of one's gratefulness for those while sitting in contemplation before them, constitute as good a service as any can be.

According however to what is said at the close of Fol. 39 even a person like this would be required to have before him a Drôn cake. Nobody however poor can lack the means of providing himself a small thin plain cake which he may afterwards eat instead of his daily bread.

See again Fol. 107, l. 8, ff. where poor honest people are allowed to say prayers on their bare meals instead of being required to celebrate the Gâhambârs.

41 B 15. At one tasting «but» one function<sup>1</sup> «is complete»; hence one must not have «the things» removed or disturbed<sup>2</sup> «thereat».

16. There is thus much special care<sup>3</sup> «to be taken» by a person for the sake of the efficacy<sup>4</sup> of the sacred Drôn cake Service<sup>4</sup>: the utensil for arranging the sacred Drôn cake on is to be dealt with on «having been manipulated» with the pure water, in such a way that if the sacred Barsôm twigs project thereon, that be not allowed,<sup>5</sup> but «everything» be assembled<sup>6</sup> in a well arranged set.<sup>7</sup> «Indeed» it must not be allowed if it does not shine dry,<sup>8</sup> because that which is dry through not being washed is better than what is wet<sup>9</sup> through being washed.<sup>10</sup>

17. «As regards» what is for arranging the sacred Drôn cake on, it should be best if it were so placed from the beginning «as» to let the water slide off<sup>11</sup>; «for» when it is wet owing to washing,<sup>12</sup> it is not allowed.

18. If indeed one spread the table-cloth,<sup>13</sup> and arrange «the sacred Drôn cake» thereon that cannot be allowed.

If one pluck off<sup>14</sup> green turf<sup>15</sup> and arrange it thereon, that «also»

The function of tasting the Sacred Cake is a subsidiary act and must not let the things in the Service be confused in any way.

Everything must be so carefully arranged that one thing may not render another inefficacious through misplacement.

The reference evidently is to the Drôn plate.

<sup>10</sup> It is not meant that it is not to be washed at all; it must have been washed already before its introduction into the service group. The reference here however is to the final sanctified washing.

cannot be allowed; «because» it is allowed<sup>1</sup> «to arrange it on that turf, only» when one does not pluck it off.

19. Fresh<sup>2</sup> fruit should «also» be placed<sup>3</sup> with careful cleanliness<sup>4</sup> in such a way that if the sacred Barsôm twigs have projected thereon, that be not allowed. It<sup>5</sup> should «also» be set carefully apart<sup>6</sup> from the 42 A sacred Drôn cake if it has come in contact with the sacred Drôn cake.

20. There «should have been» just so much use<sup>7</sup> of the sanctified pure water<sup>7</sup> as «should have just sufficed for» the Sacred Cakes that have been «made», and not<sup>8</sup> for those that are not.<sup>6</sup>

21. The sacred Drôn cake must be placed just upon the middle of what is for arranging the sacred Drôn cake on, «because» it is to be so managed that «the sacred Drôn cake» may not be beyond<sup>9</sup> what is for arranging the sacred Drôn cake on; for, if the sacred Drôn cake were to lie off on what is for arranging the sacred Drôn cake on, that could not be right.

22. If the sacred Barsôm twigs lie off on the carpet,<sup>10</sup> that should not be allowed.

23. The sacred Clarified Butter, when<sup>11</sup> it is prepared with scrupulous care<sup>11</sup> along with the sacred Drôn cake, should be placed just on the middle of the sacred Drôn cake. If it be more or less «than what is requisite», or if it be not upon the thing whercon it is verily to be placed,

The ground grown with small green grass cannot soil and therefore may be used for the purpose.

It may again appear that Nature's supplies are preferred in the Service to other things; and hence it may be that the table-cloth is rejected above. Otherwise there also a-shâyat may be wrong for â-shâyat.

The reference evidently is to the moistening of the flour for the Drôn with the Pâtiyâp even as it is described at the top of Fol. 40. The meaning evidently is that just so much dough should be prepared as may exactly suffice for the Drôns that are to be made presently. <sup>9</sup> Barâ lâ yakavîmûnêt.

<sup>10</sup> Stareshn. It is not plain what carpet is meant here. Perhaps the reference is simply to the "spreading" of the green herbs mentioned above. There is, however, another translation possible: "If the sacred Barsôm twigs lie spread apart, that should not be fit."

«notwithstanding that» they have to place<sup>1</sup> it upon the sacred Drôn cake, then that cannot be fit.

If they place it before the sacred Drôn cake, that also can be fit.

If the sacred Clarified Butter be too much,<sup>2</sup> then it must cover up<sup>3</sup> the whole of the sacred Drôn cake, «which is not to be allowed<sup>4</sup>».

42 B 24. The sacred Frasast cakes should be placed on the right hand side. If they be placed in front, that also may be allowed. And as regards the least<sup>5</sup> size<sup>6</sup> as<sup>6</sup> also<sup>6</sup> the largest<sup>7</sup> «that must be fit for them» they should be just so much as the sacred Drôn cake «is to be» broad across. And whatever may be placed with the sacred Drôn cake must verily be placed with the sacred Frasast cake also.

25. There is one who says thus: Behold, there must be placed a receptacle<sup>8</sup> «there», and therein there must be put water.

26. The sides of the sacred Drôn cake should be made thick,<sup>9</sup> those of the sacred Frasast cake should not be «made» so «thick»; and both must be placed upon the raised<sup>10</sup> baking plate.<sup>10</sup> And both the sacred Drôn cakes and the sacred Frasast cakes should<sup>11</sup> be so placed upon the raised baking plate<sup>11</sup> that the rim<sup>12</sup> of one may not<sup>13</sup> lie on the side<sup>14</sup> of another; for, he who says that that must be a case<sup>15</sup> of wilful damage,<sup>15</sup> states particularly this, that<sup>16</sup> whosoever may bake<sup>17</sup> «them»,

<sup>8</sup> Dân; Pr. دان. Or the word might be gânûn, a baking plate; Pr. کالون=a chafing-dish; but then what is said below would not be appropriate.

It appears that the Drôn is to be made thicker than the Frasast, although both are to have the same size otherwise.

The text from the beginning of this paragraph up to this point is repeated here through mistake.

27. While one is baking, one should not keep «the cake» held up<sup>2</sup> «long» in the hand «during the process; and» one should not put it back on the same place, because by<sup>3</sup> so doing<sup>3</sup> it will be kept very moist, whereas it is to be without<sup>4</sup> any moisture whatsoever<sup>4</sup>; and it<sup>5</sup> should be given heat so constantly,<sup>5</sup> that the heat may reach it at every place, «even as» it is not to be kept with «any» moisture whatsoever.

28. There is one who says thus: Behold, inasmuch as although it is to be without moisture,<sup>6</sup> still it may be not without moisture even although it ought not to have been kept with moisture, even therefore is it manifested concerning the sacred Drôn cake that a cold<sup>7</sup> sacred<sup>8</sup> cake whatsoever<sup>8</sup> without moisture is better than a warm bread with moisture.

29. And of all kinds of bread this one kind of bread which is the Frasast cake, should not be left to itself «while baking»; because he 43 B who maintains that there must thus be caused wilful damage,<sup>9</sup> particularly mentions this that, if it be left to itself, it must be either burnt up or shrivelled up<sup>10</sup>; «whereas» the sacred Drôn<sup>11</sup> cake is a thing the purity and good quality whereof are after all carefully to be minded and skilfully to be estimated.<sup>12</sup>

There is one who says: Verily, the estimation hereof is better than the observation.<sup>13</sup>

For לחם TD has לחם which text we prefer.

It requires care, observation, and skill to bake the Sacred Cake as perfectly as it should be.

30. Âtrôpât ê Dât-Farrokhô said : Verily, being warm and fresh should be a good quality «in the Sacred Cake».

31. The disciples of Bakht-Âfrî said : Verily, perfect uniformity<sup>1</sup> «in the cake is likewise» good.

32. Gaôgôshnasp said : Verily, though too many requisitions<sup>2</sup> «are entertained» in this case, not one of them is a thing of main consideration; because of the two good things that are being «specially» regarded here, one<sup>3</sup> is the Thanksgiving Service and one the dedicated offering.<sup>4</sup>

33. When the sacred Drôn cakes<sup>5</sup> are to be arranged then inasmuch as the place is to be very clean and pure,<sup>6</sup> it must be swept<sup>7</sup> at least to 44 A a little extent<sup>8</sup> and sprinkled with water.<sup>9</sup> Then down there should a person put ivy twigs,<sup>10</sup> and lay them there in various sorts.<sup>11</sup>

34. When there arises to a person no desire for the Holy Service of the sacred Drôn cake, that must be wrong.

Afrog and Kayâk<sup>12</sup> both<sup>13</sup> of them said «that herein» the practice<sup>14</sup> of Vakhshâpûhar<sup>15</sup> was just according to the religious decisions of Vakhshâpûhar.<sup>15</sup>

<sup>4</sup> Gaôgôshnasp would maintain that so long as the Thanksgiving Service and the things to be dedicated therein are managed as a whole with fitting propriety, minor details are of no great consequence. Nevertheless he might not deny that some of those small attentions are desirable and necessary.

TD has 𐭠𐭣 𐭠𐭣 𐭠𐭣 𐭠𐭣 for 𐭠𐭣.

Perhaps it is meant that ivy twigs are to be spread in several ways known when this was written, or that ivies of various sorts are to be used.

<sup>15</sup> This name is usually read Nishâpûhar or Nikhshâpûhar; it may also be read Vih-Shahpûhar; but none of these readings appears satisfactory. Our reading, on the other hand, may yield a sense collateral with the other appellations of the holy doctors, because it may be related with Pr. 𐭠𐭣 = apostle, or 𐭠𐭣 = dawn.

CHAPTER VIII: APPENDIX C

ON "THE DEDICATION" IN THE SACRED DRÔN SERVICE

1. With regard to the sacred Drôn cake which is at last just<sup>1</sup> prepared<sup>1</sup> for the Dedication presently<sup>2</sup> to take place,<sup>2</sup> «it must be remembered that» when it is to be offered up in Dedication it should have come «upon the service table» at a time which precedes that «Dedication itself».<sup>3</sup>

2. And this much is lawfully to be observed<sup>4</sup> «in the Dedication», that from «the Holy Text of» Ashaya dadhâmi khvarrthem myazdem haurvata amrrrtâta . . .<sup>5</sup> 'In Righteousness do I dedicate the food offering and the gifts of both Wholesomeness and Deathlessness . . .'<sup>5</sup> forwards, it should be recited on up to where the sacred Drôn cake «is to be tasted of».<sup>6</sup>

3. Mâhgôshnasp said: Behold, when «those engaged in the Service» arrive so far, then in order that<sup>7</sup> they may not act contrarily «to what is requisite», while reciting twice the formula of Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô, 'As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure'<sup>8</sup> they must gaze at the sacred Frasast cake and the Frasast utensil.

4. There is one who says: Verily, even at the time when this is 44 B not yet commenced, just then is it necessary that with «the Holy Words» . . . . frasasti<sup>9</sup> Ahurahê Mazdâô . . .<sup>10</sup> ' . . . with submission to the Holy Sway of the Most Wise Lord . . .'<sup>10</sup> one should

Two Ahunvars are now recited at the end of Yas. VIII, 4, but after the Leading Priest has tasted the Drôn and clarified butter.

turn<sup>1</sup> the sacred Frasast<sup>2</sup> cake over<sup>1</sup> the sacred Clarified Butter. And if the sacred Drôn cake be found spread all over with the sacred Clarified Butter, then this should be «brought close together, and» set just on the middle of the sacred Drôn cake.

6. When one is at<sup>6</sup> «the recitation of» . . . . Ashaya nô paiti-jamyât ‘. . . . in Righteousness approach us,’ one should not look at where<sup>7</sup> the sacred Barsôm twigs «are, if» they lie unwashed<sup>8</sup> with the sacred washing.<sup>8</sup>

7. There is one who says that the Helping Priest «also» has to taste<sup>9</sup> «of the Sacred Cake»; whereas there is another who says that he must not.

8. The sacred Barsôm twigs are to be washed according to the direction<sup>10</sup> of the Leading Priest.

45 A 9. When the tasting «of the Sacred Cake» is done——«and» know that it is well<sup>11</sup> when one who has not to taste it, does not taste

<sup>2</sup> Of course because there is to be manifested here the relationship between the word frasasti and the sacred Frasast cake.

If the clarified butter on the service table be only that which is on the Drôn, then it must mean according to what is said here, that the Frasast is to be turned over upon the Drôn with the clarified butter on.

At present the Barsôm twigs are washed with scrupulous care before being placed on the service table, and by the time that the Service reaches the stage mentioned in the text, they are very often sprinkled with clean water.

it—, then the sacred Drôn cake as well as the sacred Barsôm twigs must<sup>1</sup> all be sprinkled with holy water.<sup>1</sup>

10. When the Thanksgiving Service<sup>3</sup> arrives to that function with careful<sup>3</sup> observations,<sup>3</sup> and when he who has to taste «the Sacred Cake» —as distinct from him who has not to taste because he must not taste it,—has arrived at .....aêlûm â yâtumanahê.....<sup>4</sup> ‘.....’<sup>4</sup> «he approaches» unto the «word» of the thought of black power .....,<sup>4</sup> then because he has not «yet» sung the praise of the Sun of Glory,<sup>5</sup> he must stand up and recite Nemô Ahurûi.....<sup>6</sup> ‘Devoted homage unto the Being Supreme .....’<sup>6</sup> And then he must sit down, and he<sup>7</sup> must recite Ashem Vohû «the Praise of Righteousness» 3 times.<sup>8</sup>

11. With regard to both these «the sacred Drôn cake and the Barsôm twigs» which must come under the consideration<sup>9</sup> of «every» person that may be among those sitting<sup>10</sup> high «on elevated seats» or down «on the ground», or those fewest that may stand, or those that may be in the corridors,<sup>11</sup> «it must carefully be borne in mind that» when one has to turn one’s head at the sacred Drôn cake, one should not gaze at the sacred 45 B Barsôm twigs, «and that if these be» not<sup>12</sup> washed with scrupulous care,<sup>12</sup> that should not be allowed. Even although one arrive so far

The text is clear here; but it is not quite plain why the Drôn also should be sprinkled with holy water, and even that after the tasting. It may however have something to do with the fact that the Service itself is a little disturbed by the operation of tasting the Sacred Cake.

<sup>6</sup> These seem to be the opening words of a Formula of Grace in which the Sun also was glorified; see Yas. LXVIII, 22; again cf. Khûrshît Niyâyesh, § 1.

Gaôgôshnasp said: Verily, when one has turned one's head towards the sacred Drôn cake, the sacred Barsôm twigs «can» not «receive» consideration.<sup>3</sup>

12. There is one who says thus: Verily, it is after all said that the operation of tasting «the Sacred Offering should take place» to the presence of the sacred Barsôm twigs, notwithstanding that it is not allowed if one «then» turns one's head towards them.<sup>4</sup> And if one choose, one may take to the place of the sacred Barsôm twigs all the things that «can be placed» therewith.

There is one who says thus: Behold, if «the Sacred Twigs» be not washed with scrupulous care,<sup>5</sup> it is unlawful «even» to take them «at» the tasting «of the Sacred Offering».

13. When one has turned one's head at the sacred Drôn cake, then if anything comes between<sup>6</sup> it is not lawful to taste from it. And lest the sacred Drôn cake may not have the right worth of the Sacred Cake, the sacred Barsôm twigs must not be thought of along with the sacred Drôn cake.<sup>7</sup> The good deed of offering up the sacred Drôn cake is 46 A indeed effected «to perfection only» when one has turned one's head «straight» at the sacred Drôn cake.

14. This should lawfully be observed<sup>8</sup> that as often as<sup>9</sup> the tasting

<sup>2</sup> One must not gaze at the Sacred Twigs at this juncture, because that act is to be directed to the Drôn. Still the Barsôm Twigs are to be ready there; for, if they be not there and be not carefully washed, that must cause a defect in the Service. Hence it is necessary that if one desires that the Service should be as good as is required, the Barsôm should be kept ready and washed with due care.

<sup>3</sup> Gaôgôshnasp either means that the Barsôm cannot receive attention when one has to gaze at the Drôn, or that one cannot be gazing at the Barsôm when one has turned one's head straight at the Drôn.

<sup>4</sup> One should not think that because one is not to turn one's head at the Barsôm, there is no use thereof in the function of tasting the Drôn, for that use has already been enjoined.

functions are performed «during the Drôn Service, just so often the things»<sup>1</sup> should be brought in and taken away.

There is one who says that «this happens» three times<sup>2</sup> «altogether»; and verily that is Vakhshâpûhar<sup>3</sup> «who says so».

15. With regard to the Sacred Offering that may have come «before one», if after all<sup>4</sup> one desire to drink liquor<sup>5</sup> at the function of tasting the sacred Drôn cake, then in so far as liquor is «as it were» a guest in the feasting, it must be placed before the sacred Drôn cake, and the tasting should first be made from the liquor «inasmuch as it demands the precedence of a guest».

16. Afrog said: Behold, as often as one may have to taste from the sacred Drôn cake, one is not to bite<sup>6</sup> at the sacred Drôn cake.

17. The sacred Barsôm twigs should be taken up from the right hand side, and put down on the left, «inasmuch as, when» one tasting «is done», one function «is complete». They should not be kept raised<sup>7</sup> «too high» or placed down<sup>8</sup> «too low»: at such «proper» elevation<sup>9</sup> must they be kept; «because», it is a sin to put them too high<sup>10</sup> or too low.<sup>10</sup> And «it must also be borne in mind that» as often as they may remain<sup>11</sup> too long<sup>12</sup> in the hand, «so often» shall it be a wrong thing.

18. He who said that «this» should be wrong,<sup>13</sup> «likewise» maintained regarding him who has to say Khshnaothra. . .<sup>14</sup> 'According

It must carefully be borne in mind that the reference here is only to the things that are specially required for the tasting; hence here is no contradiction of what is said above in § 15 of the preceding Appendix B, because there the reference was to the things pertaining to the main service.

<sup>5</sup> This exception is here made evidently because the Frasast is more appropriately concerned with the text which is here mentioned just next, and which contains the triplet of Humata, Huukhta and Huvarsta to which the Frasast is dedicated.

<sup>6</sup> These are the opening words of Yas. IV, and to them is dedicated the Frasast; hence it is now included among the things to be glanced upon.

In modern practice the utensils for the ritual that are cleaned and dipped in the water trough near the ritual table before being taken into use, are collectively known by the technical name of Ashtâmâ; and can this be a variation of the word here which may then be read Asdân? The word in the text however distinctly points to the prepared ritual table, which makes quite a difference in the sense.

<sup>9</sup> Mâhmân; this refers to such things as "liquor," which are not essential to the Service, but which, if one chooses, one may present. See § 15 of this chapter.

The non-essential things must not be placed prominently, hence it should be good if they are partially covered.

<sup>12</sup> مست must be مست as above. See also Fol. 85, ll. 1 and 2 for more clearly written forms.

The length of the strophes extends up to « the text of » Yathâ Ahâ

23. « One should taste » first from the sacred Drôn cake and the Clarified Butter, and then from the sacred Frastast cake and the Clarified Butter, and then from the wine.<sup>3</sup>

48, 1. 21      There is one who says thus: Behold, if one were to taste all the three,<sup>2</sup> all at a time, that « also » could not be fit.

<sup>1</sup> Vichêst is usually understood to mean a stanza or a strophe; see Sh. Lâ-Sh. XIII, 4, etc. Here however it seems to signify the short sentences that commence or end with such expressions as ni-vaḍdhayēmi haṃkārayēmi, â-yêṣē yêṣti, ât dis â-vaḍdhayamahi, yazamaidê, and ashaya dadhōmi.

<sup>2</sup> Yatâhâkvaîriyôk. This does not refer to the Ahunvars, but to the words Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô Zaoîâ frâ mē mrûtê and the accompanying words recited by the Râthwi and Zaoîi alternately, which occur in this connection first at the end of Yas. III and next at the commencement of Yas. VIII.

barôit upa kashem 'One shall not take those « things of dedication » under the arm,'<sup>1</sup> or « when » one puts them down on one's legs, or « when » one puts them down in « some » hole,<sup>2</sup> or « when » one has turned one's head towards the north,——« then » all this « should be » improper.<sup>3</sup>

25. Gaôgôshnasp « on the other hand » said « only this » ; These three « things » are not fit<sup>4</sup> : when the Leading Priest takes a taste 49 A first of all from any other thing except the sacred Drôn cake, or « when » any other person takes a taste from the sacred Drôn cake before the Leading Priest, or « when » one acts against Nôit hîs barôit upa kashem 'One shall not take those « things of dedication » under the arm.' « Only » these three « things are described by him as unfit ».

26. The fourfold recitation<sup>5</sup> of Ashem Vohû « the Praise of Righteousness » should be discharged<sup>6</sup> as soon as one has completed the function of tasting.

27. If the Leading Priest recite « first the Holy Formula of » Ithâ..... the 'Thus then do we adore.....' « prayer, and then the » Ashem Vohû « the Praise of Righteousness », that should be wrong ; « because, only » when he recites Ashem Vohû « the Praise of Righteousness first, and then » Ithâ..... the 'Thus then do we adore.....' « prayer, then alone » can it not be wrong.<sup>7</sup>

In connection with the subject matter of the text here see Sh. Lâ-Sh. XIV, 2-3.

<sup>4</sup> Of course, it could not be that Gaôgôshnasp might have considered the other improprieties as passable. Rather perhaps he must have thought such improprieties too palpable to deserve any special mention.

<sup>7</sup> If there is no error of the privatives here, the Ashem Vohûs cannot be the 4 that are mentioned just above and in the following paragraph, but those 3 that occur at the close of Yas. VIII, 4. On having recited these the Zaotî must proceed to taste the Sacred Cake ; and to do that he is required to recite the Formula of Grace Ithâ ât yazamaidê. Of course it may be noted that other Ashem Vohûs occur in this formula also ; but they all follow the Ithâ ât..... formula, and do not precede it.

28. When the Helping Priests recite the four admonitions<sup>1</sup> before and after the fourfold recitation of Ashem Vohû «the Praise of Righteousness, then alone» can it not be wrong.

There is one who says: «The text does not mean “before and after” the recitation, but » “after all before” «the recitation».<sup>2</sup>

29. If one repeat the whole<sup>3</sup> of «the passage» Amesha ... ..<sup>4</sup> ‘«O Ye Beneficent Holy» Immortal Powers! ... ..’ without gazing on «the things placed before for dedication», then although «that repetition were» twice<sup>5</sup> over, still that should be wrong. «Whereas, on the other hand, when one» recites the rest of the Text of Holy Wisdom through the entire extent of the strophes «without gazing on the things»,
49 B that will not be «thus» wrong.<sup>6</sup>

30. There is one who says thus: Note that whenever one recalls the period of the day, the day, the month, and the Holy<sup>7</sup> Spiritual Essences,<sup>7</sup> then if, among the rest, one recalls «them» without casting a glance on «even» a single thing, that should be wrong.

31. Sôshâns said: Note «on the other hand» that it should be right only when one would say Ahurahé Mazdô ..... ‘..... of the Most Knowing Being Supreme.....’ «without thus casting a glance on the things».<sup>8</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Pand; Pr. 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀. The text answering this description appears to be the §§ 3-6 of Yas. VIII, two of which precede and two follow the 4 Ashem Vohûs. It must however be remembered that it is only the Zaoti who recites them now.

<sup>2</sup> These remarks apparently have been based on some Avestan texts; and the terms indicating them appear to have given a doubt as to their exact signification which these doctors here attempt to solve differently. Still according to our explanation in the previous note the former divine must be correct.

<sup>8</sup> For then one must think deeply and wholly of the Supreme Being Himself.

CHAPTER IX

ON FAILURE IN CELEBRATION THROUGH

1. Yôî aêté<sup>1</sup> maidhyanũm<sup>2</sup> parô khvarrtôit<sup>3</sup> Gâthão<sup>4</sup> nôit srâvayéinti<sup>5</sup>, If those « men on whom it is incumbent to sing the Holy Songs » do not sing the Holy Songs through<sup>6</sup> the drinking of liquors,<sup>6</sup> i.e., they drink liquor, become intoxicated, and do not celebrate the Service of the Festival of the Days Sacred to the Holy Songs,<sup>7</sup> paôirya varrsta, aêshâm shyaothanemcha a-chithô-îristem<sup>8</sup>, « and if that be » through the first committed « act », then their action is uninvolved<sup>9</sup> in penalty,<sup>9</sup> i.e., although they commit an act of the worth of death, this « penalty » does not take root 50 A in them, tat khvarrnô bâdha asti, ‘provided indeed that’ the<sup>10</sup> draught is taken<sup>10</sup> just in this way—as it<sup>11</sup> is « also » for thee « the way » to take the draught—, « viz. », dahmô hurûm<sup>12</sup> khvaraiti, madhô<sup>13</sup> aspiya<sup>14</sup>—payanghō, as, when a pious man drinks the strong drink,<sup>12</sup> « as » the liquor of mare’s milk, dâitya draonô

If one becomes drunk through taking liquor that proves too much, and if that is the very first fault, one may be excused, provided indeed that he has taken a quantity which is ordinarily considered moderate.

khvarô madhô khvaraiti, he drinks « that » liquor<sup>1</sup> just so much as duty allows in partaking of the meal<sup>2</sup> of the offerings<sup>3</sup> in the lawful degree, i.e., as he partakes of the meal<sup>2</sup> of the offerings<sup>3</sup> in the lawful degree in just the proper quantity, nôit Gâthanûm a-sruiti âstryêitê. and he does not become culpable for his being<sup>3</sup> disabled from singing<sup>3</sup> the Holy Songs, i.e., when he does not celebrate the Festival of the Days Sacred to the Holy Songs; « because that happens despite his having drunk only as much as appeared lawful to take in moderation ».<sup>4</sup>

50 B 2. Fradhdo draondo khvarô madhaitê, Whereas indeed if one gets drunk « through drinking » beyond what duty allows,<sup>5</sup> in partaking of the meal of the offerings beyond<sup>6</sup> the lawful limit,<sup>6</sup> i.e., « while » he has partaken of that meal of offerings beyond what is lawful in moderation, nô Gâthanûm a-sruiti âstryêitê. « then that » 'person' must become culpable through not singing the Holy Songs, « because he is disabled from so doing through that immoderate drinking » ; i.e., if he does not<sup>7</sup> then celebrate<sup>8</sup> the Service of the Festival of the Days Sacred to the Holy Songs, he must become culpable.

3. Sôshâns said : Behold, if one swallow three<sup>9</sup> draughts<sup>10</sup> while

<sup>4</sup> If one drinks the liquor or wine just so much only as is generally known to be of lawfully limited quantity, and yet one's constitution is for the first time discovered to be unable to bear even that limited quantity and one is made drunk and thus disabled from singing the Holy Songs, then one is excused from the guilt hereof, inasmuch as one has taken care to take only that much as was supposed not to bring on such an effect. But after discovering that one cannot bear even what is generally recognised as a lawfully limited quantity, one must discriminately take so much less as should keep that person perfectly sober; otherwise one must be rendered sinful.

51. Otherwise âp-zigmak (?) = cup ; cf. Pr. زىغال = cup. West reads at Dât. D. LI, 7, âp-jâmak (Pr. آبجام = a drinking cup), but notes that the MSS have it written like âp-sinak; and this may literally mean " that which holds water," cf. Av. 𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬎𐬎 = yoke. See also the note on the word at Fol, 134, l. 30.

drinking, and if the three draughts be «found to prove» too much, «the quantity of the drink» should be lessened a little.

4. Kiryâtrô-Bûjît said: Verily only when the draughts that one takes are comparatively small may the excess «of draught» be small therein, «and the quantity of the drink» can «only in that case» be lessened «but» a little.<sup>1</sup>

5. Gaôgôshnasp said: Behold, the excess «in the quantity of draught» is the fullest <sup>2</sup> when one <sup>3</sup> drinks to one's fill.<sup>3</sup>

CHAPTER X

ON THE SIDES INTO WHICH THE SACRED MEETING NEED BE DIVIDED

1. Yôî bis hastrem <sup>4</sup> srâvayêinti, ratufrayô; As to those who sing the Holy Songs «as sitting» in two groups<sup>5</sup> in «each individual» meeting<sup>6</sup> «for sacred Service»—there is one who says thus: Verily, when as regards the sides<sup>7</sup> «into which they 51 A divide themselves» there are no more than two<sup>8</sup>—, they «alone» merit the worth of spiritual mastership; thris hastrem srâvayêinti, a-ratufrayô. «whereas as to those» who ‘sing’ in three groups in «each individual» ‘meeting’ «for sacred Service»,—there is one who says thus: Verily, because three must be too many sides «to divide the meeting in»—,

<sup>1</sup> The argument is on the statement of Sôshâns that the quantity should be lessened a little; Kiryâtrô-Bûjît argues that it should be lessened but a little only when the excess also is but a little, meaning that otherwise the quantity should proportionately be lessened much.

<sup>8</sup> One party must sit on the side of the Zaoiti, and the other on the side of the Sraoshâvarz and the Âtarvakhsh; see paragraph 6 below.

they do not merit the worth of spiritual mastership.<sup>1</sup>

2. Chvat nitemem hastrem anghat ratufré<sup>2</sup>? How much might be the smallest meeting « for sacred Service », as would insure the worth of spiritual mastership, « and suffice » for the assignment<sup>3</sup> of the places « of officiation »?<sup>3</sup>

3. Thris. A party of three persons.<sup>4</sup>

4. This is manifest from the Avesta « the Holy Wisdom » that there should be « at least » three places<sup>5</sup> « of the officiating divines » at the Holy Service of All the Reverential Ones,<sup>6</sup> at that of the Twelve-fold Adoration of All the Worshipful Ones,<sup>7</sup> at that of the Sublime Spiritual Master,<sup>8</sup> and at that of the Holy Spiritual Essences.<sup>9</sup>

5. There is one who says: Verily, « when the places of the officiating divines » are<sup>10</sup> to be assigned either<sup>10</sup> at the Service of All the Reverential Ones,<sup>6</sup> or at that of the Holy Spiritual Essences<sup>9</sup> when

It appears that at least three persons are thought necessary for the performance of a Holy Service. At present it is presumed as if two only are sufficient; but the supervising priest evidently represents the Sraoshâvarz who is to be the third.

<sup>5</sup> If the party were not to consist at least of three persons, these three places could not be filled.

<sup>8</sup> Ratwô-Brizat, see Sh. Lâ-Sh. Chap. XI, 4, where this name occurs in the form 𐬵𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 𐬵𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 as also later in our text. Dr. West translates: "the Supreme Chief" who, he says, seems to be Ahura Mazda Himself on the attestation of Yas. LVII, 4——𐬵𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 𐬵𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 𐬵𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 𐬵𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 𐬵𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 𐬵𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀

See also Yas. LXVI, I; Visp. IX, 6; and compare Yas. I, 17; Visp. I, 8.

6. When there are six persons to help « at the Service », the Leading Invoking Priest,<sup>5</sup> the Priest who expresses the Haoma, and the Priest who presents things<sup>5</sup> must be on one<sup>6</sup> side, and the Priest<sup>7</sup> who kindles the sacred Flame, the Priest who holds duty with the Purifying Fluid, and the Priest who is having executed the Commands of the Spirit of the Moral Order<sup>7</sup> must be on the other<sup>6</sup> side. 51 B

7. Thus then it must be proper<sup>8</sup> only when « these officiating divines are » more than two; « and » when « they are » more than « even » three, there can be nothing which must not render that proper.<sup>9</sup>

8. When there happens to be one person more on one side « than on the other », it should be well if that is on the side of the Leading Invoking Priest.<sup>10</sup>

CHAPTER X: APPENDIX A

MISCELLANEOUS OBSERVATIONS

1. Although a helping attendant may have come « to the Service » from the « very » beginning, still so long as « the officiating divines » do

<sup>3</sup> The reference seems to be to the every twelfth day of the Service when the Vendidad is added in the holy recital; see Bah. Yt. II, 59, note 5.

<sup>4</sup> A lâ khalakûneshn. It is implied that though three persons should be sufficient for the performance of the Service, still if more are available they must be given the assignable places.

The Âsnâtar and the Raethwishkar of the Avestan list of Visp. III are omitted here, but appear in the fuller list at Fols. 155-156.

not commence the fourfold recitation of « the Holy Formula » “As is the Lord’s Holy Pleasure”<sup>1</sup> he should by<sup>2</sup> no means<sup>2</sup> recite it « before them ».<sup>3</sup>

2. If « again » he come afterwards, then if « not heeding » at whatsoever point « of the recital » he may have come, he hold the prayer for opening the function and « at once » go on with the recitation as he may find proceeding, that « too » should be wrong.<sup>4</sup>

3. When the « Holy Formula » “As is the Lord’s Holy Pleasure”<sup>5</sup> is recited 4 times<sup>6</sup> and the Holy Songs<sup>6</sup> are taken up<sup>7</sup> and recited onwards, « it should well be remembered that » even as it is necessary « to recite » what precedes and equally necessary « to recite » what follows, it is « likewise » not allowable to omit<sup>8</sup> what is in the middle.<sup>8</sup>

4. To omit what is in the middle may be just such, as when one « has recited »<sup>9</sup> the Holy Songs of the Ahunavaiti cluster, and one does not then recite the Holy Songs of the Ushtavaiti cluster, but recites directly next the Holy Songs of the Spentâ-Mainyû cluster.

52 A « Once that » they are entered on,<sup>10</sup> unless<sup>11</sup> they be recited through entirely, it should be wrong ; because it cannot be fit to let any « of these » Holy Songs be left unsaid<sup>12</sup> inasmuch as such three « consecutive groups of » chapters must be sung through « entirely ».

5. When one must sing all the Holy Songs, then whatever is of the nature of song should also be sung in « the proper » singing way, as for instance this : Isatvâstrahê Zarathustrôis nemô! ‘Homage unto Isatvâstra the Zarathushtrian « Manifestation »!’<sup>13</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Yatâhûkvairiyôk. According to what follows the reference appears to be to the Ahunvars at the close of Yas. XXVII, 7; and they must then be taken with the texts that follow, to form an introduction to the Gâthas. Otherwise these could be the four Ahunvars introducing the Âfringân of the Gâhambâr.

<sup>4</sup> It is not quite plain from the text whether it is held unlawful to join late in the service altogether, or simply to join in reciting at once at a broken period of the Holy Text. If the latter is the meaning it should be proper to join in at a fit point.

6. In the Vîsparat « the Service of All the Reverential Ones » one should pound<sup>1</sup> the Haoma at « the words » Vîspâo gâêthâo<sup>2</sup>..... 'All Life-Centres.....' when all the Holy Songs<sup>3</sup> will have been sung through; otherwise « one may do so » at the Holy Song of Vohû Khshathra<sup>4</sup> « or Virtue's Kingdom ». In the Dvâzdah-Hômâst « the Service of the Twelve-fold Adoration of All the Worshipful Ones, one should pound it » at the 33rd Chapter<sup>5</sup> « of the Yasna » after<sup>6</sup> the opening sections.<sup>6</sup> And in the Aêvak-Hômâst « the Service of the Onefold Adoration of All the Worshipful Ones, one should do so » at the sections as they will have come on up to the chapter of Tâ Vé Uruvâtâ.....<sup>7</sup> « The Canons for You ..... » ; and thereafter<sup>8</sup> one must leave off « pounding ».<sup>9</sup>

There is one who says that by so stopping at that Holy Song, no virtuous act will have been achieved.

CHAPTER X: APPENDIX B

ON THE FRAVARTÎNÎKÂN

1. And the « doctor that is cited just above » likewise maintains

<sup>5</sup> Fragart ; as a rule hât is the term that indicates " chapter " in the case of the Yasna, whereas the former term is used in relation with such texts as the Vendidad.

<sup>6</sup> Javit min kart bûn-i ; kart usually is kartak. The reference is to the first four sections of the chapter ; see note 9 below.

thus that of the ten days generally<sup>1</sup> dedicated to the Holy Spiritual 52 B Essences,<sup>1</sup> on the first five days « one should hold the Service with » the Dedication : Ahurahê Mazdâô Raêvatô Khvarrnanguhatô..... ashâunâm
 .....<sup>2</sup> ‘ « According to the Holy Pleasure..... » of the Omniscient Supreme Being, the Brilliant and the Glorious One....., « and of the Holy Spiritual Essences » of the righteous ones.....’

Sôshâns said: Verily, this must be done on days and nights<sup>3</sup> equally.

2. On the five<sup>4</sup> intervening days « consecrated to the five clusters » of the Holy Songs,<sup>4</sup> the Dedication should be: Ahurahê Mazdâô
 ..... Gâthâbyô..... ashâunâm.....<sup>5</sup> ‘ « According to the Holy Pleasure..... » of the Omniscient Supreme Being, « the Brilliant and the Glorious One » ..... for the « beneficent and spiritually efficient » Holy Songs, ..... « and of the great and mighty Spiritual Essences » of the righteous ones.....’; and this<sup>6</sup> should be performed as essentially requisite on all<sup>6</sup> the five intervening days « consecrated to the five clusters » of the Holy Songs.

3. There is one who says thus: Verily the expression Gâthâbyô ‘for the Holy Songs’ cannot<sup>7</sup> but be used as essential<sup>7</sup> on those five days in

It is remarkable that the number of the Fravartinikân days is fixed here to be ten, which exactly accords with the dasa pairi khshapanô of Yt. XIII, 49 and of the Âfringân of Ardâ Fravash, as belonging to which last the passage is quoted just a little below in § 6. These ten days are evidently the last of the year, comprising the last five days of the last month and the five intercalary Gâtha days; because these latter are stated in §§ 2 and 10 below as the next five of the ten, and because § 11 below determines the New Year Day to be distinct from the Fravartingân days.

order that there may « fully » be accepted « all these services », when there are celebrated on those five days the<sup>1</sup> Service of the Days sacred to the Holy Songs, the Ceremony of the Three Nights after Death, the Service<sup>2</sup> of the Purchase « of Heavenly Blessing » on Earth,<sup>3</sup> and the Service of expressing the Haoma Beverage and of offering up in dedication the sacred Drôn cake,<sup>1</sup> even as it should be proper « to manage that way ».

4. « If however we be so careless as to use the expression » Gâthabyô 'for the Holy Songs' likewise<sup>3</sup> on the five days « specially »<sup>4</sup> sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences,<sup>5</sup> then « evidently » no Conscientious<sup>6</sup> Loving Veneration<sup>6</sup> can proceed from us in such a case.

5. There « is incurred » the Bâzâe penalty « of ninety Stîrs »<sup>7</sup> redeemable with the sacred Drôn cake Service, when the Holy Spiritual 53 A Essences are not « venerated » with the Service of Faith.<sup>8</sup>

6. Of the ten days generally dedicated to the Holy Spiritual Essences, on the first five days the Dedication should be Ahurahê Mazdâô ....., ashâunâm ....., yâô vîsâdha âvayêinti<sup>9</sup> .....

<sup>4</sup> Because generally there are dedicated ten days to them: these five, which are the last of the twelfth month, and the five Gâtha days which follow them.

<sup>5</sup> Impropropriety of expressions must show a neglectful attitude, and must render a service futile.

<sup>6</sup> Aûsôfrit. West renders " propitiation of angels "; see Bah. Yt. II, 45, and Sh. Lâ-Sh. XIII, 30.

It may be noted that according to what is said at the close of Fol. 123 the Aûsôfrit dedicated to the Ratwô-Brizat, the Sublime Lord, equals the performance of the Dvâzdah-Hômâst and the Drôn Service.

The performance of the Drôn Service must, according to Sh. Lâ-Sh. XVI, 6, score a merit of 1,200 Dirhams ; hence a service of so much greater value must have been required for redeeming the Bâzâe penalty ; see Fol. 123, l. 8, Fol. 124, l. 12, Fol. 134, ll. 19, 21, Fol. 148, l. 20, and Fol. 152, ll. 1, 3, 18.

<sup>8</sup> Yasht ê pann Var ; see below, Fol. 69, l. 9 ; otherwise Hât ê pann Var = " the Chapter of Faith " ; or, " the chapter used at the Ordeal of Faith." The reference may then be to Yas. XII.

<sup>9</sup> See the opening portion of the Âfringân of Ardâ Fravash, and Yt. XIII, 49, wherein follows the statement about the ten days.

‘ « According to the Holy Pleasure..... » of the Omniscient Supreme Being, « the Brilliant and the Glorious One, .....and of the great and mighty Spiritual Essences » of the righteous, ..... who come to the boroughs of the faithful .....’

7. Note that the Dedication which is to be addressed in<sup>1</sup> every case,<sup>1</sup> need be one « in each case » : one for<sup>2</sup> the opening period of<sup>3</sup> the ten days generally kept sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences, and one for the closing period of the ten days generally kept sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences.

8. Afrog said: Verily, « on these days, only » one Dedication need be recited all through, « whereas » Vakhshâpûhar said « there need be » three.<sup>3</sup>

These<sup>4</sup> statements<sup>5</sup> will have both been taken into account<sup>5</sup> if one « special dedication » be pronounced in each of the two cases<sup>6</sup>: « one for the opening period and one for the closing period of these days ».

9. On those ten days generally kept sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences, in every case when the Leading Priest has to recite the initial service at the head of the Fire, he should recite thrice the Praise of Righteousness and « then » take the fuel and incense forth to the Fire.

10. There should be no difference « in all this relatively to » the night or the day.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>6</sup> The text may also yield the meaning, “if both (dedications) be recited together”; but this sense should be entirely unsuited here.

The main writer’s decision in the previous statement that there need be two distinct dedications—one for each of the two periods of the ten days, meets midway the opinions of Afrog and Vakhshâpûhar.

There is one who says thus: Verily, it is otherwise<sup>1</sup> at night in the Thanksgiving Service of the Holy Spiritual Essences during the ten days generally kept sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences: « so that in that case » on the first five days the Dedication in the Service of the New Initiate<sup>2</sup> « should be » Ahurahê Mazdôô ..... Mithrahê<sup>3</sup> ..... vîspaêshâm<sup>4</sup> ..... ashdunûm Fravashinûm ..... ' « According to the Holy Pleasure ..... » of the Most Wise Lord, « the Brilliant and the Glorious One », ..... and of the Just<sup>5</sup> and Beaming Love,<sup>6</sup> « the Bond<sup>6</sup> of the whole World »,<sup>6</sup> ..... of all « the Worshipful Ones » ..... and of the Spiritual Essences of the righteous ones, ..... , ' and on the five<sup>7</sup> intervening days sacred to the Holy Songs,<sup>7</sup> « that should » verily « be » Ahurahê Mazdôô ..... Mithrahê ..... Gâthabyô<sup>8</sup> ..... vîspaêshâm ..... ashdunûm<sup>8</sup> Fravashinûm ..... ' « According to the Holy Pleasure » of the Omniscient Supreme Being, « the Brilliant and the Glorious One » ..... and of the Just and Beaming Love « the Bond of the whole World », ..... for the Holy Songs ..... , of all ..... and of the Spiritual Essences of the righteous ones ..... , ' »

11. Âtrôpât-ê-Dât-Farrokhô said: Behold, the Service of the New Initiate is not at all<sup>9</sup> different on the days generally kept sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences, from « what it is » on the New Year Day.<sup>10</sup>

ON DISINCLINED CELEBRATION OF THE HOLY SONGS

2. There is one who says: Note that « the term ukhshaiti indicates that » they have to go in for it.

13 It is no use singing the Holy Songs without putting one's heart and soul into the act. If one runs carelessly through them as simply having to have done with a disagreeable necessity, one scores no virtuous deed.

CHAPTER XII

ON THE METHOD OF SINGING THE HOLY SONGS

1. Katha Zaota Gâtháo frasrâvayêiti? How shall the Leading Priest sing the Holy Songs?

2. Naêma vachastasti, madhemya vacha, Zarathustri mana. 54 B Bearing in aim <sup>4</sup> the stanza formation as regards the constructive basis of the stanza,<sup>5</sup> with «sweet and calm» moderate voice, i.e., letting the recital be moderate «in every way <sup>6</sup>», and according to the understanding of Zarathushtra <sup>7</sup> with regard to the metric lines <sup>8</sup> and stanzas.

<sup>3</sup> If one be ignorant that to recite the Holy Text in this manner is wrong, then, until he knows that, his deed is not cancelled from efficacy and value even though he may sing in the wrong manner through that ignorance.

<sup>4</sup> The Avestan naêma and the Pahlavi nîmak, with other meanings, signify thus. At first sight, however, one may construe the sense. "Half a stanza (at a time)"; but where the stanzas have an odd number of lines, it should be awkward to take a little pause at the exact middle of every stanza. It may however signify "About half a stanza (at a time)"; if so, it may seem to have been advised to prevent hurry in the singing, or perhaps because the Assisting Priests had to follow on the Zaoti's having sung first.

Cf. Pr. سماوات = understanding.

3A, Yézicha aêtê vachô apayêiti, yôî henti Gâthâhva bisâmrûta, thrîsâmrûtacha, chathrusâmrûtacha,<sup>1</sup> If one pass over, i.e., omit, those words among the Holy Songs, that are to be repeated twice, and those that are to be repeated thrice, and those that are to be repeated four times, daêvanûm krrrta,<sup>2</sup> and which are to the demons destructive, viz., those words which are to be repeated twice, etc.,—

55 A 4. There is one who says thus : Behold, it is the Holy Songs themselves that become destructive « to the demons » when there are recited among them those words which are to be repeated twice, « etc. »<sup>3</sup>

3B. ———aêtaêshûm vachûm aratufrayô.<sup>4</sup> then on account « of the omission » of those words they<sup>4</sup> « must become » wanting in the worth of spiritual mastership despite all<sup>5</sup> « care they take in other respects ».

CHAPTER XIII

ON THE OMISSION OF TEXTS TO BE REPEATED TWICE, ETC.

1. Kaya henti vacha bisâmrûta? Which are those words that are to be repeated twice?<sup>6</sup>

2. Ahyâ yâsâ..... 'Of this I pray «in grateful and devoted homage » ..... ' « Yas. XXVIII, 1 ».

Humatanûm ..... 'Of Good Thought « we are the partisans » ..... ' « Yas. XXXV, 2 ».

Ashahyâ dat sairê..... 'Under the Power of the Holy Order « are the blessed gifts » ..... ' « Yas. XXXV, 8 ».

<sup>3</sup> According to this critic it is not these words by themselves that have this efficacy, but it is the power of the Holy Songs themselves that has it when this is supplemented by the power of these words.

Yathâ Tú î ..... 'As Thou O Lord Omniscient! « hast verily thought » .....' « Yas. XXXIX, 4 ».

Humâim Thwâ Îzîm ..... 'Of good worth and Worshipful, « we deem » Thee.....' « Yas. XLI, 3 ».

Thwôî staotarascâ..... 'Thy glorifiers « we proclaim ourselves » .....' « Yas. XLI, 5 ».

Ustâ ahmâi... .. 'Divine Happiness « is » for him ..... ' « Yas. XLIII, 1 ».

Spentâ mainyâ..... 'Through the Full Holy Spirit.....' « Yas. XLVII, 1 ».

Vohû Khshathrem Vairiim... .. 'The Good Kingdom « is » the desirable « lot » ..... ' « Yas. LI, 1 ».

Vahistâ istis ..... 'The most excellent wish « of Zarathustra hath been heard » ..... ' « Yas. LIII, 1 ».

3. Kaya thrisâmrûta? Which are those that are to be repeated thrice? <sup>1</sup>

4. Ashem Vohû ..... 'Righteous Perfectness « is the Highest Good » .....' « Yas. XXVII, 11, etc. ».

Yé Sevistô..... 'He who is the Most Beneficent « Holy Spirit » .....' « Yas. XXXIII, 11 ».

Hukhshathrôtemâi..... 'For the Most Virtuous King « is 55 B verily the Kingdom » .....' « Yas. XXXV, 5 ».

Duzhvarrnâis ..... 'Through « their » wicked creeds « poison becomes current » .....' « Yas. LIII, 9 ».

5. Kaya chathrusâmrûta? Which are those that are to be repeated four times among the Holy Songs? <sup>2</sup>

6. Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô..... 'As « is » the Lord's Holy Pleasure.....' « Yas. XXVII, 7, etc. ».

Mazdâ at moi ..... 'Unto me « declare » then O Omniscient! ..... ' « Yas. XXXIV, 15 ».

The term Gâsân includes besides the Gâthas proper, all the Gâthic pieces.

Ā Airyê mâ ..... ' Let the Valued Nobility « approach for gladness » ..... ' « Yas. LIV, 1 ».

7. As <sup>1</sup> regards these <sup>1</sup> « valued texts, notwithstanding all » the text of the Holy Wisdom « that may come » before there occur <sup>2</sup> the texts to be recited twice, the texts to be recited thrice, and the texts to be recited four times in the course of all the Holy Songs, « it must be borne in mind that » without <sup>3</sup> those <sup>3</sup> « efficient and essential texts » there can be effected no Thanksgiving Service « for what occurs » either before « those omissions » or after « them ».

8. « In every case » when all the texts that are to be repeated twice, or all those that are to be repeated thrice, or all <sup>4</sup> those that are to be repeated four times, or the performance of Dedication, or the recital <sup>5</sup> of the formula for opening a sacred function, <sup>5</sup> or the Service <sup>6</sup> of following out the Spirit of the Moral Order, <sup>6</sup> or the Service of offering up the sacred Drôn cake to the Spirit of the Moral Order, or the Thanksgiving <sup>7</sup> Service on expressing the Haoma beverage, <sup>7</sup> or the Service <sup>8</sup> of the Adoration of all the Worshipful Ones, or the Thanksgiving Service « of the Seven Chapters », <sup>8</sup> or « the chapter of » Tat Sôidhis— <sup>9</sup> ' That advantage—, ' or a fourth <sup>10</sup> of the Holy Songs, <sup>10</sup> or 56 A the Holy Songs in <sup>11</sup> their entirety, <sup>11</sup> are omitted, then the Thanksgiving Service does not <sup>12</sup> take effect « for what occurs » either before « those omissions » or after them.

9. All this is for advantage <sup>13</sup> in order that all may be on guard, and immediately <sup>14</sup> on a text being omitted <sup>14</sup> one may not proceed any further ; if however « despite one's attention having to be kept on guard » one slightly omits a text, then the Thanksgiving Service does not take effect for « what occurs » either before « those omissions » or

10. If the Leading Priest has omitted the recital of the initial service, he must recite back the initial service and must recite all again the text of the Holy Wisdom thence forwards.<sup>2</sup> And from the moment that the Leading Priest has arrived at the initial service, he must be constantly on guard so long as all « the holy texts »<sup>3</sup> are arriving; « but » 56 B if he be not « so » on guard, he must at any rate manage that the<sup>4</sup> speeches best to be said<sup>4</sup> be recited « properly ».

11. Afrog said : Behold, on having to recite a text<sup>5</sup> specially for oneself<sup>5</sup> one must recite the initial service « therefor » ; and one must stop<sup>6</sup> at the text of Holy Wisdom which is « specially » for the Leading Priest.<sup>7</sup>

12. There is one who says thus : Verily, in a thing that one must manage oneself « as one's special function », wherever that may arrive, one must recite an initial service therefor.<sup>8</sup>

13. There is one who says thus : Verily, wherever the occasion may arise,<sup>9</sup> one must recite the initial service ; « and » one must stop

<sup>1</sup> Until one of these effective and essential texts is actually omitted, the Service has been taking effect ; but as soon as that omission occurs, all that has been effected before that omission, as also all that may be effected in what follows it, are cancelled and rendered useless.

About this, several special opinions are given in what follows.

<sup>3</sup> Of course it is not only the important texts that are intended here, because these are mentioned distinctly in the remark which follows.

<sup>7</sup> All engaged in the Service must understand to perform their special functions of their own accord, and must know by themselves to stop where there may arrive a text specially to be recited by the Leading Priest alone.

14. If the Leading Priest have omitted a text, and if he discover that «by himself» then he shall recite just that text back again, and shall stop «to do so just» at that text of Holy Wisdom «where that omission is discovered»; if however he do not discover it «by himself, but another must point it out to him», then he shall begin «the whole Service» over again.<sup>2</sup>

7 A 15. That «applies to errors respecting» the very same Holy Book; and what «must apply to errors respecting» another Holy Book «in the same service» is in no way to be different.<sup>3</sup>

«There is one who» said that, with regard to the same Holy Book, if one discovers «by oneself» from where one has to recite over again, then «surely» one shall recite again the whole text of Holy Wisdom «just» from that forwards; but when one does not discover «it by oneself», then «also» one shall recite over again from the right beginning of that Holy Book «only».<sup>4</sup> About «errors respecting» other Holy Books «this critic» was of the same view «as above».<sup>4</sup>

CHAPTER XIV

ON THE NATURE OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES WHEREIN THE HOLY SONGS MAY BE SUNG

1. Kanghâm nâ Gâthanâm srutanâm aratufriś? For what Holy Songs that are sung does a person fail to gain spiritual merit?

<sup>2</sup> The difference between this statement and the following remark of another doctor of the religion is apparently this: the writer here means that when the omission is not detected by oneself directly, then it cannot be rectified without annulling the entire porotin of the Service that is already achieved, irrespective of what Fragart of the Service that has occurred in; whereas the next writer means that even if the error be not detected by oneself directly, still if it be found out in the course of the same Fragart that is being managed at the time, then, the priest may repeat the Service not whole but only from the commencement of just that Fragart.

<sup>3</sup> That is, if the error be not detected and rectified by oneself directly but be found out by another then the entire Service must be repeated from its right beginning, which, according to the next writer, applies only to the case when the error is detected not during the same Fragart that is being managed at the time, but during a Fragart that has followed another in the same Service. <sup>4</sup> See note 2 above.

2. Yáo maêzô vá fra vá sháimnô<sup>1</sup> srávayêiti; For those that one sings while making water<sup>2</sup> or easing nature<sup>3</sup>; «i.e., for those» in any case, that one sings while one is in the act of making water or of easing nature; âêtaêshâm vachâm aratufriś. for such utterances one obtains no spiritual merit.

<sup>9</sup> Perhaps Yas. Chaps. LXII and LXV. If this supposition be right the Staota Yasnya must originally have occurred between these chapters. It need not be startling to think that the chapters of the Yasna might originally have a different arrangement from what they have now. And we know that at the earlier stage of the Yasna special attention is paid to the Holy Flame whereas at its later stage it is paid to the Holy Sap. Why might not then the chapter specially devoted to Holy Flame have occupied a place at the earlier stage?

If however, this supposition be not correct, the reference may be to the Âtash and Âbân Niyâyeshes recited one at the earlier and the other at the later stage of the Yasna Service.

1. Kīr'yâtrô-Bûjit said : Behold, this is what is manifest from the Holy Wisdom that in case the Leading Priest have not handed over the sacred Barsôm twigs to him ' who manages the sacred apparatus ' and yet have closed the Holy Service, he shall be lacking in spiritual merit ; hence only after having handed the sacred Barsôm twigs over to him who manages the sacred apparatus, should the Leading Priest always end « the Holy Service ».

2. Sôshûns said: Verily, so long as a ny<sup>3</sup> kind of function<sup>5</sup> «whatsoever» remains to be performed «the Holy Service» should not be ended.

3. Vakhshāpūhar said: Behold, «to see the necessity of commanding that only» when every kind of function is performed should «the <sup>1</sup> The Pahlavi has noted an appropriate meaning of dathānô in 𐭢𐭣𐭠𐭥𐭩 = "lying down." It would have been almost impossible to discover it without this help of the Pahlavi.

The portion of this sentence from histennô to the end, is elsewhere found as Fragment Tehmuras, XI. Darmesteter, recalling paidhyannô of Yt. I, 17, suggests pathânô as the correct word; but there appears no necessity to read the word thus differently. The barô-aspô vazô rathô of the gloss is also cited in Pah. Vend. VI, 26.

<sup>3</sup> This is allowed to the priest perhaps because he is occupied all his time in reciting sacred texts, so that he may be engaged in reciting them coincidentally with some of the conditions mentioned.

At present the Leading Priest hands over the Barsôm to the Helping Priest at the end of the text proper of Yas. LXXII, and before the conclusion.

Holy Service » be ended, may indicate « that there may be » a lack of faith in some « things ».<sup>1</sup>

4. It will be meeting each of these 3 judgments « respectively » when in ending the Holy Service such a thing « happens » owing either « in the first case » to their being newly initiated,<sup>2</sup> or « in the next » to their not remembering the instructions,<sup>3</sup> or « in the third » owing, « notwithstanding their being » without any disbelief « otherwise », to their being in distrust concerning « the consequence of » this « circumstance » as to when it should be that the Leading Priest should « finally » 58 B leave the sacred Barsôm twigs with him who manages the sacred apparatus.<sup>4</sup>

5A, When the Helping Priest has recited without « any » lack of faith the special formula for opening the function « of washing », washed with scrupulous care the seat of the Holy Flame, and washed the hands, then should he place them on the sacred Barsôm twigs.<sup>5</sup>—

There is one who says thus : Behold, once that one has washed the hands, it is not proper to place them on the sacred Barsôm twigs.<sup>6</sup>

6. There is one who says thus : Behold, if one were to say thus : “ Keep « your » wits, ”<sup>7</sup> that should be improper.<sup>8</sup>

<sup>6</sup> This critic perhaps thought that after receiving the Barsôm twigs from the Zaoatar, the Helping Priest had to put them aside finally, and hence no more attention was to be paid to a manipulation of theirs which concerned only the main service in hand.

<sup>8</sup> Every priest engaged in the Holy Service must be the most expert in his concern, and will therefore do his part best ; hence it will not be becoming to say “ Keep your wits ” to a person such as this.

5B.—« And then » should he recite the special <sup>1</sup> little service for the holy precincts of the sacred Barsôm twigs.<sup>1</sup>

7. Sôshâns said : Behold, if owing to one's being in haste, one recite it <sup>2</sup> even on the way,<sup>3</sup> that verily is allowed.

8. One should recite « things according to » the Holy Science <sup>4</sup> of the Causes.<sup>4</sup> And if one have not adored the Resplendent Sun of Glory, one should verily adore Him.<sup>5</sup> If « however » one is to end the Holy Service « speedily », one may say the sacred texts less.

CHAPTER XIV : APPENDIX B

ON THE MANNER OF OPENING THE HOLY SERVICE

1. When one comes over again <sup>6</sup> to the Holy Service one should recite thrice <sup>7</sup> the Praise of Righteousness,<sup>7</sup> « and » Fravarâné « the 59 A Formula of Faith, and hallow » what period of day one may have,<sup>8</sup> « and recite further the text » <sup>9</sup>; Tava <sup>9</sup> Âtars puthra Ahurahê Mazdâô khshnaothra <sup>9</sup> ..... 'According to Thy holy pleasure O Life-Flame !

This literature seems to have contained instructions concerning sacred services, Of course, it could not be meant that the literature itself was to be recited through.

<sup>6</sup> We have seen above that a service is said to have just closed. Apparently, as we have already supposed, it may be the earlier service which the priests who are to be engaged in the service proper, have to go through to qualify themselves for the latter. And this must then be the reason why it is said that they " come over a g a i n to the Service."

<sup>9</sup> These are the words that occur in the Preliminary Service just after the text mentioned above. But our text additionally has Âthrô Ahurahê Mazdâô puthra before these words, and this arrangement is preserved in § 9 at the end of the Preliminary Service as it is given in Ervad Tehmurasp's text. But we cannot be certain whether it is an error to have these additional words just here, or whether in ancient times they had their proper place even here.

2. « Thus » one should say the special formula for opening the sacred function, and recite thrice the Praise of Righteousness, and for<sup>2</sup> the second time<sup>2</sup> wash the seat of the Sacred Flame with scrupulous care; then one should again proceed to the seat of the Leading Priest, and place the hand upon the sacred Barsôm twigs, and again recite Ashem Vohû 3 «the Praise of Righteousness 3 times»,<sup>3</sup> Fravarânê « the Formula of Faith » and the Dedication,<sup>3</sup> and « thus » say the small preliminary service « as » for the Smaller<sup>4</sup> Thanksgiving Service.<sup>4</sup>

3. Afrog said: Behold, in the Greater<sup>5</sup> « Thanksgiving Service one should say » Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô yô Zaotâ<sup>6</sup> ... .. 'As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure « so declares unto me he » who is the Leading Priest' .....

<sup>2</sup> Lakhvâr ol gâs; because the Service is being repeated. It is, however, likely that these words are simply a mistaken repetition of the words that follow.

It must be noted that in modern practice also 3 Ashem Vohûs are recited and the seat of the Holy Flame washed at this stage just as is described here.

As can be seen from Ervad Tehmurasp's text the arrangement here described is quite the same as what we have at present. But it will appear from what follows immediately that the ancient doctors of the religion were not themselves agreed as to the exact nature of one text.

<sup>4</sup> Yasht ê Kas. The smaller service as indicated by this, may be the abridged service which the priests have to go through to qualify themselves for the service proper and which is presumed to have preceded the service which is now being described. At Fol. 168, ll. 19-20, it is defined to have lesser value than the Yasht ê Hâvan. Otherwise it may be one of the services to be distinguished from the Hômâsts and other greater services such as the Visparad and the Vendidad. See Fols. 67, l. 23; 76, ll. 27, 30; 81, l. 29; 86, l. 21; 132, ll. 14-17; 151, l. 8; 152, l. 22; and 168, l. 19.

<sup>5</sup> Pann zak ê Mas. This must be any of the services which can be distinguished from the Yasht ê Kas or the ordinary Yazeshn; see the note just preceding, and the vague definition in Fol. 93, ll. 16-18. See also Fols. 67, l. 27; 76, ll. 28, 30; 81, l. 29; 132, l. 14; 151, l. 10; and 153, l. 21.

<sup>6</sup> This occurs in our present arrangement after the text mentioned in note 1 above. It must be noted that this statement as well as all which follow in this Appendix are simply amplifications of what is said in the preceding sections.

4. : Vakhshâpûhar said : Behold, «there should rather be said»: Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô yô Âtarrvakhshô ... .. —Athâ Ratus ... .. 'As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure «so declares unto me he» who is the Feeder of the Sacred Flame.'<sup>1</sup> —'So the Spiritual Master «shall declare even through Righteousness as the knowing righteous person ».'

59 B As to why he<sup>2</sup> « would have » this « done », that is not plain.<sup>1</sup>

5. There is one who says thus : « There shall be said »: Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô yô Âtarrvakhshô, yô Zaothâ..... — Athâ Ratus ..... 'As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure «so declare unto me» he who is the Feeder of the sacred Fire «and» he who is the Leading Priest.'<sup>3</sup> —'So the Spiritual Master «shall declare even through Righteousness as the knowing righteous person ».'

6. Now that the Helping Priest has completed « the sacred preparations »,<sup>4</sup> and "because all blessedness is for him who is good,"<sup>5</sup> so if « to do it » there be no Âtarrvakhsh, « the Feeder of the sacred Flame » yô bityô Zaothâ 'who is the second Leading Priest,'<sup>6</sup> «and» as

Vakhshâpûhar will have this difference apparently because the sacred Flame is specially attended to at this stage of the Service ; and he will therefore give supreme importance to the holy minister tending it. But as the idea refers itself to the entire service and not to a part of it, the other opinion is evidently correct, especially because the practice it maintains is preserved even to modern times.

<sup>4</sup> Previous to the commencement of the service proper the Helping Priest has prepared and sanctified all things required in the Service, and up to this he has been holding charge of them, which the Leading Priest now proceeds to take over to himself.

<sup>5</sup> This does not appear to be the prayer wherewith the Râthwi gives up his charge, because at any rate in modern practice, there is no such prayer to be recited by him at this stage. After the texts discussed just above, the Leading Priest now recites 3 Ashem Vohûs and washes the seat of the sacred Fire. Still these words here evidently point to an Avestan original, and appear to be a scholastic quotation. The same expression recurs at Fol. 67, ll. 14 and 15 below.

Note that above at § 5A of the preceding Appendix, it is the Râthwi who washes the seat at the close of the Service ; whereas while opening the Service, it seems to be meant that if there be the Atarrvakhsh present at this stage, he must wash it, otherwise the Zaothi must wash it, and not the Râthwi.

the use<sup>1</sup> of very much of the text of Holy Wisdom<sup>1</sup> is not in this case<sup>2</sup> of even<sup>3</sup> the least<sup>3</sup> consequence, one « who is to officiate as the Leading Priest » should « simply » say Ashem Vohû « the Praise of Righteousness » thrice, and wash with scrupulous care the seat of the sacred Fire. « Then » he should proceed to the seat of the Leading Priest, and wash the hands and place them on the sacred Barsôm twigs, and be established as the Leading Priest in « the management of » the Text of Holy Wisdom.<sup>4</sup>

7. There is one who says thus: Behold, besides Ashem Vohû « the Praise of Righteousness » one should recite the prayer Yathâ Ahû 60 A Vairiyô... .. ‘As is the Lord’s Holy Pleasure.....’ twice while on the way « to the seat of the Leading Priest ».<sup>5</sup>

8. There is one who says thus: Behold, one<sup>6</sup> should verily recite Fravarânê « the Formula of Faith again,<sup>7</sup> evidently » because one has not yet recited it in the capacity of the Leading Priest.

CHAPTER XIV : APPENDIX C

ON IMPROPRIETY OF CHATTER BY THE LEADING PRIEST<sup>8</sup>

1. Verily, according to all the teachings, when there occurs the time when the Leading Priest has to enter on the commencement of « the Service » with « the prayer » Frastuyê—<sup>9</sup> ‘I glorify—,’ so that having recited the formula for opening the sacred function the Leading

<sup>9</sup> It will be noticed that in modern practice the Frastuyê precedes the last Fravarânê in the Preliminary Service, and is the first Avestan text which the Zaoiti recites after having taken charge of his special function in the Service.

Priest enters on the commencement « of the Service »<sup>1</sup> with « the prayer » Frastuyé— ‘ I glorify,’ then while he performs<sup>2</sup> the obeisance,<sup>3</sup> if the Leading Priest chatters,<sup>3</sup> then although he may proceed to perform the « holy » function,<sup>4</sup> still the whole Thanksgiving Service « must be considered to have come » to an end.<sup>5</sup>

2. Mâhgôshnasp said: Behold, if « the Leading Priest » have taken up the portion <sup>6</sup> of the Holy Wisdom which appertains « solely » to the Helping Priest,<sup>6</sup> then « also » the Holy Thanksgiving Service must be brought to an end.

3. Sôshâns said : Behold, at whatever place may the Leading Priest chatter, there the Thanksgiving Service « must be brought to » an end by everybody.<sup>7</sup>

4. About this have «all» been most agreed that when the close «of the Service» takes place on the side of the Leading Priest, then the Helping Priests also should close «it».

0 B 5. And when there is a sheep or a goat <sup>8</sup> « to be dedicated » in the Thanksgiving Service, then also, while the Leading Priest performs obeisance,<sup>9</sup> if he chatters « at the time », then although indeed he will proceed to perform the «sacred» office,<sup>10</sup> « still » in so far as the sheep or the goat is not to be slaughtered <sup>11</sup> « in such a case », one must not

<sup>6</sup> Chattering is an act quite unseemly at a sacred Service, and is rightly said to cancel it when it is manifested at just the initial stage and that too by the Leading Priest.

<sup>6</sup> Those texts that are specially assigned to the Râthwi must be recited by him alone; because if the Zaoti were to recite them the Service would of course be spoiled.

7 This makes plain that not only has the Zaoti to retire from the Service, but the Service itself is to be closed.

<sup>8</sup> The term gôspand implies either "sheep" or "goat."

0 ref should be ref).

slaughter it. If however it be killed «already», even then the Hallowed Portion<sup>1</sup> must not be offered.

6. And while one performs obeisance on a token,<sup>2</sup> if indeed one «directly» proceeds to perform the «sacred» office «thereon in proper manner», the Hallowed Portion can be offered; but if one have chattered, then it cannot be offered.

7. When the token is dedicated in thankfulness according to the text of Holy Wisdom, then though the «special» Drôn cake is to be left out «from the Service, still» the Hallowed Portion must be offered,<sup>3</sup> «for», throughout the length of the Holy Service the Spirit<sup>4</sup> of Holy Lawabidingness<sup>4</sup> is of<sup>5</sup> course<sup>5</sup> and indeed advanced<sup>6</sup> in accordance therewith.<sup>6</sup>

8. When that Holy Service has in it the Hallowed Portion, and when the Leading Priest has expressed obeisance, then although he may chatter «only» as he proceeds simply to explain<sup>7</sup> the duties<sup>7</sup> of the function, still as the Hallowed Portion is not to be offered even then, it must not be offered.<sup>8</sup>

9. When one has performed obeisance for the Holy Service and 61 A directly proceeds to perform the «sacred» office, then one has verily to «say» the special formula for opening the sacred function and to celebrate the sacred Drôn cake Service; but if one has chattered, then it must not be celebrated.<sup>8</sup>

10. Behold, it is after all said by Vakhshâpûhar who previously<sup>9</sup>

The word may also be a derivative of Av. 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀, meaning milk or some milk-product.

<sup>3</sup> This indicates that the Service does not materially suffer for the omission of the Drôn in this case, although this is necessary when there is to be dedicated an animal. The reference evidently is to a special Drôn Service, the Bâzâê ê Drôn.

Even when making explanations during the Service one must not chatter.

The word may otherwise be read pâyîyak = a degree.

spoke rather <sup>1</sup> severely <sup>1</sup> about it, that « the penalty of » not <sup>2</sup> celebrating <sup>2</sup> indeed the sacred Drôn cake Service which redeems the Bâzâê penalty,<sup>3</sup> as apart <sup>4</sup> from the Holy Service,<sup>4</sup> becomes most when even those that are « otherwise » without disbelief, have no trust therein.<sup>5</sup>

11. It will not be proper if one carries the close of the sacred Drôn cake Service which redeems the Bâzâê penalty,<sup>3</sup> into the night.<sup>6</sup>

12. Afrog verily <sup>7</sup> made out « the proper close of the Service to be at the section containing » âcha nîcha <sup>8</sup> 'towards and under it.'<sup>9</sup>

CHAPTER XV

ON TANÂPÛHARS AMONG THOSE CELEBRATING A SERVICE

1. Dahmô Zaota, tanu-prrrrtha upa-sraotôrô, If the Leading Peiest is a pious man, « but » those who attend him in service are ingrafted with sin in their persons, i.e., are of deadly 51 B worth, yêzi dîs<sup>10</sup> tanu-prrrrtha<sup>10</sup> vaêdha,<sup>11</sup> « and » if he 'has been'

<sup>5</sup> If they omit its celebration not, for instance, through error or forgetfulness or unavoidable difficulties, but for want of trust in its efficacy, then the penalty for that omission, as Vakhshâpûhar rightly says, must be greater than when it is on account simply of error, forgetfulness, or unavoidable difficulties. Hence it is that Vakhshâpûhar will be strict towards those who show want of faith in the least degree.

<sup>6</sup> When the Drôn Cake Service is being celebrated during daytime it should in no case be allowed to terminate into night; care must be taken to manage it in such a way that it may be finished off during daytime.

<sup>9</sup> Thus Afrog would consider what follows this passage in the Yasna as post-terminal; and hence Afrog probably intended that the Bâzâê ê Drôn could be performed just hereif necessary, and that there would be no harm if the post-terminal text continued into the night.

acquainted with their being<sup>1</sup> ingrafted with sin in their persons,<sup>1</sup> âetavatô<sup>2</sup> ratufris, yavat fra-maraiti<sup>3</sup>; then he scores spiritual merit for just so much as he celebrates<sup>3</sup> «by himself», i.e., «for» what is his own individual performance; yêzi dat dis<sup>4</sup> nôit tanu-prrrtha<sup>4</sup> vaêdha, if however he 'has' not 'been' acquainted with their being ingrafted with sin in their persons, vîspanûm Gâthanûm ratufris. then he scores spiritual merit for all the Holy Songs «that are sung at the Service».

2. Tanu-prrrthô<sup>4</sup> Zaota, dahma upa-sraotârô, If the Leading Priest is ingrafted with sin in his person, «but» those who attend him in service are pious men, i.e., if the Leading Priest is of deadly worth, yêzi dim tanu-prrrthem vîdarr,<sup>5</sup> and if they 'have been' acquainted with his being ingrafted with sin in his person, âetavatô ratufrayô yavat framarenti; then they score spiritual merit for just so much as they celebrate by «themselves», i.e., «for» what are their own individual performances; yêzi 62 A dat dim nôit tanu-prrrthem vîdarr,<sup>5</sup> if however they 'have' not 'been' acquainted with his being ingrafted with sin in his person, vîspanûm Gâthanûm ratufrayô.<sup>4</sup> then they score spiritual merit for all the Holy Songs «that are sung at the Service».<sup>6</sup>

Darmesteter already noted that this must be the form of the word in the text which is miswritten vivarr here as well as below.

<sup>6</sup> Every participant in the Holy Service gains a certain amount of spiritual merit for his participation therein; and that merit has, for each participant, its fullest strength promoted through the good work done by all engaged in the Service jointly, provided all these have been absolutely good men.

If however some one of these is a sinful person and if he has sincerely joined in the Service to achieve good, then, according to the remarks that follow in the text, such a person's good deed goes towards the effacement of his sin. But if he is not sincere then his effort is fruitless and achieves no good whatever, and his sin remains in the same amount.

The others in such a case who are good men engaged with such sinful persons in the celebration of the Holy Service, obtain their whole strength of spiritual merit if they are not acquainted with the sinfulness of the others; if however they are, then they obtain only that portion of the whole strength of spiritual merit which corresponds simply to the part they individually have played in the celebration of the Holy Service.

3. Note that that which « is » as good and « which » one of deadly worth utters out of one's being penitent<sup>1</sup> is not « left as surplus »<sup>2</sup> good : for though such a one's hands may be scrupulously cleaned, and though good action and virtue may be effected by that « individual », still the worship « simply » goes towards « the effacement of »<sup>2</sup> the retribution.<sup>3</sup>

4. There is one who says thus : Behold, if a person of deadly worth have after all uttered « the good » out of fear, compulsion, or compelling<sup>4</sup> justice,<sup>4</sup> rather than out<sup>5</sup> of free choice,<sup>5</sup> and notwithstanding that through « one's » incapability one would not have proceeded « to do so » still one have been made to proceed « thereto », then although that person in deadly worth will have been « made to do it » to make penitence, « still » that should be illegal. Hence though such a one's 62 B hands may be scrupulously cleaned,<sup>6</sup> still that « individual » is to be avoided from the Thanksgiving Service of others.

There is one who says thus : Behold, the Holy Thanksgiving Service is not « then » effected at all. 4

There is one who says thus : Behold, not even<sup>7</sup> the least<sup>7</sup> good deed or virtue is achieved « by such a one ».<sup>8</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Taking all together this must be the sense. If the participation of the Tanâpûhars in the Service were positively bad, or of no efficiency in any case, then no good however small could have been achieved by even the good, for then, these would have participated in a sort of corrupted or mutilated service ; but it is plain from what has preceded that the good participating in the Service with the Tanâpûhars could share greater or smaller merit, and needed not reject them altogether as quite unfit, for, it is there implied that they could tolerate their participation even knowingly. Still it is evident that when the Tanâpûhars had no sincerity for participating in the Service and if this was known, they were to be disqualified and rejected ; indeed the opinions quoted below would reject altogether the Service itself in which insincere Tanâpûhars might have joined in any way.

<sup>8</sup> Notice that when the Tanâpûhar is sincere in the performance of the Service and is capable therefor, then he does achieve good deed and virtue though that is neutralised in cancelling his wickedness ; see § 3 above and note 2 just preceding.

5. Dahmô Zaota, dahma upa-sraotârô, vîspê ratufrayô. « If » the Leading Priest is a pious man, « and » those who attend him in service are « also » pious men, « then » surely all score « complete » spiritual merit.

6. Tanu-prrrthô Zaota, tanu-prrrtha upa-sraotârô, vîspê a-ratu-frayô. « If » the Leading Priest is ingrafted with sin in his person and if those who attend him in service are « also » ingrafted with sin in their persons, « then » all fail to score « any the least » spiritual merit.

CHAPTER XVI

ON THE QUALIFICATIONS OF THE WOMAN AND THE CHILD FOR CONDUCTING A HOLY SERVICE

2. Yêzi vaêtha<sup>6</sup> hâthanûm<sup>7</sup> thwarséscha<sup>8</sup> fra-taurvâoscha,

<sup>2</sup> As kayachit and ratufrayô are of course plural, nâ cannot be the singular nominative of nar, for, it will not agree with those. It is evidently therefore the first personal pronoun, genitive plural.

<sup>3</sup> This form seems to be the ablative singular of Zaothra=priestly office. Darmesteter however thinks it to be an abstract form from Zaotar by the addition of a suffix corresponding to the Sanskrit tâ; and the form of the clause that follows may favour such a solution.

<sup>5</sup> For, female modesty does not permit women to go freely among strangers, though children may go among them; whereas there need be no such prohibition against women going freely among their kith and kin. See the close of P. 22, P. 23, and Fol. 6, l. 11 and following, and Fol. 8, l. 16 and following. Darm. renders "one's own wife and the child of others."

When one «such as these» is acquainted with the terminations<sup>1</sup> and the pauses among the Sacred Chapters, i.e., for making «proper» commencement «of one's special portions», antarr hâitishu Yasnem frôizis.<sup>2</sup> then that individual is qualified for helping during the course of the chapters<sup>3</sup> in the celebration of the Holy Thanksgiving Service; for such a one knows at what places one has to speak.<sup>4</sup>

3. When a child is bright<sup>5</sup> and knows the worship by heart and is without the lack of faith, it is fit for the function of the Holy Thanksgiving Service, and indeed for every «good» function.

4. A woman, unless she be menstruous, can celebrate the Holy Thanksgiving Service with the Hallowed Portion. «Indeed when» she is menstruous, she should not be left in the residence<sup>6</sup> in daily use<sup>6</sup> and must be kept 15 paces away<sup>7</sup> from a «sacred» function,—there is one who says 30 paces<sup>8</sup> «away». And note besides «that it is required of her that» Nôit tâ nâirika kasu khrathwa 'That woman «who may celebrate the Holy Service» must not be with small understanding.'

5. When one recites «the dedication» of the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Saps, then if «jointly with that» a l l be «engaged» in Thanksgiving, that should not be improper.<sup>9</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Darm. has already noted that barsôm is an error for barin, we may rather say, for barhin, because barhinitan is the equivalent of thwrrrs.

<sup>4</sup> To be thus fit, one must know where to stop in the recitation, either to manage things in the Service or to let another recite his portion. Similarly one must know where to take up a recitation which pertains to oneself.

<sup>9</sup> The reference probably is to Yas. LXVI, 1 which the Zaoî and the Râthwi recite together.

6. If one recite the « praise » of the Holy Life Flames without 63 B the Hallowed Portion, that should be improper.

7. Âtrō Farnbâg Nôsbê<sup>1</sup> said: Behold, except in the function wherein the Holy Wisdom is approving<sup>2</sup> a woman as fit, she is otherwise unfit.

8. Âtrō Aôharmazdân said: It is observed that « except when » she is declared unfit « for some function », she is otherwise fit.<sup>3</sup>

9. Gaôgôshnasp said: Behold, it should be the superior<sup>4</sup> « functions » wherein the Holy Wisdom may declare her unfit. And verily<sup>5</sup> he defines those thus: Behold, « they » cannot perform the Service of Dedication to the Resplendent Sun of Glory; they cannot celebrate the Service of the Praise of the Moon of Prolific Grace; they cannot say “keep your disposition good”<sup>6</sup>; they cannot be directors<sup>7</sup> of business<sup>8</sup>; they cannot be in presidencies.<sup>9</sup>

CONCLUDING GLORIFICATION

<sup>3</sup> This is a wiser decision; for, the functions for which a woman may be fit are too many to be noted all of them in the texts of the Holy Wisdom; whereas it may rightly be expected that those wherein she is unfit must generally be noted; hence it should be fair to consider her fit for all other functions for which she is not actually declared unfit.

<sup>7</sup> Khûtâê rûzîn, lit. masters of business; Pr. روزي = business. Note however that as is already said at P. 21, l. 12, ff. they were considered fit for conducting family business. For their other qualifications see note 4 to Aêr. III, 1.

64 A astî, Ustâ ahmâi, it is felicitous<sup>1</sup>—i.e., Righteousness, even for that one « is it » felicitous—viz., for that one who is promoting it, hyat Ashâi Vahistâi Ashem. who<sup>2</sup> is the righteousness promoter<sup>3</sup> of Righteousness that is best, which it is for Righteousness the Most Excellent Good that that one achieves.<sup>4</sup>

The End of the First Book.<sup>4</sup>

The Commencement of the Second.

CHAPTER I

---

ON THE SINFULNESS OF NOT SINGING THE HOLY SONGS THROUGH PROFANITY OR PERVERSITY

1. Yô Gâthâo a-srôvayô âstâ<sup>1</sup> vâ tarômaiti vâ, tanûm prrryêiti.
Whoever « is » not singing in thanksgiving the Holy Songs owing to profanity,<sup>2</sup> as when one says that there is no religion, 'or owing to perversity,' as when though one admits that « religion »

---

<sup>1</sup> From forms preserved elsewhere in the Avesta it appears that the base must be âsta, and as the case here must be instrumental as tarômaiti indicates, âsta would evidently be the correct form. But as âstâ reappears below, it may have been used in this case as a feminine word, instrumental here, and nominative in the instance which follows.

<sup>2</sup> In the Gâthas the word âsta is translated 𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎 in Pahlavi, and seems to mean "detriment." The Pahlavi form in Nîrangastân looks to be 𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎 which Darmesteter reads an-it-ih and translates "negation," "unbelief," evidently taking it as short for an-ait-ih. The general sense appears to be of "profane denial of the necessity and usefulness of religion and things sacred."

exists, yet one « is » no giver of reverence<sup>1</sup> thereto, does verily ingraft one's person with sin.

2. Katârô<sup>2</sup> âstâ? Katârô tarômaitis? What of these two « is » profanity? And what of these two « is » perversity?

54 B 3. Yâ hacha Daênayât Mâzdayasnôit apastûitis. That which « is » the abjuration of the Religion which worships the Most High and Wise. Verily that must be an utterance from one's own firm decision.<sup>3</sup>

4. Behold the Holy Wisdom makes<sup>4</sup> the observation<sup>4</sup> that if one speaks thus in word « as well as » in thought, “Verily there is no religion,” then immediately is one ingrafted with sin, i.e., in deadly worth for the length of a year.

5. That it is being ingrafted with sin in one's person, is manifested from this passage—that is to say, that it is being in deadly worth for the length of a year, is manifested from this passage « here »:—

Yâ hacha Daênayât Mâzdayasnôit apa-stvôit thris vaghzhîbis, hakat vîpaiti<sup>5</sup>-chît. ‘Whoever must abjure the Religion which worships the Most High and Wise with the three expressions « of thought, word, and deed, will » immediately « meet » with some calamity.’

The word is in common gender and is declined like the masculine; whereas âstâ and tarômaitis are evidently feminine.

<sup>3</sup> Vachîr. If one says this quite seriously and has firmly decided that religion is of no practical benefit, then that proves that one is so far corrupted in the soul as to be both profane and perverse; whereas if one does not say so earnestly but utters it unmeaningly, then one is not to be judged so corrupt.

<sup>5</sup> This word is unknown to us, but may be derived from Av. 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 = to befall. By adding to this the primary suffix ‘an abstract feminine noun can be obtained.

From what precedes and from the omission of the translation of this sentence into Pahlavi, Darmesteter takes it to be a quotation belonging to the commentary. Yet it continues so well the sense of the main text that it might safely be assigned a place in it.

6. If however one does not express it as having been seriously entertained in thought, one does not <sup>1</sup> at all <sup>1</sup> become of deadly worth. « And besides », if although one contemplates it very much in mind still one does not express it in word, then one does not become « quite » of deadly worth.<sup>2</sup>

8. If one has to be in penitence <sup>9</sup> for a year one must perform for that the Service of the New Initiate <sup>10</sup>; and one must discharge <sup>11</sup> the spiritual Tanâpûhar penalty <sup>12</sup> « of 1200 Dirhams ».

Whatever one does not express in thought is unmeant, for, everything that we do mean we always express in thought, and what is unmeant cannot be brought to judgment; hence what is not expressed in thought cannot be of deadly worth.

<sup>2</sup> It is of course not meant that a person is not at all bad for this, but only that one is not completely bad when one simply entertains the thing in mind but does not give expression to it and thereby add to the resulting wickedness by attempting to give currency to one's own bad notion.

An Act of Thought would be the mere entertainment of an idea; an Act of Word would be the mere expression of that idea; and an Act of Deed would be the fulfilment of that idea. Hence, in so far as it may fulfil an idea, the tongue may be used in an Act of Deed.

<sup>10</sup> Naôk-Nâêvar; see above, Fol. 53, l. 18, note. The person is so completely disqualified that he must perform the Service of the New Initiate to be qualified again.

9. The good deeds and virtues that one may previously have achieved arrive<sup>1</sup> to counterbalance<sup>1</sup> « the sin under penitence ».<sup>2</sup> But those that are under « the due of » another cannot be « made » one's own.

10. If however one « on whom it is incumbent to do so » do not pursue<sup>3</sup> deeds of penitence,<sup>3</sup> then it is lawful, even in the case of a spiritual master, to use severity<sup>4</sup> in order that « that person » may be in penitence. « Nevertheless » if owing to the spiritual master's smiting, « such » a spiritual master perish, « then that spiritual master shall fall » into deadly worth « through that act ».<sup>5</sup>

11. If one may say « something profane » towards « Blessed » Zaratôst, one will have « as it were » said so towards the Religion « itself ; and » had one said so towards the Omniscient Lord « Himself », 65 B that would not have been a more base thing.<sup>6</sup> « Hence », beware<sup>7</sup> lest<sup>7</sup> you be rebellious!<sup>8</sup>

12. If one will say « something profane » towards a law among

A Tanâpûhar weight, either of good or bad acts, is equal to 1200 Dirhams.

<sup>5</sup> This may signify that the spiritual master would be thus much sinful by becoming fatally severe only on another spiritual master to be made penitent for his sins, but the degree of his sin would be less when his severity would produce the same result on some other person. Still there is nothing here which ought to signify that that need be the meaning.

The sense however would be rendered quite general if the word 𐬨𐬀 in ..... 𐬨𐬀 𐬨𐬀 𐬨𐬀 were taken as intrusive. The remaining words 𐬨𐬀 and 𐬨𐬀 then would refer only to the correcting spiritual master.

<sup>6</sup> If one will say something profane towards Righteous Zarathushtra it will be almost as sacrilegious as saying the same towards the Omniscient Lord, because the profanity will in that case apply also to the Good Religion which pertains to the Divine Being Himself.

aliens, « its justification will be » dependent<sup>1</sup> on what may be its nature.<sup>1</sup> It is not lawful to praise a wicked law as in the least a great creed. If one will praise it for « simply obtaining » power, dignity, or wealth, one will be in deadly worth. « But » if one must praise it out of fear for « the safety of » one's person, it is not plain « how that will be ».<sup>2</sup>

13. Behold as regards whatever « law that may have » the good constitution, whenever one will praise<sup>3</sup> that, one must praise it conscientiously.

14. When one passes from the Good Law to a wicked « creed » one becomes of deadly worth; but when one passes from one wicked « law » to « another » wicked « law », one does not become of « any more »<sup>4</sup> deadly worth « than what one is already in ».

Vakhshâpûhar said: Verily, one will not<sup>5</sup> become « of any more deadly worth than what one is already in, only » in the case when « with regard to » the rank into which one passes, one « rank » is not worse than another.<sup>6</sup>

It will not evidently be right to deprecate the laws of aliens in every case ; all good laws even of the aliens must be revered, because the Holy Religion of the Mazdayasnas claims all good laws as its own.

<sup>4</sup> This of course is implied. One who professes a wicked law is already in deadly worth, and therefore does not become any more wicked by passing into another similar creed, provided indeed, as Vakhshâpûhar rightly observes, the degree of the wickedness of the latter is just equal to that of the first.

<sup>6</sup> One will not be worse for changing one bad creed for another, unless the latter is not in the same degree of badness; because one will then be more or less bad according as the creed which one enters is more or less bad than that which one has left,

15. One must not undertake the <sup>1</sup> Initial Service of Thanksgiving and Praise <sup>1</sup> from one of the people of the alien ways, nor should one entrust it unto such a one. And although such a person may verily proceed to the place « of its celebration », still because the King of Kings must command thus : “ You shall not say thanksgiving on the 66 A sacred Drôn cake,” so of course one cannot celebrate it.<sup>2</sup> Indeed one cannot but show implicit obedience when he commands that one shall not celebrate a thanksgiving.

CHAPTER II

ON THE GREAT SUPERIORITY OF RECALLING ALOUD A SINGLE MEASURED EXPRESSION OF THE HOLY SONGS, OVER NOT RECITING THEM AT ALL

1. Yô Gâtháo a-srâvayô yârr-drâjô, apa tanûm pairyêiti.
Whoever<sup>3</sup> fails to sing the Holy Songs through the « whole » length of the year « and » does not celebrate the days sacred to the Holy Songs, ingrafts one's person with sin the most<sup>4</sup> intensely.<sup>4</sup>

2. Yêzi donghâm ôyâm<sup>5</sup> pê<sup>6</sup>-vâchim fra-maraiti, If « however »

<sup>1</sup> Evidently a Bâj such as the Srôsh or the Drôn Bâj. Otherwise the sense might be, “ receive the catchword in the Service; ” and then the reference might be to the words Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô Zaoûtâ, etc., which are exchanged between the Zaoiti and the Râthwi in the holy services. Still see § 3 of Ch. II : App. A below.

<sup>2</sup> Does it appear from this that strangers and non-Zoroastrians could be present at a Holy Service but could not take part therein? for, it is not said that the King of Kings commanded them not to attend it ; he simply commanded them not to celebrate it.

In the case of profanity or perversity this sinfulness is present from the very first.

one recalls aloud « even a single » measured expression of those several « clusters of Holy Songs »,—

Kiryâtrô-Bûjît said : Behold « this refers to » reciting the Preliminary Formula.<sup>4</sup>

3. From this place it becomes manifest according to the Holy Wisdom that when one has not celebrated with<sup>10</sup> thoroughness<sup>10</sup> the five days sacred to the Holy Songs, then one « has evidently become » deserving<sup>11</sup> of reproach.<sup>11</sup>

4. Sôshâns said : Note that « the statement » “one lets<sup>12</sup> forth

<sup>3</sup> Sôshâns thought that the reference was to any measured word of the Gâthas; whereas Kiryâtrô-Bûjît was of opinion that the Preliminary Formula was meant.

<sup>7</sup> The Avestân must be so translated literally; but the Pahlavi has the absolute verbal form khafrûneshn which besides has a derived idiomatic meaning; cf. Pr. 𐭥𐭥𐭥 = to separate; to distinguish. Note that at Fol. 71, l. 13, ff. the expression is rendered apârkînêt, signifying “passes over.”

<sup>9</sup> The person who recites a mere measured word or a formula of the Holy Gâthas is considered far superior to one who does not recite them at all.

ae-shnom as in TD.

an utterance," i.e., "one speaks out a word" « implies » that "one smatters it out."<sup>1</sup>

5. Kiryâtrö-Bûjît said: Behold, the moment one fails to recite the Preliminary Formula there certainly commences<sup>2</sup> « the guilt of » one's being ingrafted with sin in one's person for not celebrating the days sacred to the Holy Songs.

6. The case « of scoring spiritual merit for recalling aloud a single measured expression » can happen « only » when one may not have eaten too heavy a meal « at the time »; because if one may have eaten a heavy meal and if one will smatter out, then owing to the offensive smell « that must come from one's body » there must commence « the greater guilt of » one's being ingrafted with sin « entirely, even » notwithstanding that one will have smattered out « the measured expression ».<sup>3</sup>

7. If one is able to celebrate the Thanksgiving Service and does not celebrate it, « one commits » a great sin, « although » there is not committed a positive sin.<sup>4</sup>

8. Raôshan said: Behold, such « a positive sin » will arise when one will have smattered out in sinfulness.<sup>5</sup>

67 A 9. When one smatters out « thus » it becomes equally the darkest<sup>6</sup> thing<sup>6</sup> as that when one does not offer up thanks « and yet »

<sup>1</sup> Drâyêt. Probably it is thought that one who is so incapable as to be able to speak forth only a word, can simply smatter it out.

<sup>2</sup> Kiryâtrö-Bûjît sticks to his meaning of pê-vâchîn, and considers that when one does not recite even the short service preliminary to the singing of the Holy Songs, there immediately commences the sin for not singing the Holy Songs at all.

<sup>3</sup> Even the smattering out of a single measured expression among the Holy Songs gives one great precedence over one who does not sing those songs at all; but that is the case only if there is no further defect herein which exists when the mouth is smelling bad owing to a heavy meal. So that in that case no advantage over the Tanâpûhar sinner is gained even by one who smatters out a measured expression.

Girweshnik vanâs literally means the "sin through taking up," as distinguished from the "sin through leaving out."

eats, « or when » one does not observe the proper cleanliness « and yet » offers up in thankfulness the sacred Drôn cake, « or when there occur » all other cases of this kind.<sup>1</sup>

10. When one will have « thus » smattered out « in sinfulness », then there cannot have been « effected » by one the celebration of the days sacred to the Holy Songs, there cannot have been « effected » by one the Equinoctial<sup>2</sup> Celebration,<sup>3</sup> and there cannot have been celebrated by one « effectively » the Service<sup>3</sup> of Willing Praise.<sup>3</sup>

CHAPTER II: APPENDIX A

ON LACK OF FAITH REGARDING THE HOLY SERVICE

1. If one partakes « of the offered portion » with lack of faith when one celebrates the days sacred to the Holy Songs, then there cannot become celebrated by one the Equinoctial Celebration, and there should not be celebrated by one the Service of Willing Praise.<sup>3</sup>

2. Vakhshâpûhar declared one's eating thus « with lack of faith » to be in a degree more degraded than « even that » when « one eats » though one has not offered up thanks « on the bounties procured ».<sup>4</sup>

3. One should not be entrusted the Initial<sup>5</sup> Service of Thanksgiving and Praise,<sup>5</sup> if one does not know the performance<sup>6</sup> by heart; « indeed » one should not « then » undertake it « at all » even though one might be entrusted with its performance.

It is evident that all the three services are closely related, the failure of one affects all the three.

4. Whenever an occasion may have arisen<sup>1</sup> « to meet for the function », then « leaving aside the point » whether all be faithful « therein » or « whether » all faithless,<sup>2</sup> in so far as “all blessedness is evidently for the good,”<sup>3</sup> so only if goodness is not lacking in manifestation<sup>4</sup> « among the performers », the celebrators of the dedication of the sacred Drôn cake can « in that case » undertake for others the Initial Service of Thanksgiving and Praise ; but when that is lacking in manifestation then if they celebrate the dedication of the sacred Drôn cake and undertake the Initial Service of Thanksgiving and Praise for others, that must be wrong.

5. When all<sup>5</sup> « engaged in the Service join in » offering up in dedication the sacred Drôn cake, it must indeed be well,<sup>6</sup> even though both « the celebrators<sup>7</sup> of the Service as also those having it had celebrated »<sup>7</sup> will simply have recited incongruously « together. And really » it will be well if both these « sides » will join in offering up in dedication the sacred Drôn cake, because it is not proper that « in this case » only a single person need serve as a second to the Leading Officiating Priest,<sup>8</sup> « though » Vakhshâpûhar has said that this is allowable.

<sup>6</sup> If all present at the Service say the Preliminary Service and join in the dedication of the sacred Drôn cake, that must indeed be good even though the inexpert among them can only smatter out that service ; because that will, in any case, manifest zeal on their part to participate actively in offering up thanks for Nature's bounties.

<sup>7</sup> It is not plain to whom else the reference would be if not to these.

<sup>8</sup> Evidently more persons were necessary for the actual celebration of the Holy Service when the Zoroastrian fold embraced millions of souls ; and two only did not suffice then as now. But here the reference is to a point where it is a matter of difference of opinion whether the Râthwî alone should help the Zaothi in the function under consideration, or whether the whole congregation also should join the Râthwî.

6. When one has by heart the Holy Worship, and is without any lack of faith, then one is fit for every function in the Smaller Thanksgiving Services.<sup>1</sup> And any person « thus qualified » is legible for the office of the Leading Officiating Priest « in that case ».

7. When « one is so qualified as to have » by heart « the Holy Book of » the Consummate<sup>2</sup> Word,<sup>3</sup> then one must have celebrated<sup>3</sup> the Service of All the Reverential Ones or the Service<sup>4</sup> of the Admonitions<sup>4</sup>; and « when that is so, such individual » is qualified for every function in the Greater<sup>5</sup> « Thanksgiving Services ».

8. Vakhshâpûhar said: Behold having the Consummate Word by heart is useful always for ascertaining<sup>6</sup> what is to be performed according to the Holy Wisdom before « undertaking the actual » Thanksgiving Service « itself. For », at the Thanksgiving Service in the commencement when the helping attendant will have come, this much must be ascertained, and the Leading Officiating Priest must inspect it, that the Sacred Barsôm twigs are tied, the « vitalising » Haoma drink is prepared, the Haoma twigs are found, and the Holy Water<sup>7</sup> is kept ready, « with the recitation of » the special text of Holy Wisdom

The Hâtôkht gave with other causes and essentials, the cause and the essentials of every ceremonial. Hence its knowledge was necessary to qualify the Leading Priest of a Great Service, who was to see that everything was right and good for it. See Dink. Bk. VIII, Chap. XLV.

Zôhar generally signifies the “hallowed portion” of the dedication, but specially it means the consecrated electrised water used during the Holy Service in the preparation of the Haoma drink. It is filled out at the Preparatory Service from the basin in which the Vars is agitated a thousand times while reciting the 101 Names of the Divine Being.

for each.<sup>1</sup> So that if they have come short herein of finding<sup>2</sup> the Haoma twigs, and of having the Holy Water kept ready, then just because they will have done so through being wavering « on the necessity thereof », that must be wrong, inasmuch as the deed should have been carried out Garmû dâre<sup>3</sup> “ in warm acuteness ”—— there is one who says, even as the Religion « should have been carried out so ».<sup>4</sup>

9. If when one completes « the undertaking » without any misgiving « about it » one makes oneself elated<sup>5</sup> « thereon », then that is wrong. But if when one completes it and goes out, another makes one elated « thereon », then that may be allowed.<sup>6</sup>

10. Note that Law does not stand in subordination to Interest.<sup>7</sup>

68 B 11. Âzât-Mart said: Every thanksgiving service, « even » besides that which is for the Leading Officiating Priest, must be performed without any misgiving « about its efficacy », as all thanksgiving « performed » with misgiving « about its efficacy » goes « simply » towards « the effacement<sup>8</sup> of » retribution.

<sup>4</sup> According to this critic the Religion is vitally concerned in the presence of the several things at the Holy Service.

Or, his meaning may only generally purpose to say that as much acuteness is to be shown here as in the case of the Religion itself.

It is meant that interest must be subordinated to law; whereas interest preponderates in one when one is overjoyed at one's success in a religious performance, and compliments oneself thereon. One who thought more of duty and law than of pleasure and personal interest would not so far be absorbed in the pleasantness about one's success, but would rather think of further good activity.

What will go towards the effacement of retribution is yet something as a positive good deed; and a degree of good is scored even by one who performs the Service with misgiving, evidently because it evinces some faith that one should perform it at all. See the remark that follows.

CHAPTER II: APPENDIX B

As this phrase refers to God Himself, the distinction here is of titles, not of persons.

69 A 4. It is allowed to celebrate the Service of the Admonitions<sup>1</sup> with every dedication; but « this should be » including « the words: "According to the pleasure » of the Sublime Lord....."»<sup>2</sup>

5. There is one who says thus: Verily, in any « service » whatsoever which one celebrates just for the first time « in all one's practice », one should perform the dedication of the New Initiate.

6. Âzât-Mart said: Behold the person who glorifies the Religion should celebrate well the worship of the Dvâzdah-Hômâst « the Twelve-fold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », as well as the Service of the Sublime Lord. And if one desires one's presentations to be more acceptable, it is proper to sacrifice sheep or goats at all « such » services.<sup>3</sup> And if one have misgivings about « the sufficiency of » the Service of the New Initiate, then « one must besides celebrate » the Service of Faith.<sup>4</sup>

7. There is one who says « it may be allowed » even if the first Service « be » that of the Hâtôkht « the Consummate Word ».<sup>5</sup>

8. There is one who says « it may be allowed » even though the first service « be » the Rapîtwin « the Equinoctial Celebration ».<sup>6</sup>

9. It is allowed to partake of the sacred<sup>7</sup> Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order<sup>7</sup> in every thanksgiving service,<sup>8</sup> except in the Service of the New Initiate « which is performed » in misgivings,<sup>9</sup> and in that under the officiating leadership of a lady,<sup>10</sup> and in the Drôn

<sup>8</sup> Apparently the reference is to the tasting by the Officiating Priest's own self. In the cases mentioned just next as those wherein it is not permitted, it appears to be prohibited in the first two probably because of the deficient qualification of the Leading Priests in those, and in the third probably because that service is performed simply to redeem a penalty.

10. «Of the ten days of the Fravartinikân», one should celebrate well the first <sup>4</sup> five days <sup>4</sup> «specially devoted to the Holy Spiritual Essences as well as» the five days devoted to the Holy Songs. On «either of» these five days the «least» <sup>5</sup> proper number of those joining the Feast <sup>6</sup> should be 10, «though» there is one who says 8. 69 B

11. « When » the person who desires to proceed to a « sacred » function<sup>9</sup> dutifully, thinks thus: “ I cannot return in time,” then he may leave out « the text » Pancha, tistrô, dasa ..... rathwâm<sup>10</sup> ‘ The five, three, ten ..... of the Spiritual Masters,’ and may « accordingly » celebrate the Season Festival. And there will

Otherwise the expression may signify "the first five days of the Season Festivals," constituting the first Season Festival itself. It might be recommended to celebrate them well and with particular care evidently because they would form the first great festival of the year.

5 The meaning must be this ; for it is impossible that the huge congregations which must needs have assembled at the great national festivals, should have been bidden to meet in no larger parties than those of ten or eight only. These small numbers must refer to the least decent numbers of the assembled parties. And as the reference is plainly to all those that join the feast, we cannot understand the allusion to be to the officiating body simply.

[illegible]

<sup>8</sup> I.e., with probably the opinion that the least number should be 10.

"  $\mu$  must be  $\mu$  or  $\mu$ .

<sup>10</sup> This text is not preserved among the texts that are handed down to us.

 ‘ « of the value of » a thousand sheep.’

12. When however he can return in time then on his celebrating<sup>2</sup>
 « the full service accordingly », there is « gained » to him the « superior » good deed hazangrem gavanūm<sup>1</sup> ‘ « of the value of » a thousand cattle-heads.’

13. When one is able to celebrate the Service and does not celebrate, then whether there takes root in one the Avaoirisht<sup>3</sup> penalty or no is not<sup>4</sup> plain.

14. Raôshan said: Note that only in case when some have to 70 A celebrate the Holy Service moderately,<sup>5</sup> may they omit « the text » ...

 are ascribed to the Hâtôkht which is mentioned in § 7 of the preceding Appendix.

Apparently these values express the degrees of virtue achieved in either case.
 In this respect we may compare Fol. 74, ll. 10-12 below, and Pah. Vend. IV, 2.
 The Pasu and the Staora there may stand for the Maēsha and the Gao here.
 In the Pahlavi Vendidad the Pasu is valued at only 3 Stirs and the Staora at 12.
 On that analogy the preceding value here must be only a fourth of the latter.
 As according to Sh. Lâ-Sh. XVI, 6 the smallest worship scores a good deed of the value of 30,000 Stirs, each Gao here would be valued at 30 Stirs which is much more than the value assigned to the Staora in the Vendidad, but may to a certain extent match with the value given below in Fol. 74, ll. 10-12. See note 1 to IV, 5, below.

<sup>2</sup> דכרין would be better than דכרין which the text gives.

<sup>3</sup> TD has דכרין as HJ also has below; HJ here has דכרין.

The value of the moral weight Avaoirisht is not consistently given; yet that given in Sh. Lâ-Sh. XVI, 5, viz. twenty-five Stirs, is most acceptable, for, according to Vend. IV, 17 its value must be above Âgerept and under Arzdûsh; and the value of the latter is consistently given at “thirty”—presumably “Stirs” though that is not mentioned, whereas that of the former though variously given elsewhere is noted to be sixteen Stirs in Sh. Lâ-Sh. XVI, 5, the notation whereof appears to be the most correct of all. See also Sh. Lâ-Sh. I, 2, and XI, 3.

It must be noted again that the simplest Yazeshn Service is worth a hundred Tanâpûhars or 30,000 Stirs; see Sh. Lâ-Sh. XVI, 6.

 above, and when an abridgment of the Service is permitted; for, if one were to abridge the Service even though there were no such difficulty, it would show one's indifference to the performance which would not therefore accumulate as a positive good deed but would simply serve to efface sins.

.....rathwām..... ‘ ..... of the Spiritual Masters..... ’ ; otherwise one should not leave out even « the text » .....rathwām ..... ‘ .....of the Spiritual Masters.....,’ « for, then » the Service will « have the efficacy simply to » go towards the effacement of sin.

15. « It is noted in this connection that » these are the celebrations that are acceptable « the most essentially », <sup>1</sup> viz., those of the Season Festivals and the First <sup>2</sup> Equinoctial <sup>3</sup> Celebration, <sup>3</sup> together with the threefold <sup>4</sup> celebration of Setûh « the Service of the Three Nights after Death », and the celebrations of the days sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences.<sup>1</sup>

16. So also it becomes acceptable « the most essentially » <sup>4</sup> when the Moon <sup>5</sup> of Prolific Grace is glorified three times every <sup>1</sup> Cf. Sh. Lâ-Sh., XII, 31 where it is said that according to the Hûspâram Nask, of which the Nirangastân is a portion, the non-celebration of the Season-Festival, the Rapitwin, the Three Nights after Death, the days sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences, and the Sun and the Moon, is seriously taken into consideration at the judgment of the soul.

<sup>3</sup> Rapitwin firstly means “that pertaining to the mean day or the midday.” Hence it not only indicates the midday but also the Equinoxes on which the “mean day” falls. It then signifies the south, for the sun who is the cause of the day appeared to the primitive Iranians to take his course across the south, inasmuch as Irân Vêj was situated up in the Northern Hemisphere. Lastly it indicates the Power said to be manifesting itself in the South and guarding the Entrance to Heaven which was located in that direction probably because of the beneficent forces said to be focussing themselves there. This is how tradition is explained. But the theme can be viewed from a clearer light of comprehension. The midday represents the midday of the Eternal Life when the rising soul reaches the Frâdat-Fshu state of the Holy Thrift and Prosperous Advancement which is placed at the middle of spiritual advance in the scheme of the Mazdean philosophy, and hence marks the Entrance to the Heavenly Condition. See the Rapitwin Gâh.

As regards the Service itself, even as such texts as Bûnd. II, 8-9 hint, and as modern practice indicates, it is the Thanksgiving Service which is performed in the Rapitwin Gâh in a certain period of the year, and in which of course this Power and Ideal is glorified along with other things. And Fol. 76, l. 25 ff. and Fol. 102, l. 16 ff. make it still more plain that it signifies the celebration of the Equinoxes; see notes at these places. The Equinox also ideally signifies the mid-stage of spiritual advance.

month<sup>1</sup> and the Sun of Glory thrice every day.<sup>2</sup> And it is manifest from the Holy Wisdom that it is according to the Holy Wisdom that « the penalty for not celebrating them » stands at the value of an Avaoîrsht<sup>3</sup> ; but about other « worships the penalty » is not clear.

17. There is one who says thus: Verily it is thuswise that when in the Season Festivals the Sun « is not glorified this way, the penalty therefor » stands at the value of an Avaoîrsht for every threefold<sup>3</sup> « neglect thereof. Whereas » there is one who says: « It stands so » for every onefold<sup>3</sup> « neglect thereof only ».

<sup>1</sup> Once every of the three weeks into which the original sidereal or lunar month was divided. If, from the 30 days of the lunar month, we take away the three additional days Daê-pa-Âdar, Daê-pa-Mêher, and Daê-pa-Dîn, the remaining 27 days of the sidereal month may just be divided into three periods of 9 days each; whereas similarly the fuller lunar month might be divided into three periods of about 10 days each: the Antarr-mâongha, or the days of the new moon; the Prrrnô-mâongha, or the days of the full moon; and the Vishaptattha, or the days of the intenser nights. Darmesteter assigns each of these three only five days, but then he falls into a difficulty about the remaining days of the month; see his note 5 on p. 90 of S. B. E. Vol. XXIII.

It may be noted in this connection that the Chinese and the Egyptians had weeks of 10 days each, and the Babylonians and the Hebrews divided the month into six weeks of 5 days each. Hence it is conceivable that when the Iranian month was given 30 days, the Iranian week might correspondingly have been assigned 10 days. No doubt the peculiar position of the three days latterly added to the month must suggest a division into four weeks, the first two of 7 days each and the next two of 8 days each, still it is not evident that this should have been just the original position; indeed the original position could have been quite such as to have admitted of three equal divisions in this case also, which, according to the hint from the Avesta and the practice of glorifying the Moon thrice in the month, was evidently the case with the original shorter month of the Iranian Calendar.

The Revâ-yats also advise that the Moon should be glorified at least three times every month. Hence the statement "new moon" must be an error here, even as it is already noted. Indeed there appears no reason why the sense should thus be specialised.

<sup>3</sup> In Sh. Lâ-Sh. VII, 4 the good deed of every single glorification of the Sun, or of the Moon, or of the Fire is valued at a Tanâpûhar of three hundred Stîrs; whereas the Avaoîrsht is about twenty-five Stîrs only. Still Sh. Lâ-Sh. VII, 3 notes that the guilt of not glorifying the Sun once is only thirty Stîrs.

18. There is one who says thus<sup>1</sup>: Behold, those<sup>2</sup> having faith<sup>3</sup> in the sacred Barsôm twigs may hold them «in ordeal», and those having faith in ordeal must allow this; «but» when so allowed they must hold 70 B them according to the rule.

19. Dât-ê-Vêh<sup>4</sup> said: Verily, the ordeal with the sacred Barsôm twigs cannot be performed as a «sure» test.<sup>4</sup> «Whereas» there is one who says «that it can be performed as a sure» remedy.<sup>5</sup>

CHAPTER III

ON THE PENALTIES FOR OMISSIONS IN THE HOLY SERVICE, EXTENDING INTO PERIODS OF THE YEAR

1. Yô Gâthanûm ôyum vâchim apayâiti, aêvûm vâ vachastastîm, If one passes over, i.e., omits a single word or a single stanza or strophe among the Holy Songs, thri vâ âzâiti<sup>6</sup> ayarr-drâjô vâ vâstryât. «then» 'one shall expiate it' with three blows «of

The Barsôm twigs were used in one kind of ordeal; see S. B. E. Vol. XXXVII, Dink. Bk. VIII, Ch. XX, 12.

Dât-ê-Vêh's doubt challenges orthodoxy, and shows how the minds of the Zoroastrian sages were clear of all blind faith.

<sup>5</sup> Bishizânih. Cf. Dink. VIII, Ch. XX, 66 which says: "he who undergoes the sacred twig ordeal has atoned best."

2. Atha bityâo<sup>3</sup>; atha thrityâo; « And it shall be » thus for the second « omissions », and thus « also » for the third,—Sôshâns explained « thus »; Kiryâtrô-Bûjît « explained »: Verily « the exact translation should be thus »: It shall be “the same<sup>4</sup> when there are two « such omissions »; and » it shall be “the same when there are three ”<sup>5</sup>; —atha vîspem â ahmât yat hê hanjasaiti yatha chathru-shûm yâo Gâthâo a-srâvayô, hyat Arrdusha hê shyaothnem. and so on, as one explains, from that forwards, all up to when there passes by one as much as a fourth of the year<sup>6</sup> without one’s reciting the Holy Songs « with perfection », <sup>7</sup> at which

<sup>5</sup> The translation of Sôshâns appears more in keeping with the text; but Kiryâtrô-Bûjît was probably led to his explanation by some statements which follow that in certain cases the repetition of guilt up to certain limits did not multiply the penalty accordingly, but kept it the same.

<sup>7</sup> The point is not about not singing the Gâthas at all, but about continuing to sing them with negligence and omissions. The actual text might lead one to suppose as if the reference were to not singing the Gâthas at all; but the context can make us more exact.

moment one's act is «encumbered» with the Arrdûsh penalty «of 30 Stîrs».

4. Yat-chît paschaêta aêvûm ratufritîm ava-raodhayêiti, tanûm pairyêiti. Then afterwards even if one passes over,<sup>8</sup> i.e., omits a single spiritual glorification, one ingrafts one's person 71 B with sin «for having thereby incurred the Tanâpûhar penalty».

<sup>4</sup> 𐭮𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥 should be corrected into 𐭮𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥 which is the Pahlavi form for Av. 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀.

These culpabilities were understood in Pahlavi times to be transmutable into fines or good deeds of corresponding fixed values; and these terms were further also applied to these amounts of good deed which cancelled the corresponding sins, but not necessarily implying sins already committed. See Sh. Lâ-Sh. I, 2 and XVI, 5-6, and Dink. Bk. VIII, Ch. XXXI, 39.

Again, recalling Vend. IV, 26, 30, 34, and 37 Darmesteter notes that the Arrdus, Khvara, Bâzu-jata, and Yât penalties could be redeemed with 15, 30, 50, and 70 blows respectively. Thus each blow, i.e. Sraoshô-charana, is in that case valued at about 2 Stîrs.

<sup>8</sup> Apârkînêt. Previously at Fol. 66, l. 14, it may be recollected, the word in the text has been used with a different shade of meaning and accordingly translated Khafrûneshn there.

This omission is so severely judged because the guilt of omitting words or portions of the Holy Text is continued into the second year, and has become hardened.

5A, Yô Gāthanūm aēvūm ratufritīm ava-raodhayēiti, thri vā āsādi ayarr drājō vā vāstryāt; If «again» one «just» omits «but» a single spiritual glorification<sup>1</sup> among the Holy Songs, 'then «also» one shall expiate «the guilt» with three' «blows of the weapon of the Moral Order», or by toiling in good industry 'through the length of a day,' «in order that» the Holy Service «may be made» good «thereon»; —

6. Note that «the Holy Writer» repeats «all this» for this reason that it may be known that a spiritual glorification and a stanza or strophe are both of one value «so far».<sup>2</sup>

5B. — atha vīspem ā ahmāt yat hē hanjasaiti yatha thrishūm yāo Gāthāo a-srāvayō..... up to .....tanūm pairyēiti.

The translation «hereof is» just according to what has been stated «in the previous case».<sup>3</sup>

7. This is what is manifest from the Holy Wisdom concerning the omission of the Holy Text<sup>4</sup> in a 'Thanksgiving Service that

<sup>1</sup> As distinct from the omission of "a word or a stanza or strophe" discussed above. In this case the penalty is so light because here the guilt has just taken place; whereas it is so severe in the case immediately preceding because there it has a reference to its continuation so further as into the second year.

<sup>2</sup> "So far," because there is a difference further on. When there is no more omission of the text here than that which is required to be corrected in due time, the first serious penalty sets in in this case when it is not corrected even at the end of a third of the year and not earlier i.e., at the end of a fourth of the year, as in the previous case; and this constitutes a marked difference between the two cases.

<sup>3</sup> It is however not plain whether the Arrdus penalty sets in here, or the Khvarā; for, the first serious penalty sets in in this case at the end of a third of the year, whereas in the previous case it sets in earlier, i.e., at the end of a fourth of the year, and is there taken to be the Arrdus penalty. The penalty setting in in the previous case at the end of a third of the year is there taken to be the second penalty, and hence it is stated to be the more serious penalty Khvarā; but in the second case the penalty that commences at the expiration of that period is considered to be the first penalty and not the second. Hence it remains doubtful whether the first serious penalty in the second case must be the first serious penalty of the first, or the penalty which sets in at the expiration of a third of the year in the first case, but is there the second serious penalty. Cf. however Dink. Bk. IX, Ch. XII, 15 where the first serious penalty incurred is stated to be the Arrdus.

is undertaken « for performance », that when the Leading Officiating Priest has undertaken the whole Thanksgiving Service and when the Helping Priest has solemnly said this: “I will perform this Thanksgiving Service for thee,” then as far as <sup>1</sup> a fourth <sup>2</sup> of the Holy Songs, regarding every word that is omitted at an earlier stage or a later Sôshâns has declared « the sense of the Holy Wisdom to be thus »: Verily for every one thereof one must suffer the penalty of three Srôshôcharanâms, whereas Kîryâtrô-Bôjît has declared « it to be thus »: Verily for all « the omissions » together the « penalty » must be no more than three Srôshôcharanâms « only »,— till at last when one has come up to the fourth « without remedying the fault », the Arrdôsh penalty takes foundation <sup>3</sup>;

« And that » as for the Srôshôcharanâms « that are prescribed as penalty in this case, all the scholars » are agreed that none « are mentioned <sup>4</sup> in the Holy Wisdom » <sup>4</sup>;

8. « And that when one has come up to » one-third, the Khôr penalty « takes root »; when up to half, the Bâzâê penalty; and when up to the whole, the Yât penalty « of 180 Stîrs »; and that although during this « first » year <sup>5</sup> they may be omitted ever <sup>6</sup> by far the oftenest, <sup>6</sup>

<sup>2</sup> In this note the fractions are taken in relation to the quantity of the Holy Songs, and indeed this sense may seem as suitable to the Avestan as that which takes them in relation to the extent of the year; but then the text vispem tarô yârr drâjô which has occurred a little previously, is too clear to allow any other meaning in that case. The two could however be reconciled, and either considered indifferently, if the whole quantity of the Holy Songs referred to in the text were those to be finished along the extent of the whole year, (which needed not be only a single quantity of the Holy Songs, for, the Holy Songs were to be repeated over and over again during the year,) in such a way that the quantitative proportions would be running parallel in both the cases, so that a fourth of the whole quantity of the Holy Songs to be sung over would be finished in a fourth of the year, and so on.

<sup>5</sup> The year and the Holy Songs to be recited during it are indeed so closely associated in the mind of the writer, that after having talked only of the quantity of “the Songs” so far, he abruptly presents “the year” in the same tone of continuity.

9. And « further » that during the next year « of continued guilt », for an omission « even » to the length of a single stanza or strophe among the Holy Songs, or for one of the smallest extent in the rest of the entire text of Holy Wisdom, there is incurred the Tanâpûhar penalty « of 300 Stîrs »; and that although during that « second » year « of continued guilt » they may be omitted ever by far the oftenest, « the penalty amounts to » no more than the Tanâpûhar « simply ».

10. One's carrying out Services to atone for « sins of the values of » Arrdûsh, Khôr, Bâzâê, Yât, and Tanâpûhar, committed against 72 B injured parties,<sup>2</sup> and neutralising<sup>3</sup> « sins of such values » committed against one's own nature,<sup>3</sup> are both virtuous actions.

Thus it has been determined that during the first year of a guilt's appearance the highest intensity to which it can reach is that which deserves the Yât penalty simply which, if seriously borne out, must remove the guilt; so no more penalty need be prescribed for the repetition of actions which do not increase the intensity of the guilt, but which only naturally spring from that intensity. This intensity increases to the Tanâpûhar when the guilt is carried into the next year; but the increased intensity swells no further during this second year, and deserves the same greater penalty of one Tanâpûhar for the whole of that year, whether the guilt be manifested in one action or more.

<sup>2</sup> The phrase bain hamâhmahrân occurs in this sense in Sh. Lâ-Sh. VIII, 14. That chapter mentions two kinds of sins: the vinâs-ê-hamâhmahrân, and the vinâs-ê-rûbânîk; and Dr. West in his note 3 to § 1 of that chapter cleverly explains them to mean respectively "the sins whose committal has caused harm to others both animals and men" besides degrading the sinners who have committed them and in which satisfaction must first be made to the injured before the sins can otherwise be atoned for, and those in which others are not injured at all but "which affect the sinners' own selves only" and are atoned for by means in which no satisfaction is to be made to others.

The rûbânîk sins are called gaûharîk in our text.

11. There is one who observes thus: Note however that it must not be that what one has really to perform «in neutralising a sin of omission» be just so much «only» as may have been actually omitted from the Holy Service.<sup>1</sup>

12. There is one who says thus: Verily, «even in the case» when one recites the Holy Text in the Thanksgiving Service «undertaken on behalf» of others, it is not proper «when, for neutralising the sin of some omission», one simply repeats aloud just so much «only as is actually omitted».<sup>2</sup>

13. When one undertakes Dvâzdah-Hômâst «the Twelfefold Service of All the Worshipful Ones» and does not celebrate it, «the penalty therefor» is no more than the Khôr.

14. When one undertakes the Haoma Service<sup>3</sup> and when one has «previously» affirmed thus: “I will celebrate it with so many Barsôm twigs,”<sup>4</sup> then for each and all of the Barsôm twigs «that be omitted there is incurred the penalty of the value of» a Khôr «of sixty Stîrs»; and though with howmanysomever of the Barsôm twigs «this Service» need be celebrated, «the penalty hereof» is no more than «of the value of» a Khôr «of sixty Stîrs, for all the Barsôm twigs whatsoever».<sup>5</sup>

<sup>1</sup> There can be no chastisement in enjoining simply to repeat what is omitted; something more must be prescribed by way of penalty.

<sup>2</sup> I.e., rectification of omissions in services undertaken on behalf of others also requires that something more than merely the repetition of what is omitted be prescribed by way of penalty.

<sup>5</sup> When we bear in mind the statement in the previous paragraph that even when one fails to celebrate the Dvâzdah-Hômâst undertaken on behalf of others, one incurs but the Khôr penalty, we see no reason why it should be any more here.

Again, we have assumed that the reference in this case is to the omissions of the twigs, inasmuch as the general theme here has been about omissions in sacred undertakings; if however the reference be to the value of every twig that is used, and not to the penalty for every twig that is omitted, the translation can be rendered accordingly.

15. When one undertakes a Holy Service, then this « circumstance » as to with how many persons need that be undertaken by one, is not « quite » evident. Afrog « however » maintained : Verily it can be undertaken by one with five expert persons under one's<sup>1</sup> guiding control<sup>1</sup> ; and Gaôgôshnasp said : Verily it can be undertaken by one with two expert persons who need not be under one's guiding control.<sup>2</sup>

CHAPTER IV

ON THE PENALTIES FOR NOT GLORIFYING THE HOLY SONGS ONESELF AND OBSTRUCTING ANOTHER, IN THE SAME OR ALTERNATE HALF YEARS

1. Yô Gâthâo a-srâvayô naêmem yârr drôjô, « When » one is not glorifying the Holy Songs, i.e., does not celebrate<sup>3</sup> the days sacred to the Holy Songs, for the length of half<sup>4</sup> the year, tat paiti ainîm<sup>5</sup> dahmem Gâthanâm sraothrâo pairistayêiti,<sup>6</sup> « and » along with it<sup>7</sup> prevents<sup>8</sup> another pious man from the glorification of the Holy Songs, i.e., does not allow others to celebrate «(them)», yadhôit<sup>9</sup>

Here, one's not singing the Holy Songs oneself and preventing others from singing them are simultaneous actions, and perhaps concern the same events; in what follows they are separate actions occurring at different periods and each concerning distinct events. Hence in the former case the actions which manifest wickedness appear only during one period, whereas in the latter they appear during two periods and prove that the wickedness is enduring; so the guilt is proportionately less in the previous circumstance.

naêmem<sup>1</sup> yâo Gâthâo a-srâvayô hyât<sup>2</sup>; atha âstryêitê. then the case is just « only » as if one had « simply » failed glorifying the Holy Songs for half « the year and had done nothing besides; so that that person » incurs penalty « simply » in accordance therewith.<sup>3</sup> 73 B

2. Paourum vâ naêmem yâr,<sup>4</sup> aparem vâ, pairistayêiti, peshôtanus. « Whereas, if one does not commit both these faults during the same half year, but commits one of them » either during the half year previous « to that when he commits the other—as when » one does not glorify « the Holy Songs » oneself, and later does not allow others to glorify « them »,—or during that subsequent « to that when he commits the other—as when » one does not glorify « the Holy Songs » oneself, and previously has not allowed others to glorify them,—« then in so far as » one prevents others « from glorifying the Holy Songs » quite in a distinct way, one « incurs the greater Tanâpûhar penalty, and » becomes ingrafted with sin in one's person.<sup>5</sup>

3. This is what becomes manifest from the Holy Wisdom that when one does not first celebrate the Holy Songs oneself and in that

<sup>3</sup> It has previously been stated in § 3 of the preceding chapter that the guilt of simply not correcting omissions in the Gâthas through a full half year incurs the Bâzâê penalty of ninety Stirs, whereas in the note following in the text here, the Khôr and the Avaorishst penalties of eighty-five Stirs both together are said to be incurred for not singing the Gâthas altogether during a whole half year. Such difference is evidently due to the fact that one shows greater faultiness if one neglects to rectify even what is comparatively much easier.

<sup>5</sup> The Avestan at first sight appears to relate the alternative periods of time primarily to one's action of preventing others, implying the action of one's own omission of the duty as occurring in the other corresponding period. But taking the Avestan words here along with those that precede, the Pahlavi translation acquires the strength of an equally good rendering; at any rate it has shown remarkable ingenuity in catching the sense of the original that while one of the actions falls in one of the alternative periods, the other falls in the other, thus making the guilt here much more intense than in the previous case.

besides, does not allow<sup>1</sup> others to celebrate « them », then there take root in one the Khôr and Avaôirist penalties « of sixty and twenty-five Stîrs for both together<sup>2</sup>; but » when one does not first celebrate « the Holy Songs » oneself and does not next allow others to celebrate them, or when one does not next celebrate « the Holy Songs » oneself and has not previously allowed others to celebrate « them », then one 74 A becomes ingrafted with sin in one's person « by incurring the Tanâpûhar penalty of 300 Stîrs ».

4. « It is to be noted in this relation that » the days sacred to the Holy Songs should not be celebrated<sup>3</sup> all<sup>4</sup> at once collectively<sup>4</sup> instead of the several distinct days sacred to the Holy Songs; « for, if they are celebrated » all at once<sup>5</sup> collectively on the same one day sacred to a cluster of the Holy Songs,<sup>5</sup> half the Tanâpûhar penalty « gets » foundation « in one according to the text » : pairyâvarstâo<sup>6</sup> ..... khét<sup>7</sup> « if the celebration of the several distinct days sacred to the Holy Songs were » effected collectively together, « half the Tanâpûhar penalty » would take place « in that case ». There is one who says thus: Verily that would amount even to the Yât penalty.<sup>8</sup>

5. Yô Gâthâo a-srâvayô naêmem yârr, « When again » one is not glorifying the Holy Songs, i.e., « does not celebrate » the days sacred to the Holy Songs, for half the year, tat paiti ainâm dahmem jainti, « and » in so doing « also » smites another pious man, Arrdus vâ, aghryô-staorem vâ, bi-staorem vâ, Yât mazanghem vâ khvarem,<sup>9</sup> « causing » hurt redeemable<sup>10</sup> with the penalty<sup>10</sup> of

<sup>9</sup> This word does not signify the moral weight, but simply implies "hurt"; cf. Vend. IV, §§ 30, 34, 37. It may besides be noticed that the base here differs from the base of the word indicating the moral weight, for, that is Khvarâ.

ON THE RIGHT GLORIFICATION OF THE PERIODS
RELATING TO LIFE'S DAWN<sup>1</sup>

2. Hacha maidhyayādi khshapat hu-vakhshādi pairi sachāiti. It shall be gone through « during the period » from mid-night up to sun-rise.

3. Âat hama,<sup>b</sup> yêzi para hu-vakhshât Ahunavaitîmcha<sup>b</sup> Gâthâm

In summer the sun rises earlier than in winter according as a place is away from the equator; hence in such places the period of time between midnight and sunrise is naturally shorter in summer; so that though one would perform one's functions with the same regularity and speed as in winter, one would be able to perform less in summer, as the time therefor would be shorter; for this reason the time of finishing the functions must then be extended into the next period of the day.

It will be seen from what is signified below, and from Bûnd. XXV, 4-5, that in the place where the times here discussed held good, the summer day was double the winter day and the winter night double the summer night. This indicates that the sun rose there at 4 A.M. and set at 8 P.M. in summer, and rose at 8 A.M. and set at 4 P.M. in winter, approximately, and that the place was situated about 50° N. Lat.

This midforenoon would be the mean time between 4 A.M. and 12 Noon in summer, i.e., 8 A.M. which was exactly the time of sunrise in winter; hence the time allotted to the services of the Ushahin extended through the same length in summer and in winter.

<sup>6</sup> I.e., the average time of the night will not have run through at sunrise then. In the high latitude of 50° N., where this was written, the sun must rise in summer at 4 A.M., an hour so early as to encroach considerably on the time of the average night; hence it is that the service which ought otherwise to be finished in night time is there allowed to be extended into daytime in summer.

Similarly as the sun must set there much earlier in winter than in summer, viz., at 4 P.M., the service which must finish by sunset in summer is there allowed to extend up to midnight in winter; see below on the Service of the Uzirin Gâh, Fol. 104, l. 16.

4. Note that that Thanksgiving Service is always the best which 75 B is started in such a way <sup>1</sup> that it must be finished within the fixed period of the day. « Yet also » regarding the commencement, « even » when it is started in such a way that one knows thus : “ I can recite through the Holy Text of the Thanksgiving Service within the fixed period of the day,” one can « be said to » have started it properly only when « the speed also is maintained » onwards properly.<sup>2</sup>

5. There is one who says: « The reference <sup>3</sup> in the above case is only to » the half of the Holy Thanksgiving Service « which is required to be finished within each of the two fixed periods that are mentioned there ».

6. There is one who says « the reference <sup>3</sup> here is just to » the Hôrnâst<sup>4</sup> « the Service of All the Worshipful Ones ».

7. When the time is not known to one, and still « the Service » is started at any odd time, that cannot be allowed.<sup>5</sup>

There is « however » one who says : Verily that also may be allowed,<sup>6</sup> although of course the former is better than this other when that is started in this « odd » way.

8. There is one who says : One should be able to have drunk the « vitalising » Haoma drink just at the proper time.<sup>7</sup> And while one is holding it under « thanksgiving, if some » circumstance arise, and if one attend thereto, that cannot be right; hence verily if one attend to such « a circumstance » when there comes up the time

<sup>3</sup> I.e., the reference to what is to be finished within one fixed period of time.

<sup>4</sup> See the valuable note 5 to Bah. Yt. II, 59 in S.B.E., Vol. V.

One may however observe that our text nowhere indicates that the performance of the Hôrnâsts is to be limited to the purpose there set down.

<sup>5</sup> Because the Service or its portion belonging to one period may, in this case, run into another, which, according to the idea here maintained, is not permissible.

therefor «in the Service» in which the «vitalising» Haoma drink is «to be» drunk, one will have discharged «one's duty but» indifferently.<sup>1</sup>

9. When an animal «is to be dedicated» in the Service, then, when the time therefor comes up, if «that» animal is not «already» 76 A slaughtered it must not be slaughtered «just then»,<sup>2</sup> but when it is slaughtered «already» one should verily offer up the Hallowed Portion «thereof»,<sup>3</sup> as the Service «is to be attended to» with the Hallowed Portion when the time therefor comes up.<sup>4</sup>

10. Âzât-Mart said: Behold, every of the four times<sup>5</sup> when one pounds the sacred Haoma one is of course to offer up the Hallowed Portion;<sup>6</sup> «so also» when one has to pound it «but» once or twice, even then «must it be done» accordingly.<sup>7</sup>

11. If one do not partake of<sup>8</sup> «anything» at any time during the Service, one cannot offer up the Hallowed Portion.

<sup>2</sup> As it is noted at Fol. 85, ll. 24-29 or § 6 of App. C, II, below, the animal is to be sacrificed at the function of tasting the sacred Drôn cake which is partaken of at Yas. VIII, 4. Also cf. Fol. 60, ll. 19-20; Fol. 69, ll. 7-8; Fol. 82 ll. 10-12; etc.

The clarified butter which probably represents meat is brought forth on the ritual table at the commencement of Yas. III.

It might however be pounded only once or twice at what might be the smaller services.

<sup>6</sup> At present no such offering is made, except that a little of the consecrated water is poured into the Haoma mortar at Yas. XXVII, 5, and in different ways at different places. It is not plain whether the same Hallowed Portion is required to be offered repeatedly, or different portions.

<sup>8</sup> At present the Leading Priest partakes of the Drôn and Clarified Butter at Yas. VIII, 4, and drinks the Haoma beverage at Yas. XI, 10. The dedicated eatables and drinks are to be partaken of not only to manifest our gratitude for nature's bounties, but also to take benefit of their consecration.

12. When one is to partake of the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order, « then » when the time therefor comes up,<sup>1</sup> one should raise one's hand from the sacred Barsôm twigs,<sup>2</sup> and should recite the preliminary formula « before tasting it ». One's preparing « at this time » even a single « thing » for the « sacred » function « in hand », is not permitted.<sup>3</sup> On the other hand when those « that are engaged » in the Holy Service have utilised, « for instance », the « vitalising » Haoma drink « prepared quite » at a distinct Service, « just » then can they have been in the right way in the « sacred » function that will have « thus » been performed.<sup>4</sup>

76 B 13. « And also » when the « sacred » Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order is partaken of if one pound the Haoma twigs « just but » once or twice, even then « must it be wrong » accordingly.<sup>5</sup>

14. « Whereas », when « in the Service of » the « sacred » Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order the time therefor<sup>6</sup> comes on, « then » one is to raise one's hand from the « sacred » Barsôm twigs « for managing these other things », and one is to recite the Preliminary Service « therefor, inasmuch as » one's preparing « such other » things of every sort for the « sacred » function is essential « notwithstanding the fact that » those « engaged in the Holy Service » have

The reference here is evidently to the Haoma that is presently to be drunk at Yas. XI, 10, and which is required to have been prepared previously at the Preparatory Service.

not to utilise the « vitalising » Haoma drink excepting « that which is prepared » at a different Thanksgiving Service.

15. « So indeed one has to manage such things » as binding other « sacred » Barsôm twigs<sup>1</sup> and preparing other Haoma drink,<sup>2</sup> upon « using » the « sacred » Barsôm twigs that have been tied at a different period of the day and the Haoma drink that has been prepared at a different period of the day.<sup>3</sup>

16. The same<sup>4</sup> « procedure » is required in the First<sup>5</sup> Equinoctial Celebration ;<sup>6</sup> « although » there is one who says thus: Verily, there is not required just that « in that case ».

17. When one has « previously » performed the Greater<sup>6</sup> « Thanksgiving Service » and « then » desires to perform the Lesser,<sup>6</sup> one has « simply » to draw closer again<sup>7</sup> « the bands of the Barsôm bundle » and make the knots<sup>8</sup> tight « again ».

18. When « however » one has « previously » performed the Lesser « Thanksgiving Service », and « then » desires to perform the Greater, one has « in that case » to untie<sup>9</sup> « the Barsôm bundle altogether », and to tie it up again. 77 A

It is implied here that the procedure might be different in the case of other services ; but it is not hinted as to what that could be.

19. There is one who says thus : Verily, when one ties up « the sacred Barsôm bundle again » if one do not tie it just higher up,<sup>1</sup> that cannot be proper.

20. « In such a case of a second use of » the sacred Barsôm twigs, a separate washing<sup>2</sup> is not necessary— « neither » separate washing « nor » separate sacred Fire « nor » separate spreading out, as there is one who says « so ».<sup>3</sup>

21. Barôshand<sup>4</sup> Aôtharmazd said : A separate religious observance « thereon is necessary » for this reason that at the time when one verily ties up « again » the sacred Barsôm twigs, one must evidently untie them « before that », hence « with regard to the second function » no separate religious observance « takes place » thereon ; « whereas that » is essentially requisite for the Barsôm.<sup>5</sup>

CHAPTER V : APPENDIX A

ON PREPARING THE BARSOM, THE TWIG OF LIFE

1. The time of tying up the sacred Barsôm twigs is not of course manifest « just here ; but it is to be noted that » they are to be tied up « in a Preparatory Service, and » during the functions assigned to the Hâvanân priest<sup>6</sup> « whose business is to express the Haoma drink ».

<sup>1</sup> The Barsôm twigs are to be tied at the lowest third of their length according to what is said below at Fol. 79, l. 20, ff. or §§ 19-20 of the following Appendix ; hence as they cannot be tied on the same place over again, they must be tied just a little higher up.

<sup>5</sup> In untying the Barsôm twigs to use them for a second time one places them in a condition similar to as if they were taken just fresh for the service ; hence though a similar observance must have occurred for the previous service where they were used, a special consecration is evidently requisite to qualify them for use in quite a new service.

2. « To do that » one must turn one's head towards the side where the sacred Fire is « blazing, and one must recite » Ashem Vohû 3 « the Praise of Righteousness 3 times, and the formula » Fravarânê Mazdayasnô ..... 'I confess myself the worshipper of the Most Wise.....,' « and must glorify » the period of the day which it then may be, and recite Ahurahê Mazdâô Raêvatô Khvarrnanguhatô khshnaothra ..... up to ..... frasastayaêcha<sup>1</sup> 'According to the 77 B ; Holy Pleasure of the Most Wise Lord, the Brilliant, and the Glorious One ..... ' up to ' ..... and for glorification.'

« Thus » one must say the holy formula for opening that function.

3. « Then » one must recite Ashem Vohû 4 « the Praise of Righteousness 4 times »; and every of the « first » three times « of the recital » one must wash the Barsôm from the stem-end<sup>3</sup> to the leaf-end,<sup>3</sup> and while one shall be reciting the remaining once one must wash it once from the leaf-end to the stem-end: « in any case » one must so manage that once at least of all the repetitions every branch may receive a thorough washing from the fore-end.<sup>4</sup>

4. « And » there is one who says thus: Verily, if « the Barsôm twigs » receive « such washing from only the fore-end »<sup>5</sup> all the four times, « evidently » that cannot be proper.

5. There is one who says thus: Verily, if one wash less than « in all » that « process described here », that « also » should be improper.

6. As regards the Barsôm<sup>6</sup> twig that is to lie prostrate,<sup>6</sup> the

It is of course convenient to wash the twigs mostly from the stem-end; for otherwise the water cannot reach the stalks well; pouring water down the stem-ends must not only wash the stalks, but must also disperse it among the leaves: Nevertheless pouring water once besides this from the leaf-end must ensure thorough washing.

band<sup>1</sup> «for the Barsôm bundle», and the Barsôm<sup>2</sup> twig of the Hallowed Portion,<sup>3</sup> that will «all» have come together «in combination» with «the rest of» the Barsôm twigs, «it is clear enough that» when the washing of the Barsôm twigs comes to the close, the Barsôm twig that is to lie prostrate «will have already received» a washing, and so «also will have» the band for the Barsôm «bundle» and the Barsôm twig of the Hallowed Portion; «nevertheless» a little of the sanctified water is «specially» to be sprinkled thereon «afterwards».<sup>3</sup>

78 A 7. When the washing is done one should do nothing further, but should proceed straight to the seat of the Leading Officiating Priest.

8. Whenever the «Barsôm twigs» are taken up from the Barsôm-stand, a little of the sanctified water is to be sprinkled thereon. «While» putting them back on the Barsôm-stand, there is no need therefor of «the text»: Khshnaothra Ahurahê Mazdâô... ..<sup>4</sup> 'According to the Holy Pleasure of the Most Wise Lord... ..'.

9. Note that if they recite «the performance» in a «full» graduation,<sup>5</sup> then «when the washing is done» one must proceed to the seat of the Frabortâr «priest whose business is to present the things»; and «as» there is no «special» formula for spreading out the Barsôm bundle, one must recite once «the text»: Humatanãm, Huukhtanãm, Huvarstanãm... ..<sup>6</sup> 'Of the Good Thoughts, of the Good Words, of the Good Deeds... ..'; and one must set up all the things pertaining to the Hallowed Portion that are on the right hand side, «when the

The reference is to the full assemblage of the priestly dignitaries, each engaged at each of the special offices of the Service.

10. There is one who says thus: Verily, once that a function is set up<sup>2</sup> with the accompaniment of the text of the Holy Wisdom, whenever that «function» may recur «afterwards» it need not be set up again with the accompaniment of the text of Holy Wis- 78 B dom. «Yet» though it need not be set up «thus again», still one must wash «the things pertaining to that function»<sup>3</sup> and one must not err<sup>4</sup> therein.

<sup>1</sup> The text to which this belonged is not preserved ; but it appears to have had a reference to the things which did not belong to the dedication. Inasmuch as the things on the right were those that were to be dedicated, so evidently this text could not be used in relation to those; see Nir. I, Chap. VIII: App. B, 10.

5 The Leading and the Helping priests:

7 The words ወይም ሌላ ማንኛውም ሌላ ማንኛውም እና ሌላ must be omitted at this place, just as is done in TD.

<sup>8</sup> One finger-breadth is about three-fourths of an inch, because the full span contains twelve of them; see note 3 to Bûd. XXVI, 3.

From what is said below it will appear that four finger-breadths in compass round the stalk end is the measure of the twig of the Hallowed Portion in the Smaller Service, i.e., the ordinary plain Yazeshn probably abridged.

12. It is always the case with the sacred Barsôm twig pertaining to the Hallowed Portion « that the least measure is » 2 finger-breadths « in compass round the stalk end »<sup>2</sup>; and then it can also be » 2 finger-breadths besides « the least measure of 2 finger-breadths », 4 « finger-breadths » besides that « least measure », 6 « finger-breadths » besides that « least measure », 8 « finger-breadths » besides that « least measure of » 2 « finger-breadths », and 10 « finger-breadths » besides that « least measure of » 2 « finger-breadths ».

13. It can be 2 « finger-breadths » besides that « least measure » in the Smaller Worship,<sup>3</sup> 4 « finger-breadths » besides that « least measure of » 2 « finger-breadths » in the Visparat « the Service of All the Reverential Ones », as also in <sup>4</sup> the Aêvak-Hômâst « the Onefold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », <sup>5</sup> and in the Hâtôkht « the Service of the Consummate Word » <sup>6</sup> along with that Aêvak-Hômâst « the Onefold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », 6 « finger-breadths » besides that 70 A « least measure of » 2 « finger-breadths » in the Dô-Hômâst « the Twofold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », 8<sup>7</sup> « finger-breadths » besides that « least measure of » 2 « finger-breadths » in the Dah-Hômâst « the Tenfold Service of All the Worshipful Ones » and in the Dvâzdah-Hômâst « the Twelffold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », 10 « finger-breadths » besides that « least measure of » 2 « finger-breadths »

<sup>1</sup> This must evidently be the meaning. It is not quite conceivable that a measure of only about three inches can have a reference to the length of the twig: such a twig can hardly be grasped in the hand. Nor can the reference be to the diameter of the twig, because then that must be too thick in the case where the measure is required to be twelve finger-breadths, or about nine inches.

It is nevertheless evident that if metal rods were representing the Barsôm, this explanation would be unsatisfactory; and the first apparent sense might seem preferable in that case.

14. Dât-ê-Vêh observed: Verily,<sup>2</sup> « such reference to » Arrtô-Krrrthana<sup>3</sup> ' the Holy Ritual Concerts ' of the Stôt<sup>4</sup> « Service of Holy Concord is » not « to be found » in « any » teaching. He « besides maintained that the sacred Barsôm Twig pertaining to the Hallowed Portion

As for the first word, we have to bear in mind that here as well as at Fol. 173 the reference must be to some service greater in value than even the Dvâzdah-Hômâst. Now the first word Stôt in the text at Fol. 173 at once suggests the Service of the Stôt Yasht Nask; and it is said in the Din Vizirkart and the Rivâyât of Narimân Hôshang that if that Nask is recited properly by the High Priest three times in both the Avesta and the Zend and with the proper ceremonial, great Powers must become manifested upon earth; and evidently, a service said to be so efficient as to produce such superb manifestations must indeed be quite a very great one. Though the Dinkart has placed this last in the list of the Nasks, yet most of the Rivâyats give it the first place as being the first of the Gâthic Nasks; and even the Dinkart in giving it the last place apparently does not mean to assign it the least importance: rather the end is meant to be the place of supreme eminence, because the text and ceremonial embodying the Holy Gâthas, " the Source of Sources of the Religion " as the Dinkart itself calls them, could not be assigned any place less than the highest.

The other reading 𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬎𐬀 here and below might however be wrong for 𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬎𐬀 (Stûgar = Praise of Holy Songs) or 𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬎𐬀 (Sûtgar = Beneficent Effects of Holy Songs) which is the name of the Nask which, though really the second of the Gâthic Nasks, is given the first place in the list by the Dinkart. But this solution does not appear probable.

must be » 7 «finger-breadths»<sup>1</sup> besides «the least measure» in the Vîsparat «the Service of all the Reverential Ones», and that the Barsôm in the Dvâzdah-Hômâst «the Twelfefold Service of all the Worshipful Ones» is with a thousandfold<sup>2</sup> strength.

15. If that distinct twig «pertaining to the Hallowed Portion» reach but the level of the sacred twig that is to lie prostrate,<sup>3</sup> that cannot be proper ; one should lay it down «in such a way that it may lie» above «the level of» the sacred twig that is to lie prostrate.

16. Dât-ê-Vêh said : Verily, for the sacred Barsôm twigs «attaining» a thousandfold strength<sup>4</sup> everything must be accurate ; for «rendering that» thousandfold, it is requisite that that twig «pertaining to the Hallowed Portion» be accurate and the rest «of the twigs all»<sup>5</sup> come under the knot «in the proper manner».

17. One must put back the sacred Barsôm Twig that is to lie prostrate, at<sup>6</sup> the end.<sup>6</sup> And then one must recite Ashem Vohû «the Praise of Righteousness» once,<sup>7</sup> and wind the band<sup>8</sup> round «the 79 B Barsôm twigs. After that» one must recite Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô .....
'As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure.....' twice, and at «the expression» shyaothanânûm 'of deeds' «of each» make firm<sup>9</sup> the knots.

18. The Barsôm twigs are to be tied<sup>10</sup> with 4<sup>11</sup> «knots», 2<sup>12</sup>

<sup>6</sup> Pann rôyeshman. Probably the reference is to putting back the Frâkhôgâm among the rest of the Barsôm on having done with the selection of the Zôharak and of itself. In modern practice it is first tied up with the Barsôm and drawn out after that, for being placed at the feet of the Barsôm-stand.

20. There is one who says thus: Verily, as regards the 2 upper parts «of the twigs' length» if a single piece<sup>4</sup> be wanting that must not<sup>4</sup> be right.

21. «The Barsôm bundle» must be placed on the left<sup>5</sup> with the leafy<sup>6</sup> part towards the right<sup>6</sup>; if «that be» not «done» so, it cannot be well.

22. If «there be tied only» two knots «to the bundle» that «also» cannot be right.

CHAPTER V: APPENDIX B

ON PREPARING THE HAOMA, THE DRINK OF LIFE

1. There is no «special» formula for selecting the Haoma twigs; «still there is one»<sup>7</sup> who says: They are to be selected with the accompaniment of the Holy Text.

2. Their selection is to be just like that of the sacred Barsôm twigs.

3. If they be purchased from a person forced<sup>8</sup> by necessity<sup>8</sup> «to sell them», that cannot be proper.

<sup>1</sup> At present also two double knots are tied in the fashion of the knots of the kûstîk or sacred girdle; see the reference in note 7 on previous page and West's note 1 to Sh. Lâ-Sh., III, 32.

<sup>2</sup> It is understood that the lower third of the twigs' length being their firmest part, it was necessary to bind the bundles at that part to make them well-tied.

<sup>5</sup> The same is the place of the Barsôm in modern ritual also. Still recall that according to Nir. I, Chap. VIII: App. B, 10 the Barsôm to be dedicated in the Drôn Service was to be placed on the right hand side of the Zaoti.

4. When they have been selected well with scrupulous<sup>1</sup> cleanliness,<sup>1</sup> then after «doing» that they must be turned into knotty<sup>2</sup> pieces<sup>3</sup>;
80 A «and these» one must wash with the accompaniment of the Holy Text.

5. Whether they be of single degree<sup>3</sup> or of double degree, «if» one have not broken them into knotty pieces, that cannot be proper.

6. Dât-ê-Vêh said: Verily if one have washed them «only» at first in «original» bunches,<sup>4</sup> that cannot be right; «for», after having turned them into «small» knotty pieces one has «especially» to wash them with the accompaniment of the Holy Text.

Whether they are of single degree or of double degree, «if they be» not broken «into» pieces with the accompaniment of the holy formula, that cannot be right.

7. Note<sup>5</sup> that at the time when one has to wash «the Haoma pieces» one must hold the sacred formula for opening that function with Ashem Vohû 3 «the Praise of Righteousness 3 times, the formula» Fravarânê Mazdayasnô..... 'I confess myself the worshipper of the Most Wise.....,' «the glorification of» the period of the day<sup>6</sup> one may have «while reciting, and the formula» Haomahê Asha-vazanghê khshnaothra..... up to frasastayaêcha. 'With being in the Holy Concord of the Righteousness promoting Haoma «the Glow of the Life Eternal» ..... up to ..... and for glorification.'

<sup>2</sup> Garas garas. The Haoma twigs were evidently full of knots, and it appears that they were broken into pieces, the length of each of which contained one knot, or perhaps two in what are called of double degree.

<sup>3</sup> Pâtiyak (?). The word is written as if it were pîshak. The reference may be to the lower or higher degree of the service where the pieces are to be used, or to the lower or higher quality of the Haoma itself, or perhaps to the length of the pieces according as each piece contains one knot or two.

<sup>4</sup> Khûshak, Pr. خوشه. The reference is to the full clustered bunches of the Haoma. The twigs are to be washed after they are broken into pieces and not before. Probably however it is not meant that it would be wrong to have washed them before, for it is simply intended that it is necessary to wash them after they are broken into pieces, independently of their having been washed before or not.

<sup>6</sup> It must be remembered in every case where this statement occurs that it invariably refers to the Eternal Day of the Illumined Life.

8. Then one must recite «again» Ashem Vohû 4 «the Praise of Righteousness 4 times»; and every time thereof one must wash with pure water «one's» hands and «the Haoma pieces in» the pinch<sup>1</sup> «of the hand»<sup>2</sup>; inasmuch as, at the time when that is introduced into the Service, everything that still remains to be washed with proper care, is to be washed again with the accompaniment of the Holy Text, in order that just when one may use that at the Service there can be no necessity of washing it alongside «then».

80 B

9. «And for use at the time» when one must express<sup>3</sup> the Haoma drink, one shall place one set of wood and incense on the right hand side.<sup>4</sup>

10. One must procure the Haoma twig and the pomegranate<sup>5</sup> root pieces<sup>5</sup> in<sup>6</sup> required quantities<sup>6</sup>: the Haoma must be at the least

<sup>3</sup> The text has vashtamûnêt = khûrêt; but that must be replaced by hûnêt. No doubt at Yas. XI, 10, while the Haoma beverage is drunk by the Zaoti in three parts, after each of that act the Râthwi puts incense on the fire and accompanies the act with the recitation of one Ashem Vohû; whereas previously at § 8 he has already put a set of wood and incense thereon. This one set would be required to be procured and arranged in the proper manner in the commencement of Yas. IX. Nevertheless it is clear enough that as the reference in this place is to the Preparatory Service, the function of expressing and not of drinking the Haoma could here be intended, as may be seen from Ervad Tehmurasp's Yasna with the Ritual, p. XVI. So bearing this in mind we can easily discover the error here. The original word must have been 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬀𐬢𐬀𐬭𐬀 (hûnêt) whose form is such that it could also be read khûrêt; and after that misreading the next step in error could easily occur, because as a matter of course khûrêt could then be replaced by its Semitic equivalent vashtamûnêt.

<sup>6</sup> Pann chandîh. In the Preparatory Service they are to be procured at the function of washing them indicated just above and on p. XI of Ervad Tehmurasp's Yasna with the Ritual. And it is to be noted that in the Yazeshn proper they are to be procured at the commencement of Yas. IX if they are not procured already, and that at the close of Yas. XXIII, 4, the Zaoti holds the small dish containing them over the Barsôm.

in 3 «small » knotty pieces, and at the most in 30 «small » knotty pieces ; whereas the pomegranate root pieces must be in<sup>1</sup> the proportion of half<sup>1</sup> « these quantities ».

11. « Whatever quantity of the Haoma might there be prepared, it should be so managed that » just until one may have still to drink of it there may yet be remaining a portion of the Haoma.

12. When « the pieces that are » washed with such scrupulous care are dipped into the sanctified electrised water of the Hallowed Portion, then alone will it be just as it is wanted<sup>2</sup>.

13. « At the time of taking them up for use », if one were to take them up one after another, « and not all together », <sup>3</sup> that should be wrong.

14. « Then while holding up the sacred Barsôm twig of the Hallowed Portion in the right hand, and the VARS ring for the electrification in the left », <sup>4</sup> one should hold the special formula « for sanctifying the Vars ring » with Ashem Vohû 3 « the Praise of Righteousness 3 times, the formula » Fravarânê..... ‘I confess myself.....,’ « a glorification of » the period of the day one may have « while reciting, and the prayer » Zarathustrahê Spitâmahê ashaonô fravashêê khshnaothra ... .. up to .....frasastayaêcha. ‘With the establishment of Holy

<sup>2</sup> Read âê shâyêt, or â-shâyêt. At present after washing the Haoma twig pieces as above they are dipped in the consecrated electrised water of the Hallowed Portion, and then taken out and placed on the inverted mortar. This is evidently done to soak the pieces before pounding.

The Zôhar or electrised consecrated water of the Hallowed Portion is contained in two cups filled out at the Preparatory Service from the basin of water in which, just previously, the Vars ring for the electrification has been agitated a thousand times while reciting the one hundred and one Names of the Divine Being.

It is to be remembered that in modern practice the purified electrised water is poured, the pestle is turned, and the Haoma is strained at all the four recitations of the Ahunvar; and that the halts in the Ahunvar are quite different; hence the manipulations in modern usage are slightly different from those of the ancients noted here; See Yas. Rit., pp. XIX-XX.

Notice the additional texts and explanations as given in Ervad Tehmurasp's Yasna with the Ritual, p. XX, ff.

The reference is to a little of the sanctified electrised water being poured in at each of the 3 Ashem Vohûs mentioned just above in § 19.

- 82 A Flame, «while one thing is certain that such a use thereof»<sup>1</sup> is always allowed «in the case when this Service<sup>2</sup> takes place at» the house of the good people, «still» surely indeed, «as» there is one who says so, it is not proper «that on having been used in the Service which has taken place at» the house of the good people «they be used again in the Service that may take place» at the House of the Sacred Flame.<sup>3</sup>

25. Quite at the commencement «of the Service for extracting the Haoma drink» just this circumstance is verily essential «that the Barsôm twigs on» the Barsôm-stand be spread out.<sup>4</sup>

26. Of anything else remaining to be done I am indeed not aware.<sup>5</sup> «Still evidently when» other<sup>6</sup> «things» arrive at their proper places «those» must certainly be gone through.<sup>7</sup> «Thus for instance» Dât-ê-Vêh has said: Verily, when the Haoma drink is being

<sup>3</sup> It appears from Fol. 76, l. 27, ff., that the same Barsôm twigs can be used repeatedly, and at a Lesser Service after having been used at a Greater, or vice-versa; and that in any case there is no necessity of their having to be washed again at the later Service. Whereas it is made more definite here that, with regard to different grades of places, when the Barsôm is first used in a Greater Service and is then to be used again at a Lesser, then it may be used so with assurance when this Lesser Service occurs at a place inferior to that where the Greater Service may have taken place; whereas, as it is supported by a particular opinion, it cannot be so used again at a superior place. Nevertheless it is not made plain whether, even in such case as this, it can be used again at a place equal in grade to the preceding.

It can be seen from Fol. 76, l. 30, ff., that also the Barsôm used in a Lesser Service can be used again in a Greater Service; but as, even in the contrary case, it cannot be used again at a superior place, much less can it be used thus in this case. And as here also the case of its repeated use at a place equal to the preceding is not adjudicated, the only case where such use must clearly be seen as legible is that wherein it is to be used again at a place inferior to the preceding.

prepared, « then » in the course of that « process », at those 4<sup>1</sup> « recitals » of « the formula » Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô..... 'As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure.....,' sanctified water is required « to be poured into the Haoma mortar »<sup>2</sup> each of » the times.

27. Dât-e-Vêh has « likewise » observed : Verily, one must note « that it is » at those 3 « recitals »<sup>3</sup> of Ashem Vohî<sup>3</sup> « the Praise of Righteousness » that a sheep or a goat is required « to be brought in if it is to be presented » on that occasion ; and once that it is taken in « at the Service » it should not « afterwards » be taken away.

CHAPTER V: APPENDICES C

ON THE GREAT HAOMA SERVICE TO THE GLORIFICATION OF LIFE EVERLASTING

---

APPENDIX C, I

---

ON OPENING THE MAIN SERVICE

1. Verily, at the time when the Leading Priest<sup>4</sup> enters on the Thanksgiving Service, he must stand on the right hand side at the place of the Âtarvakhsh<sup>5</sup> « priest who has to feed the Sacred Flame » ; and

It will be seen that the main writer has not made this point quite explicit in § 21 above, i.e., at the previous folio, ll. 16-17.

<sup>3</sup> Those three evidently, at each of which a little of the Water of the Hallowed Portion is poured into the Haoma mortar, and which are mentioned above in § 19. As this water appertains to the Hallowed Portion it must be related to the whole of the dedicated things which all, it must appear, are required to be introduced at this place.

<sup>4</sup> The whole of the preceding Preparatory Service of washing and binding the Barsôm twigs and extracting the Haoma drink, etc., is performed by another priest who has now to leave his seat and to allow the Zaoiti to take charge of the prepared table of ritual, and who may himself now officiate as the Râthwi if he chooses to do so.

he must turn his front <sup>1</sup> at the sacred Fire in the direction of the sacred 82 B Barsôm twigs, <sup>2</sup> «and recite» Ashem Vohû 3 <sup>3</sup> «the Praise of Righteousness 3 times, and the formula » Fravarânê ... .. 'I confess myself ... ..
 ... etc.,' «the glorification of » what period of the day one may «then » have, and, at the house of the good people, <sup>4</sup> «the formula » Tava Âtars
puhtra Ahurahê Mazdâô khshnaothra... .. 'With establishing the Holy Concord of thee O Life-flame! O thou offspring of the Most Wise Lord.....' <sup>5</sup> —There is one who says: Verily, «this text must be» rather thus: Âthrô Ahurahê Mazdâô puhtra, tava Âtars
puhtra Ahurahê Mazdâô khshnaothra... .. 'With establishing the Holy Concord of the Life-flame, O thou offspring of the Most Wise
 Lord! —of thee O Life-flame! O thou offspring of the Most Wise
 Lord! .....'

2. «Thus» he «who is to be the Leading Priest» must take the special formula «for opening his function» from him <sup>5</sup> who has bound the sacred Barsôm twigs and prepared the vitalising Haoma drink, provided he has kept «unclosed the continuity of his function opened with» the special formula «therefor»; but if «he has» not «kept it unclosed», then it can be just the good thing only when «the former» takes his special formula by himself.

3. Âzât-Mart said: Verily, of all the thanksgiving services, that is the best in which <sup>6</sup> the Helping Priest <sup>7</sup> takes the special formula «for opening his function» without the least indifference, and washes the

<sup>5</sup> At present, after reciting the above, the priest who is to officiate as Zaoti recites the special formula Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô Zaotâ etc., and the priest who has prepared the ritual table, or the Râthwi, takes it up with Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô Yô Zaotâ etc., and the former responds with Athâ Ratus etc. See Yas. Rit., p. XXII, and p. 2.

seat of the sacred Fire with pure water,<sup>1</sup> and «in which» whosoever desires to officiate at that thanksgiving service, takes the special formula «for opening one's function» from h i m.<sup>2</sup>

4. After he «who is to be the Helping Priest»<sup>3</sup> has taken the special formula «for opening his function», he must proceed to the side which is to be occupied by the Frabortâr priest «whose function is to present things», and place the fire towards the head<sup>4</sup> of the Barsôm twigs,<sup>5</sup> and with 3 «recitals» of Ashem Vohû «the Praise of Righteousness» wash with scrupulous care the seat of the sacred Fire.<sup>6</sup> 83 A

5. For being free<sup>7</sup> from this «act»<sup>8</sup> there is no special formula. «There is however» one who<sup>9</sup> says: One must hallow «this act» with 4<sup>7</sup> «recitals of the Praise of Righteousness».

6. The seat of the sacred Fire may be of porcelain<sup>9</sup> clay<sup>9</sup> «or» it may be of lime plaster,<sup>9</sup> such as can be washed; «and» there is one who says even thus: Verily it has after all been said in Sacred History<sup>10</sup> that it can be even of wood.<sup>11</sup>

7. If «the seat of the sacred Fire» be torn through-and-through<sup>12</sup> that surely cannot be allowed; if a «stalk of» grass<sup>13</sup> can pass through-and-through, then that is just the case when the seat must be taken as having been torn through-and-through; and in that circumstance, as it is told,<sup>14</sup> the Thanksgiving Service «should be brought to» an end;

<sup>5</sup> Bain bôkhtan. The reference is to the function of washing the seat of the sacred Fire. <sup>6</sup> h i m as in TD.

<sup>7</sup> Modern practice also has 3 Ashem Vohû's accompanying this act of washing, but none are recited on having done with it though the doctor here may seem to point to that circumstances; see Yas. Rit., p. XXII, and p. 2.

<sup>8</sup> Tinâin, from Sem. tinâ=clay. As this must be washable as well as impervious to water it must be some sort of porcelain clay.

—there is one who says thus : Verily, the Thanksgiving Service
83 B should « in that case » be brought to an end a l l<sup>1</sup> a t o n c e.<sup>1</sup>

9. When the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order is partaken of, one must pour a little of the pure water on « the place where the Drôn plate was ».<sup>7</sup>

10. « Then » he « who is to be the Leading Priest » must recite 2 times « the formula »: 'As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure——' on the way<sup>8</sup> « to the seat of the Leading Priest », and « thus » must return<sup>9</sup> towards the seat of the Leading Priest, and must stand 3 steps from the Barsôm twigs.

11. In order to enter upon the « sacred » function, he must « then » commence « the prayer » Frastuyê.....<sup>10</sup> 'I glorify.....' and say it on up to Staomi Ashem 'I praise Righteousness'; and while « saying » Staomi—'I praise—,' he must put the right foot into the place of the Leading Priest, « and the left while saying—Ashem '—Righteousness ».<sup>11</sup>

<sup>6</sup> Yasht. Apparently the reference is to the entire service; but Yas. III-VIII alone might also be meant, as these specially concern the Drôn; see again below, Fol. 85, l. 7, ff or §§ 21-22 of this Appendix.

<sup>9</sup> Because he has been to the place of the Âtarvakhsh, where he must thus have proceeded from about his own place; see § 1 above.

12. He must then say distinct<sup>1</sup> « recitals of » Ashem Vohû « the Praise of Righteousness » on the sacred Barsôm twigs.<sup>1</sup>

13. There is one who says thus: Verily if one do not recite « the same » Staomi Ashem 'I Praise Righteousness' on the sacred Barsôm twigs,<sup>1</sup> that cannot be proper.

14. There is no special sacred formula for counting the sacred Barsôm twigs.<sup>3</sup>—

15. When one is not tired<sup>3</sup> one must recite standing<sup>4</sup> all the Holy Text until one « arrives » at « the prayers » Vasascha Tû Ahura Mazda! .....<sup>5</sup> 'And according to Thy Holy Will O Thou Most Wise Lord! ....., ' and Amesha Spenta! .....<sup>6</sup> 'O Ye Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers! ....., '.

16. When however one « is » tired one need say « only » this much standing, « viz., » the texts that are to be recited twice,<sup>7</sup> the texts that are to be recited thrice,<sup>8</sup> the texts that are to be recited four

<sup>6</sup> This text is not found anywhere at the end of the Yasna as we have it at present. We expect it along with the text mentioned above this, and somewhere near the end of the text of Chap. LXXI; but it is not there. It is however to be found in that connection at Chap. VIII, 3 where it immediately precedes the text Vasascha Tû Ahura Mazda! As the §§ 5-7 of this Chap. VIII are found now at the end of Chap. LXXI, probably the § 3 also was there when our text was written.

At these words commences of course Yas. LII ; and it would appear from the context that this chapter had not intruded before the last Gâtha but had followed it when our text was written.

21. If one do not inspect the «sacred» apparatus that is «made ready» there, or be indifferent<sup>3</sup> in utterance, then if one have not proceeded through the «whole» length of the paragraph,<sup>4</sup> one must say it over again «after correcting the error»; but if one have gone through the «whole» length of the paragraph, then one must commence over again the «entire» Holy Worship.<sup>5</sup>

22. The Holy Worship must be commenced over again at «the stage of» washing the seat of the sacred Fire,<sup>6</sup> «but» there is one who says that one must repeat it from Frastuyê .....<sup>7</sup> the 'I glorify' prayer; whereas there is one who says thus: Verily if one were «simply» to commence<sup>8</sup> again «the Service» of «the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order,<sup>9</sup> that much alone<sup>10</sup> might be allowed.

twigs, for when these project thereon that must not be allowed.<sup>1</sup>

2. As for those 2 « recitals » of » Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô..... 'As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure.....,' it should not be proper if one perform them before « their right place ; so also » it should not be proper if one perform them after « their right place ».

3. At the words Ashaya nô paiti-jamyât!<sup>3</sup> ..... 'In Righteousness 85 B approach us! .. ..... the Hâvanân priest<sup>4</sup> « who has to pound the Haoma » should stand up and say aloud Khvarata narô! .....<sup>5</sup> 'Partake ye O men! of .....'.

If however one do not say « this », then whether that is allowed or no is not clear.

4. At the time when the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order is partaken of, the sacred Barsôm twigs are not to be gazed on;<sup>6</sup> « although » if they be not washed with scrupulous care, they are to be washed «that way about that time».

5. One should « also » set right « here »<sup>7</sup> everything that » one may have arranged<sup>8</sup> indifferently.

6. When there is a sheep or a goat for the Service, that should be sacrificed « here ».<sup>9</sup>

7. When the Worship is to take place with the Hallowed Portion,<sup>10</sup> the Hallowed Portion should be offered up « here ».

<sup>1</sup> Probably because the ring has to remain close to the Drôn and therefore dry till that is partaken of ; whereas the twigs are dribbling with water which is constantly sprinkled on them to keep them fresh. On the other hand it appears from ll. 5-9 of the next folio that the Vars ring was afterwards used in straining the Haoma ; hence it is that it is advised to guard it from the Barsôm only until the Drôn is partaken of.

<sup>10</sup> I.e., when no animal is to be sacrificed but only a hallowed portion is to be offered.

8. Afrog said: Verily, the sheep or the goat is not to be slaughtered on unwashed Barsôm twigs; « for », then surely it cannot become the Hallowed Portion. « Indeed » whensoever that « function »<sup>1</sup> will have come to be performed, they are to maintain it as a precious<sup>2</sup> « affair » with a special formula « therefor ».

9. At the time when the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order is partaken of, the Haoma drink is not to be gazed on.<sup>3</sup>

86 A 10. « And » if there remains anything to be washed with purity « on tasting the sacred Drôn cake, then » of course that should be managed « that way »; because when anything remains to be washed with purity, then one is required to perform the function of tasting over again « after correcting the error; hence » one should be careful<sup>4</sup>: or, « in sacred words », “ one should<sup>5</sup> be concernedly diligent ”<sup>6</sup> « as the text » Naêda tem<sup>6</sup> ..... ‘ Nor him..... ’ has said.

11. There is one who says thus: Note that while one is washing the Vars<sup>7</sup> ring for the electrification,<sup>7</sup> if alongside one partake of « the sacred Drôn cake » that should not be proper.

12. There is one who says thus: Behold, while the cup<sup>8</sup> is poured into,<sup>9</sup> if alongside one partake of « the sacred cake » that should not be proper.

This word is found variously written  $\text{𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀}$ ,  $\text{𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀}$ , or  $\text{𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀}$ .

It may appear from these remarks that at the time of this writing the Vars was washed and the Haoma drink strained once more with the Vars just a little before drinking. Indeed this would be quite evident as the Vars was intended for electrification,

CHAPTER V: APPENDIX C, III

ON DRINKING, IN THE MAIN SERVICE, THE HAOMA
OR THE BEVERAGE OF LIFE

1. Dât-ê-Veh said: Verily, « when » one<sup>1</sup> has come « so far, then » with regard to the Vars ring for the electrification,<sup>2</sup> and<sup>3</sup> the Haoma drink that has been prepared,<sup>3</sup> it should be best that when one receives without the least indifference, and from the Helping Priest,<sup>4</sup> the special formula « for commencing the next function, those things » be put down<sup>5</sup> to the accompaniment of the text of Holy Wisdom, and then by the Leading Priest be recited the Glorification of Haoma.<sup>6</sup>

2. During the early stage of the Glorification of Haoma one has to gaze on « the Haoma drink ». One has to gaze on it at « the words »: Nemô Haomdi Mazdadhâtî. Vanghus Haomô hudhâtô.<sup>7</sup> 86 B
'Homage unto Haoma by the Most Wise given. Good is Haoma well given.'

Even when it has been covered up<sup>8</sup> « at the time of gazing », even then it is well and good « to gaze ».

3. When the Leading Priest does not pronounce « such call as » Hâvandnem âstîya<sup>9</sup> 'Let there be present the Hâvanân'<sup>10</sup> « in the case » when « that holy minister » has not attended at the « sacred » function, « then it is allowed that » they may manage « that way,

<sup>5</sup> They were to be put down in their proper places on the ritual table after being handled as above in straining the Haoma for the last time, and immediately before commencing the Haoma Yasna.

The text here mentioned should be necessary in all cases where the Visparat is to be recited, provided that it happens thus only » in a Lesser Worship<sup>1</sup>; because he is bound to be present at « the Greater Worships,<sup>1</sup> as at » the Service of All the Reverential Ones<sup>2</sup> and at the Worship of the Divinities<sup>3</sup>; « so that » if « that » Helping Priest<sup>4</sup> do not « then » say Azem vîstî<sup>5</sup> 'Here am I' « as being » on duty<sup>6</sup> in the Thanksgiving Service, the function will not « then » be in the least proper.

4. If a single person speaks from the places of all,<sup>7</sup> that « also » may be allowed at all functions.

5. At « the words » Yô nô aêvô at tê<sup>8</sup> ... .. 'What for us « was » of single strength, thus by three we have accelerated.....' the Haoma drink is to be borne to the Vars<sup>9</sup> ring for the electrification<sup>9</sup> and the Barsôm<sup>10</sup> twig of the Hallowed Portion,<sup>10</sup> « in such a way that » one

Bakân Yasht was one of the Nasks, and is probably partially represented in the Yashts that we have. See Dink. Bk. VIII, Ch. XV.

<sup>7</sup> Only this is done at present, even regarding the place of the Sraoshâvarz, although now also a directing minister attends the Service distinctly for its supervision. Evidently, according to Nir. Bk. I, Ch. X, 3 the smallest body of the officiating divines must comprise three persons, the Zaotî, the Râthwi, and the Sraoshâvarz assumably. Hence the reference here must be to only the six places pertaining to the six ministers whom the Râthwi represents; the Sraoshâvarz must respond himself. Still, according to Nir. Bk. I, X, 5, a fuller graduation of divines was necessary in the greater services, especially when the several officiating ministers were available.

<sup>8</sup> Our text has tû which may be fitted into sense with equal ease.

These words open Yas. XI, 9. Probably in ancient times the drink was repeatedly poured at these words, from one vessel into another to increase the effervescence.

At present, on the Zaotî completing the text Nemô Haomâi... of Yas. XI, 8, the Râthwi washes the left hand and takes up with it the vessel containing the Haoma drink, and proceeding to the sacred Fire puts thereon wood and incense with the right hand, and then rests the Haoma vessel on the Barsôm stand and recites through Yô nô aêvô... That being done, he moves the vessel of the Haoma drink along the Barsôm twigs, and touching with it the Barsôm-stand, places it on the right hand side of the Zaotî who gazes on it and recites Pairî-tê Haoma!... through.

can say Yô nô âêvô..... 'What for us «was» of single strength ..... ' when just close to the Vars ring for the electrification and the Barsôm twig of the Hallowed Portion.

6. There is one who says thus : Verily if one say this while on 87 A the way, « and not when just close to the Vars ring and the Barsôm twig of the Hallowed Portion », that cannot be proper.

7. When the Leading Officiating Priest has bound well the twig-stalks<sup>1</sup> he should then cluster<sup>2</sup> well together the heads of the units,<sup>3</sup> and he should keep his hand upon the lower end<sup>4</sup> of the Barsôm twigs. « Then » the Frabortâr priest, « whose function is to present things » should place the Haoma drink close to the hand « of the Leading Officiating Priest ».<sup>5</sup>

8. « The Leading Officiating Priest » should then recite Pairi tê Haoma! ..... 'Unto thee O Haoma «thou Glow of Life» ! .....', and Ashem Vohû 3<sup>6</sup> « the praise of Righteousness 3 times ». And then he should drink a third<sup>7</sup> of the Haoma drink; and then for the second time he should drink a half of that « which remains »; while at the third time he should drink « the remaining » all.<sup>8</sup>

9. If one drink it 4 times, then « that may very likely be due to the fact that » one may have chattered<sup>9</sup> « during the operation to be so inattentive ».<sup>10</sup>

10. If one drink « all » at a time,<sup>11</sup> or at two times « only », or « if » the Helping Priest do not recite the Holy Text, or « if » indeed

<sup>9</sup> Of course this is put forward only as the most likely cause: the inattention may result through any other cause also.

he recite the utterance just as having<sup>1</sup> sat<sup>1</sup> near the sacred Fire, or if the Leading Priest do not keep his hand on the sacred Barsôm twigs, 87 B or if « there be recited » no<sup>2</sup> more than one<sup>2</sup> Ašem Vohû « the Praise of Righteousness », then Raôshan<sup>3</sup> thought thus that all that may be allowed, but especially<sup>4</sup> that wherein the Leading Priest may not keep his hand on the sacred Barsôm twigs.

11. One is to recite the Ašem..... « the Praise of Righteousness » separately « from when the other drinks »<sup>5</sup>; for, one who may recite it simultaneously « will have performed one's function » indifferently.<sup>6</sup>

There is one who says thus: Verily, « everything » that<sup>7</sup> may be carried « by him » through<sup>7</sup> up to Vanghucha vanghâoscha<sup>8</sup> ..... 'The benefit and the good objects.....,' shall « be deemed to » have been performed by him « but » indifferently.

12. Kiryâtŕ-Bûjt said: Behold, « while » the upholders of the Primal Creed have given no instructions concerning the texts of the Holy Wisdom that may not<sup>9</sup> be observed with special care,<sup>9</sup> they are quite agreed about « the case of » this reciting.<sup>10</sup>

There is one who says thus: Just about other « similar things » they are not « agreed ».

There is one who says thus: Even concerning this « fact of reciting » they are not « agreed ».

It is meant that for showing indifference in the case mentioned here, the merit of that portion of the Holy Service which extends up to Vanghucha vanghâoscha should be only indifferent.

<sup>10</sup> Mizhak; cf. Pr. مزمزم=muttering. The reference is evidently to the 3 Ašem Vohûs implied just above in § 11, or 1, 19 of this folio.

CHAPTER V : APPENDIX C, IV

ON THE SELECTION AND MANIPULATION OF THE TWIG OF THE HALLOWED PORTION, AND OF THE TWIG DEDICATED TO THE GIVER,
DURING THE MAIN SERVICE

1. At « the words » Yéinghê mê Ashât hachâ<sup>1</sup> ..... ‘ The « best » of which « has been » for me out of Righteousness..... » one should pour out<sup>2</sup> the sacred milk,<sup>3</sup> of the three times « altogether » two times « into the bowl which is to receive it » and once as the 88 A Hallowed Portion.<sup>4</sup>

2. One must then tie with the « other » Barsôm twigs the twig<sup>5</sup> that lies on the right hand side, « and which has » with it the twig<sup>6</sup> of the Hallowed Portion.<sup>6</sup>

3. « But previous to this », on those 4 « recitals »<sup>7</sup> of Yathâ Ahû ... .. ‘ As<sup>8</sup> is the Lord’s Holy Pleasure,’<sup>8</sup> at « the expression » ... ..shyaothanânûm..... ‘ .....of the deeds..... ’ of the first,

The term Zôharak, it may be recollected, has meant thus above. See App. A, 11-16, above. The other twig must evidently be the Datûsh or, probably, the Frâgâm twig that is to lie prostrate, as that is described below.

the knots « of the Barsôm band » should<sup>1</sup> be made a little tighter.<sup>1</sup> And then one should leave alone « the bundle » until « the coming on of the text » Sasticha.....<sup>2</sup> 'According to precept.....'.

4. There is one who says thus: While one is to leave it alone until the coming on of « the text » Sasticha..... 'According to precept.....' one is to procure at Sasticha.....<sup>3</sup> 'According to precept.....' some Barsôm twigs on the right « hand side »; and « from them » one is to hold up<sup>4</sup> one twig « which should be » the strongest and straightest<sup>5</sup> « of all, to be » as the Twig<sup>6</sup> Dedicated to the Giver.<sup>6</sup> So that out of « any » 2 « best that there may be », the one which « may be » the stronger—and there is one who says, the straighter—, should be designated<sup>7</sup> as the Twig Dedicated to the Giver.

5. While « that twig » is to lie along the length of the « other » Barsôm twigs,<sup>8</sup> it is to be kept<sup>9</sup> there quite<sup>10</sup> distinct.<sup>10</sup>

This was done probably because the band became loose owing to the twigs drying a little, or to the band loosening through tension.

<sup>3</sup> At present both the Zaoṭi and the Râthwi recite this word together, and the Zaoṭi simultaneously hangs the Barsôm band on the right horn of the crescent of the Barsôm-stand. But the manipulations mentioned in our text are not followed now.

It must be clearly seen that here are described previous manipulations which concern the selection of the two twigs mentioned in the first two lines of this folio, as requiring to be tied up with the rest of the Barsôm.

Datûsh apparently is the Pahlavicised form of the Avestan Dathushô, meaning "of Him Who hath given." Hence it might have a relation with some text containing the word Dathûshô; but as this word occurs at the nearest so late as in Yas. XVI, 3, this idea is not clearly borne out; because to suit the context it should have a place between the words Sasticha... and Yêinghê mê..., inasmuch as its accompanying function comes between the functions attending those expressions.

The Datûsh appears to be the same as the Frâgâm; see note 8 below; and note to Fol. 105, ll. 4-5.

<sup>8</sup> Here is an indication that the twig may be the Frâgâm twig, for that also has to lie on the feet of the Barsôm-stand; see note to Fol. 105, ll. 4-5.

7. « Then » one is to tie the one with the other; « and » on having tied them up one is to hold up those twigs again on the right hand side—there is one who says, on the left.<sup>4</sup>

8. Whether the Twig Dedicated to the Giver may come above<sup>5</sup> « the other », or whether « these both » may be put<sup>6</sup> into the « Barsôm » band, or whether the knots need be managed with « quite too much » precision,<sup>7</sup> or whether « these two twigs » must return « at last »<sup>8</sup> to the « other » Barsôm twigs,<sup>9</sup>—verily<sup>10</sup> not even one « thing hereof » is clear.

9. « One » thought<sup>10</sup> thus that when one performs the function well but does not manage it with « quite too much » precision, « even » then that is always<sup>11</sup> allowed.

<sup>2</sup> If this also is to be selected from the Barsôm from which the Datûsh is selected, then evidently it is to be taken up from the right hand side; see § 4 above.

<sup>4</sup> They were thus held up probably before their being tied up with the rest of the Barsôm; for, in § 2 above, it has been said that the twigs on the right hand side are to be tied with the other Barsôm whose usual place is on the left.

<sup>8</sup> The reference evidently is to the disposal of these twigs at the close of the Service. As, according to what is said above in Nir. II, Chap. V, §§ 17 and 18 and Chap. V: App. B, § 24, the Barsôm can be used again at a following service, the question is whether these twigs need be kept apart for a second use, or may be returned to the other twigs.

<sup>9</sup> These do not seem to be those of the Barsôm bundle, but those other specially procured to select the two twigs described above.

<sup>10</sup> If נ be for נדש and נדש for נדש, the translation may be “or whether not any one (hereof need) not (happen). Raôshan thought thus that.....”

<sup>11</sup> If hamâê be for hamâk, the translation will be “then all that is allowed,” referring to points inquired into just above.

ON EXPRESSING THE HAOMA IN THE MAIN SERVICE, AND CARRYING THE FUNCTION TO THE CLOSE

2. One should « also » have procured « then » the Haoma twig and the pomegranate <sup>4</sup> root pieces <sup>4</sup> in required quantities <sup>5</sup>: the Haoma 89 A must be at the least in 3 knotty pieces, and at the most « in thirty »<sup>6</sup> ;
in such a way that when they are placed <sup>7</sup> out <sup>7</sup> in the Dvâzdah-Hômâst
« the Twelfefold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », the « little »

For statements quite similar to those made here and below, see above, Nir. II, Chap. V : App. B, §§ 9-11. <sup>4</sup> Aûrvarâm.

<sup>6</sup> Here the term viscstih is repeated through error, and replaces the numeric term which we expect here; one might have been led to take it for vist=twenty, but above we had <sup>4</sup> which indicates 30; see Nir. II, Chap. V: App. B, 10.

<sup>7</sup> Shôpêt (?); cf. Av. 𐬯𐬀𐬎𐬌 = to agitate, and Pr. شید = to settle. The word is written 𐬵𐬀𐬎𐬌 and has the semblance of an Avestan quotation; but there is no place for such here in the context: it seems to be a Pahlavi word written in Avestan characters; if it be an Avestan word originally, then it is corrupted into an absurd form.

plate<sup>1</sup> « therefor » should be « quite » full<sup>2</sup> « of the pieces »; and the pomegranate root pieces should be in the proportion of half « these quantities ».

3. « Whatever quantity of the Haoma might there be prepared, it is to be so managed that » ever until one has still to drink « of the beverage » so long may there « yet » remain over the Haoma « drink » in a portion.<sup>3</sup>

4. « At that stage » one should have gazed well upon everything in the « sacred » apparatus.<sup>4</sup>

5. At « the words » Ahurdi Mazdâi<sup>5</sup> ‘ Unto the Most Wise Lord ..... ’ one should hold up the Haoma twig and pomegranate root pieces with the sacred milk,<sup>6</sup> but<sup>7</sup> as to<sup>7</sup> in what manner and how far should those be held, that is not plain.

6. Dât-ê-Vêh « however » said : Verily they must be held up to the ear’s height,<sup>8</sup> and one should hold them in « one’s » front, and one should gaze intently upon them.

7. When one has recited « the text » Ahurdi Mazdâi..... ‘ Unto the Most Wise Lord..... ’ one should wash the « Haoma » mortar.<sup>9</sup>

The reference here apparently is to the commencement of Yas. IX, where the Zaoti ought to see that everything required further in the ritual is ready.

<sup>6</sup> Barâ jiv; for,  $\text{برج}$  appears to be a mistake for  $\text{برج}$ . Otherwise it may be bûr which signifies “gravy-meat,” or “liquid food” that was used in dedication in ancient usage; see Fol. 131, ll. 9 and 13; and Fol. 135, ll. 12 and 27. But that object does not appear to have been intended here.

This manipulation takes place at present at the end of Yas. XXIII, 4, as is already observed in note 5 to § 2 above.

At present it is here taken out from the water vessel into which it had been immersed just before commencing to recite Yas. XVI, and is placed upside down upon the ritual table.

8. At « the words » Ameshā Spentā.....<sup>1</sup> 'The Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers.....' one should turn up the « Haoma » mortar.

9. At « the words » Imem Haomem.....<sup>2</sup> 'This Haoma.....' one should throw the Haoma twig and pomegranate root pieces<sup>3</sup> into the mortar.<sup>4</sup>

11. One should then hold the special formula « for opening the function of pounding ».<sup>8</sup> And at those 4 « recitals » of « the prayer » "As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure,"<sup>9</sup> one « should split up the twig and the root pieces » 3, and 6, and 9 <sup>10</sup> « times. And while doing so, » at the expression .....Khshathremchā..... '.....the Kingdom... ..' of

<sup>4</sup> To understand this more exactly we may recall how it is managed now:—the Haoma twig pieces are put in on reciting Imem Haomem....., "This Haoma....."; the sacred milk is poured on reciting Imāmchā gām jiviyām....., ".....and this fresh milk....."; and the pomegranate root pieces are put in on having recited Imāmchā ūruvarām Hadhânaêpatām....., ".....and this Hadhânaêpatâ plant....."; and the consecrated electrified water is poured in on having recited Aiwyô vanghvibyô ....., ".....with the good waters....."; whereat commences the second section of Yas. XXV.

<sup>5</sup> The first word in the third line of the prayer Yēinghê Hâtām which occurs at the end of Yas. XXVI, where the same injunction is followed now also.

<sup>6</sup> "That" seems to point to the set mentioned in § 1 above, or at the close of the last folio. The fire is to be fed probably from the two sets which according to modern practice are placed out at the close of Yas. XVIII and which might have been placed out in ancient usage at the commencement of Yas. IX.

At present during the first three recitals of each prayer mentioned here, the Haoma is pounded, and at the fourth the mortar is rung with the pestle.

the third « recital », one should hold « them »<sup>1</sup> up, as is evident from the passage Āthritīm khshathrō-krrrtahê<sup>2</sup> gaoshō-brrrzō us-shāvayōit 'One shall thrice lift up « the utensil »'<sup>1</sup> of the make of heavenly power<sup>3</sup> up to the ear's height'<sup>4</sup>.

12. At the time when he splits up « the pieces », the Leading Officiating Priest must split them « close to » his Barsōm twigs « and near the sacred » Fire. « And » he must so manage that when he accomplishes<sup>5</sup> all the three « splittings, that may result » in the Haoma twig pieces and the pomegranate root pieces « being all reduced to » one<sup>6</sup> « mass ».

13. At those 3 « recitals » of Ashem Vohū<sup>7</sup> « the Praise of Righteousness », he should pour a little of the sanctified electrised water<sup>8</sup> in.

14. At « the words » Yēinghê mê Ashāt hachā<sup>9</sup> ..... 'The « best » of which « has been » for me out of Righteousness.....', he should turn the smaller « pieces » over the bigger.<sup>10</sup>

15. At « the words » Haomanāmcha harrshyamnanām<sup>11</sup>..... 'Of the Haomas to be strained.....', he should turn again the pestle<sup>12</sup> 90 A in « the mortar ».

16. At « the words » Arshukhdhanāmcha vachanghūm<sup>13</sup> ..... 'Of the right spoken words ....., ' he should spill<sup>14</sup> the sacred

milk<sup>1</sup> three « times » into « the mortar », a third « every time ».<sup>2</sup>

17. At « the words » Athā zî né humdyōtara anghen<sup>3</sup> ' So that they might verily be more advantageous unto us,' he should take « the mortar »<sup>4</sup> to the sacred<sup>5</sup> precincts of the Twig of the Hallowed Portion,<sup>6</sup> and keep it « there » close to the Twig of the Hallowed Portion.

18. In those 4 « recitals of the prayer » " As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure,"<sup>7</sup> at « the expression » .....shyaothanānām..... ' .....of the deeds.....' of the first,<sup>8</sup> he should turn « the pestle in the mortar ».

19. At « the words » .....āddi kahylichât paitî<sup>9</sup> ' .....by any gift whatsoever,' he should strain<sup>9</sup> « the drink ».

The form of the text is such that it might rather be rendered, " should spill a third into the fresh milk three times," or " should spill a third into the fresh milk "; but as the Haoma is not still strained this is impossible.

<sup>2</sup> The whole quantity is not to be poured all at once, but in parts, about a third every time. This is advised in order that the mixture may be perfect.

<sup>4</sup> Probably this is meant, though our text does not state it. In modern practice however the pestle is held in the right hand at this stage, and the crushed Haoma and Aûrvarâm in its pinch; and with them are touched first the Barsôm, then the bowl of the milk, then the Haoma cup, and lastly the ritual table; and then they are put back into the mortar.

The preceding 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 must be omitted as in TD, for it is simply a part of the following word written wrongly, and is meant to be rejected.

twig pieces and the pomegranate root pieces will also have become impure<sup>1</sup> « thereby ».

24. When in the entire sacred apparatus<sup>2</sup> a single thing is wanting,<sup>3</sup> then because that is to be restored,<sup>4</sup> it should be restored. « But » when « that is » not « done so, then » Sôshâns said, verily the Holy<sup>5</sup> Service should be ended<sup>6</sup> « as having gone wrong »; whereas Kiryâtrô-Bûjît said, verily up to the close<sup>6</sup> of « those » three « special » chapters<sup>6</sup> « of the Service », all that is to be restored can be restored; « but » the Leading Priest must « then » commence the Haoma Praise<sup>7</sup> over again.

91 A 25. In connection with these<sup>8</sup> 3 chapters whose end « is here taken into account,<sup>6</sup> the doctors of the Religion » have been agreed even about this<sup>8</sup> that that is just the time<sup>9</sup> when one has to partake of « the drink; »<sup>10</sup> and that if » one must needs partake « during the <sup>1</sup> Because all are mixed up together. Still again, it is not made plain in all these cases whether the things must be rejected altogether or may be used with caution.

<sup>2</sup> Khajidagân. See note 7 to Nir, I, Chap. VIII: App. C, 20, and note 2 to Nir. II, Chap. V: App. C, I, 20.

<sup>6</sup> Evidently the three chapters of the Haoma Yasna, or Yas. IX—XI. 3 hât ê sar of the last line might also signify "the 3 chapters at the close," and might then refer to Yas. LXVI—LXVIII specified below; but as the chapters meant in the text are just those during which the drink could be taken according to what is stated in the commencement of the next folio, they could best refer to the Haoma Yasna; and besides, it could not be so late as during those latter three chapters that anything could be permitted to be restored.

<sup>9</sup> Aê bâr; it might be 3 bâr=3 times, and might refer to the threefold drinking of the Haoma.

<sup>10</sup> The reference just here must apparently be to the drinking of the Haoma into which of course milk has been mixed; but in the cases just next mentioned, it is not quite evident whether anything that essentially belongs to the performance of the Service could be allowed without a previous consecration, as the things there implied are allowed to be used. If therefore the reference be to anything else, it may indicate some such things as a drink for refreshment, taken by the priest during the Service. The text is of course not plain, but the general sense may favour that meaning as also appropriate to the case. See however § 21 above, and the note 3 in that connection.

Service » of what may be not specially purified,<sup>1</sup> one must keep « that » apart ;<sup>2</sup> « and that » if one must « needs » drink of the milk<sup>3</sup> that may be not specially purified, then one must not strain<sup>4</sup> it with the Vars<sup>5</sup> ring for the electrification.<sup>6</sup>

26. As at every of the 4 times<sup>6</sup> when one must partake of « the things » one will be unclean « through that partaking », so one shall rectify that; and one shall remove the impurity by water if one will be careful;<sup>7</sup> or « again », if one may happen to spill « from what is partaken of » then one shall rectify « that likewise ».

27. At the chapters<sup>8</sup> which are the portion devoted to the « Holy » Saps<sup>9</sup> one must dismiss « as having been completed, the function of preparing the Haoma beverage ».<sup>9</sup>

28. The portion devoted to the « Holy » Saps is not evident, though one said « it is » from Ashaya dadhâmi imâm zaotrâm haomavaitîm, gaomavaitîm, hadhânaépatavaitîm<sup>10</sup> — up to — Tava

<sup>2</sup> If the reference be to things essentially belonging to the Service, the meaning must be that they are to be kept apart from the rest of the things that are consecrated ; but if the reference be to other things casually required for refreshment, the meaning must be that they are to be kept entirely apart from the ritual table and from all sacred things.

<sup>3</sup> Jivâm. As no milk is now drunk by itself as an essential function in the Service, the reference may be to that which is drunk as mixed with the Haoma beverage ; otherwise it must indicate milk casually drunk by way of refreshment.

<sup>6</sup> The one time of tasting the sacred Drôn cake, and the three times of drinking the Haoma in three parts. Evidently the reference here differs from Nir. I, Chap. VIII: App. C, 23 which points to the Drôn Service merely.

<sup>9</sup> Evidently the statement here can have no reference to the rectification of uncleanness which is having been just described ; because this stage would be too late for that purpose. Whereas all the essential manipulations in the preparation of the Haoma beverage are completed at the end of Yas, LXVIII ; hence is felt the advisability of supplying the sense accordingly.

91 B Ahurânê Ahurahê!<sup>1</sup> « and » ..... vahistâbyô zaothrâbyô.<sup>2</sup> ' In Righteousness do I dedicate this Hallowed Portion with the Haoma extract, with the milk, with the pomegranate root essence ——' up to ' ——as thine, O Lordly One of the Lord!' « and » ' .....with the best Hallowed Portions.' ——« whereas » there is one who says, « it is up to » Tava Ahurânê!<sup>3</sup> 'as thine O Lordly One!' only.<sup>4</sup>

29. If when one has ended the Worship, there have been a single Barsôm Twig less, or if one have omitted a single utterance, one will have performed « the Worship » indifferently.<sup>5</sup>

30. Afrog said: Verily, as regards the Worship « said to be » indifferently performed,<sup>6</sup> if one has preferred<sup>7</sup> it on that very same basis « of those omissions » under difference of opinion,<sup>7</sup> one cannot be said to have been indifferent « in the Worship just therefore ».

CHAPTER VI

ON THE RIGHT GLORIFICATION OF THE PERIODS RELATING TO LIFE'S MORN

1. Kalmât Hâvaninûm<sup>8</sup> gâthanûm ratufris frajasaiti? From when shall the right glorification of the periods relating <sup>1</sup> Yas. LXVI, 16 end. These words also occur in § 1 of that chapter, but as a long text is evidently meant, the later place must have been intended.

The term Ahurânê seems to apply to Arrdvi Sûra.

<sup>2</sup> These words occur in Yas. LXVIII, 10. The sections following this are supplementary; hence Yas. LXVI—LXVIII, 10, must have been understood to comprise the Fragart bahâr ê Âpân; but it should be strange that Yas. XV though devoted to Arrdvi Sûra and the Holy Saps, should not also be comprised therein; still indeed the order of the chapters here may not have been the same as we have now, and that chapter may have occupied a place between the others.

The meaning is that if some prefer to omit certain things on the score of advisability, and act accordingly, then one cannot be said to have omitted those things out of indifference; for they are omitted owing to difference of opinion, and not owing to any lack of earnestness. Cf. above, Nir. Bk. II, Chap. II: App. A, 4.

<sup>8</sup> HJ has «hach», and TD has «hach». Elsewhere the word hach is added before this word.

to the Morn take place? i.e., at what <sup>1</sup> time should the Thanks-giving Service of « the periods relating to » the Morn be performed?

2. Hacha hû-vakhshât maidhyâi frâyarâi<sup>2</sup> pairi-sachâiti. It shall be gone through « during the period » from sun-rise<sup>3</sup> up to mid-forenoon. 92 A

Hama<sup>4</sup> itha. « It shall be » so in summer.

3. Āat aiwi-gâmê<sup>5</sup> maidhyâi uzayarâi; Whereas in winter « it may continue » up to mid-afternoon<sup>6</sup>;—

The day « is » half « day » “ forenoon ” and half « day » “ afternoon. ”<sup>7</sup>

—yat<sup>8</sup> vâ yatha uzayarem yat yatha khshaparem. ‘when’<sup>9</sup> « it may be said to be » just either as afternoon or when « it may be said to be » as nightfall.’<sup>10</sup>

4. The afternoon<sup>10</sup> « belongs » half<sup>11</sup> to the midday period and half to the evening.<sup>12</sup>

<sup>6</sup> As the sun would rise later in winter, the Service also would have to be commenced later, and further time therefore would be required to finish it. The sun must have risen considerably later in winter, for, a further period equal to about 6 hours is then allowed to compensate for the time lost in the late rising of the sun. All the similar statements indicate a very northerly situation of ancient Iran; see above, notes to Fol. 75, ll. 9 and 15.

<sup>7</sup> Fra-ayar and Āûz-ayar are thus the terms which indicate the time between sunrise and midday, and that between midday and sunset respectively. Hence mid-forenoon and mid-afternoon would be the mean times of these periods.

<sup>8</sup> I.e., at mid-afternoon in winter. The previous statement is a digression in the midst of the running text.

<sup>9</sup> The Pahlavi that follows the Avestan in the text cannot be the translation, so we have supplied it.

The meaning is that in winter sunset would be so early that the time of evening which must follow the time of the summer mid-afternoon would be occupied by night; so that the time which should have been called evening in summer must have to be called night in winter.

Evidently, this would hold good for a place where the sun approximately set at 8 P.M. in summer and at 4 P.M. in winter, according to what is said severally regarding the day's periods in our text.

5. In winter the time of midday merges into the morning.<sup>1</sup>

CHAPTER VI: APPENDICES A

ON THE SERVICES OF THE PERIODS RELATING TO LIFE'S MORN

APPENDIX A, I

ON THE SERVICE OF THE NAÔK-NÂÊVAR, THE NEW INITIATE

1. These «are the» several holy services «that» may be performed during the time of morning: the Service<sup>3</sup> of the New Initiate who is inexperienced,<sup>2</sup> the Service<sup>3</sup> of All the Reverential Ones,<sup>3</sup> and the Worship<sup>4</sup> of the Divinities.<sup>4</sup>

92 B 2. The Worship of the New Initiate should be performed with greater perfection «than other services».<sup>5</sup> For its perfection he should recite three times every one of Vohû ukhshyâ Mananghâ, «Khshathrâ, Ashâchâ ustâ-tanûm»<sup>6</sup> 'With Good Mind, «Right Power, and Righteous Perfectness» increase «the blessed-personality»'; Imâ raochâo brrzistem barrzemanûm<sup>7</sup> 'These Lights' «and this Sun of Glory»<sup>8</sup> the highest of the high'; «and» Yahmi

<sup>1</sup> Hence there was to be no Rapitwin Gâh in winter; for then the sun appears to have risen at about 8 A.M. and set at about 4 P.M. in the place whose times are here discussed. It can be seen from § 3 just above that there the morning time was extended up to 2 P.M. in winter.

<sup>4</sup> Bakân Yasn. This service comprehended all the Yashts, probably interwoven in the Yasna, as is the case with the Visparat and the Vendidad Services; see notes to the next folio, ll. 5-6.

<sup>7</sup> See Yas. LXVIII, 23. It is quoted from Yas. XXXVI, 6, where it is made plain that the reference is to the Sun. The text also appears in Yas. LVIII, 8, and partially in Visp. XIX, 2.

Spentâ Thwâ Mainyâ ūruvâêsê jasô,<sup>1</sup> ..... ' Into which Evolution Thou camest through Thy Holy Spirit, ..... '.

3. He should «also» celebrate thanksgiving on the sacred Drôn cake at the close «of the Service ;<sup>2</sup> and there should be employed in it» Barsôm in a firm<sup>3</sup> bundle of seven twigs,<sup>3</sup> and one sacred Drôn cake ; and then<sup>4</sup> « there should be performed » with a perfect dedicatory formula the special little service of grace<sup>4</sup>.

4. For celebrating this thanksgiving there is no special<sup>5</sup> ritual.

5. As the Leading Officiating Priest<sup>6</sup> of « this » Thanksgiving Service is not « always » capable of celebrating it « all » within that day,<sup>7</sup> he shall in any case<sup>8</sup> celebrate as much as is necessary onwards ; because until he does not celebrate that «much», he does not become fit for the post of officiating as the Leading Officiating Priest for others ;<sup>9</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Of course not at the end of Yas. LXVIII merely. In modern practice, after finishing each of the four great services which the Neophyte has to perform one every of four days, he performs the Drôn Service just before taking the only meal that he is permitted to take on each of those days.

The number evidently refers to the Drôn Service of the New Initiate ; see below, Fol. 168, l. 10.

<sup>7</sup> Actually, the reference must be to the morning period described in §§ 1-3 of the last Chapter. The words 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 after 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 are appropriately omitted in TD.

The Officiating Priest, being a fresh man here, is not expected to perform within a day the whole and particularly elaborate service of the New Initiate ; yet evidently he should perform as much as is expected of a fresh man of passable capacity. How much that must be is not explained here ; but he was possibly expected to finish the Gâtha chapters.

<sup>8</sup> Otherwise "afterwards," meaning, on the next day. What follows immediately might then signify all that remains of the Service. 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 appears to have been miswritten for 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 which follows, and to have been rejected.

<sup>9</sup> Here he officiates for himself, but after the initiation he can officiate for others. It must be noted that while qualifying himself as the Murattab, the new priest is to go strictly through the entire text and service.

so also,<sup>1</sup> until he does not celebrate thanksgiving upon the sacred Drôn cake «as above described», he does not become fit for the post of officiating as the Leading Officiating Priest for others; «hence» though afterwards he may faithfully<sup>2</sup> hold the special little service for the sacred Drôn cake and may partake of the food, still that cannot be regarded to have propriety «therefore».<sup>3</sup>

93 A 6. If at the time when the New Initiate drinks the Haoma beverage, any circumstance arise during that «event», it must not be needful to end the Thanksgiving Service «just therefore»<sup>4</sup>: whoever may have had been firmly faithful<sup>5</sup> in the Religion need «simply» hold «again» the special little formula for opening the function «with quite the most perfect propriety».

CHAPTER VI: APPENDIX A, II

ON THE BAKÂN YASNA OR THE SERVICE OF THE DIVINITIES

1. When one celebrates the Service of the Divinities,<sup>6</sup> then up to the Service<sup>7</sup> of the Spirit of the Moral Order<sup>7</sup> all the ritual is to be just like that in the Service<sup>8</sup> of All the Reverential Ones.<sup>8</sup>

2. In the Service of the Spirit of the Moral Order, and in every

<sup>3</sup> His consecrating the Drôn at the initiatory service alone will qualify him to consecrate it ever afterwards.

<sup>4</sup> As it is required in the case of the qualified priest. Whereas the new initiate being but a fresh man is to be treated indulgently.

<sup>7</sup> Srôsh Yasn, i.e., Yas. LVII evidently; because, it would be aimless to refer here to the Visparat if the reference were to the Srôsh Yasht. It is however probable that the Srôsh Yasht might have been placed close to this chapter of the Yasna, in the text interwoven for the Bakân Yasn.

service<sup>1</sup> before and after that,<sup>2</sup> one should have held at its commencement, the small formula for opening one's function, and at its end should have said the small formula for closing it.<sup>3</sup> But when one has said that for the «main» Service,<sup>4</sup> one will «also» have said it for the worships «of the several Divinities»; wherefore one need not say that «over again». There is «however one» who says thus: One must say that again «in this case» quite<sup>5</sup> as an essential circumstance,<sup>5</sup> because one can have said it «simply» by the «main» Service «only in the case» when «that is» not the Worship of the Divinities «that» one may be celebrating, in so far as the holy dedicatory formulas in its «several» cases must be varying from that for the Service of the Spirit of the Moral Order.<sup>6</sup>—

<sup>1</sup> 𐬨𐬀 should be 𐬨𐬀 as in TD; and as the reference here is evidently to the services of the nature of the Srôsh Yasn occurring in the Bakân Yasn, this having the Srôsh Yasht put probably in its juxtaposition there in that special case, the term 𐬨𐬀 (Yasn) in this case essentially represents the term 𐬨𐬀𐬀 (Yasht) and points to the Yashts severally.

The reference is evidently to the Yashts devoted to the several Divinities to which the Thanksgiving Service here is dedicated. Inasmuch as each Divinity was to be specially glorified in the Bakân Yasn, it is conceivable that these special glorifications may have been the same as the Yashts that we have. The services preceding and following what is hinted to be the Srôsh Yasht will then be the Yashts of the other Divinities, preceding and following the Srôsh Yasht.

In the Bakân Yasn the Yashts appear to have been incorporated into the Visparat with the Yasna, because it is stated just above in the previous paragraph that up to Yas. LVII the Bakân Yasn is to be quite like the Visparat, as also because it may be so inferred from their association together in Fol. 86, ll. 18-22. But whether that the Service was performed every day for only the Divinity presiding over that day, until all the days dedicated to the several Divinities were gone through, or that the glorifications of the several Divinities were all celebrated on the same day and in the same service, cannot be ascertained.

<sup>6</sup> This argument is evidently valid, because each Divine Power needs a distinct glorification in the Bakân Yasn wherein the Divinities are treated severally and not promiscuously as in the Yasna and the Visparat; so that a special glorification appears essential in each case.

8. When one would hold the special little service for opening the function « of tasting » <sup>1</sup> one should hold the special little service thus :

Ravascha khvâthremcha âfrînâmi vîspayâo ashaonô stôis. Âzascha duzhâthremcha âfrînâmi vîspayâo drvatô stôis.<sup>2</sup>

« Râmanô Khvâstrahê », <sup>3</sup> Vayaos uparôkairyêhê tara-dhâtô anylis dâmân,— aêtat tê Vayô ! yat tê asti spentô-mainyaom—, khshnaothra .....<sup>4</sup>.

‘ I love the comfort and happiness of the whole righteous existence. I appreciate the hardship and unhappiness<sup>5</sup> of the whole sinful existence.

‘ The Praise of Righteousness 3 « times ».

‘ With establishing the Holy Concord..... of « the Pleasure of the Fruit of Right Industry », of Magnetismic Force working from high and placed above the other creations—— that « power » is thine O Magnetismic Force ! which as thine is pertaining to the Spirit of Holy Beneficence——’.

9. « Then » one must commence Yazâi Apemcha Baghemcha .....<sup>6</sup> ‘ I reverence and thank the Holy Sap and « its » Distributer

It is evidently meant here that this formula is to be recited specially in the case of the celebration of the Bakân Yasn.

<sup>2</sup> Yas. VIII, 8. This section however is now recited after having tasted the Drôn in the Yazeshn services.

<sup>3</sup> These words apparently have dropped out through some mistake, but they occur thus elsewhere, and are wanted by the context, for Râm has more to do with the satisfaction of tasting, than Vayu has.

The words yasnâicha vahmâicha, etc., have of course to follow as usually.

<sup>5</sup> Inasmuch as these help us to be rid of all sins by pressing on us to renounce these as being their real and ultimate cause.

<sup>6</sup> Commencement of Râm Yasht, § 1. It is not clear whether this first section alone is intended to be recited here or the whole of the Yasht, although indeed in the main service itself the Râm Yasht was to be recited along with the other Yashts as it is already presumed. It is also not clear whether the tasting function took place in this case, so late as at the recitation of the Râm Yasht in the main service, though, according to modern usage that would be too late if the Yashts were distributed evenly among the Yasna chapters.

The text is corrected throughout.

.....'; and « thereon » one must finish « the Service for Tasting ».

10. One should say « in this case » the special little service for finishing the function « of tasting » quite as that must be in the Holy Dedicatory Service for the Sacred Drôn Cake.<sup>1</sup>

11. « When » anyone who must hold upon that sacred Drôn cake the special little service « for the tasting », eats the food, and says the Holy Worship on « without saying the special little service for closing the function of tasting », that should « certainly » be wrong.

12. When « however » one has not to say the Holy Worship on, then whether that <sup>2</sup> can be allowed or no, is not plain.

CHAPTER VI : APPENDIX B

ON THE KHSHNÛMANS OR THE HOLY DEDICATORY FORMULAS

1. When the Holy Dedicatory Formula is to be for the 7 Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers, « then that being quite essential » in that case of the 7 Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers, « there should 94 B be glorified » always <sup>3</sup> the period of the day, « there should be glorified » always <sup>3</sup> the day, « and there should be glorified » always <sup>3</sup> the month <sup>4</sup>, « even » notwithstanding « there having been celebrated »

<sup>1</sup> The service for closing the function of tasting in the case of the Bakân Yasn must be the same as in the Dedicatory Service of the Drôn Offering in the ordinary Yasna ritual, which evidently must comprise at least the Yasna chapters VII-VIII. Hence this closing service in the Bakân Yasn also would be the same as at the close of Yas. VIII, excepting perhaps the last section which has already occurred in the opening formula given just above in our text here.

<sup>2</sup> I.e., holding first the special little formula for tasting the Drôn cake, and then tasting it, but not closing that function with a special little formula.

The difference between the two cases is just this that in the one the Drôn is to be tasted in the midst of the Thanksgiving Service which is to be continued after the tasting, whereas in the other the Drôn is to be tasted independently of any Service or at the close of one.

previously the Service<sup>1</sup> of the Divine Powers made presiding over the Thirty Days<sup>1</sup>; inasmuch as the 7 Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers « have » not « been glorified » in that case « with the glorification of » the period of the day, the day, and the month, « notwithstanding there having been celebrated » previously the Service of the Divine Powers made presiding over the Thirty Days.<sup>2</sup>

2. There is one who says thus: Verily, as regards « any glorification of » the 7 Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers, « there should be pronounced » in that case altogether<sup>3</sup> « but » one previous dedicatory formula, as that is not necessary « both » previously<sup>4</sup> and afterwards.

3. There is one who says thus: Verily, as one does not perform the Service<sup>5</sup> of the Holy Spiritual Essences<sup>6</sup> « with the glorification of » the period of the day, the day, and the month both before and afterwards, so in other « cases also », if not « content with » observing « it simply » once one performs « the Service with their glorification » both before and afterwards, that must not be « quite » proper.<sup>6</sup>

4. With regard to the KHIVARDAT day<sup>7</sup> «devoted to the Spirit

<sup>1</sup> 30-yômak = Sîrôzak which appears to have a necessary place in the Bakân Yasn. It must be noted that the Sîrôzah Yasht includes the glorification of the Gâh, the day, and the month, but the plain Sîrôzah does not.

<sup>2</sup> In the Sîrôzah (See S. B. E. Vol. XXIII, pp. 3-20) the Amesha Spentas or Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers are of course glorified; but it is meant here that as the period of the day, the day, and the month are not glorified there, and as these are specially to be glorified in their Dedicatory Formula, such special dedicatory formula including this glorification is to be recited in every case of their glorification.

<sup>4</sup> This critic does not evidently mean that a dedicatory service of the Amesha Spentas is already performed in the service of the Sîrôzah, and hence no other dedicatory service is necessary; rather he simply asserts the general fact that in every glorification of the kind only one previous dedicatory service is essential, and no other need be performed afterwards.

In this connection we must compare the dedicatory formulas for the ordinary Khvardat day and for the Khvardatsâl day, that are in use among us at present. A difference exists between these.

of Wholesomeness and Universality » the Holy Dedicatory Formula for the day should be this :—

95 A ratubyô,<sup>1</sup>

Ayaranûmcha, asnyanûmcha, mâhyanûmcha, yâiryanûmcha, sarrdhanûmcha,<sup>2</sup>

Vîspaêshâm Yazatanûm..... « khshnaothra..... » up to yazamaidê.

Mâhya Ashahê Rathwô ratufriti<sup>3</sup> yazamaidê.

Sarrdha Ashahê Rathwô ratufriti<sup>3</sup> yazamaidê.

‘ « With the glorification..... » of the Lord of Wholesomeness and Universality, of the seasons of good blessings for the years « which are » the periods of the Holy Order.....,

‘ And of the days,<sup>6</sup> and of the day’s periods, and of the fortnights, and of the seasons, and of the years,.....,

‘ Of all the Divinities.....’ u p t o<sup>7</sup> ‘ we reverence.....’.

‘ We reverence the days with the right glorification of Time of the Holy Order.

<sup>2</sup> See Âfringân Gâhâmbâr, I; Yas. I, 17. The reference is to the Eternal Time and its Periods of the Life Everlasting.

Notice that Ayara precedes Asnya for the reason explained below in note 6.

<sup>6</sup> The terms except the first are in the rising order of magnitude; and the first breaks that order simply because the day is the most natural unit of time and hence need be mentioned first according to the propriety of a posteriori reasoning.

Even when conceived in the apparent sense, such glorification of the periods of time evinces a gratefulness for Nature’s wise dispositions and their beneficial utility for the world; still in their higher sense these periods have a reference to the Time of Illumined Eternity, when they evidently merit a special veneration.

<sup>7</sup> Pann.

'We reverence the fortnights with the right glorification of Time of the Holy Order.

'We reverence the seasons with the right glorification of Time of the Holy Order.

'We reverence the years with the right glorification of Time of the Holy Order.'

5. Âzât-Mart said: Verily « the text should read »: Ayara ashavana Ashahê ratavô<sup>1</sup> yazamaidê..... 'We reverence the holy days, the time-periods of the Holy Order.....' on every Khvardat day « devoted to the Spirit of Wholesomeness and Universality, even as » it is proper to do so.

There is one who says « it should be » so « but » on one « day : i.e., on that day falling » on the occasion of the new year.<sup>2</sup>

6. All might be the « fit » times for tasting ; « still » when at the function of the<sup>3</sup> period relating to the early dawn,<sup>3</sup> one does not perform « the tasting, then if one do » not « recite » the formula<sup>4</sup> for glorifying the period of the day<sup>4</sup> in order to contemplate the period of the day, it should always be allowed to hold<sup>5</sup> « the Service that way 95 B and » to act « accordingly ».

7. When alongside « this formula »<sup>6</sup> they « likewise » perform the Holy Dedicatory Formula, then it is not plain as to which of these two « should be performed » first.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>2</sup> The previous statement signifies that such text is to be recited on the Khvardat day of every month, but that signification is here limited to the Khvardat day of the first month only, which is called the Khôrdâdsâl day, held, among other things, to be the day of Zarathushtra's inspiration, and therefore very sacred.

It should be remembered that Khvardat or Haurvatât represents the Infinity of Space, whereas it is Amrrrtât which indicates the Infinity of Time, hence although terms relating to time occur in its dedicatory formula, Amrrrtât has greater claim to this relationship ; but Haurvatât and Amrrrtât were often used indifferently by later writers through an extension of the special philosophic sense.

8. The Holy Dedicatory Formula for the ÂTRÖ day « devoted to the Holy Life Flame » is this:—

Âthrô Ahurahê Mazdâdê puthra!<sup>1</sup> ... .. 'Of « thee » the Life Flame O offspring of the Most Wise Lord! ... ..'.

9. « Also », for the month « Âtrö » it is just this how one is always to commence « the formula ».

10. If one performs « the Holy Dedicatory Formula » for the « Âtrö » month alongside that for the Âtrö day, « then one should besides say » Khshathrô-Naffdhrô, Nairyô-Sanghahê.....<sup>1</sup> 'Of the Source of Royalty, of the Impulse of the Human Ideal.'

11. Whether it is not lawful to perform the formula as including Khshathrô-« Naffdhrô » ..... 'of « the Source of » Royalty,' when pertaining « only » to the month,<sup>2</sup> is not plain.

12. Âzât-Mart said: When one performs « the Holy Dedicatory Formula » for the month alongside that for the Âtrö day « dedicated to the Holy Life Flame », then it is essential to perform « the formula with » Khshathrô-« Naffdhrô » ..... 'of « the Source of » Royalty,' just for this reason that Khshathrô-« Naptar » 'the Source » of Royalty' is as much bound up<sup>3</sup> with the Holy Flames<sup>4</sup> as one fire with another.<sup>5</sup>

13. There is one who says thus that when one performs « the Holy Dedicatory Formula » for the month on the Âtrö day, then one is to perform « the formula » along with « the words » .....mat vîspaêibyô Âtrrrbyô<sup>6</sup> ..... 'with all the Holy Flames.'

96 A 14. When the Holy Service<sup>7</sup> « takes place before » the <sup>1</sup> See prelude to the Âtash Niyâyêsh, and Sirôzah I, 9, and the dedicatory formula for the Âtar day and Âtar month in current use.

<sup>5</sup> Khshathrô Naptar—the Source or Spring of Royalty is closely associated with Nairyô-Sangha which is related with Holy Life Flame in an equal degree.

Âtrô-Farnbâg<sup>1</sup> « the Life Flame of Abundant Good Fortune and Glorious Dispensation », then all these three « expressions »<sup>2</sup> must be used.

Sôshâns made that obligatory.<sup>6</sup>

Vakhshâpûhar made that optional.<sup>7</sup>

16. « It is clear enough that » whenever « people » have come together for a function they are first to perform what is obligatory.

17. With regard to all the other Holy Flames the good people and the people of the Primal Creed<sup>8</sup> have chosen « special » dedicatory formulas « therefor ».

<sup>3</sup> If 𐬨 be read âc then the translation will be "This one Holy Flame," i.e., Farnbâg.

<sup>4</sup> See Bûnd. XVII, 4-9; as it is said there, these three Sacred Fires must constitute the Âtash-ê-Vâhrâm. This is enthroned in the most eminent temples of the Zoroastrians, which are consecrated at every place where they are living in large numbers.

Vakhshâpûhar means that although it would be expected of the Zoroastrians living in large numbers at any place to raise their highest places of worship it is not absolutely incumbent on them to do so; so that they may serve their purpose with lesser temples without being guilty therefor. See also, note 5 above.

<sup>8</sup> It must always be remembered that the Paoiryô-tkaêsha need not always belong to the past, and does not signify a pre-Zoroastrian. Indeed the blessed Zarathushtra himself is called the Paoiryô-tkaêsha; and passages like Dînk. Bk. VI, A, VI (5), and C, XXVI make it evident that the Paoiryô-tkaêsha Creed has always been a higher order of the spiritual hierarchy of the Mazdayasnas to which persons of all times may belong.

18. When one performs « the Holy Service » at one's own house and for a single Holy Flame, « the Dedicatory Formula should be » :—

Āthrô Ahurahê Mazdâô puthra! ..... 'Of « thee » the Life Flame, O offspring of the Most Wise Lord! .....'.
« and » when « for » 2 « Holy Flames or more, it should be » :—

Āthrô Ahurahê Mazdâô « puthra » ! mat vîspaêibyô Ātrrrbyô.....

'Of « thee » the Life Flame, « O offspring » of the Most Wise Lord! with all the Holy Flames.....'.

19. Sôshâns said : Verily, though there be even 10 « Holy Fires » every one of them « is implied in » Āthrô Ahurahê Mazdâô puthra! ..... 'Of « thee » the Life Flame, O offspring of the Most Wise Lord!'<sup>1</sup>

96 B 20. He further<sup>2</sup> said thus that when one commences<sup>3</sup> a function it is fitting to perform « the prayers » Khshnûmainê Mâdngahê Gao- « chîthrahê »..... and Khshnûmainê Dathushô..... 'In the Holy Concord of the Moon<sup>4</sup> of Prolific Grace<sup>4</sup> the source of animal species.....' and 'In the Holy Concord of Him Who hath given.....'.

21. One is to perform the Dedication of ÂPÂN<sup>5</sup> « or the Holy Saps »<sup>6</sup> whenever one sows corn or reaps corn.

22. « Whenever » one performs the Dedication of the Holy Saps at the time when one sows corn, one is « likewise » to keep in mind « the text “ in current as swift » as the form of mind's fleet career.”<sup>6</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Sôshâns applies the term Ātar to the whole class, and the other divine to every individual Fire; in their particular senses both are correct.

<sup>4</sup> The Divine Power Mâh, working in the moon substance, is supposed to give assistance in life's affairs ; see Sh. Lâ-Sh. XXII, 12 ; XII, 8 ; XXIII, 2.

This dedication must of course be appropriate as water and the saps are so essentially useful here.

<sup>6</sup> «𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬀𐬎𐬀𐬎» is a confused writing for «𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬀𐬎𐬀𐬎𐬀𐬎» or «𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬀𐬎𐬀𐬎𐬀𐬎» ; see Yt. II, Introduction, 12 ; Yt. VIII, 8.

23. The Holy Dedicatory Formula<sup>1</sup> for the TÎR day « dedicated to the brilliant Star Tishtrya » is this :—

Tistryêhê stârô raêvatô khvarrnanguhatô, Satavaêsahê frâpahê sûrahê Mazdadhâtahê ..... « khshnaothra » .....<sup>2</sup> ' With the establishment of the Holy Concord..... of the Brilliant Star Tishtrya the bright and the glorious one, « and » of Satavaesa « the brilliant Star of the Hundred Aspects », the distributor of the Saps, the heroic, and the appointed of the Lord Most Wise<sup>3</sup> ..... '.

24. For the « Tîr » month also this is even as one is always to perform « the formula » : Tistryêhê..... ' « With the establishment of the Holy Concord » ..... of the Brilliant Star Tishtrya ..... , « excepting that » the text « has » not with it « then the words » ..... Vanantô<sup>4</sup> ..... ' ..... of « the Winning Star » Vanant.<sup>4</sup>

25. « When » this Holy Service is for Willing Praise<sup>5</sup> « then the Dedicatory Formula must be just the same »<sup>6</sup> Tistryêhê..... ' « With the establishment of the Holy Concord » ..... of the Brilliant Star Tishtrya ..... ' .<sup>6</sup>

<sup>5</sup> In which offerings are made to the Divine Powers. This service is also mentioned in Fols. 67, l. 5; 114, l. 30; and 123, l. 28.

It is not plain whether Vâta and Fravashis alone are to be taken as the companions of Tishtrya, for, several other Divine Powers, etc., are also mentioned elsewhere as the helpers of Tishtraya: in Tir Yasht, 34 Apûm Napât and Awzhdâta Khvarrnangh are stated to complete the work of Tishtrya, together with Vâta and the Fravashis; in Tir Yasht, 38 Ahura Mazda, the other Amesha Spentas, Mithra, Ashi, and Pârendi are said to help him; and Satavaesa is mentioned with even greater relationship in the dedicatory formula for Tishtrya.

It may be noted that it is enjoined to recite the Tir Yasht on Tishtrya, Haurvatat, Fravardin, and Vât days; see again Tir Yasht, 34; and note the fact that Haurvatat is related with the Holy Saps as well as Tishtrya is.

27. « The Holy Dedicatory Formula » for the day dedicated to 97 A VÂT « the Blower of Salubrity » need not be different « from this, although » there is one who says, it must be different for the day dedicated to the Blower of Salubrity.<sup>3</sup>

28. Animals may be dedicated with all the dedicatory services. They are to be sacrificed with proper solemnity : more explicitly « it should be » thus :—<sup>3</sup>

« There should first be glorified » the period of the day, the day, and the month, and « then there should be recited » Âthrô Ahurahê Mazdâô puthra ! mat vîspaêibyô Âtrrrbyô, Tistryêhê, Vanantô, Géus Tashnô,<sup>4</sup> vîspaêshâm « Yazatanām », ashâunām<sup>5</sup> Fravashinām<sup>5</sup>.....
... ‘ « With the establishment of the Holy Concord » .....of « thee », the Life Flame, O offspring of the Most Wise! with all the Holy Flames, of the Brilliant Star Tishtrya, of the Winning Star Vanant, of the Maker of the Animate World, of all « the Divinities », of the Spiritual Essences of the righteous ones.....’.

29. When « this is » completed « and the offered animal is » purified, one should then perform « the formula » Khshnumainê Amahê ... ..<sup>6</sup> ‘ In the Holy Concord of Courage.....’; and along with it

It must appear that the several dedicatory formulas for Tishtrya, Vâta, and the Fravashis are to be recited here together; see Sirôzah I, 13, 19 and 22.

<sup>2</sup> Evidently Sir. I, 22 is not so extensive as the above formula. Yet both these opinions can find arguments to defend themselves.

one should perform « the text » Pathaydo ..... 'Of the Path.....,' « that is »:—

Garôis Mazdadhâtahê<sup>4</sup>..... .

Pathâm Khvâstâitîm yazamaidê; Zarrrumantem Sûrem yaza- 97 B
maidê; Saokantem Gairîm Mazdadhâttem yazamaidê.<sup>5</sup>

' ..... ' of the Path of Self-reliance of the Illustrious Lake, of Verdant Prosperity,<sup>6</sup> and of the Mount of Benefit created by the Most Wise.

' We honour the Path of Self-reliance ; we honour the Illustrious Lake of Verdant Prosperity ; we honour the Mount of Benefit created by the Most Wise.'

30. « This formula is » fit to be observed at every holy service.

31. There is one who says thus « in this relation » : ' First of all ' « there should be recited the expression » Râmanô Khvâstrahê.....<sup>8</sup>
' .....of the Pleasure of the Fruit of Right Industry..... « which is » as much bound up with<sup>9</sup> « the expression » ..... Thwâshahê .....<sup>8</sup> ' ... of Universe ..... ' as « the expression » Tistryêhê<sup>10</sup> ..... ' ..... of the Brilliant Star Tishtrya..... ' « is bound up » with « the expression » Vanantô .....<sup>10</sup> ' ..... of the Winning Star Vanant..... '.

32. When a guest arrives at a house he is to observe « the prayer »: Khshnûmainê Ashôis Vanghuydo, Chistôis Vanghuydo, Rrrthê Vanghuydo,<sup>11</sup> ..... ashdunâm Fravashinâm.<sup>12</sup> ' In the Holy Concord

<sup>2</sup> The name Zarrrumant is said to be represented by the Pahlavi Zarîrmand which is the name of what is understood as a lake and a spring ; see Bûnd. XX, 34; XXII, 1 and 6. The reference evidently is to the springs of the Holy Saps.

<sup>3</sup> Elsewhere Saokenta. It is said to be the name of what is understood as a mountain near Hukairya or the Mount of the Glory of Good-doing.

of Blest Rectitude the Good, of Philosophy the Good, of Right Utility the Good, ..... « and » of the Spiritual Essences of the righteous ones<sup>1</sup>; « and » inasmuch as<sup>2</sup> the good of « dedicating » the sacred Drôn cake is manifest, he is to offer upon it thanksgiving well; otherwise this « person does » not « behave like » a « true » guest.<sup>3</sup>

33. He<sup>3</sup> may carry the sacred Drôn cake<sup>4</sup> from place to place, excepting to the houses of the Sacred Fires, as it is not lawful to take<sup>5</sup> it « there ».<sup>6</sup>

98 A 34. It is lawful to take it to every place with personal<sup>7</sup> purity<sup>7</sup>—but it is « only » at that time lawful « to carry it so » when no other person will be saying thanksgiving on it « elsewhere » for one.<sup>8</sup>

One may « then » carry the sacred Drôn cake from « one's » house to just such places<sup>9</sup> as these.

<sup>2</sup> The guest is expected to offer thanksgiving for the hospitality which he receives. While acknowledging his obligation to the host, he is also to recall that although he receives the hospitality from his host directly, still the host is enabled to offer it through the bounties which Good God has provided him even to spare them for guests. Hence the guest will be failing in duty if he does not offer up thanks to Him before the Sacred Cake. This is certainly a delightful practice to follow at all times.

<sup>4</sup> Viz. that apparently on which the thanksgiving is to be said when away from home and in places which lack the conveniences for its preparation. It seems to have been thought necessary to carry prepared Drôns from place to place to be used to this end. It is advised not to take such Drôns at the Houses of Fire, for, evidently, means must be found there to prepare them fresh.

<sup>8</sup> When it is expected that there will be some person at the place one intends visiting, who will have the means for preparing the Drôn fresh and saying thanksgiving thereon on one's behalf, then it is apparently not necessary that prepared Drôns be taken to such a place from another.

<sup>9</sup> I.e., where no other person will be saying thanksgiving on it for one when away from home, and where there are no conveniences for its preparation,

35. On the days sacred to the holy Spiritual Essences one should repair the chamber<sup>1</sup> «of the dead» at the base of the house.<sup>2</sup>

36. One<sup>3</sup> should perform thanksgiving «on the sacred Drôn cake<sup>4</sup>» whenever a lady might ask thus: “Perform me thanksgiving on the sacred Drôn cake,” if one were «to prove» just so cognisant of good as a person «who» would not fail to perform thanksgiving unless «it were» not proper «to do so for some special valid reason».<sup>5</sup>

37. As no special<sup>6</sup> dedicatory service would be required to be glorified at the Thanksgiving Service,<sup>7</sup> if no special<sup>6</sup> dedicatory formula were necessary to be observed at the Thanksgiving Service,<sup>7</sup> «so» all the dedicatory formulas of the Service of the Divine Powers made presiding over the Thirty Days<sup>8</sup> should be observed properly<sup>9</sup>; and this should be done to suit with the day «of celebration»<sup>10</sup>; and any other<sup>11</sup> thing must be made legalised with .....vîspaêshâmcha ..... ‘.....and of all.....’; and as because it cannot be required in the Service of the Divine Powers made presiding over the

<sup>2</sup> It was a custom in Zoroastrian households, to keep a place reserved on the ground floor for placing the bodies of the deceased before removal; and it is advised specially to repair and clean it on the approach of the days sacred to the dead.

This and the following statements are detached additional remarks at the end of the subject just finished.

<sup>8</sup> If the reference here is to the Bakân Yasn, then because it treated of all the Divine Powers, the whole Sirôzah which contains the dedicatory formulas of the Divine Powers made presiding over the Thirty Days, would be closely related to it, and must have been an appropriate accompaniment to it. Whereas in the case of the Yasn of the Sirôzah, the Sirôzah must of course be recited therein.

Thirty Days, «to have» 2 «recitations of» ..... Brrrzatô.....

 made presiding over the Thirty Days.

CHAPTER VII

ON THE GLORIFICATION OF THE HOLY SAPS

1. Kahmât hacha<sup>2</sup> Apûm Vanghvinâm fritis<sup>3</sup> fra-jasaiti? From when shall the praise, i.e. the right glorification, of the Good Holy Saps take place? i.e., at what time «should» the Thanksgiving Service of the «Holy» Saps «take place»?<sup>4</sup>

2. Hacha hû-vakhshât â hû frâshmô-dâtôit<sup>5</sup> pairi-sachâiti. It shall be gone through «during the period» from sunrise up to sunset.<sup>6</sup>

3. Tat hama; tat airvi-gâmê. «It shall be» thus in summer; «and it shall be» thus in winter «likewise».

4. Yô Âpê Zaothrâm fra-baraiti, He who presents the Hallowed Portion to the Holy Sap, pascha hû-frâshmô-dâtîm para hû-vakhshât, after sunset and in the interval before sunrise, 99 A pnôit vainghô<sup>8</sup> ahmât shyaothanem vrrrzyêiti does no better thing than such yatha yat hîm azhôis vîshô-vaêpahê<sup>7</sup> gastrem<sup>8</sup> paityâptâm<sup>9</sup>

<sup>4</sup> Some of the last chapters of the Yasna that have descended to us are devoted to the Holy Saps; hence a glorification of the Divine Power manifested in them is associated with the Holy Worship.

<sup>7</sup> TD has 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀; HJ has 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀. Darmesteter recalls the Armenian vishâp. Cf. Yas. IX, 30.

<sup>8</sup> The text has vastrem which is corrected into a word derivable from gangh = to devour.

<sup>9</sup> TD has 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀; HJ has 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀; but the word must have a form to agree with him.

karshôit, as when he would have<sup>1</sup> tossed it, i.e. the good water, quite<sup>1</sup> into the jaw<sup>2</sup> of a poison-belching serpent,<sup>3</sup> i.e., as when he would have poured it into the jaws of reptiles.<sup>4</sup>

5. « Hence » this function particularly must be performed during daytime: viz., the Hallowed Portion must be taken, and the Holy Dedicatory Formula ..... Apām....., vîspaêshûm « Yazatanûm » ..... '.....of the Holy Saps .....', of all « the Divinities » ..... '...'<sup>5</sup> « which is to be recited therefor, must be recited » according to the nature<sup>5</sup> of the Holy Creed.<sup>6</sup>

6. Afrog said: Verily, the Law has determined « the text ..... » Apām ..... », vîspaêshûm « Yazatanûm » ..... « '..... of the Holy Saps ..... », of all « the Divinities .....' as » unlawful « for performance » at night.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>3</sup> The words âzh ê vish must be supplied before barâ ayâft, for, they have dropped out through error; see the Pahlavi translation of Yas. IX. 30.

<sup>4</sup> A similar idea is expressed in Yt. V, 94-95 where it is said that the dedications which wicked people offer up to Ardvî Sûra after sunset, cannot be accepted by that Power, but are received by the demoniac forces whose worship they become owing to being offered at night, and to foul emanations naturally resulting then.

Darmesteter has already noticed the fact that this passage is published and translated by Haug in the edition of the Zand-Pahlavi Farhang, pp. 76-77.

<sup>10</sup> Apparently because these things are to be prepared in the period preceding the morning, so that they may be ready for the services of Hâvani; and hence the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Saps cannot be taken along with them, because, it cannot be taken in the period preceding the morning.

electrisation, which are made ready by » the young priests,<sup>1</sup> and the Haoma drink « which is expressed by » the young priests.<sup>1</sup> « And » 99 B because<sup>2</sup> owing to that « circumstance » the Thanksgiving Service would be so contrary as if indifferent, it should not be allowed that the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Sap be taken at night-time.

8. There is one who says : Behold, if « during the Holy Service » the dish holding the Vars « ring for the electrification » be not there, that cannot be proper.

9. There is one who says : Behold, if one strike<sup>3</sup> it against a stone,<sup>4</sup> that cannot be proper.

10. One should perform « one's sacred functions » with good-natured<sup>5</sup> wisdom<sup>6</sup> ; « because » it is one's duty<sup>6</sup> that one be good in nature<sup>7</sup> « while performing those ».

11. There is one who says thus : Verily, if there be a code<sup>8</sup> from which « people » derive<sup>9</sup> no benefit,<sup>9</sup> then though it be by heart, it is after all said that that cannot<sup>10</sup> be the proper thing<sup>10</sup> « therefore ».

12. When one is to take the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Sap, one should proceed to the precincts<sup>11</sup> of water, and one should recite the text of Holy Wisdom to the Boundless Saps,<sup>12</sup> and one should hold the special Formula for opening the function « thus »<sup>13</sup> :—

Ashem Vohû 3 ; « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times » ;

<sup>1</sup> Apûrnâihân. It is not plain why this qualification is made. Is it meant that the young performers being naturally not so quick as the old practised hands had specially to conduct the Preparatory Service in the time preceding the day to finish the main service in the time allowed ? Or, is it that the term signifies here simply the lesser priests who prepare the ritual apparatus ?

<sup>13</sup> What follows will be found in the Preparatory Service, p. VII, of Ervad Tehmurasp's Yasna with the Ritual, and mostly also in Fragment VII.

Fravarânê..... ' I profess myself « a worshipper of the Most Wise..... » ' ;

The glorification of the period of the day one may have « while reciting » ;

Aiwyô Vanghvibyô, vîspanãmcha Apãm Mazdadhâtanãm, Brrrzatô 100 A Ahurahê Nafidhrô Apãm, Apascha Mazdadhâtayô, tava Ahurânê Ahurahê ! khshnaothra, yasnûicha, up to frasastayaêcha.<sup>1</sup>

' With the establishment of the Holy Concord and with the veneration..... u p t o and glorification for the Good Holy Saps, and of all the Holy Saps made by the Most Wise, of the Exalted Lord the Source of the Holy Saps, of the Holy Sap made by the Most Wise, of thee O Lordly One of the Lord !''<sup>2</sup>

13. « Then there should be further recited » :—

' We glorify, O Lordly One of the Lord ! thy good thanksgivings and venerations, good offerings, blest offerings, and loved offerings.'

14. « While reciting onwards, at » Yazatanãm..... ' Of the Worshipful Powers.....' « the cups of the Hallowed Portion must be held still » on the water ; <sup>4</sup> « at » thwâ..... ' thee.....' « the cups » should be turned about <sup>5</sup> ; « at » ashaonãm..... ' among the righteous.....' the pure water should be taken into « the cups » a little ; « at » kukhshnûsha <sup>6</sup> ' I long to please ' they should be made

In the Preparatory Service given in Ervad Tehmurasp's Yasna with the Ritual there follows here the text Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô Zaatâ etc., and the word Ashem at whose utterance two cups for the Hallowed Portion are taken to the water basin, and are held touching the surface of the water, and are constantly moved on it while the following paragraph is being recited.

full; <sup>1</sup> « and at » Us-bîbarômi <sup>2</sup> 'I long to take « thee » out' they should be held up out of the water.<sup>1</sup>

15. « There should then be recited » Rathwascha Brrratô... ..
... 'And of the Exalted Lord... ..' <sup>3</sup> « while » on the way « to their appointed place; and at » gâthdoscha srâvayôit 'holy songs shall one sing' <sup>4</sup> « those cups must be put down » just on the spot where they are required to be placed.

100 B 16. Those 2 persons who may <sup>5</sup> be pleased to perform the function <sup>5</sup> shall receive the special formula therefor one from the other,<sup>6</sup> and shall recite « the text containing the words » Rathwascha Brrratô... .. 'Of the Exalted Lord... ..' <sup>3</sup>

17. He who must fetch « the Hallowed Portion » shall proceed up to 3 steps from the water, and while he may yet be without ceremonial washing, shall recite Frâ té staomaidê... .. 'I glorify thy... ..'. And when he will have proceeded through the 3 steps from the water, he shall hold onwards the special formula for the function « of taking the Hallowed Portion ».

18. Dât-Vêh Jâmâsp<sup>7</sup> said: When any « alien » matter enters the water of the Hallowed Portion, that cannot be allowed. « So » at the time when it has been taken, if such « alien matter » be found in it, it cannot be fit for use.

<sup>5-5</sup> —sh kâr farmâyênd. It appears that the priest who took this Hallowed Portion was assisted by another.

<sup>7</sup> The word however is written 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀 where 𐬰 after 𐬀 might be a wrong repetition of the previous letter and 𐬰 is often found for 𐬰 or 𐬰𐬀.

19. There is one who says thus: Whensoever indeed it may fall into use, the water should be pure<sup>1</sup> in order that it may be wholly fit, and there should not be any the least noxious matter « therein ».

20. If several<sup>2</sup> « smaller quantities » be taken up to make one « whole », that cannot be proper.<sup>3</sup>

21. If « the Hallowed Portion » be taken up in one « large quantity, and then » portioned out into several « smaller quantities », that cannot be proper.<sup>3</sup>

22. If while it is being taken up, night overtake one, that cannot be proper.<sup>4</sup> 101 A

23. There is one who says thus: Behold, unless it be stinking, it is fit for use in all cases.

24. If it have been kept during the night it should be thrown away.

25. If it be taken into use and kept<sup>5</sup> when it is not<sup>6</sup> to be kept, the dedication must pass into a retributory act, even as it cannot be « worth » differently.

26. Dât-Vêh said: Verily, « these are the circumstances » when the dedication must pass into a retributory act:— When just « the quality » that should not have been taken is taken, when there is kept that which ought to be cast away, as whenever « the water for the Hallowed Portion » is kept into the night, « and » when the sacred Barsôm,

<sup>3</sup> The Hallowed Portion ought to be filled out from the same large quantity all at once, and according to the directions given above; and it should be just the quantity that is wanted for the purpose in hand: no more, no less.

<sup>4</sup> Because on nightfall it is unfit for offering; and hence it should be managed to take it so early as may allow its being taken and offered up during daytime only.

What is taken into use should not be kept, but should be poured out as libation.

32. After that, one must cook a <sup>1</sup> good quantity <sup>1</sup> of millet <sup>2</sup> viand <sup>3</sup> in grease, <sup>4</sup> and prepare the Haoma drink, as should be fit for all the purposes.

33. If the Vars « ring for the electrification » have been left in « the Haoma drink », and if <sup>5</sup> « owing to that » the « drink » have changed in taste, <sup>6</sup> it shall be unfit « for use ; but » if it have not changed in taste, it shall not be unfit. <sup>5</sup>

34. Vakhshâpûhar said: Verily, that « water » which has come « in use » for purification is fit « to be used again for purification »—it is fit rather than that which has impurity « in it ». <sup>7</sup> The same is fit « to be used » repeatedly <sup>8</sup> until it becomes impure. « In any case » this is « just only » how I think <sup>9</sup> that « this is a circumstance wherein it need always be » maintained <sup>10</sup> « that » a thing is to be purified <sup>11</sup> 102 A with « but » clear <sup>12</sup> « water simply ».

35. This « point » whether anything can be purified in the water « itself » <sup>13</sup> or no, « is » not settled, excepting for the teaching of Mart-Bût the son of Dât-gun; <sup>14</sup> because, Mart-Bût the son of Dât-gun said « one thing which bears hereon »: Water, whether it be

<sup>13</sup> The word can more easily be read hikhar, Av. Hikhra = "dry impure matter"; but that meaning cannot suit in the context which discusses simply the circumstances of the repeated use of the same water for purification.

<sup>14</sup> Thus read by West who might receive the support of other proper names known to have this termination, such as, Raodôgûnâ the name of an Arshkânian princess, and Yazdigûn the name of the great Parsi plenipotentiary sent to the court of Justinian by Chosroe the Great. See below, Chap. XIV, 18.

The word may however also be read Dâtin.

clear<sup>1</sup> or muddy,<sup>2</sup> « must, he said, be treated as » pure so long as it is moving; « and hence » even the hands that are exceedingly pure, are not to be washed in a stream.

CHAPTER VIII

ON THE RIGHT GLORIFICATION OF THE PERIODS RELATING TO LIFE'S NOON: THE RAPÎTWÎN, THE GREAT EQUINOCTIAL CELEBRATION

1. Kahmât hacha Rapithwinanûm<sup>3</sup> gâthanûm ratufris fra-jasâiti<sup>4</sup>? From when shall the right glorification of the periods relating to the Noon take place? i.e., at what<sup>5</sup> times should the Thanksgiving Service of « the periods relating to » the Noon be performed?

2. Hacha rapithwayât maidhyâi uzayardî pairi-sachâiti. It shall be gone through « during the period » from midday up to mid-afternoon.

3. The Service of the Equinoxes should be celebrated twice.<sup>6</sup> in the year: one « is » that which « should be performed when the time of the noon » sets in,<sup>7</sup> and one « is » that which « should be performed

It is however evident that the word could be hikharaômmand if the expression barâ amat which precedes it, were taken to indicate the sense "excepting."

<sup>2</sup> Gûndak, lit.,="thick"; see above.

At present, it is customary to celebrate the Rapithwin only on Ardibehesht the third day of the first month Fravardin.

<sup>7</sup> In ancient Iran, in its middle period, the warm season lasted seven months and the cold five months. The period of noon called Rapithwina, lasted from mid-day to midafternoon, and belonged only to the warm season of seven months; for, the cold season days were so very short, that they had, as it were, only mornings and afternoons and no noons. Although the months have shifted in the seasons owing to errors in the calendar, still these seven months are counted from Fravardin to Meher, notwithstanding that they do not cover the warm season now.

when it » passes out.<sup>1</sup>

4. « This Service » must pass into retribution if one were to celebrate it at every « possible » time<sup>2</sup> from when « the time of the noon » sets in up to when it passes out; « for instance, this » Thanksgiving Service « performed » on the Aûharmazd day « dedicated to the Most Wise Lord » is not proper as it cannot<sup>3</sup> be celebrated on the Aûharmazd day.<sup>4</sup>

5. The day Vohûman « dedicated to the Good Mind, also », is not « here » as good as the Arta-Vahisht<sup>5</sup> day « dedicated to Righteousness » the Most Excellent Good ».

6. There is one who says: The day Shatvaîr<sup>6</sup> « dedicated to the Holy Power » is « quite » good « for the purpose ».<sup>4</sup>

7. The sacred Barsôm twigs, « required in this service » should be bound in the period of the morn; and one should « likewise » prepare the « vitalising » Haoma drink in the period of the morn. If one were to do this in the period of the noon that could not be proper.<sup>7</sup>

8. There is one who says thus: Behold, at the Service of the Equinoxes one should perform the Holy Dedicatory Formula « thus »: Ashahê Vahistahê, Âthrascha Ahurahê Mazddô,<sup>8</sup> vîspaêshûm....., 103 A

<sup>1</sup> As the first celebration takes place now on the third day of the first month the second ought to take place on the third day of the seventh month. And indeed as the two great festivals of the Fravartikân and the Meherangân fall very near these days, could it not be likely that they were really associated with the celebrations of the vernal and autumnal equinoxes?

This service must be celebrated only on certain days; see what follows.

<sup>4</sup> As Asha Vahista is propitiated in this service, it is considered proper to celebrate it on the Asha Vahista, Artavahisht, or Ardibehesht day.

The word 𐬀𐬵 is repeated in HJ through error.

<sup>7</sup> Things wanted ready in the service of a particular period must be prepared in the previous period of the day.

ashdunām Fravashinām<sup>1</sup> ..... '« With the establishment of the Holy Concord ..... » of Righteousness the Most Excellent Good, of the Life Flame of the Most Wise Lord, of all....., « and » of the Spiritual Essences of the righteous ones.'<sup>2</sup>

9. There is one who says thus: « The Holy Dedicatory formula should rather be » Ashahê Vahistahê, Âthrascha Ahurahê Mazdô puthra<sup>3</sup> ..... '« With the establishment of the Holy Concord..... » of Righteousness the Most Excellent Good, « and » of « thee » the Life Flame O offspring of the Most Wise Lord!'

10. One says: The Service of the Equinoxes should be performed exhaustively;<sup>4</sup> and such<sup>5</sup> circumstance of something being omitted therefrom<sup>6</sup> should not be allowed—verily «that is» Vakhshâpûhar « who says so ».<sup>6</sup>

11. The eye<sup>7</sup> should go forth « round the Sacred Apparatus first »;<sup>8</sup> and « then » one should open the commencement of the Holy Worship.

12. One should have the sacred Drôn cake near the end of the Barsôm « which should be in a bundle » of 7 twigs.<sup>9</sup>

The 7 twigs « should be » firmly bound<sup>10</sup> with the sacred band.<sup>11</sup>

The sacred Drôn cake should be one.

13. Indeed when « the Service is celebrated » with the sacred twigs not bound firmly with the sacred band, that cannot be proper.

<sup>9</sup> At present a bundle of 13 twigs is used in the Rapitwin itself; and below, at Fol. 168, l. 9, ff., it is plainly said that 7 twigs are wanted for the Drôn Service in the worship of the First Rapitwin.

The words سس سس before سس must be dropped just as in TD.

<sup>11</sup> Ayivyâhan. It is now made of 6 strips of the date palm leaf twisted together.

14. The sacred Drôn cake of 10-fold merit<sup>1</sup> should be dedicated « in the Service of the Equinoxes ».

15. If a Thanksgiving Service « must fall » into such<sup>2</sup> period<sup>3</sup> of the day that it cannot be proper to celebrate it in that period,<sup>3</sup> then one should not celebrate such Thanksgiving Service.

16. « As regards » any one who may have celebrated the Service of the Equinoxes in such period « as this,<sup>4</sup> whether » in the capacity of the Leading Priest, or as having celebrated it jointly « with him », if « it is just that person » who has held grace on the sacred Drôn cake « dedicated for such Service » and has partaken of it, then that « Drôn Service also » cannot have any propriety;<sup>5</sup> whereas, if it is not that person who has celebrated « the main Service that way », then that « Drôn Service » cannot lose propriety « for the wrong celebration of the main Service by other people ». 103 B

17. There is one who says thus : Behold one shall pick and bind the sacred Barsôm twigs just in the same<sup>6</sup> period<sup>7</sup>; « for », it cannot be proper « to have done so » in a period another than that in which the Thanksgiving may have been said.

18. Vakhshâpûhar said : During the period when the Service of the Equinoxes may not « yet » have been celebrated, even the ladies in our<sup>8</sup> households shall eat less food « than they are wont to eat ».<sup>9</sup>

When the Drôn is consecrated with merely the recitation of the Avesta and without the Barsôm and other ritualistic things, the merit of the consecration is simply onefold; but this becomes tenfold if the complete set of things pertaining to the ritual are used at the consecration. See Dr. West's note 1 to Sh. Lâ-Sh. XVI, 6.

The word 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 is repeated through error. <sup>2</sup> Zak.

<sup>5</sup> It is evidently meant that this is an impropriety in addition to that other of having performed the main Service in the wrong way. <sup>6</sup> Zak.

<sup>7</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 should be 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 as in TD. It must be recalled that at Fol. 102, l. 23, ff. it is advised to bind the Barsôm in the previous period of the day.

<sup>8</sup> TD has rightly 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀. Very probably the reference is to the sacred households.

<sup>9</sup> Is it meant that the ladies also had to look to the celebration, and does it point to an observance of some sort of a semi-fast that was to be broken on the performance of the Service? Of course, an out and out fast is not found recommended anywhere in the sacred literature.

ON THE RIGHT GLORIFICATION OF THE PERIODS RELATING TO LIFE'S EVENING

2. Hacha maidhyâi uzayarât hû-frâshmôddâtêê para-sachâiti. It shall be gone through « during the period » from mid-afternoon up to sunset.<sup>5</sup>

104 A      3A, Āat aiwi-gâmê, yêzi para hû-frâshmô-dâtôit Ahunâscha
Vairiyân fra-srâvayêiti, ‘Whereas’ in winter,<sup>7</sup> if before sunset one recites « the prayers of » “As is the Lord’s Holy Pleasure.....”,<sup>8</sup> _____

<sup>8</sup> Most probably those at the close of § 7 of Yas. XXVII which immediately precedes the Gâtha chapters and where, in the ordinary Yazeshn, the Haoma is pounded vigorously, but where different manipulations might have taken place in the Service of the Uzirin Gah in winter : see § 5 below.

4. Sôshâns said these « are » to <sup>1</sup> be halted in <sup>1</sup> at « the expression » Shyaothanânûm <sup>2</sup> ..... 'of the deeds.....', because there the Hallowed Portion is to be offered <sup>3</sup> in the Hôrnâst « which is the Service of All the Worshipful Ones ».

These Ahunvars occupy a distinct position in the Yasna as marking a very important stage where the Gâtha chapters are just about to commence. No doubt Yas. XXX is the first text that is mentioned in relation to the next period in ll. 20 and 21 of the following folio; still it is not likely that the Ahunavaiti Gâtha which comprises Yas. Chaps. XXVIII—XXXIV, might have been so broken up as to have its two opening chapters belong to the preceding period. It is indeed true that there occur four Ahunvars at the close of Yas. XXIX; but in no way is their nature peculiar, because they likewise occur at the close of every other chapter of the Ahunavaiti Gâtha and are followed in every case by three Ashem Vohûs besides.

The two Ahunvars at the close of Yas. XI, 11 are others that also occupy an important position as marking the close of the Haoma Yasna; but according to l. 20 of this folio, it is four Ahunvars that are apparently intended here; and besides, such a break would be a too early one.

<sup>2</sup> Of course this is the word occurring in the Ahunvar, at which certain operations in the ritual are usually made to take place.

<sup>3</sup> Otherwise, "procured." The reference might be to the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Saps if the Ahunvars of Yas. LXVIII, 13 were intended here. But the remark in ll. 19-20 of this folio, or § 5 below, points to the Hallowed Portion that is to be partaken of, which act is stated there to be taking place at an unusual point; and this we have found to be at Yas. XXVII, 7.

<sup>7</sup> The force of this probably is to indicate that the "Holy Sap" chapters are also to be recited alongside.

what <sup>1</sup> belongs to the previous portion of the day <sup>1</sup> should be finished in the previous portion of the day. — anâstrrrtô paschaêta avâo yâo anyâo <sup>2</sup> srâvayôit â maidhyât khshapat. « then » one « remains » inculpable, i.e., without sin, « if » one must sing the remaining <sup>3</sup> « chapters » by midnight, even as « the proper time of » 104 B the day « will » not « have » changed « then ».<sup>4</sup>

5. Behold, even the Commentary has been with a different command<sup>5</sup> on the recitals « here »; so that verily<sup>6</sup> it is agreed in the Law that it is not fit « in this case » to partake of the Hallowed Portion at its commonly<sup>7</sup> appointed<sup>7</sup> place.<sup>8</sup> It should be partaken of at those 4<sup>9</sup> « recitals of » Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô ‘As is the Lord’s Holy Pleasure,’ when they are « likewise » to drink the Haoma beverage.

It may be recalled that elsewhere this word means “forenoon”; but here it seems to have been derived from ayara with the general sense of “a period of the day.”

It might appear as if 𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 were meant here; but then it is not only the Gâtha chapters that are to be recited yet: there are many other besides.

<sup>4</sup> For, the average time of the day will not have run through at sunset then; see note 6 to Nir. II, Chap. V, 3, on p. 169 above. It must, besides, be noted that a new day, according to the Nirangastân, must commence at midnight; because it commences its Gâhs with the Ushahin. <sup>5</sup> Dinâ; 𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 should be 𐬀𐬭𐬀.

<sup>8</sup> If nothing besides the Drôn and Gaôshûdâ and the Haoma drink were partaken of in ancient practice as now, then, because the close of this section indicates the act to be one which is distinct from the drinking of the Haoma, the reference here must be to the Drôn and Gaôshûdâ only. But if the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Sap were also drunk in old days, then the reference might be just to that circumstance here. It must have then been usually drunk late in the Yasna recital, just while offering the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Sap; but in the special case of offering up the Hallowed Portion earlier in the Service, it must have been drunk earlier in order to accompany that act.

<sup>9</sup> We have only 2 Ahunvars for reciting after drinking the Haoma at Yas. XI, 11, which is the usual place whereat the Haoma beverage is drunk; hence the reference appears to be to the four Ahunvars at the close of Yas. XXVII, 7 where the Haoma drink and the Hallowed Portion intended just above were to be partaken of together in this special case. See again note 8 to § 3A above, and the note here just preceding.

proceed to the seat of the Leading Officiating Priest ; one should raise again the Twig dedicated to the Giver<sup>1</sup>; one should stand again for « reciting » the Holy Text; « and » one should go through the Service<sup>2</sup> for the Holy Flame.<sup>3</sup>

12. One should at the same time place forward the sacred milk<sup>4</sup> « which is » the portion for the sacred Barsôm twigs.<sup>4</sup>

13. « Inasmuch as there will be » day no more « now, so » as regards the Hallowed Portion, one should dedicate « only » the thought « thereof » to the Holy Sap.<sup>5</sup>

14. In the Dah-Hômâst « the Tenfold Service of All the Worshipful Ones, and » in the Dvâzdah-Hômâst « the Twelffold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », one should so proceed as if the Hallowed Portion had entirely passed into the Service of the Night.<sup>6</sup>

15. Should « things that are not required » have, one after another, entered « the Service » the most unknowingly,<sup>7</sup> one should have

<sup>1</sup> This would settle that the Datûsh must be the same as the Frâgâm twig ; because exactly as stated here it is the Frâgâm twig that is held up on commencing Yas. LXII which is also comprised in the Âtash Niyâyesh, as it is devoted to the Holy Flame. It is put down in its place on finishing this chapter.

<sup>2</sup> Yas. LXII as comprised in the independent Âtash Niyâyesh which is to be recited before continuing the Service.

<sup>3</sup> Jiv. The cup containing the sacred milk is placed forward on the ritual table before commencing Yas. LXII.

<sup>4</sup> The reference here is not to the fact that the Twig of the Hallowed Portion is dipped in the sacred milk and passed along the Barsôm band at several places in the Service, nor also to the fact that the prepared sacred liquid is poured on the Barsôm band during Yas. LXX and LXXI, but to the fact that the sacred milk is also to be poured as libation on the Barsôm twigs; see below, Fol. 141, l. 2, ff.

<sup>5</sup> It must be remembered that nothing concerning the Holy Saps was actually to be performed at night. Here it is simply deemed necessary to give merely a thought to their Hallowed Portion, at that point in the Service where it might have been offered, had it been day.

<sup>6</sup> In the case of these services it appears that except for the omission of procuring and offering the actual Hallowed Portion for the Holy Saps, the Service was to be the same in every respect, as in other cases; and even the Dedication was to be performed, though indeed the Hallowed Portion was to be offered only in thought.

dropped them one by one during the day, even as they might have intruded into the function.<sup>1</sup>

17. This «circumstance» as to when the «several» sacred Barsôm twigs are to be brought<sup>4</sup> into contact with each other,<sup>4</sup> is not plain.

18. There is one who says: Verily, they are to be arranged on either side<sup>5</sup> with the heads of both<sup>6</sup> «lying towards each other».

<sup>2</sup> Taking weu (Yasht) instead of weu. The reference here may be to the fact noticed just above that excepting for the actual offering of the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Saps, the service accompanying that act was to be repeated in the service of the next period in respect of the Dah-Hômâst and the Dvâzdah-Hômâst; and it may be meant here that this Hallowed Portion was also to be actually mixed in the usual process, but was simply to be left by. Otherwise the reference may be simply to the mixture of the Hallowed Portion for the Barsôm during the preceding period, and to its having to be left by to be poured out during the next.

<sup>3</sup> At certain points in the Service, the contents of the cups of the Hallowed Portion, which form a mixture of the Hoama extract, the sacred electrised water and the sacred milk, are repeatedly poured from one into another.

At present this is done on commencing Yas. LXV, and also at §§ 19 and 21 of Yas. LXVIII which both are devoted to the glorification of the Holy Saps. As the latter at least is to be recited out of its usual place in the Service of the Uzirin Gâh in winter, it is perhaps meant that while reciting it again in the next period, in the case of the Dah-Hômâst and the Dvâzdah-Hômâst, this mixture is again to be prepared as usually, but must simply be left by, as it cannot be offered at night. Otherwise, again, it may be meant that though it is to be prepared during the preceding period as the Hallowed Portion for the Barsôm, it is to be left by then, to be poured, in the next period as libation for the Barsôm, just at the commencement of Yas. XXX according to what is inferred from below.

<sup>4</sup> Otherwise, "mixed." The reference may be to the fact that the Twig of the Hallowed Portion is stuck into the Barsôm bundle and taken out again at several places. Or else, it must refer to the careful bunching and heaping of the Barsôm while spreading it, as is described below at Fol. 180, l. 8, ff.

19. When the Hallowed Portion<sup>1</sup> is held, it should be poured out at the text At tã vakhshydã,<sup>2</sup> ..... 'Verily I shall declare those « things »<sup>3</sup>.....' .

20. If in that act<sup>3</sup> one were to pour « the Hallowed Portion » not with the accompaniment of the Holy Text, then one would have to manage that over again.

« Of course while minding this function » one is to leave out the portion of the Holy Saps.<sup>4</sup>

21. If the Hallowed Portion is to be offered to one of two « things », then it must « preferably » be offered to the Holy Sap.

22. If the Worship is to be performed through for one of two « things », then that must « preferably » be performed for the Holy Flame.

23. There is one « according to whom all » this<sup>5</sup> must be done in each<sup>6</sup> of the Aêvak-Hômâst « the Onefold Service of All the <sup>1</sup> Of course, the reference here cannot be to the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Saps, even as is made plain by ll. 23-24 of this folio, but must be to the Hallowed Portion for the Barsôm implied in l. 7 of this folio, and which, in the ordinary service, is offered by being poured on the Barsôm band during the recital of Yas. LXX and LXXI. Now because in the ordinary service the Hallowed Portion for the Barsôm is poured out soon after the glorification of the Holy Saps, and because this has occurred specially early in the Service of the Uzirin Gâh, and also probably because the prepared Hallowed Portion must not lie by long, it is accordingly required that the Hallowed Portion for the Barsôm also must be offered specially early in this case, viz., on the commencement of Yas. XXX, and not during Yas. LXX and LXXI as usually.

<sup>2</sup> Commencement of Yas. XXX. Evidently, as it is already noticed, the act here described belongs to the next period, and the Hallowed Portion that is offered does not belong to the Holy Saps, but appertains to the Barsôm.

Indeed this is the first text actually mentioned here in relation to the next period; and as 4 Ahunvars occur at the close of Yas. XXIX, it might be thought probable that the chapters belonging to the Holy Saps might have been shifted between these chapters in the Service of the Uzirin Gâh; but one must see objections to this as are given in note 8 to § 3 A, above. <sup>3</sup> Tôkhshih.

<sup>4</sup> This makes it evident that the Hallowed Portion mentioned above is not that for the Holy Saps, and at the same time indicates that the two functions are closely connected, even as is the case in the ordinary Service.

<sup>5</sup> This does not directly refer to the two statements just preceding, but rather to all that is stated immediately above in respect of a service running into two periods.

Worshipful Ones », the Dô-Hômâst « the Twofold Service of All the Worshipful Ones, the Dah-Hômâst,<sup>1</sup> the Tenfold Service of All the Worshipful Ones, and » the Dvâzdah-Hômâst « the Twelffold Service of All the Worshipful Ones, that may be performed at such times ».

24. In the Dah-Hômâst « the Tenfold Service of All the Worshipful Ones » and in the Dvâzdah-Hômâst « the Twelffold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », as there is to be recited « always »<sup>2</sup> one portion « of the Service » as the<sup>3</sup> portion for the preceding period of 106 A the day,<sup>3</sup> so during that portion<sup>3</sup> for the preceding period of the day<sup>3</sup> the Hallowed Portion should be poured all to the Holy Saps,<sup>4</sup> and everything else « relating to that » should be attended to ; « but » there should be left « what might be » a portion for anything else « to be offered at its proper place in the usual service ».<sup>5</sup>

25. In the Dah-Hômâst « the Tenfold Service of All the Worshipful Ones and » the Dvâzdah-Hômâst « the Twelffold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », it is required at every portion for the preceding period of the day, to recite the Glorification<sup>6</sup> of the Holy Saps<sup>6</sup> once.

26. There is one who says : « It is so required in the case of such a service pertaining to » every department of Holy Science.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>1</sup> There is no reason why the Dah-Hômâst (the Tenfold Service of All the Worshipful Ones) should be omitted here. Probably it has dropped from here through error and may be restored.

<sup>4</sup> Because the next period will be a period of darkness when the Hallowed Portion cannot be offered to the Holy Saps.

<sup>5</sup> Evidently because it will not be objectionable to offer such a portion at night as that does not belong to the Holy Saps ; see last folio, ll. 14-25.

These texts are by all means to be recited in every Yasna ritual, but it is meant here that they are specially to be recited at an earlier point in those services which may extend into the night. It may appear according to the statement in l. 9, ff. of the preceding folio that in the case of the Dah-Hômâst and the Dvâzdah-Hômâst, these texts were to be repeated again in the next period.

<sup>7</sup> Nask. It is meant that the case of the specially early repetition of these texts, when the Service is to extend into the night, is not limited to the above services only, but applies to any such service pertaining to the Sacred Text of any Nask.

CHAPTER X

ON THE RIGHT GLORIFICATION OF THE PERIODS
RELATING TO LIFE'S FORENIGHT

1. Kahmât Aiwi-sruthremanûm gâthanûm, ratufris fra-jasaiti?
From when shall the right glorification of the periods relating to the Forenight<sup>1</sup> take place? i.e., at what periods should the Thanksgiving Service of Forenight be performed?

2. Hacha hû-frâshmôddîtêê<sup>2</sup> maidhyâi khshapê pairi-sachâiti. It shall be gone through « during the period » from sunset up to midnight.

106 B 3. Tat hama<sup>3</sup>; tat aiwi-gâma.<sup>3</sup> « It shall be » so in summer; « and it shall be » so in winter « likewise ».<sup>4</sup>

4. Behold, this is « the period » when a cattle-head<sup>5</sup> is to be procured at the place « of the Service », if none at all is « already » procured in that which precedes.<sup>6</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Aiwisruthrema literally means “pertaining to Higher Voices, High Intonations and Superior Studies”; and as this name is given to the period between sunset and midnight, it must be inferred that that period was devoted to Divine Meditations, Holy Singing and Profound Studies. In its higher sense it signifies the period of Holy Inspiration marking the superior stage of the Illumined Life.

<sup>4</sup> This must not of course lead one to suppose that the length of the period between sunset and midnight was even approximately the same in summer and winter; because according to what we have already noticed the winter nights in ancient Iran were much longer than the summer nights, and indeed the longest winter night was double the shortest summer night: (See Bund. XXV, 5). Hence this fact can be reconciled with the statement in the text by concluding that the period between sunset and midnight on the shortest night sufficed for the purpose stated here; and that would manifestly be but of 4 hours' duration.

If 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 be wrong for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 or 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 the translation might be, “As the High Priest must secure a conspicuous place, if there be not even a single conspicuous one, he should secure the foremost.” But apparently, this does not suit what follows.

5. As regards taking « it in », there is one who states that when it is a single<sup>1</sup> continuous<sup>1</sup> Thanksgiving Service « that is » to be celebrated at night, « the animal » should have been set aside for it during daytime.<sup>2</sup>

6. At the functions<sup>3</sup> of tasting,<sup>3</sup> the seat of the sacred Fire should verily be washed both the times.

« People » must verily wash it thus in the function<sup>4</sup> that may take place at « the Holy Temple of » the Varharân, « the Life Flame of Holy Victoriousness »<sup>5</sup>; but they need not wash it in that « performed » at home.<sup>6</sup>

7. While « people » are performing the single continuous<sup>1</sup> Thanksgiving Service, then so long as there lasts the night before « the return of » the day, if one just put an end to gazing at the sacred Fire,<sup>7</sup> « the Service will be turned into » demon-worship, « and the people will be » ingrafted with sin in their persons.

This « circumstance » whether the Thanksgiving Service « in that case » is to be put an end to or no, is not clear.<sup>8</sup>

8. Note « however » that when « a person has turned » demon-« like, then although that person » may « be willing to » turn one's face<sup>9</sup> to the sacred Fire and may « be willing to » hold the sacred Barsôm twigs, still such a one is not to turn « one's face thus », nor to hold the « sacred twigs ».<sup>10</sup>

Apparently the injunction here specially applies to the Service of the Aiwisru-threm Gâh.

<sup>10</sup> This must mean that the Service must be closed at once by the person who might have become demon-like through turning one's face from the sacred Fire; for, that person can neither look again at the Fire nor hold the Barsôm which both are essential to the performance of the Service.

Hence when it is said a little above that it is not clear whether the Service is to be closed in such a case it is probably simply meant that there is no direct statement to that effect in the holy Scriptures, though indeed essential circumstances make it evident that the Service should be put an end to at once.

9. « And » there is one who says thus : Verily even when one 107 A may have done so, then also, in any case, one is to put an end to the Service, « in accordance with the statement » Aêta <sup>1</sup> aiwyâsta <sup>2</sup> -chit paiti
apa-thwarrstemem <sup>3</sup> -chit titarenta.<sup>4</sup> ' Notwithstanding <sup>5</sup> their being educated, among other things, <sup>6</sup> they have rushed into the greatest irregularity, etc.'

10. If that person were to carry « the Service » on while another might be kindling « the sacred Fire » for him,<sup>7</sup> that also could not be allowed ; « because » instead of one who must perform « a thing oneself » if another were to carry it through, that could not be proper.

11. Sôshâns said : Note that if one take a sheep <sup>8</sup> to the Service instead of a cattle-head, that cannot be allowed.

CHAPTER XI

ON THE PRESCRIBED SERVICES FOR THE UPRIGHT CONTENTED POOR AND FOR THE CORRUPT CONTENTLESS RICH

1. Yôî dâitya yaona charenti,<sup>9</sup> « As regards those » who walk in lawful occupations,<sup>10</sup> i.e., « who » follow the pursuits of life dutifully, gavâstracha <sup>11</sup> varrshnâo <sup>12</sup> vrzzantô, Khratûmcha

<sup>1</sup> This must represent the accusative plural, as paiti seems to govern this word and the following; aêtê however is the usual form for accusative plural.

The text which is very corrupt here, has aêdha ; but that is evidently wrong.

<sup>10</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 is commonly translated ayôj (ayôj); so 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 must be for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 (ayôjeshnih).

Ashavanem aiwîshantô,<sup>1</sup> are toiling in husbandry and pasturage and other « honest » occupations, and are studying Righteous Wisdom, i.e., are pursuing Sacerdotal Knowledge according to the Law and the Commentary, a-dhâityô-draonanghascha henti, « and » are 107 B having inappropriate meal,<sup>2</sup> so that they have bread but they have no meat, dâitîm géus draonô upa-isemna adha<sup>3</sup> avanghabdenti, « and » still<sup>3</sup> are « daily » going to sleep « fully content in the hope of » finding the appropriate meal of meat « some day, thinking » thus: “ That shall at last be ours « some day », ” fra-marentem aêshâm, « then » by their reciting the prayers « merely there-on », whereby verily the Thanksgiving Service of the Season Festival becomes so celebrated by them that the Avaôirisht penalty « of 25 Stîrs »<sup>4</sup> cannot take root in them, nôit aêtaêshâm ratufris Ratufritîm thwrrrshâiti. their spiritual due<sup>5</sup> shall not prescribe<sup>6</sup> them as penalty the Right Glorification of the Season,<sup>5</sup> as for not having celebrated the Thanksgiving Service of the Season Festival ; i.e., they are not to make penance<sup>7</sup> by retribution.

2. Yadhôit aêtê fra-marenti, yadhôit ratufrayô. In so far 108 A as those « men » recite « the necessary » prayers wherewith they must offer up thanksgiving, in<sup>8</sup> so far do they « become » full of spiritual merit.<sup>8</sup> And that becomes to them the good deed « of just

<sup>4</sup> This is then the penalty for not celebrating the Season Festival. This sin was said to be distinctly judged at the trial after death. Cf. XV, Chap. 7, below.

<sup>5</sup> Both אֲשָׁוֶן אִישָׁן and אֲשָׁוֶן אִישָׁן are translated אֲשָׁוֶן אִישָׁן, still the meaning must evidently be different.

It must be noted that the words אֲשָׁוֶן אִישָׁן are simply a mistaken repetition of the words preceding. אֲשָׁוֶן must be for אֲשָׁוֶן = אֲשָׁוֶן which we have above. <sup>7</sup> Lâ garzeshn. <sup>8</sup> Aitûn-shân ratihâ.

Those honest folk who live well and find but the bare bread to sustain themselves and are contended in the legitimate hope of finding better things in the future, reap the full spiritual merit by merely saying the prayers of thanksgiving, although they have nothing but bare bread for dedication. Cf. above, Fol. 41, l. 8, ff., or Nir. I, Chap. VIII: App. B, 12.

3. Āt aēta <sup>5</sup> ya <sup>4</sup> fra-charenti kr̥rsāscha, gadhôit̥ischa, daēv̥ischa, han-dvaramana <sup>5</sup> upa-mraod̥ischa <sup>6</sup> v̥ispô-khshap̥ô, Whereas those who live <sup>7</sup> in oppressions, <sup>8</sup> freebootings, <sup>9</sup> deceptions, <sup>10</sup> « and » in companies of debauch, <sup>11</sup> which they call “of adultery,” <sup>12</sup> through all the night whatsoever, dāityô-draonanghascha henti, <sup>13</sup> « and » are having appropriate meal, so that they have bread and they have meat « alongside », fra-dhāt̥im dāt̥im g̥eus draonô upa-isemna <sup>14</sup> adha avanghabdenti, <sup>15</sup> « and » are yet « daily » going to sleep « in complete discontent with the craving for » finding more <sup>16</sup> than the ‘appropriate’ meal of meat, thus : “O that it were still

<sup>9</sup> In 𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢𐎠𐎢 the initial 𐎢𐎠 seems to be a wrong repetition of the final 𐎢 of the previous word. Hence the word formed by what remains may be read giditânih.

10)  $\frac{1}{\sqrt{1-x^2}}$  should be  $\frac{1}{\sqrt{1+x^2}}$ .

12 The סו of סו עבד is adjectival.

15 The text has avanghabdentô which is present participle, Parasmaipada, nominative plural.

The word ~~were~~ must be supplied after this.

more for us!," a-fra-marentem aêshâm, « then » by their not<sup>1</sup> reciting the prayers<sup>1</sup> « thereon », whereby the Thanksgiving Service of the Season Festival does not become celebrated by them and the Avaôirisht penalty « of 25 Stîrs takes » root « in them », aêtaêshâm ratufrîs Rratufrîm thwrrrsaili, their spiritual due for not celebrating the Thanksgiving Service of the Season Festival prescribes them « as penalty » the Right Glorification of the Season; i.e., they are verily to make penance<sup>2</sup> by retribution.<sup>3</sup>

CHAPTER XII

ON THE OWNERSHIP OF THE MEAT ONE CAN OFFER

1. Kûhya<sup>4</sup> â gava<sup>5</sup> ratufrîs? By « offering » meats of 109 A whose belonging shall a person be spiritually worthy, such as he may « legibly » dedicate at the Thanksgiving Service of the Season Festival?

2. Yâo havahê,<sup>6</sup> avâo yâo nâiryâo, yâo puthrahê aprrrnâyaos;<sup>7</sup> Those that are one's own, those of<sup>8</sup> « one's » wife, and especially<sup>9</sup> those of « one's » children<sup>10</sup> « so long as these are » under age;<sup>11</sup>—« these » shall one procure « for the purpose »;

<sup>3</sup> Rich people who live in plenty acquired by wickedness may conveniently offer their good things for dedication; but if they do not likewise offer up the necessary prayers, then they do not achieve the least merit for dedication, but are in as much sin as if they had neglected the Thanksgiving altogether.

<sup>11</sup> It is evident that grown up children are to be considered as independent; hence what belongs to them cannot be offered as the father's own.

109 B 4. Yāo hacha daēvayasnaēibyô ava ūruvaitya<sup>9</sup> apa-bara<sup>10</sup>; aya ratufri; Those which « are » taken away from the demon-worshippers as pledge of fealty<sup>11</sup>; —« indeed » the demon-worshipper who will not keep pledge of fealty<sup>12</sup> shall have his head cut off and his wealth given away for celebrating the Season Festivals; —by such « shall one be » spiritually worthy;

5. Tadha yat paili-barenti yâ<sup>13</sup> Arrdusat a-paililat â-jigaurva;<sup>14</sup> And then 'whatsoever they take away as' those which

<sup>5</sup> Pann a-rânakih = "one in desertion"; cf. Pr. 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 = to incline. Elsewhere the word seems to have been rendered simply by transliteration; cf. 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 which must perhaps be read apârūdīnēt in Yas. XIX, 7, and 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 in Vend. VII, 78, 79.

<sup>11</sup> Or "for satisfaction"; the daēvayasnas were to render satisfaction for some wrong done to the community of the faithful; or they were to hold themselves in pledge about their law-abiding behaviour towards the community generally.

Darmesteter thinks the reference is to the "daēvayasnas not keeping the treaty of peace."

<sup>12</sup> Or, "render satisfaction" for wrong done to the community.

The word must be 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 as in TD.

one has seized for the Arrdûsh sin « of 30 Stirs » not<sup>1</sup> having been expiated; <sup>1</sup>—

6. Behold when the Arrdûsh sin « of 30 Stirs » has taken root in accordance with the judge having held trial and given judgment, then for its expiation the Yât penalty « of 180 Stirs » takes foundation « without any saying ».

7. « As to the prescription of this » Yât penalty, « it must be noted that » in a case when the judge has held trial and pronounced judgment, it is allowable if « in giving the judgment » he has not « specifically » given « out » as to what actions would be those where-with one need fulfil the expiation.<sup>2</sup>

8. — Yâhu varanghana; <sup>3</sup> « And » those in<sup>4</sup> which « are represented » proofs of the ordeal of faith; 110 A

9. Yâ a-dhâiti<sup>5</sup> fravaityanûm<sup>6</sup> frâpa; <sup>7</sup> « And » those which « are » confiscated for « one's » not observing the<sup>8</sup> fulfilments of the pledges of fealty,<sup>9</sup> which one should have lost<sup>9</sup> on that account ;

According to the Vendidad a person who does not expiate a crime of this kind becomes a Tanâpûhar; and as a Tanâpûhar incurred the Tanâpûhar penalty, a penalty equal to 300 Stirs was to be exacted here.

The following paragraph states that if a person has committed the Arrdûsh sin, then for its expiation he must undergo the Yât penalty; hence if one does not expiate the Arrdûsh sin, it signifies that he does not undergo the Yât penalty; and by so doing he incurs the higher penalty Tanâpûhar.

<sup>2</sup> When the judge pronounces the decision that a person has committed an Arrdûsh sin, he need not order the well-known fact that that person shall undergo the Yât penalty.

14. Nôit<sup>1</sup> a-paitya,<sup>2</sup> nôit paiti-kaya,<sup>3</sup> ratufris.<sup>1</sup> « Although one may be » unopposed to « the deed, still if one » have had no interest in « the thing, and be » not sincere « therein, then » in so far as one has no interest in « the thing », one cannot be in spiritual merits.

15. Ratufriš a-paityânô kâhya<sup>4</sup>; « Indeed » one « can be » in 110 B spiritual merit « on devoting to the Service what one has » not « already » given away ' in any way whatsoever ' « to some other end »; viz., such as wherein one « yet » holds interest; ratufris havâ yâ nmânahê paiti-richyêhê. «because» one « can be » in Spiritual merit on « devoting to the Thanksgiving Service » those «things only that are» one's own, «even though they be » from what might be cast away<sup>5</sup> from the house, « and what might be up to » anything so large as the thigh « only », <sup>6</sup>

<sup>2</sup> The negative of the present participle Parasmaipada of 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥 (= to go against; to be opposed to), in the nominative singular case; cf. the form 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥.

The text in TD has 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥; but as this word is rendered 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 in Pahlavi in the same way as the word 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥 which is the negative of the present participle, Atmanepada, nominative singular of 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥, and which just follows, we have corrected the word accordingly.

Parts of this compound are completely separated in the text and 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 might have been the accusative plural of the indefinite pronoun 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 or 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥, but the Pahlavi renders pâtimârahân, and therefore a very important point goes against another possible rendering.

<sup>5</sup> They are practically of no use to the owner who might conveniently have cast them away as useless.

<sup>6</sup> Read srinak. This as well as the next word both occur in Vend. VI, 20 where also 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 is wrong for 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 which represents Av. 𐬵𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀 and Pr. 𐬵𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀. Otherwise the word might be sinak = Pr. 𐬵𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀 = bosom.

16. Yêzi hîs<sup>a</sup> hvâvôya<sup>b</sup> dazdê,<sup>4</sup> ratufri; Surely when one will have given those « things only that are « one's own, then « alone can one be « in spiritual merit; yêzi âat hîs nôt<sup>b</sup> hvâvôya dazdê, a-ratufri. 'whereas when one will have given those » that are » not one's own, «one can» not « be » in spiritual merit.'<sup>6</sup>

ON CONDITIONS RELATING TO THE OFFERING OF THINGS, ANIMALS, AND GOOD ANIMAL PRODUCTS

<sup>11</sup> Apparently the imperfect, Atmanepada, third person singular of 𐭮𐭥𐭩 = to offer in dedication. But the Pahlavi offers a difficulty; it renders the word by 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬔𐬀𐬕𐬀 which can only be reconciled with the original as it is understood here, by taking it as miswritten for 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬔𐬀𐬕𐬀 (yasht). If however 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬔𐬀𐬕𐬀 (zist = lived, thrived) were the correct rendering, then the form nearest the original word in the text and reconcilable with this rendering might be 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬔𐬀𐬕𐬀 a frequentive form of 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬔𐬀𐬕𐬀 = to thrive, to grow.

can one be» in spiritual merit ; yezi nōit khvarrtha yazada,<sup>1</sup> *a-ratufri*s. whereas when one will have offered<sup>2</sup> them not as food, «one ; can»not «be» in spiritual merit.<sup>3</sup>

2. This is manifest from the Holy Wisdom that if one would 111 A declare: “ This <sup>3</sup> beast shall on one occasion be offered up alive <sup>4</sup> « in thanksgiving », and shall « afterwards » be eaten,” then there could be no purpose in « offering it » alive ; <sup>5</sup> « and if » one would declare : “ Verily a beast shall on one occasion be offered up « in thanksgiving » as such <sup>3</sup> and such <sup>3</sup> Gift <sup>6</sup> in Charity,<sup>6</sup> and then I shall eat it,” then « also » the « right » object could not be « fulfilled » by « that person's » eating it.<sup>7</sup>

3. When « again » one would declare : “ My beast shall one day be offered up « in thanksgiving », so that « people » shall eat it or shall give it away « as they like »,” then, only when <sup>8</sup> « some » would eat it or give it away « as they might like » on that day, could there always result to one « the benefit » in return. « Whereas » there is one who says : The moment one would give it away, must there always result « the benefit » in return.<sup>9</sup>

<sup>2</sup> When the things for dedication are such as may be eaten, they must be offered in the condition of food.

<sup>3</sup> 𐬨𐬀 should be 𐬨𐬀, as in TD, or it should be 𐬨𐬀.

<sup>5</sup> As it is to be eaten away at last, so, not only because it might as well be sacrificed for the offering, but also because what is intended for eating must be offered up in the condition of an eatable, it should be offered up sacrificed, and in the condition of being eatable: see previous paragraph.

<sup>7</sup> When it is meant for charity, the person offering it cannot eat it himself, but must give it away to the poor.

<sup>8</sup> Vad-ash. If it be vêsh, the translation would be “there would always result unto one greater (benefit) in return”; but see vad in the similar expression that follows.

<sup>9</sup> The previous remark signifies that the spiritual benefit of the act results on the use of the gift by those to whom it is given away in charity; whereas this remark means that the benefit accrues immediately on giving away the thing in charity.

7. Thus then <sup>1</sup> « when the animal is » emaciated owing to one's <sup>2</sup> not having given it the necessary food and drink, it cannot be fit to sacrifice it.

8. A moderate leanness would be that when it would not be prohibitive <sup>3</sup> to sacrifice <sup>4</sup> « the animal owing to that ».<sup>5</sup>

9. « Though an animal's » throat <sup>6</sup> were full of fat for cutting, and still if it were with disease and wound, it could not be fit to sacrifice it.

10. At the arrangements <sup>7</sup> of sacrificing, « if there were only » a single Leading Officiating Priest, « he could » not « be said to have been » indifferent « therefor ».<sup>8</sup>

11. « But when the sacrifice is » for the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Flame,<sup>9</sup> it cannot be proper if there be one « Leading Priest » <sup>10</sup> with two « Helping Priests » <sup>10</sup> or two « Leading Priests » <sup>10</sup> with one « Helping Priest », <sup>10</sup> or a male « Leading Priest » <sup>10</sup> with a female « Helping Priest », <sup>10</sup> or a female « Leading Priest » <sup>10</sup> with a male « Helping <sup>10</sup> Priest ».<sup>11</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Av. adhwadâitya, which is a technical term; see note 10 on p. 31 of this work. The point is that even when the animal is emaciated not owing to disease, still then it is unfit.

<sup>8</sup> It is not plain whether the reference is to a leading priest without helpers, or to one without joint leading priests; presumably however the former may be the sense; Herodotus and Strabo seem to indicate that only one priest was needed at the common dedicatory sacrifices; Herod. i, 132; Strabo, XV.

<sup>11</sup> No laxity of solemn form was to be permitted in superior services. There the Leading Priest with his full suite of Helping Divines was to be present.

12. There is one according to whom such arrangements<sup>1</sup> are in every way legible,<sup>2</sup> excepting for « the Service of » the Hallowed 112 A Portion of the Holy Flame, wherein they cannot be allowed.

13. This « circumstance » whether they render the Leading Officiating Priest indifferent « in merit for conducting the Service in some manner as that » or no, is not plain.

14. If, when one has made the arrangements « for the sacrifice », something arises in the mean time « as a disturbing element », it is not proper to perform the sacrifice ; and the text of the Holy Wisdom from thence forwards must be left off.

15. The Leading Officiating Priest shall be « deemed to have done the thing » without indifference<sup>3</sup> just if he does not allow<sup>4</sup> a wound having taken effect in « an animal as permissible in a service », just « if he » does not allow<sup>4</sup> the sacred Barsôm twigs<sup>5</sup> that have not grown well « as permissible in a service », and just « if he » does not allow<sup>4</sup> the sacred milk<sup>6</sup> that is running out<sup>7</sup> « from its vessel as permissible in a service ».

16. Indeed it is requisite « of him to do all the things » untiringly.

17. If « he be » deaf, he cannot be fit ;<sup>4</sup> if « he be » blind, he cannot be fit ;<sup>4</sup> if « he be » dumb, he cannot be fit.<sup>4</sup>

Raôshan said : Verily, if « his » eye on the left be blind, then also he cannot<sup>4</sup> be fit.<sup>8</sup>

<sup>3</sup> The point is that no indifference can be attributed to him who has been so careful as to prevent all defective circumstances from entering a Holy Service.

𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 should be 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 as in TD.

azyāis nōit an-azyāis. « One can become » spiritually meritorious « by making dedications » with the guts<sup>1</sup> and suets<sup>2</sup> that are cooked, not with those that are uncooked, with those that are from fatty animals, not with those from lean.

21. Behold this milk « which is mentioned above » should be « just » such as must be proper for a Good Product from animals. « And as » it must not be inferior to that, so « it should be » evident to thee<sup>3</sup> that that which has changed in quality cannot be fit.<sup>4</sup>

113 A 22. The sacred Barsōm twigs and the meat should be mature<sup>5</sup> and cooked<sup>6</sup> « respectively »; for an equal reason that the maturity and the cooking or roasting<sup>6</sup> are evidently necessary with regard to them « both »; and what is fried<sup>7</sup> can « likewise » be allowed, but what is raw cannot be allowed.

23. There is one « however » who says that a raw egg<sup>8</sup> is allowed; « but » Soshāns has said that verily a raw egg<sup>8</sup> « also » is not permissible and should not be eaten, because « it would be » the most foul<sup>9</sup> « thing »

<sup>4</sup> When the milk that is cooked as well as uncooked and fatty as well as thin is said to be fit, it is not meant that every sort of milk is fit; for that which has turned bad cannot be fit.

<sup>8</sup> Khām izhak (?); cf. Pr. 𐭥𐭮𐭲, and Sans. āṇḍa, Guj. indū=egg. The word must be a synonym of khāyak used just below. It may have been a mistake for baizhak which is clearly represented in the Ar. بيضه=egg; but the form persists without indicating an error.

Again, the word might be read gazhak=a delicacy, Pr. 𐭥𐭮𐭲=a relish; but that would not suit the context; because, as the delicacy was to be of meat inasmuch as the theme concerns animal products, and as out of these the milk products have already been disposed of above, Gaôgôshnasp would not have thought a raw meat delicacy fit for eating, as it must befit only a savage people to have considered any part of raw meat a delicacy. Whereas it must be an open question whether raw eggs could be eaten; and fair arguments might be advanced on either side of the question.

TD more correctly writes the words 𐭥𐭮𐭲.

for a person « to have done so ». Gaṅgōshnasp « however » said that verily one must eat it, because a man becomes most <sup>1</sup> full <sup>2</sup> of manly spirit <sup>3</sup> « thereby ».

24. That the egg <sup>3</sup> has both the quality of milk and the quality of meat in it, is manifest from the passage : Paêmainyachit <sup>4</sup> gaoya zaothraya ' « It is, as it were, » like milk and like meat with respect to a Hallowed Portion.'

25. Afrog said that for the Thanksgiving Service of the Season Festival the good animal products of the bovine animal are the best Hvô istaêshva pasus hvîs.<sup>5</sup> 'The bovine animal is the best among those that are to be wished for.'

26. Owing to the great fleshiness <sup>6</sup> of the sheep <sup>6</sup> every one of the several kinds of sheep is good « for dedication ».

27. There is one who says thus : Verily, for the Thanksgiving 113 B Service of the Season Festival itself just that « animal only » is good which is of a large kind.<sup>7</sup>

23. Maityôkmâh <sup>8</sup> « however said » that « animals like » the ass, the boar,<sup>10</sup> and the female of the Katak<sup>11</sup> sheep « are » not « such as may be put » to a use<sup>12</sup> of « complete » advantage<sup>12</sup> because, with regard

<sup>11</sup> Cf. Pr. كك, a kind of short-legged sheep. It might have meant “a domestic animal,” from Pr. كك=house; but that sense cannot suit here.

<sup>12</sup> Hû-rûpâs, Av. ه =to strive(?). Otherwise, an-rûpâs, uselessness. Probably Maityôkmâh too did not mean that these animals were quite unfit for the sacred purpose. Perhaps he simply intended that they were not exactly so fit as the better species of animals. As already noted, asses were included in the dedication of Xerxes; whereas according to § 37 below, it appears that they were considered fit for dedication when they were domesticated.

to any kind « of animal » whatsoever, there <sup>1</sup> is « always » to be taken care to see that <sup>1</sup> it be not bad « in any way »; for, although as regards being large,<sup>2</sup> the ass, the boar, and the female of the Katak sheep are as large as the bull, still the meritorious deed <sup>3</sup> can take place for such « animals only » of which the kind is proper in both the ways: such that while « being » large in kind « it is » likewise good.

29. The good animal products that « are intrinsically » good in an <sup>4</sup> equal degree <sup>4</sup> « with others of the kind, become » better when the Sacred Flame has consumed their Hallowed Portion.<sup>5</sup>

30. In superiority that « animal product is » the « most » superior « when it is such that » when the good animal products « from it » are offered up in dedication everything besides « those » good animal products « can be » fit « if » one may eat it.<sup>6</sup>

31. Anything <sup>7</sup> else that one might offer up in dedication « at the Service of the Season Festival » should be large « in kind ».<sup>8</sup>

114 A 32. Behold, concerning <sup>9</sup> other things<sup>9</sup> they have been at variance in opinion.

33. It is lawful to kill, by <sup>10</sup> stabbing,<sup>10</sup> a head of cattle at the

<sup>6</sup> I.e., every particle of it must be useful as food for men, and nothing of it should be such as would require to be thrown away as uneatable.

<sup>8</sup> Not only because this service is of the greater kind, but also because in this case the worshipping congregations must be large. In smaller services small dedications can be allowed.

<sup>9</sup> Javitâg. It is however implicitly agreed that the kind should be good also.

In Mithra sacrifice the animal was stabbed on the neck. And Strabo has noted in his Geography, Bk. XV, that at the offerings the Magi did not use a knife for slaughtering, but a stump.

The word however can easily be read anûmaiya=Av. 𐎠𐎡𐎴𐎠𐎡𐎴=a small cattle-head or a sheep or goat; but it is so placed here as well as in § 41 below, that it appears ill-advised to construe it that way. Still if it be so taken the translation here could be: "It is proper to sacrifice a cattle-head in a Holy Worship until it is being performed. Small cattle must not be sacrificed near the sacred Drôn cake when the Worship is being performed," etc. But the translation cannot be even so far sensible in the case of the text at § 41 below, where this word recurs.

37. « Hence surely as regards » the ass, the boar, and the female of the Katak sheep, it will not be lawful <sup>1</sup> « to sacrifice, them when » near the sacred Drôn cake, as also when the Holy Service is being performed through, <sup>2</sup> « although indeed it can be » a good deed « to sacrifice them » in event of their being domesticated. <sup>3</sup>

39. Still « if the Holy Service » have been performed <sup>8</sup> through, <sup>8</sup> and « if any of them have » a wound <sup>9</sup> or have not been carried <sup>10</sup> through <sup>10</sup> a cure, then it cannot be lawful to sacrifice such.

40. If « the animal is to be » slain according to prescribed forms, « then alone » must it be slain at the Holy Service.

41. It will be a sin <sup>11</sup> of Manifest Smiting <sup>11</sup> if it be stabbed to bleed « without being killed ». <sup>12</sup> independant of the service of dedication, and as it involves bloodshed and life-taking, the sacred Fire cannot be permitted where that takes place. It must however be understood that the sacred Fire is essential at the dedication service itself; and that gets support from another ancient writer Strabo who has noted thus: "To whatever Divinity the Persians offer sacrifice, they first invoke Fire...." (Book XV).

It will be seen from below that in this case our text considers even the function of dedication as taking place quite apart from the Thanksgiving Service.

<sup>8</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 should be 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌, as this would be conformable to the views the writer has been advancing.

<sup>11</sup> Baôtîn-zatakîh is the name of the sin of manifestly or intentionally ill-treating animals and injuring property. The expression can be derived from Av. 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 = to know, to be manifest, and 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 = to smite. See West's note 2 to Sh-Lâ-Sh. II, 39; Fol. 42, l. 30, above; and Fol. 177, l. 20, below.

<sup>12</sup> As it seems to have been allowed above to sacrifice the animal by stabbing, the reference here must be to stabbing without killing, and thus causing unnecessary and intense pain to the animal.

42. There is one who says thus: Behold, it is after all said that a large bird can be just as fit as a head of cattle; and so also can be everything else which acquires a moderate body; « for, there is the text which says »: Yatha vâ azô staênis,<sup>1</sup> yatha hus-prrrnînô<sup>2</sup> .....
 ' Either « an animal of » the grazing world, or large birds..... '.

43. « When such dedication »<sup>3</sup> is to be performed<sup>4</sup> in the Thanksgiving Service of the Divine Being, then the sacred •Haôma drink and the sacred Drôn cake should verily be dedicated to Him « alongside that act ».<sup>5</sup>

44. Just as regards <sup>6</sup> the fish « however, when » the fish is to be killed in the Thanksgiving Service of the Divine Being, the sacred Haôma drink and the sacred Drôn cake need not <sup>7</sup> be dedicated to Him « alongside that act ».<sup>7</sup>

45. Fowls and birds <sup>8</sup> should be offered <sup>9</sup> up all<sup>10</sup> by themselves,

<sup>2</sup> The text has hus-prrsô. The whole text here is obscure; still if this expression were correct, then it might be compared with Pr. فرسان "an animal whose skin can be used for preparing leather," and then the Avestan word here might signify "an animal of moderate size," and the previous expression vâ azô would read vâ-azô "moving in the air."

<sup>5</sup> Evidently as distinct from the main service itself, and as belonging to the separate dedicatory service for the animal; see next folio, l. 2, ff.

<sup>7</sup> It appears that fish is classed among the smaller animals, as fowls and birds are below; hence it is not considered necessary to dedicate the Drôn and the Haoma in its special dedicatory service that is performed apart from the main service; see note 5 above.

The word, however, might also be read sarûn=thigh, (Av. سارون and Pr. سارین), although it is written ساریناک (sarinak) in Pahlavi Vendidad, VIII. Such construing could be possible in view of the fact that special parts of the sacrificed animal were assigned to special Divine Powers, according to Sh-Lâ-Sh. XI, 4-6; but the context forbids any such special sense.

« and then » the Holy Dedicatory Service of the Divine Power Haôma « which is the Glow of the Life Eternal », should be performed<sup>1</sup> by one.<sup>2</sup>

46. When one undertakes the Service of Willing Praise<sup>3</sup> and the Haôma Service, then there will also have been undertaken by one the Thanksgiving Service of the sacred Drôn cake.<sup>4</sup>

47. Behold, simply because one offers up in thanksgiving animals by themselves, « it can » not therefore be understood that the sacred Haôma drink and the sacred Drôn cake « also » become consecrated by one « in that mere act ».<sup>5</sup>

48. The sacred Haôma drink and the sacred Drôn cake cannot be permitted « at the Service » in one « set of the one » with two « of the other » and in two « sets of the one » with one « of the other ».<sup>6</sup>

49. « One » says : Verily, when one consecrates one « set of each of » the sacred Haôma drink and the sacred Drôn cake,<sup>7</sup> and one performs<sup>8</sup> the Holy Dedicatory Service on « both of them » together, and « then » one takes a taste from the sacred Haôma drink as well as the sacred Drôn cake « both at the same time, that » cannot be proper.

<sup>2</sup> It is evident that in the cases when such animals were specially to be sacrificed, the Haoma Service must have been commenced after sacrificing the animal, because the Gaôshûdâ, or the good animal product, which is now represented by only a little clarified butter but must in those cases have also represented a portion from the sacrificed animal according to the indication of Nir. II, Chap. V : App. C, II, 6, is already taken into use when the Haoma Yasna is commenced. But it likewise appears according to a theme which follows, that animals could also be sacrificed in quite distinct services ; and then they appear to have been dedicated and sacrificed about the Yasna Haptanghâiti.

<sup>5</sup> The consecration of the sacrificed animal is thus defined to be a special and individual act.

<sup>6</sup> There should be one set of the one with one set of the other.

Because<sup>1</sup> if one were to place forward things together and to perform<sup>2</sup> the Holy Dedicatory Service « for all » together, and « then » to take a taste, « for instance », from the sacred Haôma drink and the sacred Drôn cake « out of those things », then it would be just as if one had beforehand taken<sup>3</sup> a taste from a thing which had not « yet » been consecrated.<sup>4</sup>

End of « the text on » taking « the Good Products of Animals »<sup>5</sup>.

CHAPTER XIV

ON TAKING THE LEATHER FOR THE STRAPS OF THE SACRED WEAPONS<sup>6</sup>

<sup>4</sup> This critic means that the several consecrated things require separate Dedicatory Formulas, and that if one were to recite a single Dedicatory Formula for all, that would practically be as bad as not having recited it at all.

<sup>10</sup> Patvanâsak is distinguished below from Ashtar and Śrôshôcharnâm; hence it must be a distinct instrument which is now unknown. Darmesteter thinks that Aspahê-astra and Sraoshô-charana are one and the same instrument; but one may notice that they are mentioned separately in the list of the instruments which the murderer of the water dog is to present to pious men for the atonement of his sin (Vend. XIV, 8); so they too must evidently be distinct instruments.

5. It has after all been said that if Patvanâsak « the instrument 116 A for chastening sinners be found to » have gone to work « with » wound-

6. Concerning things « that » “ s h o u l d b e ,” there are no 1. 5 more sacred statements « than these, in this respect ».<sup>3</sup>

7. When « the sacrificial animal is » slaughtered it must be washed; and it must be looked carefully over: « so that » if there « be sticking » anything thereon, that should be removed.<sup>4</sup>

8. And on having been slaughtered, it should be cut up into 1. 9 pieces, and it should be washed « again ».<sup>5</sup>

9. As regards the Patvanâsak « the instrument of chastening 117 B sinners », from whatever it is prepared, imperfection<sup>6</sup> therein is not allowed.

10. If it goes to the washing after it arrives at « the sacred function », that cannot be allowed.

11. If it is not to be cut into strips « at the end », then strings of silk<sup>7</sup> should be dropped « from it ».

12. One has said that if it be not cut into strips « at the end », that cannot be proper; because it will then be like a « mere » shoemaker's<sup>8</sup> thong.<sup>9</sup> Even when it reaches close to perfection<sup>10</sup> and even when it goes to the « final » washing,<sup>11</sup> even then must it be cut into <sup>1</sup> It should not be made so very strong: it should be made comparatively lighter.

This and the following statements occur here evidently because it was of the skin of the sacrificed animal that the straps for the sacred weapons were to be made.

<sup>5</sup> The subject matter here discussed is resumed so late as at l. 16 of the next folio; so, that is joined up here, and the intervening portion is transferred into the Appendix which follows after Fol. 118, l. 6.

CHAPTER XIV: APPENDIX A

ON TAKING HAIRS OF THE VARS RING FOR THE ELECTRISATION<sup>1</sup>

1. The<sup>2</sup> hair of the Vars « ring for the electrification » is to be 115, l. 26 « taken » from those « animals only » which have been sacrificed for the Hallowed Portion of the Sacred Flames.<sup>3</sup> 1. 27

2. The hair of the Vars « ring for the electrification » can be 116, l. 2 « taken » from the bull, and can « likewise » be « taken » from the horse,<sup>4</sup> as is manifest from the passage: Gêus vâ aspahê vâ varrsahê
 .....<sup>5</sup> '..... of the hair of the bull or of the horse.' 1. 5

3. The hair<sup>6</sup> that « is » tied up is proper; « and the hair that 1. 9 is » held up<sup>7</sup> is proper.

4. « Only » when one ties it up « first » and then washes it, can that be allowed. It cannot be allowed if one entwines<sup>8</sup> it « quite at the end ».

<sup>4</sup> It is evident from such passages as Yt. V, 21, 25, etc., that horses also were dedicated to Divine Powers; and hence the Vars hair could as well be taken from the horse as from the bull dedicated to the Holy Flames.

The hair is to be entwined before it is finally purified; see below. The word could be pachêt = boils, and might refer to the act of boiling the hair, which is described in the fragment which is prefixed to the text of the Aêrpatastân, and whose translation is appended below. But what follows does not favour that sense here.

One<sup>1</sup> should take up the ceremonious washing « in this manner » :—

5. One should dip « the hairs » into the ashes<sup>2</sup> of the Holy Flame of the Temple of the Spirit of Victoriousness, and should rub<sup>3</sup> « them with it well ».

6. One should « then » separate the dark<sup>4</sup> and light « hairs » ;
116 B and every of three times<sup>5</sup> one should rinse<sup>6</sup> the dark, and wash the light « hairs ». Then one should wash them in the pure water in the basin.<sup>7</sup>

7. At the fourth time one should put the light hairs together<sup>8</sup> with the dark, and lay them on a place, and leave them « there for a moment ».

8. Then one should rinse them clear,<sup>9</sup> wash them for the last time, and take them into use as they are « now » washed clean.

9. « In doing this » one is to hold the Initial Formula for opening the sacred function « of washing, thus » :—<sup>10</sup>

Ashem Vohû 3 ; « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times » ;

<sup>2</sup> Var ; cf. Pr. «ور»=heat. Otherwise, it might mean "the sacred precincts," and the whole expression might signify, "(The hairs) should be borne into the sacred precincts of the Holy Flame....."; but see this expression in the appendix on boiling the Vars, where it recurs.

Or, is it for Ham-bâseshn=should preserve ; should clean of impurity or vitiation ? cf. Pr. «باسیدن» = to preserve. The word may also indicate "tying up" derivable from Av. «اس-بند» or «اس-بند».

<sup>10</sup> The last few passages seem more like notes attached to previous general statements than text describing consecutive events : thus the washing of the Vars is first mentioned in a general way ; then the details of washing are given ; and then the sacred texts recited during that function are cited.

« The Formula of Faith » : Fravarânê Mazdayasnô, Zarathustris, vi-daêvô, Ahura-kaêshô ; ' I confess myself a worshipper of the Most Wise, of the Zarathushtrian Order, opposed to the demons, « and » of the Lord's Holy Creed ' ;

« The glorification of » whatever period of the day one may have « while reciting » ;

« And the prayer » : Ahurahê Mazdôô Raêvatô Khvarrnanghvatô khshnaothra yasndâicha vahmâicha khshnaothrdâicha frasastayaêcha.<sup>1</sup> ' According to the pleasure and for the worship, for the adoration, for doing the pleasure of, and for submission to the Holy Sway of the Most Wise Lord, the Brilliant and the Glorious One.'<sup>2</sup>

10. At every « recital of » Ashem Vohû « the Praise of Righteous- 117 A ness » one should wash « the hair » once ; and one should then wash the hands<sup>3</sup> up to the elbow<sup>3</sup> with the clean water. « And » on « the hair » being finally washed it should be taken into use.

11. Until it is taken into use, and all when it is not « still » purified,<sup>4</sup> if one entwines<sup>5</sup> it « but then », that can be allowed ; « but » when it is washed a thousand<sup>6</sup> times « already », it is not allowed « to do so so late ».

12. There is one who says thus : Verily, the twining up « of the hair should be but » once when it is not « still » purified with the sanctified pure water. « Then » if it come<sup>7</sup> loose<sup>7</sup> again it should be washed once more. « But » if it become loose<sup>8</sup> « still again », it

<sup>3</sup> Yadman gâmak (?). As Pr. 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 signifies "the cubit"—the length from the elbow to the mid-finger—the expression here perhaps bears relationship to that term.

<sup>4</sup> Not washed with the specially clean water.

<sup>5</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 will be better than 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌.

should not « then » be twined.<sup>1</sup> « And » if it break<sup>2</sup> « in twining it must become » useless.

13. If « however when » the one required<sup>3</sup> quantity<sup>3</sup> of the consecrated milk<sup>4</sup> arrives on « the service table, the hair » become loose « after that », then because the Haoma drink is « already » prepared,
1. 15 it is allowed during all the « remaining » use « thereof ».<sup>5</sup>

CHAPTER XIV : APPENDIX B<sup>6</sup>

* ON THE RITUAL CONCERNING THE BOILING OF THE HAIRS OF THE VARS RING FOR THE ELECTRISATION

Fragment 1. In the first place a vessel should be cleaned with pure water, and the water of the Hallowed Portion should be poured into it, and 3 pinches<sup>7</sup> of the ashes<sup>8</sup> of the Holy Fire of the Temple of Victory should be thrown in.

2. Then there should be recited the introductory formula; and the Formula<sup>9</sup> dedicated to the Most Wise Lord<sup>9</sup> should be held. Then the hand and the Vars hairs should be washed with pure water.

<sup>1</sup> Probably because it is such as cannot be twined.

Cf. Pr. 𐬒𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬌𐬭𐬀. <sup>3</sup> Tâk. <sup>4</sup> Jiv.

<sup>5</sup> The Jivâm is poured into the bowl on the service table after the Haoma drink is completely strained. Hence the Vars tied on the metal ring is already used in that operation; so it is allowed if it becomes loose then.

It is already noted that the text following this, viz., Fol. 117, l. 16—Fol. 118, l. 6, is really a continuation of Fol. 116, l. 9, and hence is joined up there; and the intervening portion, viz. 116, l. 9—117, l. 16, which ends just at the section here, is transferred into Fol. 118, l. 6, to form a correct order of themes.

<sup>6</sup> This is supplied here from the fragment given at the commencement of our text. The fragment is preceded by a benediction in Persian which signifies: "To the Glory of the Name of the Worshipped One, the Bountiful, the Bestowing and the Kind," and a benediction in Pahlavi which translates: "To the Glory of the Name of the Creator, the Most Wise One."

There is, however, no certainty that this fragment originally belonged to the Nirangastân.

3. « While reciting » 3 « times the formula » Ashem Vohû, « the Praise of Righteousness, the hairs » should be washed from the tip-end to the root-end, and while reciting once the Ashem Vohû, « the Praise of Righteousness », they should be washed from the root-end to the tip-end.

4. Then they should be formed into a loop,<sup>1</sup> and should be put into the vessel, « and kept in it » till they are brought to boiling.

As for their coming to boiling, the time of the heating is to be reckoned « in the proper way ».

5. At « the time of » removing them from fire the Barsôm should be brought just above the vessel. And the rest should be even as it is to be onwards.<sup>2</sup>

CHAPTER XV

ON THE MEMBERS OF THE SACRED ASSOCIATION SHARING IN THE BENEFIT OF THE SERVICE PERFORMED BY ITS MEMBERS

1. Yô<sup>3</sup> aêvô hadhô-gaêthanûm yô barrsmacha fra-strrrnaiti,<sup>4</sup> 118, gêuscha paiti-baraiti, When one of the partners<sup>5</sup> in the 1. 23 « sacerdotal » property,<sup>6</sup> verily,<sup>6</sup> « as one » of the members<sup>7</sup> of the same sacred association,<sup>7</sup> spreads the sacred Barsôm twigs

<sup>2</sup> Here the fragment is followed by a note in Persian regarding the colophon which signifies: "As the original writer had written this text, I, the servant of the Creator, that is Mûbad Jâmâsp, have introduced it into the copy, in order that the first year of the original (writing) and the name of its writer may be known to all the gentle people;" then follows the colophon in Pahlavi, excepting the last word Yazdajardî which is in Persian; and this colophon signifies: "I, the servant of the Religion, Shapuhar Jâmâsp Shatrôyâr Tahworôin (perhaps corrupt for Tahmurapin) Shatrôyâr, wrote (it) in the year 840 of Yazdajard."

<sup>4</sup> The text has fra-starenti which is corrected in conformity with what follows.

 119 A vachascha framravainti, Gaovâstryâcha varrshndo vrrrzinti, <sup>2</sup> and then others of them « living » within the circuit of a Hâthra « of a thousand paces of two feet each » pronounce aloud the sacred words, « i.e. », the <sup>3</sup> Holy Text for the office of the Helping Priests, <sup>3</sup> and perform the acts of the duties of the World's 'Great Work, « i.e. », acts of such other kind, vîspaêshâmcha aiwi-srunvaiti, vîspê ratufrayô. and every one of them all listens attentively « to the pronouncement » Athâ Ratus Ashâtchât hacha frâ ashava vîdhvâo mraotû <sup>5</sup> ' Thus shall the Spiritual Lord declare «it» forth out of Righteousness as a holy person, and as the enlightened one' <sup>6</sup> « when the Leading Officiating Priest announces these words », then all those « become » spiritually meritorious.

119 B 2. Yêzi âat nôit aiwi-srunvainti, aêshô ratufris <sup>8</sup> yô barrsma fra strrrnaiti, gêuscha paiti-baraiti. If however they do not listen attentively « to these words of the Leading Officiating Priest », then only he <sup>7</sup> can be <sup>8</sup> in spiritual merit who <sup>9</sup> spreads the sacred Barsôm twigs, and also produces the «portion of the good» animal product <sup>10</sup>, « i.e. », the fresh milk.<sup>11</sup>

3. When, among members of the same priestly order, one manages the acts of Dedication, one manages the sacred <sup>12</sup> things for the Offering,<sup>12</sup>

<sup>4</sup> The Gao of Gaovâstrya indicates this sense.

The term 𑂔𑂕 is repeated here through error.

<sup>6</sup> The text very corruptly has 𑂔𑂕𑂖𑂗𑂘 𑂔𑂕𑂖𑂗𑂘.

and one the other duties of the Season Festival, then, provided indeed that the Worship has not been performed with any guilt,<sup>1</sup> there shall accrue to « every » one the meritoriousness of the Holy Thanksgiving Service.

4. The meritoriousness of «celebrating any» such Season Festival is continuous<sup>2</sup> until the other that one shall « have to » perform ; and it is onefold for every one « of those who have faithfully participated therein ».

5. There is one who says thus : Verily, « by this meritoriousness » one becomes just as<sup>3</sup> much full of glory<sup>4</sup> as when one performs one Service<sup>5</sup> of Devotedness to the Mastership of the Holy Relation.<sup>6</sup>

6. It is meritorious to celebrate<sup>5</sup> the Season Festival, it is guilty not to celebrate<sup>5</sup> it ; it is meritorious to perform it, it is guilty not to perform<sup>6</sup> it ; it is meritorious to eat « of its consecrated things », it is guilty not to eat « of its consecrated things ».

7. The celebration « of the Season Festival would be as » meritorious an act « as the thankful dedication of » Hazangrem maêshanûm<sup>7</sup>

The sense is that when every one performs one's prescribed function at the Season Festival without any failing, there results a harmoniously successful Service, and every one that has participated in it earns one's full meritoriousness therefor.

<sup>2</sup> Aêvakartak. The meritoriousness of celebrating one Season Festival is supposed to continue through the whole period between it and the next Season Festival ; and every one having faithfully participated in it is said to earn one whole unit of that meritoriousness.

<sup>3</sup> Khur-kîn (?) ; the word is probably related to Av. 𐬵𐬀𐬵𐬀=glory, and kîn is = Pr. 𐬵𐬀, the adjectival suffix.

It is evidently meant that the meritoriousness of this service is equal to that of the Service of the Season Festival.

See above at Fol. 108, ll. 3-8 in Chap. XI, 2 where it is said that the proper dedication of one's honestly earned meal during the Season Festival is as meritorious as the dedication of a thousand of sheep, etc.

..... 'A thousand of sheep.....'; not celebrating that would incur the Avaðîrîsht penalty « of 25 Stîrs, even as » not performing dedication of Hazangrem maêshanûm..... 'A thousand of sheep... ..' « incurs » the Avaðîrîsht penalty.<sup>1</sup>

8. « The consecrated things of the offering » should be eaten; not eating them would be sin, « for », no meritoriousness can be attained « thus »: indeed as that could not be a matter<sup>2</sup> of any great trouble<sup>2</sup> « to do so », it would be a sin « equally » for those<sup>3</sup> of the priestly profession<sup>3</sup> « as for » the community<sup>4</sup> of the faithful generally.<sup>4</sup>

9. Whatever meritorious deed is obligatory<sup>5</sup> requires to be performed as incumbent; « because » whatever is obligatory and necessary<sup>6</sup> is incumbent « even though that be » very troublesome, and according to unanimous<sup>7</sup> opinion<sup>7</sup> it requires to be accomplished « as being » incumbent.

10. There is one who says thus: Verily, what may be necessary<sup>8</sup> need not be incumbent « because of being » troublesome; « but it is » according to unanimous<sup>7</sup> opinion<sup>7</sup> « that » what may be troublesome can be incumbent « only when it is also » necessary.

11. If there are 4 grown up and good persons in a country place they<sup>8</sup> shall not recline<sup>8</sup> on sin « by neglecting to celebrate the Service;

<sup>2</sup> Khvârtar.

Not eating the consecrated things must indicate indifference towards the Service; and faithless indifference cannot earn any meritoriousness, but must incur sin for having failed to show faith by an act which causes no great trouble to fulfil it.

Eating of the consecrated things is not a duty reserved for any one class of the community only, but is incumbent on all without distinction.

It is meant that when there are just four persons together in a place, they are expected to combine to celebrate the Service, inasmuch as four persons form the least number that is legible for celebrating it. Hence if they may not do so, they shall be committing sin.

121 A another « some such thing » for offering.<sup>4</sup> the Leading Priests<sup>7</sup> « themselves » offer « the Drôns » up, although

which is undoubtedly a form of the first part of the word here, occurs in 67 and 68.

<sup>7</sup> The word וְיָסַד is repeated in the text through error.

when the Helping Priests offer them that also is allowed.

4. The Leading Priests should drink « just » so much wine<sup>1</sup> « only » as they<sup>2</sup> could digest<sup>2</sup> even notwithstanding that that must go<sup>3</sup> in addition to the Haoma drink. And the Helping Priests should drink it « just » so much « only » that whatsoever duties in the Holy Thanksgiving Service might be assigned to them, they would be able to recite through « the holy texts quite » to the end.<sup>3</sup>

l. 8.

5. Kahmât hacha myazdavanûm myazdê raêthwaiti?<sup>4</sup> From what « of other things » in the offering of those dedicating an offering shall one pour out<sup>5</sup> things « for dedication » ? i. e., of what kind should those be as it would be proper to partake of the delicious<sup>6</sup> things?<sup>6</sup>

122,

<sup>1</sup> 𐬵𐬀 before 𐬵𐬀 should be dropped as in TD. Otherwise it might be replacing the Aryan 𐬵𐬀 as a mistaken form of 𐬵𐬀 (ân) the plural termination, inasmuch as this could be an apt suffix for 𐬵𐬀 when the pronoun that follows is plural.

<sup>4</sup> As it is just noted, this whole text, from here up to Fol. 123, l. 19, is transferred here from below.

The words of the question here are just the same as in Fol. 120, l. 16, ff.

<sup>5</sup> The idea of “mixing” would rather be expressed by hām-raêthwa; whereas the idea of “pouring out” is more sensible here. It is the elixirs that are specially intended in this place.

It appears from errors like this that the Pahlavi copyists must have followed the convenient and rapid method of one dictating the text to another, for the mistake here committed is one which a scribe would make on hearing a wrong pronunciation. The word basariyâ was probably misread ba-sîrîh by the person who dictated, and heard ba sîrîh or pa sîrîh by the person who wrote.

It must however be noted that the 𐬵𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀 at the close of the Folio might equally have misled the copyist.

<sup>8</sup> The word is the dative form of a feminine base in â, and must be derived from a-chish or â-chish another form of â-chash=to taste.

123 A as when for tasting as much as they desire, i.e., to their full satisfaction, what are matured elixirs<sup>1</sup> yat pairi Barrsma hanjasentê, âat Ratufritêê<sup>2</sup>—they assemble on « ground spread with » the Barsôm twigs, i.e., when they place « those delicious things » with<sup>3</sup> the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to Ratwôk Brizat « the Sublime Lord », and that for the Right<sup>4</sup> Reverential Glorification,<sup>4</sup> i.e., for the Season Festival,——

7. There is one who explains « the last part » thus : Verily “when they assemble on « ground spread with » the Barsôm twigs,—— as when they place it with<sup>3</sup> the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to Srôsh « the Spirit of the Moral Order »——, and that for the Right Reverential Glorification—— « as » in the Drôn Service for « redeeming » the Bâzâe « penalty of 90 Stîrs ».”<sup>5</sup>

6B. ——yat vâ yazenti, yat vâ hām-raêthwenti,<sup>6</sup> as when they either dedicate « them » in thanksgiving, or as when ‘they pour « them »’ together « for libation », ‘yat vâ frâ uthôtâtô prrsenti,’<sup>7</sup> or as when they vow « to offer » extracts, i.e., they decide<sup>8</sup> that they shall offer « them » in thanksgiving one with the other, yat vâ ava-thwrrrsô<sup>9</sup> nôit vrrrzinti<sup>10</sup>——or âiwi-thwrrrsô<sup>11</sup>——, or as when « they offer things that are so soft that » ‘they cannot cut them into pieces’—— or « instead of ava-thwrrrsô

<sup>1</sup> Pit. The substance must be so soft as can be poured or mixed. The term might also signify “syrups,” “jellies,” or “soft nourishing foods.”

<sup>5</sup> The first critic thinks that the reference is to the Âfringân of Ratwôk Brizât, and this that it is to the Âfringân of Srôsh.

The whole clause might however be intrusive here ; see above, the close of note 2 to Fol. 120, l. 24 on p. 290.

<sup>8</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 𐬨𐬀 is again for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 𐬨𐬀.

the expression might be » aivē-thwrrrsô——, « although they might attempt to cut because » they do not know that « the things are » mrâta<sup>1</sup> “made soft,”<sup>2</sup> or « because they are » not acquainted « with their nature », yat vâ aêshâm anyô âtahmâi dâiti dadhâiti.<sup>3</sup> or as 123 B when one of them gives to another<sup>4</sup> « some such thing » for offering, as when from the fresh milk of one is given fresh milk to another. 1. 19

CHAPTER XVI: APPENDIX A

ON THE ÂFRÎNGÂN FORMULAS OF HOLY PRAISE

1. Formulas of Holy Praise are to be said in these several 121, circumstances: the Service of the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order, the Service of the New Initiate, the Service of the Sublime Lord, the Service « performed either » at the Houses of the Good, « or » at the Houses of the Holy Flames, the Service of the Days Sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences, and the Service<sup>5</sup> of the Three Nights after Death.<sup>6</sup> 1. 8

2. « The Formula<sup>6</sup> of Holy Praise for » the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to the Spirit of the Moral Order<sup>6</sup> « is as follows »:—

Ashem Vohû 3<sup>7</sup>; « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times »;

<sup>1</sup> The text has 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌, which is evidently corrupt. The word 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 whose cognate 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 occurs in Yt. XI, 15, is nearer this form, but its meaning does not suit here, because it indicates a vice.

<sup>7</sup> Before these Ashem Vohûs different numbers of Yathâ Ahû Vairiyôs, from 2 to 12, are recited in the various Âfrîngâns: 2 in the Âfrîngân of Dahmân, 4 in the Âfrîngân of Gâhambâr, 5 in the Âfrîngân of Srôsh, and of the Service of the Three Nights after death, 7 in the Âfrîngân of the Yazads and Ameshâspands which the Nâvar or New Initiate has to perform on the first day, 8 in the Âfrîngân of Ardâ Fravash and of the Gâthas, 10 in the Âfrîngân of Dâdâr Ahuramazd celebrated on the day Ahuramazd of the month Fravardin, and 12 in the Âfrîngân of Rapithwin.

« The Confession of the Faith », Fravarânê ... .. ; ' I profess to be ... .. ' ;

« The Glorification of » what period of the day one may have « while reciting » ;

121 B « The recital of » the Holy Dedicatory Formula, Sraoshahê Ashyêhê Takhmahê Tanu-Mûthrahê Darrshi-draos Âhûiryêhê khshnao-thra, yasnâicha, ... .. u p t o frasastayaêcha. ' With the establishment of the Holy Concord, for the worship... .. u p t o ... .. and glorification of Sraosha « the Spirit of the Moral Order » in kindred with Righteousness, the Mighty One, the Incarnate of the Holy Word of Meditation, the Bearer of the Irresistible Weapon, the Great in relationship with the Lord;'

3. Verily, « the Leading Priest and the Helping Priests are » both together<sup>1</sup> « to recite in this case » the passage, Yô<sup>2</sup> paoiryô Mazdâdê dâmûn ... .. ♦ , ' Who first in the creations of the Most Wise ... .. ' , « and thereafter » they are to carry the Formula of Holy Praise through to the end « as usually ».<sup>3</sup>

4. « The formula of Holy Praise for » the New<sup>4</sup> Initiate<sup>4</sup> « is as follows »:—

Ashem Vohû 3<sup>5</sup> ; « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times » ;

« The Confession of the Faith », Fravarânê ... .. ; ' I profess to be ... .. ' ;

<sup>1</sup> Dôkânak; Pr. دوكانك.

The same practice is followed now, viz., the Zaoti and the Râthwî recite together the passage quoted below with the words Sraoshem Ashêm Huraodhem, Vrrrthrajanem, Frâdat-gâthem, Ashavanem, Ashahê Ratûm yazamaidê prefixed to it.

<sup>4</sup> Naôk Nâvar.

This Âfringân is also called the Âfringân of the Yazads and Ameshâspands.

<sup>5</sup> Seven Yathâ Ahû Vairiyôs precede this in the Âfringân as it is recited now.

« The glorification of » whatever « may be » the period of the day « while reciting », e. g. :—

Hâvanê etc.;<sup>1</sup> ‘ ... for the period of the Life’s Morn, etc.’;

Sâvanghê<sup>1</sup> ... ; ‘ ... for the Spirit of Benefit ... ’;

6. « And then » they must carry the Formula of Holy Praise through to the end « as usually »<sup>5</sup>.

7. « The Formula of Holy Praise » Rathwô Brrratô ‘ of the Sublime Lord ’<sup>6</sup> « is as follows » :—

Ashem Vohû 3<sup>7</sup>; « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times »;

« The Confession of the Faith » Fravarânê ... ; ‘ I profess to be ... ’;

<sup>1</sup> In the texts of this service given in the Khôrda Avesta we have the Uzirin Gâh recited instead of the Hâvan which is here.

It will be recollected that it is mentioned in Fol. 92, ll. 10-11 or Chap. VI: App. A, I, 1, that the Service of the New Initiate may be performed during the Hâvan Gâh.

<sup>3</sup> Modern practice does the same.

8. « After this, in » Hâtôkht, « the Service of the Consummate Word, one is to recite the Words » : Hadhaokhdhâi<sup>1</sup>... .. '... ..for the Consummate Word ... ..'; whereas in Vîsparat, « the Service of All the Reverential Ones, one is to recite the words » : Hâvanêê... .. '... ..for the period of the Life's Morn... ..';

9. « Then one is to recite » the Holy Dedicatory Formula, Rathwê Brrrzatô<sup>2</sup> 'of the Sublime Lord,' and the passage Dâtâcha<sup>3</sup>
122 A âêê<sup>4</sup> Mazdayasna ! ... .. 'And you<sup>4</sup> there,<sup>4</sup> O worshippers of the Most Wise ! shall present... ..';

10. « And then » they must carry the Formula of Holy Praise through to the end « as usually ».<sup>5</sup>

11. « The Formula of Holy Praise for the Service » at the Houses of the Good<sup>6</sup> « or » at the Houses of the Holy Flames « is as follows »:—

Ashem Vohû 3;<sup>7</sup> « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times » ;

« The Confession of the Faith », Fravarânê... .. ; 'I profess to be... ..';

« The Glorification of » the period of the day one may have « while reciting » ;

« The recital of » the Holy Dedicatory Formula, Dahmayêo Vanghuyêo Âfritôis, Ughrêi Dâmôis Upamandî klshnaothra, yasndâicha vahmâicha..... up to ..... frasastayaêcha. 'With the establishment of the Holy Concord and for the worship, adoration..... up to .....and glorification of the Pious Good Benediction, « and » for the Mighty Symbol of Wisdom;'

12. « Then the Leading Priest and the Helping Priests are »

<sup>2</sup> In the Khôrda Avesta there occurs before as well as after this the passage: Rathwâm ayanânâmcha etc. (Yas. I, end), and then the passage relating to the Gâh.

It is evident that the Âfringân Formula for the services at the Houses of the Holy Flames is not to be distinct. Evidently this Formula would be in addition to the other special Âfringân formulas.

both together « to recite in this case » the passage Táo<sup>1</sup> ahmi nmânê ... .. ' Those ... .. in this house ; '

13. « And then » they are to carry the Formula of Holy Praise through to the end « as usually »<sup>2</sup>.

14. As regards the ten<sup>3</sup> days sacred to the Holy Spiritual Essences,<sup>3</sup> « the Formula<sup>4</sup> of Holy Praise for the Services » of the first five days<sup>4</sup> « is as follows »:—

Ashem Vohu 3<sup>5</sup>; « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times »;

« The Confession of the Faith », Fravarânê<sup>6</sup> ... .. ; ' I profess to be ... .. ' ;

« The glorification of » what period of the day one may have while reciting » ;

« The recital of » the Holy Dedicatory Formula, Ahurahê Mazdâd ... .., ashâunûm<sup>7</sup> ... .., ' ... .. of the Most Wise Lord, ... .. of the holy ; '

15. « Then one is to recite » the passage Yâo<sup>8</sup> Vîsâdha âvayêinti ... .. ' Who come and go through the Region of Becoming<sup>9</sup> ... .., « and then » they must carry « the Service » through to the end « as usually, along with » the passage Âfrînâmi<sup>10</sup> ... .. ' I bless ... .. '.

16. The « Formula<sup>11</sup> of Holy Praise for the Services » of the five days sacred to the Holy Songs<sup>11</sup> « is as follows »:—

<sup>4</sup> It is called Âfrîngân ê Ardâ Fravash. The five days here mentioned are the last five days of the year, preceding the Gâtha days.

This passage is recited by both the Zaoiti and the Râthwi together.

After this other passages also are recited according to the Khôrda Avesta.

<sup>11</sup> This is called the Âfrîngân of the Gâthas and is celebrated on the five Gâtha days.

<sup>12</sup> Eight Yathâ Ahû Vairiyôs precede this in the Khôrda Avesta, as in the preceding case.

122 B « The Confession of the Faith », Fravarânê ... .. ; ' I profess to be ... .. ' ;

« The glorification of » what period of the day one may have « while reciting » ;

17. « Then one is to recite » the passage : Yâo Vîsâdha<sup>3</sup> ... .. ' Who ... .. through the Region of Becoming ;'

18. And then they must carry the Formula of Holy Praise through to the end « as usually ».

19. « The Formula of Holy Praise for » the Service<sup>4</sup> of the Three Nights after death<sup>4</sup> « is as follows » :—

Ashem Vohû 3 ; « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times » ;

« The Confession of the Faith », Fravarânê ... .. ; I profess to be ... .. ' ;

« The glorification of » what period of the day one may have « while reciting » ;

« The Recital of » the Holy Dedicatory Formula, Sraoshahê Ashyêhê ... .. ' ... .. Of the Spirit of the Moral Order in kindred with Righteousness,' and the passage Yô vananô<sup>5</sup> ... .. ' Who « is » overcoming ... .. ' ;

20. « After this » they must carry the Formula of Holy Praise through to the end « as usually ».<sup>6</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Yt. XIII, 49-52, and 156-157.

Other passages follow this in the Khôrda Avesta.

<sup>4</sup> Again Setûtîh here, though usually we have Setûîh.

This is another Âfringân of Srôsh, with different passages from the Srôsh Yasht. It also begins with 5 Yathâ Ahû Vairiyôs.

<sup>5</sup> Cf. Yas. LVII, 15-18, and Yt. XI, 10-13.

Other passages follow in the Khôrda Avesta.

<sup>6</sup> If ~~we~~ went with what precedes, the translation would be, "The Glorification Service is not (thus carried on) to the end, verily because....." etc. But remembering what has preceded, we have followed a plan of translation which can best answer objections.

21. « The text which follows in this last case » is <sup>1</sup> not given to the end <sup>1</sup> evidently because just the same <sup>2</sup> thing which is already described <sup>2</sup> above need <sup>3</sup> not have been written <sup>3</sup> « again » in this place. <sup>4</sup> 122,

CHAPTER XVI: APPENDIX B

ON THE SERVICES WHEREIN THE CONSECRATION OF THE DRÔN IS ESSENTIAL

1. When they celebrate the Dvâzdah-Hômâst, « the Twelfefold Service of All the Worshipful Ones » pertaining to Ratwôk Brizat, « the Sublime Lord », they must celebrate a sacred Drôn cake Service at the close. 123,
l. 19

2. « There must be procured for it » the sacred Barsôm bound <sup>5</sup> in a bundle of seven twigs ; and besides « there must be procured » 2 <sup>6</sup> Drôn cakes on the service table ; <sup>7</sup> and one must place them out « with the recitation of » the Holy Dedicatory Formula of Ratwôk Brizat « the Sublime Lord ».

3. The Leading Priest <sup>8</sup> should celebrate that « Drôn » Service

<sup>1</sup> For this translation the form of the text must appear very unusual ; but we have had recourse to it to obtain a satisfactory sense. Perhaps, however, some words may be missing from the text.

<sup>2</sup> Khût âc gôft.

The reference here is to the texts of the Âfringân of Srôsh which is cited first in this enumeration, and which resembles this in many respects.

At present two Drôns and two Frasasts are consecrated in the Drôn Bâj of the ordinary Yazeshns.

<sup>7</sup> Awzârah, from awzâr = utensils. The word is written اۛۛۛۛ in TD, but if our solution is correct, it should be اۛۛۛۛۛ.

<sup>8</sup> TD has اۛۛۛۛ; HJ has اۛۛۛۛۛ.

during the very same period of the day <sup>1</sup> ; because, if that period of the day were to depart while he celebrated the Service, « that » could not be lawful.

4. As to him who may have to celebrate the Dvâzdah-Hômâst, « the Twelffold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », dedicated to Ratwôk Brizat, « the Sublime Lord », in <sup>2</sup> the office of the Leading Priest, or as bearing company with another who may have to celebrate it, if at the time when he performs the Initial Formula for opening that function, <sup>3</sup> he partakes of the food, that cannot be lawful.

5. When one undertakes the Service <sup>4</sup> of the Willing Praise <sup>4</sup> dedicated to the Sublime Lord, one will « then also » have undertaken the Twelffold Service of All the Worshipful Ones and the Drôn Service.

124 A 6. Verily, it is for a similar <sup>5</sup> reason that the Aêvak-Hômâst « the Onefold Service of All the Worshipful Ones is » not « accomplished merely » by the performance of the Visparat « the Service of All the Reverential Ones, if » the Drôn Service is not « performed besides it » at its close. <sup>6</sup>

There is « again » one who says thus : Verily, the Onefold Service « of All the Worshipful Ones » is « accomplished » by the performance <sup>7</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Evidently it is meant that the Drôn Service must be performed in the same period of the day in which the Dvâzdah-Hômâst is being performed for each of the 264 days ; although, as it is also probable, the meaning may simply be that it should not extend into another period from that in which it is begun.

<sup>5</sup> The original has « that. » The reference is evidently to the fact that in the previous statements it is enjoined to perform the Drôn Service at the close of the Dvâzdah-Hômâst.

<sup>6</sup> It is evident that this Aêvak-Hômâst also is dedicated to Ratwôk Brizat like the Dvâzdah-Hômâst above ; hence in its case also the Visparat and not simply the Yazeshn Services are to be performed. It may besides be noted that as observed in Dr. West's note 5 to Bah. Yt. II, 59, a Vendidad is to be added every twelfth day in this kind of Hô-mâst.

<sup>7</sup> Châshatak here signifies the recitation of the holy texts to the accompaniment of the ceremonies.

of the Service of All the Reverential Ones « only in case » the Drôn Service « also is performed » at its close.

7. Mâhgôshnasp<sup>1</sup> said: Verily, the Service of All the Reverential Ones and the presentation<sup>2</sup> of the sacred Drôn cake « both » become undertaken « thereby ».

8. Indeed, as regards one who has to celebrate the Drôn Service in this Thanksgiving Service of<sup>3</sup> All the Reverential Ones, « it is to be borne in mind that » even though such a one have « already » celebrated at that time the Twelffold Service of All the Worshipful Ones dedicated to the Sublime Lord, in the office of the Leading Priest, or have celebrated it as bearing company with him, that Drôn Service cannot be said to have been celebrated « already through that act, but must be celebrated again separately ».<sup>4</sup>

9. As regards the decisions of all the three,<sup>5</sup> they have been unanimous that a « dedicated » animal is to be placed forward to the accompaniment of the Drôn Service for « redeeming » the Bâzâê « penalty of 90 Stirs ».<sup>6</sup> If one were not to celebrate such Drôn Service, that could not be lawful.

<sup>1</sup> TD is here less corrupt in writing this name.

<sup>3</sup> Or the meaning might be “and”; then the reference might be to the Yazeshn and the Visparat separately.

<sup>4</sup> It is already stated above in Fol. 123, ll. 19-20 or § 1 of this chapter, that the Drôn Service is to be performed at the close of the Dvâzdah-Hômâst. But when that is performed, it should not be understood that the Drôn Service in the next performance is to be taken as having been already performed; for, what belongs to another and independent function must be performed separately.

<sup>5</sup> The divine who is the chief writer here, the other divine who is quoted just above, and lastly, Mâhgôshnasp.

<sup>6</sup> That is just the value of the Bâzâê Drôn mentioned in Fol. 123, l. 8 or § 7 of Chapter XVI above. Now, according to Sh. Lâ-Sh., XVI, 6 the merit of consecrating the Drôn is one Tanâpûhar or 300 Stirs; hence a good deed of the value of a Tanâpûhar is in this case considered essential for redeeming the Bâzâê penalty of 90 Stirs, incurred in every case of sacrificing an animal.

It is not clear whether this remark hints that it is required to dedicate an animal at every such Hôrnâst as is mentioned above, or whether it is simply a stray observation.

ON THE THINGS BELONGING TO MEMBERS OF THE SAME SACRED ORDER BEING USED WITHOUT PERMISSION, FOR OFFERINGS

It is meant that such a person cannot come under a criminal charge of theft or robbery; still if the party whose things he has used, demand penalty, he must pay ten sterling coins.

2. Anyô kas-chît anghéus astvatô parabaraiti, âkâo hazangha, anâkâoscha tâyus. But if any one else of the secular world,<sup>1</sup> « e. g. some » man<sup>2</sup> of the town,<sup>2</sup> were to take it away, then, if « that person were to do so » openly one « would be acting as » a robber,<sup>3</sup> and if stealthily, one « would be acting as » a thief.

3. Concerning a member of the same priestly order,<sup>4</sup> just so far as he must have ready things for « celebrating » the Season Festival, it would be lawful to take, before the « eye of some » faithful,<sup>5</sup> « such things » on credit<sup>6</sup> and without<sup>7</sup> authorisation from the Spiritual Master,<sup>7</sup> if indeed that should be « absolutely necessary » to be taken by him so. 125 A

4. When « however a person proves to be » a thief, « then » that which they must exact from him shall be good hard money,<sup>8</sup> « which » shall « also » be « the case » when « one proves to be » a robber.

CHAPTER XVIII

ON THE PRESENTATION OF ELIXIRS AND HONEY CORDIALS ACCORDING TO COMMON OR SEPARATE MEALS AND COMMON OR SEPARATE VESSELS

1. Yâ<sup>9</sup> nara<sup>9</sup> hâmmô-khvarrtha hâmmô-gaodana,<sup>10</sup> hamûm aêtê<sup>11</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Gabrâ shatrô. An outsider has no right to take things without permission, although a member of the same order may, with the knowledge of some one else.

<sup>3</sup> To take things away before the eyes of others and without their owner's permission would be indicative of the defiant aggressiveness of the robber. The thief is not so defiant and hence he takes things only by stealth.

<sup>8</sup> The man without criminal guilt has to pay 10 such coins; so the robber and the thief must be made to pay proportionately more. <sup>9</sup> Nominative dual.

<sup>10</sup> Darmesteter rightly states that this word is different from gaodhana of Vend. XXI, 7, 11, 15 which signifies "pastures."

There is another form, however, which yields exactly the same sense as gaodana; it is gaoidhê of Vend. XIV, 8, the nominative singular of gaoidhyâ, which is explained to mean gôshtdân exactly as gaodana is here explained to signify.

<sup>11</sup> This must be the nominative dual form; cf. 𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎹 (Vend. II, 28), which is the accusative dual.

125 B

3. Paitinām-khvarrtha hāmô-gaodana, « And when they » « separate meals and common vessels, hamûm aêtê khshâu- zaotrâm bardtô, paitinâm-pâpithwâm. « then » those may « present the Hallowed Portion of the Honey-cordial, « i.e. »
 « in common, and of the matured elixir separately.

4. Paitinām-khvarrtha paitinām<sup>9</sup>-gaodana, paitinām aêtê khshâudrîm zaotrûm<sup>10</sup> barâtô, paitinām pâ-pithwâm. « And when they » have separate meals and separate vessels, « i.e., separate meat-bowls « and » separate viand-dishes, then those may present the Hallowed Portion of the honey-cordial, « i.e. » wine, separately « and also » of the matured elixir separately.<sup>11</sup>

2  $\frac{1}{2} \log 2$  should be  $\frac{1}{2} \log 4$ .

<sup>6</sup> Pit-pokht; see above, Fol. 122, 30. Otherwise it was some soft nutritive food like jelly or pudding.

ਅਨਮੋਲਕ.

<sup>b</sup> Here TD erroneously adds some previous lines.

<sup>10</sup> The text has only the last letter of this word.

11 It will appear that the elixirs were to be presented commonly or separately according as the meals were common or separate, and the honey-cordeals were to be presented commonly or separately according as the vessels were common or separate.

5. Afrog said: Verily even the rich folk<sup>1</sup> should partake properly of the offerings. « And it is even said that » Haurvô pasô<sup>2</sup> Frashaostrô, naêmô pâthwa<sup>3</sup> Zarathustrô. ‘Wholly « was » Frashaostrâ 126 A « bent » on the « sacrificed » animal, « and » half « inclined was » Zarathushtra on the foods « of offering ».’<sup>4</sup>

6. Gaôgôshnasp said<sup>5</sup>: Verily, one should « both » make the offerings properly as well as partake of them properly.

CHAPTER XIX

ON THE HALLOWED PORTIONS OF THE MEATS OF THE DEDICATED ANIMALS

1. Chaiti<sup>6</sup> nâ aêvahê pasvô<sup>7</sup> Zaothrô<sup>8</sup> barât? How many Hallowed Portions may a man present of one animal, « e.g. », the sinewous<sup>9</sup> « portions as are » with the hamstring<sup>10</sup> and with the ham.<sup>11</sup>

2. Chatangrô<sup>12</sup> ‘Four.’<sup>8</sup>

<sup>4</sup> It must be noticed that the quotation here is not quite plain, yet the discovered sense agrees both with the context and the text. Recall Yas. LXXI, 1, as indicating Frashaostrâ's concern in the Holy Service; and it is evidently intended that righteous Zarathushtra was too spiritual to be wholly bent on symbols.

<sup>9</sup> Shnowat (?); cf. Av. 𐬯𐬀𐬎 = sinew which elsewhere is transliterated 𐬯𐬀 (snô). The suffix here and in the following words, must be transliterating Avestân vant, though that is usually translated âmand.

It must be remembered that the term “ham” is used irrespective of any particular animal.

3. Atha dvayāo,<sup>1</sup> atha thryūm<sup>2</sup>; The same in the case of two « animals », and the same in the case of three<sup>3</sup>; chaturūm<sup>4</sup> aēvām<sup>4</sup>; kahydichit<sup>5</sup> tadha<sup>6</sup> frayanghām.<sup>7</sup> « and indeed it shall be the same » in the case of 4 animals as for one animal;<sup>8</sup> and thus for any « animal » whatsoever, when among a larger<sup>7</sup> number.<sup>7</sup>

4. That is to say, it is repeated in<sup>9</sup> other words<sup>9</sup> that one may take 4 « Hallowed Portions » from one « animal ».<sup>9</sup>

5. Chavat<sup>10</sup> gaonahê<sup>11</sup> ava-barât? How much of the sinewous flesh might one bring up at the most<sup>12</sup> « for offering as Hallowed Portion »?

126 B 6. Yat dvaēibya<sup>13</sup> errzubya han-grrrfât.<sup>14</sup> As much as 'one might hold'<sup>15</sup> with two fingers.

7. 'Barrshnūm paiti upa-baren,'<sup>16</sup> They should bear it on

<sup>3</sup> That is to say, the previous remark applies to every one of any number of animals.

<sup>4</sup> As it is, the grammatical form is accusative singular of the feminine gender. The gender would thus indicate that the reference was to Zaothrāo which is feminine and not to pasvô which is masculine; but the Pahlavi takes the word to have reference to pasvô and that agrees more with the general sense.

<sup>5</sup> This again is a feminine form, and the remarks in the preceding note apply here also.

<sup>8</sup> Pann sân; Pr. = resemblance, equality.

<sup>9</sup> It seems that the reference is to number, not to kind.

<sup>14</sup> Subjunctive. HJ has TD .

This root is conjugated according to different verbal classes.

<sup>16</sup> The Pahlavi suggests that some such words are here necessary. The remaining broken —however suggests that the last word here was probably an accusative singular or a genitive plural form.

Barrshnūm which is explained as kûp by the Pahlavi, need not signify a hill; it might simply indicate an elevation to which the tray was to be carried for being placed. More probably still, the reference might point to an elevated place where the offering was intended to be made. The ancients rightly chose elevated places so that the Service could be beheld by the entire congregations which were occasionally very huge.

to an elevation,<sup>1</sup> « i.e. » on to the top of a height,<sup>1</sup> dashinem â vâ gaonavatô, 'either' « carrying it in hands and placed » on the right of the tray<sup>2</sup> 'for the sinewous flesh,'<sup>3</sup> « i.e., that way » forwards by a third<sup>4</sup> « of it », barrshnvô<sup>5</sup> vâ paiti vaghdhanahê. 'or' « bearing it » on the summit of the head, « i.e. », within the tray<sup>6</sup> « projecting » forwards on the head.<sup>7</sup>

The meaning here might otherwise be: "either (holding) the tray for the sinewous flesh, on the right ....."

The preferred rendering has reference to the position of the flesh in the tray whereas this other refers to the position of the tray with reference to the body of the person carrying it. The latter meaning is more direct, but the former agrees more with the grammatical form of the Avestan text.

<sup>4</sup> I.e., on the right of the centre of the tray by a third of its radius.

<sup>6</sup> By transcribing 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀 into Pahlavi characters we get 𐭮𐭲𐭮 which again might be corrupt for 𐭮𐭲𐭮 (sinih), Pr. سنی = a table, a tray.

This passage apparently mentions the place where the offering is to be celebrated and describes the way in which the offerings are to be taken there.

<sup>11</sup> Thus corrected.

<sup>12</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀 is wrong for 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀.    <sup>13</sup> Rabâ.

11. Verily, the assistants<sup>9</sup> should procure the animal « for sacrifice », in the commencement of the Worship.

12. Afrog said : Verily, « that should happen » at the Holy Songs,<sup>10</sup> « with » the introduction Yat frīnata<sup>11</sup>..... ! 'Then praise ye..... !'

13. Maītyôkmâh said : Verily, it is to be observed that on the tasting « of the sacred offering » the assistants are in<sup>12</sup> each case<sup>12</sup> to wash « the seat of » the Sacred Fire.<sup>13</sup>

<sup>4</sup> Tôzâk; cf. Pr. نور = heat. Or, the word may be a corrupted form of سوحاک (sûchâk).

<sup>6</sup> Basariâ = flesh, is used as a part for the whole ; for though the meaning "injury to flesh" would not be inappropriate here, still the mention just below of the animal for sacrifice and the mode of presenting it at the offering inclines us to take the reference to point to "animal" rather than "flesh."

<sup>9</sup> Yavyânân or Gôshnân with the radical meaning of "helping," "assisting" reflected from the word's Avestan equivalent yavan which may be traced to the root yu = to help. Otherwise the meaning might simply be "youths."

<sup>11</sup> Thus corrected ; TD has franata, HJ has frânâta. The words here seem to belong to some special formula for presenting the offering. If they belong to the Gâthas themselves as it appears at first sight, then the only words which may be taken to have been thus corrupted are yat vrrrnâtâ or hyat vrrrnâtâ of Yas. XXX, 6 (b) ; but there seems to be no possibility of relation between these words and the sense of presenting the animal as offering.

<sup>12</sup> Harkin.

<sup>13</sup> It will be recollected for instance, that while in the Yazeshn Ceremony the Drôn and the Gaôshûdâ are tasted at the end of the eighth chapter of the Yasna, the words Âtareṃ pairi-yaozh-dathentem in the commencement of Chap. IX are explained by the Pahlavi to refer to the washing of the seat of the Sacred Fire ; so evidently that function of washing must have followed at just that place in the worship, in that particular case.

14. On « the completion of » that particular act « of tasting, and when » they have washed « the seat of the Sacred Fire », whatever sinewous flesh may have been brought forward, that sinewous flesh one is to cut up with the 3<sup>1</sup> « recitals of » Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô..... 'As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure.....,' even as the Holy Wisdom states; « and that cutting is to be done » just at « the expression » shyaothanânâm 'of deeds.'<sup>3</sup>

15. In the first « Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô one should make » the first « cut », in the second the second, « and » in the third the third.

16. In case one fails to cut<sup>3</sup> « the piece » in the first « Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô », one should cut<sup>3</sup> 2 « times » together in the second. In case one fails « again » to cut it in the second, one should cut 3 « times » together in the third. « But » when one fails to cut « even » in the third, « then there can be remaining » no text of Holy Wisdom for a fourth « cutting ».<sup>4</sup>

17. There is<sup>5</sup> one who says thus: Surely indeed,<sup>6</sup> as there is no more further text of Holy Wisdom « here », so, according to<sup>7</sup> the <sup>1</sup> Reciting 3 *Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô*s is so very unusual that were it not for the following decisive statements we might have been led to change the number to 2 or 4 as more probable. Whereas in view of the foregoing also 3 would be the proper number; for, it will be recollected that in the beginning of this subject it is stated that f o u r Hallowed Portions may be presented of one animal. Now if these four portions are to be cut up from one large piece of ham as it is above understood, then of course t h r e e cuts must separate it into f o u r smaller pieces, and as each cut is to be given during the recitation of one Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô, t h r e e Y.A.V.'s must altogether be necessary for the purpose under consideration.

<sup>2</sup> This is exactly the expression where, for instance, the Vanôt or the large sweet Drôn is cut, or an animal is slain, or the knot is tied to the sacred girdle or to the Barsôm band; indeed it is just the expression where an operation is performed whenever that is to be hallowed with the recitation of an Ahunvar.

Eighth Book,<sup>1</sup> it is clear enough that it cannot be allowed « to cut up the portions at the fourth time ».

20. One should arrange<sup>10</sup> them well at « the expression » ..... yâonghâmchâ<sup>11</sup>..... '..... and of whose.....'.

21. « And just » when<sup>12</sup> « there should occur the text Aêtâoss<sup>13</sup> tê Âtarr! Zaothrâo<sup>13</sup>..... 'These are thy Hallowed Portions O Life Flame!.....' he who has washed the seat of the Sacred Fire should stand forward and recite it, and take « the offering » straight to the <sup>1</sup> Fragart. As we have explained above, the division called Fragart in the Nîrangastân, contains matters which must be placed under more than one chapter. And evidently the reference here is to a book which must have enjoined that such operations cannot take place without the accompaniment of sacred texts.

<sup>5</sup> Bûn, i.e., the thicker end of the branch. The cutting up of flesh is likely to soil things, but not that of Barsôm.

It will be recollected that it is stated above in Fol. 40, l. 28 or Nir. Bk. I, VIII: App. B, 8, that in the Drôn Service also the fragrant wood and incense are to be placed on the right hand side ; and so also must be the Barsôm if it is to be placed along with those, though of course its usual place is on the left.

<sup>13</sup> Feminine, nominative plural.

These texts must have formed parts of a special dedication formula.

Sacred Fire.—Lest it might become unclean, one should take it straight «to the Sacred Fire».<sup>1</sup>

22. «The case is» not different «with regard to» the Sacred Varharân Fire «dedicated to the Spirit of Victory».

23. When one brings the sinewous flesh «for dedication, it is implied that » an animal is sacrificed. If the sinewous flesh be not offered «all to the Holy Flame», one must in any case offer up the Hallowed Portion.<sup>2</sup>

24. But when there is no «flesh» to be cut up inasmuch as «the animal» is not to be sacrificed,<sup>3</sup> then it need<sup>4</sup> not<sup>4</sup> be sacrificed «specially in such a case; and still notwithstanding», if «the animal» be killed, then whether the Hallowed Portion must be offered up or no is not clear.<sup>5</sup>

25. Raôshan «however» said: Verily, in all cases, when there is no «flesh» to<sup>6</sup> be cut up<sup>6</sup> inasmuch as «the animal» is not to<sup>7</sup> be sacrificed,<sup>7</sup> it need<sup>4</sup> not<sup>4</sup> be sacrificed «specially in such a case; and still notwithstanding» if «the animal» is killed, then the Hallowed Portion at any rate, must be offered.

26. As the sinewous flesh «for the Dedication» is to be such<sup>8</sup> as is not previously<sup>9</sup> used,<sup>9</sup> so, if it have «already» been used at a function, it cannot be allowed «for such sacred use again». Even 128 B

<sup>5</sup> When an animal is slain as a sacrifice, at least the Hallowed Portion must be offered up; but when it is merely optionally killed at a Service, it becomes doubtful whether the Hallowed Portion must needs be offered up then.

As regards the latter case, however, the writer might simply be meaning the ordinary slaughtering of an animal for food, which function also is to be performed ceremoniously according to the orthodox religion.

when there were a « piece among all » which had not been used « at all » at a « previous » function, « still then » it could <sup>1</sup> not be allowed <sup>1</sup>; « so » when there is not even <sup>2</sup> a single <sup>2</sup> « unused piece, as » when all have been used at a « previous » function, that cannot <sup>3</sup> surely <sup>3</sup> be « allowed for such use again ».<sup>4</sup>

130, 1. 6 27. Whoever has to hold forth the Hallowed Portion, must come forward and hold it forth. « But » if « while doing so » one were unclean on the right hand side, one would incur the Bâzâ penalty « of 90 Stîrs <sup>5</sup>; although indeed » the « uncleanness » on the left « hand side also » would « in itself » be no better than the other.

28 There is one who says <sup>6</sup> thus: All fattiness <sup>7</sup> whatsoever is unfit except that wherein there is fat all over from head to foot.<sup>8</sup>

29. What might be unclean on a side « is to be treated in the same way as » the trunk <sup>9</sup> of a tree <sup>9</sup> which, if it be unclean on a side at the time <sup>10</sup> of hewing it, « must be treated as » wholly unclean.<sup>11</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Taking لئلا for لا, as just below. If it were the double negative, the translation would be: « (that) could be allowed »; still it is not probable that such might be the meaning.

<sup>8</sup> It is not plain whether the reference is to the animal for dedication, or to the meat of the Hallowed Portion, or even to the man performing the dedication. Whatever that may be, it is plain that partial fattiness on parts, which must be owing to disease, would be condemned in any case.

If the reference is to the meat, لا من لئلا may be translated « from one end to the other ».

<sup>11</sup> It must be recollected that according to Vend. VII, 28-31 unclean wood can be made clean.

The analogy here given signifies that what is partially unclean is to be taken as wholly unclean.

30. If the meat « be found » in the sacred<sup>1</sup> apparatus<sup>1</sup> without having undergone special purification, « then that must be wrong; because that should have been treated » with<sup>2</sup> scrupulous purification at the time of having been « placed » in the sacred apparatus<sup>3</sup>

31. The fat « also should be treated » with scrupulous cleanliness; 130 B and the piece<sup>4</sup> of flesh<sup>4</sup> should be examined all<sup>5</sup> over,<sup>5</sup> as no impurities<sup>6</sup> thereon can be allowed.

32. There is one who says thus: Verily, as long as it might not have turned bad<sup>7</sup> so long would it be fit.

33. The sinewous flesh should be cut up into<sup>8</sup> pieces.<sup>8</sup> It should be examined lest its colour might have changed. If that have changed owing to the grass, it may be allowed<sup>9</sup>; «but» if it have changed owing to the illness « of the animal », that cannot be allowed.

34. In<sup>10</sup> a suspicious case<sup>10</sup> it should be given up to the dogs.

35. One should perform the special<sup>11</sup> holy formula<sup>11</sup> pertaining to the Holy Life Flame dedicated to Varharîn « the Spirit of Victory », and « then » one should pierce<sup>12</sup> and scrape<sup>13</sup> « the flesh »; and if the

<sup>7</sup> Rim; Pr. ریم = dregs; dross; corrupt matter.

It is probably meant that the things should not be " stale."

<sup>8</sup> Pârak pârah; Pr. پاره پاره.

<sup>9</sup> پاره پاره should be پاره پاره. § 35 just below shows that the reference is to the grass that might have come in contact with the flesh, and not to that which might have been eaten by the animal.

<sup>11</sup> Varih. Otherwise, " It should be taken within the sacred precincts of, etc." But as such function usually is commenced with a sacred formula, it is very likely that the reference is to the small service for cleaning the flesh which has changed colour simply through coming in contact with grass.

<sup>12</sup> انجیردن should be انجیردن (anjîreshn); cf. Pr. انجیردن = to pierce. Elsewhere it is written انجیردن.

colour be restored then it should be understood that « the change in the colour was » owing<sup>1</sup> to the grass; « and so the colour should be restored » clear « with » water. But so long as when « this flesh is » on fat or in contact with fat, « such cleaning » must not be allowed; and it can be of no use « when it is quite » dark<sup>2</sup> and coarse.<sup>3</sup>

36. « When it is » dry it can be fit under every circumstance.
131 A « But then » the limit of dryness « should be » just so much « only » up to which it<sup>4</sup> can be chewed.<sup>4</sup>

37. There is one who says thus: Behold, when it is necessary « to make the offering » to Mithra 'the Spirit of the Friendly Just Order,' then « specially », coarse food<sup>5</sup> must not be permitted.<sup>6</sup>

38. As<sup>7</sup> one must<sup>8</sup> not weaken<sup>8</sup> the firm hard<sup>9</sup> teeth in<sup>10</sup> one's head,<sup>10</sup> so it must be clear why it is not permitted « to use dry or coarse food ».

39. When there is a hole « in the animal's » skin as broad as a Dînâr<sup>11</sup> « coin, then its flesh » cannot be fit. One may « however » make « of it » a coarse<sup>12</sup> dish.<sup>12</sup>

40. When one cooks, one must cook with purity these « several things »:—one « quantity » of fat along with the portion of the hamstring, and one of gravy<sup>13</sup> meat,<sup>13</sup> « and one from the meat presented as »

<sup>4</sup> Gazând; Pr. گزیدن=to bite. It should not be so dry as would be too hard to chew it.

The reference here could not be to stale meat but must be to that degree of roasting which must harden flesh.

<sup>6</sup> It is not plain whether this critic meant that coarse food could be used in offerings to other powers. Perhaps he simply intended to say that tender food was specially necessary in offerings to Mithra.

<sup>10</sup> Ha sâra. This seems to be an Avestân phrase used in an erudite fashion: ha=one's own, and sâra=head.

<sup>11</sup> (?) The text has a form which can be read Dânâr. It seems to be assumed that in this case the flesh cannot be quite the most healthy.

<sup>13</sup> Bûr; Pr. بورك=a kind of food. On Fol. 135A it is noted to be the equivalent of 𐬵𐬀𐬵𐬀, Av. 𐬵𐬀𐬵𐬀.

the Hallowed Portion. And then one must place one upon another.

41. One should set apart the portion for the divines, and one should cook it « alongside ».

42. The limit of cooking fat « should be » just that when it must drop<sup>1</sup> down quite as one may hold<sup>2</sup> it up.

43. The limit of cooking gravy meat « should be » just that when the ham<sup>3</sup> must separate<sup>4</sup> on piercing<sup>5</sup> it.

44. The limit of cooking « the meat of » the Hallowed Portion « should be » just that when its toughness<sup>6</sup> must have been softened.<sup>7</sup> 131B

45. If this which had been the Hallowed Portion, have remained to be cooked<sup>8</sup> a little, or have been overcooked,<sup>9</sup> or « there have been » thereon the wetness of foam,<sup>10</sup> or the sacred water have reached it, or if a single<sup>10</sup> hair<sup>10</sup> from the same animal have fallen thereon, then « all » that would be improper. « But » when a solitary piece of grass<sup>11</sup> falls thereon, that need not render it unfit.

46. If however a fly<sup>12</sup> fall thereon, then because that is a thing « which » could not be allowed to pass that way, « that too » must not be permitted; for, behold, as « the text » says Tat chithremcha<sup>13</sup> ..... 'And that « is » the brood<sup>13</sup> .....', it really belongs to the world of the Harmful Spirit.

<sup>1</sup> Bajagêt; cf. Pr. بچکاندن = to drop.

The reference is to the complete softening of the fat.

<sup>7</sup> Pazinihastih (?) or paziniheshnuh (?) which appear to be causal passive forms; cf. Pr. پزاختن = to melt.

<sup>8</sup> ١٣١٣١ should be ١٣١٣١.

Otherwise the word may be hôr = Pr. هور = fog.

<sup>11</sup> Tabanâ.

The Druj Nasu is said to be in the form of a fly, (of course microscopically); cf. Vend. VII, 2, 3, 5; VIII, 16-18; etc.

47. Near <sup>1</sup> that man «who performs this» function «of cooking», nothing can be allowed, excepting a dog which «may be permitted to be» near <sup>1</sup> «only» when pure. And if that <sup>2</sup> be so necessary, <sup>2</sup> that «animal» should «first» be made pure and then made <sup>3</sup>to stand <sup>3</sup> «near by».

48. When the dog is made «really» pure, then «alone can it look quite» smart.

49. If the dog be not of <sup>4</sup> high breed, <sup>4</sup> it should be beaten «out».

50. Vakhshâpûhar said: Indeed «it must be» by degrees coarser
132 A if it «be such» as is met with in the wilderness <sup>5</sup>; «and that should be» rejected «altogether» at the «above» function.

51. It is necessary that the Hallowed Portion be choice.<sup>6</sup>

52. It is necessary that the dish <sup>7</sup> «to hold it» be choice.

53. For Âtrô Farnbâg «the Life Flame of Abundant Good Fortune and Glorious Dispensation, all the things should be» choice.

54. For Âtrô Gôshnasp «the Life Flame of the Fleet Mental Vigour, there should besides be» the clarified <sup>3</sup> Hallowed Portion.

55. Howsoever much «might these things be in quantity», in any case they are not to be held in vessels more than three;<sup>9</sup> «and the text says» Thrishûm donghât, uthem sadayât 'Had «the number» been «only» a third «of that», a mess might have appeared.'<sup>10</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Nazd.

<sup>2</sup> Siz'it. Otherwise, sapêl=white; and then the meaning would be: "it should be unspotted (pâk) when it is white..." i.e., it should be of pure whiteness in case of its being white at all.

<sup>9</sup> The text has 5; but thrishûm just below, as well as the three things specified a little above, suggest 3 as the right number. It has apparently a reference to the vessels for holding (1) the cooked fat, (2) the cooked gravy meat, and (3) the cooked meat of the Hallowed Portion, all mentioned above, in Fol. 131, ll. 11-16.

<sup>10</sup> Because then the several things would be put in the same vessel, and an unpleasant mixture would result.

56. Then « there should be placed out » as much of the water and the fire as are to be brought forward.

57. All the things should be offered up in dedication alongside the function of tasting the portion of the hamstring, and « the whole thing should be » ended<sup>1</sup> at the chapter at the middle « of the Holy Text for recital ».<sup>1</sup>

58. On tasting the portion of the ham, everything should be removed<sup>2</sup> aside « and the function should be » ended at the chapter at the middle « of the Holy Text for recital ».

59. 'n « finishing the function of » tasting, they<sup>3</sup> should carry the Thanksgiving Service through to the end.<sup>3</sup>

60. One is to recite the Greater Text of Holy Wisdom « at this Service. Hence one should » first « recite » the Lesser<sup>4</sup> Text,<sup>4</sup> and on having held the Holy Dedicatory Formula, should « then » recite the Greater Text.

The translation might otherwise be “.....ended at the middle of the chapter .....”; but this would not be clear.

The reference apparently points to the text of the Yasna Haptanghâiti; for, while describing below the details of this particular function of dedicating the prepared offerings, which is treated primarily here, the opening portions of this text are mentioned in relation to the beginning of this function, and the last to its end. Its mention at the close of Fol. 126 indicates the same association.

As the opening portion of Yas. XXXVII is still used in the grace to be recited at meals, so it might have been used wholly while dedicating the prepared offering which might then have been partaken of at its end, and the dedication might have thus been ended at Yas. XXXVIII which is exactly at the middle of Yasna Haptanghâiti.

As however what is mentioned as Kartak here is mentioned as Yasn Kartak in the next folio, and this may be the same as Yazbahûneshn Kartârîh which in Fol. 144 ll. 1-2 is defined by the Pahlavi as signifying the Yêinghê Hâtâm section, the Pahlavi here also might be intending that section, especially that at the close of the Haptanghâiti perhaps; and if that were so, Kartak would signify “section,” and the expression here might signify “at the middle of the Holy Section.” But see note 1 to Fol. 144, ll. 1-2 on p. 356 below.

<sup>4</sup> Probably an abridged service gone through as an introduction to the main service. See the note at Fol. 59, l. 11.

132 B 61. They<sup>1</sup> are to have washed<sup>1</sup> « the pieces » before the Greater Text. If they be not « ready » washed<sup>2</sup> at the Greater Text, then one cannot offer the Hallowed Portion.<sup>3</sup> « And indeed » if they be not washed at the Lesser Text, then that will be no Thanksgiving Service « at all ».<sup>4</sup>

62. When they finish<sup>5</sup> off<sup>5</sup> the Thanksgiving Service dedicated to Âtrô Farnbâg « the Holy Flame of Abundant Good Fortune and Glorious Dispensation, then they should close it thus » :—

Âthrô Ahurahê Mazdâô Puthra!<sup>6</sup> mat vîspaëibyô âtrrrbyô, Garôis Ushi-darrnahê Mazda-dhâtahê, Asha-khvâthrahê ... .. ‘ « With establishing the Holy Concord ... .. » of the Holy Life-Flame, O thou Offspring of the Most Wise! with all the holy life-flames, « and » of the Brightness-bearing Eminence established by the Most Wise and full of Glory out of Holiness, ... ..’.

CHAPTER XIX : APPENDIX A

ON THE MANNER OF PRESENTING THE HALLOWED PORTION OF THE MEAT OF THE DEDICATED ANIMAL

1. Just at the time when one enters upon « the Service », one should take with one everything « that is wanted ».

2. At « the recital of » the piece for the Hallowed Portion « that is » great,<sup>7</sup> one is to recite the Glorification of the Holy Flame, that

<sup>2</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬵𐬀 is better than 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬵𐬀.

<sup>3</sup> And so the dedication must be useless.

<sup>4</sup> Because then the things for dedication will not have been washed with necessary purity at the very commencement of the Service, and hence the Service cannot take place at all.

<sup>7</sup> 𐬨𐬀 in HJ. The reference evidently is to that which is offered in the Greater Service.

TD has 𐬨𐬀. Indeed it is mentioned at Fol. 132, ll. 7-8 that besides the fire the water also is to be procured; but it does not seem likely that that has anything to do with the Hallowed Portion of the Holy Sap.

«is » the greater one.<sup>1</sup> And until one carries the Thanksgiving Service to the end, one is to keep « the sacred Fire » aflame.

3. There is one who says thus: Behold, everything is to be brought all together.

4. As « the meat of » the Hallowed Portion<sup>2</sup> « is to be treated » as a valued object, it should evidently be brought in as a valued object.

5. If «there were » no Frabôtâr « priest whose function is to present things », and if «instead » an individual<sup>3</sup> were «simply » to hold the special formula for the function, were to present « the meat of the Hallowed Portion », and then were to retire, then « surely » that would not be proper. 133 A

6. At the expression yâonghûmchâ .....<sup>4</sup> '.....and whose .....' the Leading Priest should strike<sup>5</sup> the finger into it and take it out again 3 times.

7. At « the expression » .....yazamaidê<sup>6</sup> '..... we remember in veneration' he should strike « the finger » upon the vessel<sup>7</sup> « holding the meat of the Hallowed Portion, and then » should rest it thereon; and at « the expression » Ahurem Mazdâm .....<sup>8</sup> '..... the Most Wise Supreme Being....' he should whirl « the vessel » round. At « the expression » Ameshâ Spentâ .....<sup>9</sup> '..... the Immortal Holy Beneficent Powers' he should raise it up; and at « the expression » Humatanâm .....<sup>10</sup> '.....of Good Thoughts.....' he should bring it down.

This expression and the following occur with others also below, at Fol. 143, ff.; but there they indicate the text of Yas. LXIII, <sup>3</sup>, primarily.

8. At the time when he «arrives at» the most excellent «expression» .....srîrem arrdumem<sup>1</sup> ..... ‘.....the graceful offering .....’ «he should take forth» that «offering» for partaking of it.

9. Behold, while tearing<sup>2</sup> «the flesh for eating», or while holding it, one should always hold it in the 4 fingers.<sup>3</sup>

10. One is verily to turn «the vessel holding the meat of the Hallowed Portion» round<sup>4</sup> until the Holy Flame consumes «its» Hallowed Portion.

11. When «the ceremony of offering» the Hallowed Portion is 133 B at an end, «the offering of» the portion of the ham also «will be» at an end, at the chapter at the middle of the Text<sup>5</sup> of Worship.<sup>6</sup> «Hence» when the Holy Flame consumes the Hallowed Portion<sup>6</sup> «the ceremony of offering» the portion of the ham «is» at an end, at the chapter at the middle of the Text of Worship.<sup>7</sup>

12. When the portion of the ham is partaken of, the chapters of the Text of Worship should be carried through to the end.

13. If by «the text» Yēinghê hâtām.....<sup>8</sup> ‘.....among the living, whose.. .....’ the portion of the ham be «still» left there, then

Notice however that at Fol. 144, ll. 1-2 Yazbahûneshn Kartârih is explained by the Pahlavi to signify the Yēinghê Hâtām sections, whereas that same expression also occurs at Fol. 156, l. 4 amidst the same circumstances that are described in this place here, and besides the Yēinghê Hâtām is mentioned here just below; hence it is not improbable that the Pahlavi may be construing Yasn Kartak in just the same sense as Yazbahûneshn Kartârih, and may be understanding it to signify the Yēinghê Hâtām here also; still see notes to Fol. 132, l. 10, Fol. 144, ll 1-2, and Fol. 156, l. 4.

the Frabôrtâr « priest whose function is to carry things », should take it away; if not the Hâvanân « priest whose function is to pound the Haoma » should do so. And when one has taken it, another should not take it away from one.<sup>1</sup>

14. If one leave it down there « still » at « the text » Yëinghê hâtûm.....<sup>2</sup> '..... among the living, whose ..... ' then one should remove it at « the text » Humatanûm.....<sup>3</sup> '..... of Good Thoughts..... '.

15. If one leave it down there « still » at « the text » Humatanûm..... '..... of Good Thoughts,' then one should keep it there until « one goes through » those 4 « recitations of » Yathâ Ahû Vairiyê..... 'As is the Lords Holy Pleasure.....,' and 3 « of » Ashem Vohû<sup>4</sup> « the Praise of Righteousness ».<sup>5</sup>

16. Vakhshâpûhar said: Verily, as regards the act when one allows it to remain there at the function, « it must appear that » in so far as it is « already » eaten from, one should not have left it there « any longer ».<sup>6</sup>

17. When it is not « yet put » down « for offering, and when » one either still prepares<sup>7</sup> it or cooks it, then one is to drop « a little of it » down on the ground,<sup>8</sup> and one is to recite the Text of Holy Wisdom 134 A alongside.

18. There is one who says thus: Behold, if one makes over to the dog<sup>9</sup> « simply » the useless<sup>8</sup> skin,<sup>9</sup> that cannot be proper.

<sup>1</sup> Everything is to be managed without confusion or disorder; and to take away something from the hand of one who is minding it would not appear a quiet and peaceful affair.

<sup>3</sup> It is not proper to disturb a recitation of connected texts by removing things in its midst; it is allowed to do so after the end of one, and before the beginning of another of such entire texts.

<sup>4</sup> Evidently, it would be the best course to remove it immediately on having done with the thing.

<sup>9</sup> Charm.

19. Raoshan « however » said: Verily, when « that is made over only » to the dog, that must be allowed.<sup>1</sup>

20. As regards one's having to have dropped « a little of the portion of the offering on the ground, it would equally be » the right<sup>2</sup> thing<sup>3</sup> « if » one carried it to « some » other<sup>3</sup> flame.

21. When this « person who makes the offering » proceeds to « the Holy Flame of » Farnbag « the Abundant Good Fortune and the Glorious Dispensation Who is » Farnbag « the Abundant Good Fortune and the Glorious Dispensation » of the Most Wise Lord, then he is to take with him everything « necessary » for the Hôṃ-Drôn Service, because the Hôṃ-Drôn Service « is to be performed » at the Thanks-giving Service at which an animal is to be sacrificed.

22. It is according to rule to offer up the Hallowed Portion from the same animal that is sacrificed.

23. Until the Holy Flame has consumed<sup>4</sup> the Hallowed Portion, one should not take into use a Hallowed Portion from that animal, as it is not good if they take it « so ».

24. When it is necessary to perform the tasting from « the portion of the meat, and of the Haoma drink and Drôn cake » both<sup>5</sup> at the same time, it should be becoming « to take it » from the Haoma drink and Drôn cake first.

25. Although one is to have stood up from the commencement<sup>6</sup> « of the function, still » when the thing has proceeded one-fourth, it is 134 B not necessary to stand any further.

26. And if at that stage there be a single unclean<sup>7</sup> thing, one should set it right; but one may omit the « usually » accompanying recitation of the Text of Holy Wisdom.

<sup>1</sup> While one thinks that the dog deserves something better than mere useless portions of the skin of the dedicated animal, the other believes that there is nothing wrong in offering such portions to him.

<sup>2</sup> Druvēst.

<sup>5</sup> Otherwise the sense might be, "both should perform the tasting at the same time"; but as there is no mention of two parties in this connection, that does not seem to be the apparent meaning.

27. When the thing<sup>1</sup> is performed one-third, then inasmuch as one has to partake of « the offering at that stage », one should « then » celebrate the Drôn Service for « redeeming » the Bâzâê « penalty of 90 Stirs ».<sup>2</sup>

28. Vakhshâpûhar « however » said : Behold, when there has been no fat at the function, they cannot celebrate the Drôn Service for « redeeming » the Bâzâê « penalty of 90 Stirs ».<sup>3</sup>

CHAPTER XIX : APPENDIX B

ON THE MANNER OF DEDICATING THE ANIMAL

l. 20

He should drive it in by the right-hand side of the Leading Priest.

2. « And » as it is to be set up « properly », its hind quarters « should be turned » towards the Leading Priest and its front towards the Holy Flame.<sup>9</sup>

3. There is no special formula for digging the hollow<sup>9</sup> and <sup>1</sup> 𐎧𐎶𐎧 should be 𐎧𐎶.

<sup>3</sup> Even now a little clarified butter is essentially to be placed on the Drôn for consecration; but no doubt Vakhshâpûhar means fat specially, as implying the sacrifice of an animal, for which alone the Drôn Bâzâê is essentially needed.

It will be recollected that at Fol. 124, ll. 10-12 it is noted in Chap. XVI: App. B, 9 above, that the Drôn Bâzâê Service is necessary at the dedication of an animal.

The whole text of the following Appendix is transferred here from Fol. 128, l. 20—Fol. 130, l. 6.

<sup>5</sup> Pasu + âzangh or âzangha which may be derived from az=to lead, to drive.

<sup>8</sup> This would be the proper position of the animal to be presented for dedication.

<sup>9</sup> Av. 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 ; Pr. 𐬔𐬀. The hollow seems to have been needed not only to receive the urine and droppings of the animal, but also to accommodate the slab on which the animal was to stand. The statement here makes it evident that the offering was made in an open space.

placing the slab.<sup>1</sup> But if the hollow be not dug the slab may be hurtful.<sup>2</sup>

4. From the very commencement, one must set both the forelegs 129 A «of the animal» towards<sup>3</sup> the sacred apparatus<sup>4</sup>; and one should be made to hold it thus up to the end «of the dedication».

5. One should keep some sort of bond<sup>4</sup> round «it», and one should throw up 2 nooses<sup>5</sup> «thereon. And» as things must be necessary for keeping it «still», one should keep around various sorts of ropes<sup>6</sup> «therefor».

6. One should excite<sup>7</sup> it by the saw-toothed<sup>8</sup> knife<sup>9</sup> with forty<sup>10</sup> angles,<sup>9</sup> as is manifest from: Chathwarr-satem-gaoshem frâ-yazâmaidê
‘We attach value to the Forty-angled «Instrument».’

7. At those 3<sup>10</sup> «recitals of» Yathâ Ahû Vairiyê ‘As is the Lord’s Holy Pleasure,’ «one should perform» 3 and 6 and 9 «manipulations

<sup>1</sup> Bâleshn (?); cf. Pr. بالش=cushion.

The slab seems to have been needed to protect the ground from the hoofs of the animal.

<sup>2</sup> Or, “may be hurt.”

The hollow seems to have been dug large enough to receive the slab, in such a way that the surface of the slab would be on the level of the surface of the surrounding ground. If the slab were above the surface of the surrounding ground it could be a source of inconvenience and obstacle, which was to be obviated.

<sup>5</sup> Garîh; Pr. گره=knot.

Otherwise the sense would be, “one should keep a sort of band round it and throw up 2 knots to it,” referring probably to some rite.

<sup>6</sup> Nawartand (?); cf. Pr. نورديدن=to twist.

The general sense is indicated; but the exact things required are not plain.

<sup>8</sup> Kartîn. It seems to have been an instrument for slightly exciting the animal for dedication while announcing it in prayers, thus intending the animal also to have an awakened consciousness at the dedication.

<sup>9</sup> ۴۰ is manifestly wrong for ۴۲ which again more correctly should be ۴۰ (arbâin gûsh) where ۴۰ represents in writing, the number indicated by the figure ۴۰. The number meant is evidently “forty” as the Avestân text signifies, and this again refers to “corners or teeth,” not to “fingers.”

<sup>10</sup> TD has “4” but as three acts are mentioned here, HJ is apparently correct.

with that instrument », before « or » after « and » more « or » less,<sup>1</sup> notwithstanding that Afrog said: Verily even one<sup>2</sup> may be allowed.

8. Vakhshâpûhar said: Indeed, whether it is proper « to perform them » before « or » after « and » more « or » less, is not clear.

9. « Raoshan »<sup>3</sup> thought thus that « excitations occurring » before « or » after could happen that way, just according as, when<sup>4</sup> it should be necessary to excite<sup>5</sup> « the animal », one might excite<sup>6</sup> it more « or » less.<sup>7</sup>

10. More and less<sup>7</sup> « manipulations can be only up to » 17<sup>8</sup> or 129 B up to 19.<sup>9</sup>

11. At « the expression » Khshathremchâ..... 'and the Kingdom... ..' of the third « Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô » one should give up the knife.<sup>10</sup>

<sup>1</sup> It may seem that 3, 6 and 9 indicate the numbers of manipulations completed at the end of the 1st, the 2nd, and the 3rd Ahunvars, having three for each; but this does not appear to be so: as it is mentioned below that the numbers that are less and more than the total of the manipulations here, are 17 and 19, the mean number can only be 18, and this is the total of 3, 6, and 9. See again notes 7 and 9 below.

It must be noted that Vakhshâpûhar doubts the propriety of allowing the manipulations to be less or more, or before or after.

<sup>2</sup> It is not plain whether he means "one" at each Ahunvar or "one" altogether.

Still again, if Afrog were not to be at such extreme variance with the rest, the translation would be: "—(the excess or defect) is allowed (to be of only) one," and this would agree with the limit of excess or defect mentioned just below.

<sup>3</sup> This name must have dropped out from the text owing probably to the mistaken idea that it was simply a repetition of the previous word.

<sup>7</sup> If, when it is stated below that the knife is to be given up at the expression Khshathremchâ of the 3rd Ahunvar, the knife meant is the saw-toothed knife itself, then it will be plain that whether the manipulations be more or less they must all end by that expression; hence evidently if they are to be more or less, they must be begun earlier or later than usually to finish by the same time when evenly continued.

<sup>9</sup> As the total of the 3+6+9 manipulations properly to be performed would be 18, the numbers 17 and 19 indicate only one manipulation less or more than the proper number. According to this statement lesser and greater numbers than these cannot be proper.

<sup>10</sup> If it is not understood that the plain knife also is held at this time, the reference here must be to the saw-toothed knife. If both were handled, both must be meant.

12. The saw-toothed knife « should be held »<sup>1</sup> in the right « hand », and the « plain » knife in the left,<sup>1</sup> so far as « this is » not « to be held together » with the saw-toothed knife.<sup>2</sup>

13. « If » some place « on the animal's body » be wounded by the saw-toothed knife, that cannot be allowed to pass. « But if » it be « simply » pinched<sup>3</sup> that may be allowed.

14. If « the animal » be wounded or smitten<sup>4</sup> owing to « one's » dozing, that cannot be allowed to pass.

15. If « the animal » die by « manipulations with » the saw-toothed knife, that cannot be allowed to pass.

16. If « the animal » be not excited<sup>5</sup> by the saw-toothed knife, that cannot be allowed.

17. If one hold « the saw-toothed knife » in the left hand, that cannot be allowed.

18. If at the time<sup>6</sup> of bringing « it » one take it away, that cannot be allowed.

19. And just when « one » ought to take up the cup « of the Hallowed Portion of fresh milk, one » put it down, that cannot be allowed.

20. If one be a unit<sup>7</sup> in a « priestly » sitting,<sup>8</sup> and if one depart from « one's » place, that cannot be allowed.

21. Behold, it is not allowed « to have » the saw-toothed knife along with the plain knife<sup>9</sup>; though of course the saw-toothed knife is not « characteristically » different.<sup>10</sup>

<sup>2</sup> According to a statement below at Fol, 130, l. 1 both were held in the right hand at some time, though that view appears to have been contested by some.

<sup>3</sup> Or, "scratched." The word might be read makhâzâr or makhîzdâr, and traced to bear relationship to Pr. مخیز = a spur.

<sup>4</sup> TD has ماری which may be read mâârik, and compared with Pr. ماری = smitten, and traced to Av. 𐬨𐬀 = to die. <sup>5</sup> Sîiturg; Pr. سیری = passionate; excited.

While it is made incumbent not to hurt the animal, it is considered necessary to excite it a little to make it specially conscious at the dedication.

<sup>6</sup> Vîn.

<sup>9</sup> In the case mentioned just below both are held together.

<sup>10</sup> I.e., both must be called "knives".

22. There is one who says thus: Verily, the saw-toothed knife 130 A would after all be with the plain knife when one would hold « both » in the right hand.<sup>1</sup>

23. There is one who says thus: Indeed if, in any case, the saw-toothed knife be with the plain knife when one holds it in the right hand, that is not to be allowed.<sup>2</sup>

24. If indeed a wound bleed<sup>3</sup> down the head « of the animal » one should then wash it clean; because, if « the blood » were to fall upon the sacred Barsôm twigs, that could not be proper.<sup>4</sup>

ON LIBATIONS TO THE TIDAL, STILL, AND STREAM WATERS

<sup>1</sup> It seems that in some manipulation it was requisite to hold both the knives in the right hand, though the following critic appears to opine that that was not lawful.

<sup>2</sup> If 𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢 be wrong for 𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢𐎠 the translation can be, "then that must be allowed."

<sup>4</sup> As only the forelegs of the animal are placed at the sacred apparatus, the only wound that might bleed down upon the Barsôm there, would be that which might occur somewhere on the head.

When it is ordained here to pay scrupulous attention to a wound on the head only, it must not be understood that wounds on the other parts of the body were to be neglected. As we remember that not the least hurt was allowed to this animal it is evident enough that proper care was to be taken of them also.

Here ends the text which is transferred into this place from Fol. 128, l. 20—Fol. 130, l. 6.

The presentations here specified appertain to the Holy Saps, as represented in the several waters on the globe, and indicating the fluid principle of Holy Vitality in the universe, associated with the beneficent personal magnetism and glory.

<sup>7</sup> Dative, singular, feminine of 𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢𐎠, the present participle, Parasmaipada of 𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢𐎠. It is remarkable that the special feminine base in 𐎠 is not used here, and under similar circumstances the same is the case in Yt. VIII, 41, Yt. XIII, 14, and Yas. LXVIII, 6; whereas Vend. VI, 39 uses the special base in 𐎠𐎢𐎡𐎢.

135 A 3. Āat tûirinām<sup>4</sup>, yatha thris<sup>5</sup> khvarema<sup>6</sup> raêthwis-bajinô<sup>7</sup>; But of pressed curds,<sup>8</sup> « i.e. », cheese,<sup>9</sup> « one shall present » as much as 3 morsels<sup>10</sup> « measured » by the cup<sup>11</sup> for dispensing mixtures<sup>11</sup>;

<sup>2</sup> Neuter, instrumental singular. An accusative would have been better as the words are governed by Yatha.

<sup>3</sup> Cf. Visp. X, 2. It will appear from below that the quantity of these things is to be half of this in the case of still water; and that is said to be three times the measure for dispensing mixtures; hence the chalice would hold six of those.

<sup>7</sup> Accusative plural or genitive singular of 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀; cf. a similar form 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 Ervad Kanga takes the base as 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀.

<sup>8</sup> Tracing the word to the radix 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀=to apply strength or pressure.

<sup>10</sup> The reading of 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 is not quite certain, but the Pahlavi rendering 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 of the Avestan 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 of Vend. V, 51, seems to favour in that case the reading Āp-ê-shamak or Āp-shamak=a draught or a liquid dose. This has led Darmesteter to read the word Apishmak and to translate it "a draught"; "a mouthful." Dr. West however reads the word Āv-gâmakō=a water cup, a drinking cup. Elsewhere the word has the form 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 which has a seeming reading Āp-simak. But here at any rate 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀, the Avestan equivalent of this term, favours the sense of "mouthful," or "morsel."

It will be recollected that the word has occurred before at Fol. 50, ll. 21, 22, 25; see the note 10 to Nîr. I, Chap. IX, 3 there.

<sup>11</sup> Gômizak-bakhsh. Darmesteter renders "from the vessel for mixing and portioning," and elsewhere defines it as "the vessel for mixing the ingredients of the Parâhôm." In this he is guided by the comment in the Pahlavi version of Vend. XIV, 8, where the term is explained as signifying "the cup into which the extract of the hôm and of the urvarâm is received from the mortar."

7. Avi<sup>1</sup> -grrrftem pitûm<sup>2</sup> grrrbyât; « And » one shall take<sup>3</sup> the nutriment « i.e. », the liquid food, contained<sup>4</sup> « in something » ;

8. Fra-darta-chît tûirinâm fra-darayôit. « And » of pressed curds, « i.e. », cheese, one shall hold<sup>4</sup> forth « a quantity » placed<sup>4</sup> « on something ».

<sup>2</sup> The text wrongly has paitim.

The sense in both these cases seems to be that the things are to be borne in proper vessels. The quantities however are not clear here; but it is mentioned below at II, 29-30 that still water takes just half of what tidal water takes. Tidal water of course refers to the sea, and still water to the lake.

<sup>9</sup> Perhaps to be derived from =to bite off; but Darmesteter's suggestion that it may be for dvâstra derivable from =two, is worthy of consideration, especially in view of his comparison with the Greek δέυρεπος.

<sup>11</sup> This option is allowed because streams are estimated at half the value of lakes. And it is allowed to offer it also the whole quantity that is offered to lakes, evidently because stream water is running water, and hence, intrinsically, has greater value than lake water in that respect, and thus equalises the apparently greater value of lakes.

<sup>14</sup> Or, " shell "; Pr. پوست=skin; shell. An objection might be taken to our having preferred to understand the receptacle to be of skin; but sections 12 and 14 below appear specially to refer to skin.

11. The still water is taking<sup>11</sup> things in half « the quantity » of what the tidal water is taking,<sup>12</sup> especially of the liquid food, inasmuch 136 A as liquid food is with the least « added » water full of it even to an

<sup>3</sup> As constituted by various offerings.

It must be noted that this and what follows immediately are simply notes appended to the subject treated above.

<sup>5</sup> Vistûm. The Hûspâram Nask is said to have had sixty-four Fragarts. But whether twenty or more of these belonged to the Nirangastân Division is not clear, as it is also not clear whether the number has a reference to all the books of the whole Hûspâram Nask, independently of its several divisions, or to the Nirangastân division only.

<sup>7</sup> The signification here has a bearing upon the sense of the term Bûr: in view of our translation of “liquid food” it must be meant that the particular liquid food being excessively full of water, is too thin to soil the vessel. If Bûr were not to mean so, but were to signify something solid, then the sense would be that it being a viand with so little water as to render this excessive even with but a little more of it, it would be too dry a viand to soil the vessel; but this meaning does not suit the word here nor previously.

<sup>10</sup> I.e., though such things are in themselves very little, they become excessive where they are not wanted.

excess;<sup>1</sup> and « it was » for this particular reason that « above », in the case of the stream water,<sup>2</sup> « there was given » the sacred commandment « that the offerings » are to be weighed out on a balance « to determine their proper quantity ».<sup>1</sup>

12. As regards the skin, it is evident from this place that « it is considered » clean, inasmuch as it is to be placed on the balance « for weighing the liquid food in ».<sup>3</sup>

13. It is evident according to the Twentieth Book, that skins can be « utilised » for « making » all sorts of receptacles<sup>4</sup> for liquids.<sup>4</sup>

14. The liquid food must be « held » in a skin because with the least « added » water it is full of it even to an excess.<sup>5</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Still waters are always considered in the Holy Scriptures to be never so good as running waters; and so any addition to the quantity of still water was to be as much avoided or restrained as possible.

<sup>3</sup> This is an evident conclusion; for if the skin were not considered clean it would not have been allowed to be used for weighing in it an object of offering.

<sup>4</sup> Dûlabiḥ for Dûilabiḥâ, Fr. 𐎡𐎢𐎡 = a pail; 𐎠𐎢𐎡 = a water-wheel.

The Twentieth Fragart seems to have treated of vessels and receptacles.

<sup>5</sup> The pîṭ is so very soft and watery that a skin receptacle must specially be convenient for handling it: because it can be tied up and made completely secure in it.

<sup>6</sup> Thus in TD. This whole text recurs below at Fol. 138, ll. 9-12 where the reference is to the animals from which the sacred milk is to be taken; and hence the reference there cannot of course be to fish; still, in view of the arguments in note 2 and in note 3 on next page, fish must be intended here.

<sup>7</sup> Hām-pukhdha has this whole meaning.

The five classes of animals are mentioned in Visparat I, 1, and Yt. XIII, 74. They are (1) those living under water; (2) those living under ground; (3) those that are winged; (4) those moving with bounds; and (5) those of cloven hoofs.

It is evident that any one of these five kinds of animals cannot be fit for dedication or for the presentation of its produce; e.g., a wild beast or a raptile which both represent two of these classes, cannot be suitable for this purpose; indeed only those of the useful kinds can be utilized thus.

may present <sup>1</sup> fish <sup>2</sup> « also ».

16. When there is fish <sup>3</sup> for presentation, then the water of streams « does » not « come » into « any distinct » consideration.<sup>3</sup>

17. « While offering them up to the several waters », fresh <sup>4</sup> milk <sup>4</sup> should not be <sup>5</sup> filled together <sup>6</sup> with the sanctified water, and the sanctified water should not be <sup>5</sup> filled together <sup>6</sup> with fresh milk.

There is however one who says that fresh milk can be <sup>6</sup> filled together <sup>5</sup> with the sanctified water.<sup>6</sup>

18. Concerning the cheese « which is to be equal to » 3 morsels <sup>7</sup> in quantity, Afrog said verily thus, that it is requisite that one should 136 B hold up the offering <sup>8</sup> that is for pouring down,<sup>8</sup> together with the sanctified water « simply ; for », it cannot be fit if one hold it with « such stuffs as » the juice <sup>9</sup> of figs.<sup>9</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Aû-frit; Av. 𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀 = to present in thankfulness.

<sup>2</sup> Mâhikân. The word may also be read mishikân = sheep ; but it is evident that some kind that would be unusual for dedication is meant here ; and fish was considered fit according to Fol. 114, l. 26.

<sup>3</sup> Evidently because fish being congenial to waters of every kind, its offering may be equal in every case.

Fish might have been offered alive ; if not, its flesh could easily be devoured by the fish or other creatures that might be in the several kinds of waters.

<sup>6</sup> If 𐬀𐬭 be read dîn and if pâtiyâp indicate " physical cleanliness ", the translation may be " Religiousness cannot be accumulated by means of physical cleanliness, etc. ", and it may be meant that one may be religious not absolutely through being physically clean ; and one may be physically clean not absolutely through being religious. Hence it is that the religion of the Avesta preaches both physical as well as spiritual cleanliness.

This beautiful sense is reluctantly given up before that preferred ; because this fits better into the contexts and can be specially connected with what follows.

<sup>7</sup> Or, " what will fill 3 strainers (for draining the coagulation). "

One may be misled into offering such things by the erroneous notion that something more delicious than mere plain water must be specially meritorious. But clean water represents all drinks whatsoever, and is not only the most delicious fluid really, but is also perfectly innoxious to the several waters to which the offerings may be made.

22. There is « however » one who says thus that the swiftest « water » would be that which would<sup>9</sup> rush in a moment<sup>9</sup> on to 3 steps; « and » the stillest « water » would be that which would not leave « at all » the depth<sup>10</sup> of its bottom.<sup>10</sup>

<sup>10</sup> The tail of a mad dog or a dog that might bite without barking was to be cut off if it bit a useful animal or a man for the fifth time ; see Vend. XIII, 34.

Does the text here suggest that wolves were domesticated among the Daēvas? As the dog itself is a species of wolf, this would not be improbable. In that case a mad wolf might have its tail cut off for a similar reason as that for which a mad dog had to suffer, and especially when it might fall within the jurisdiction of the Mazdayasnas.

The force of the statement in the text is the indication that the Daêvayasnas were using for sacrificial service the milk even of a wolf of far advanced madness.

<sup>2</sup> Thus in the text. It is the imperative Atmanepada third person singular of the frequentive of the root 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀=to hold; to take. The 𐬀 before the verbal termination is the 𐬀 of the frequentive. In the Vendidad the word appears in the shape 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀 and is traced to the root 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀 and conjecturally rendered "boiling" by Darmesteter. This has forced scholars to understand it to be a genitive plural of 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀, an adjectival form of 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀. But when so taken, the whole of Vend. V, 52 is left without a verb. Very probably therefore an error has been committed there in reading the word thus. Our reading and solution here remove all such difficulties.

The form of the word here clearly yields this reading. The forms in the Vendidad texts however are different, although it would not be difficult to trace our reading there also. Dastur Darabji's attempts there have yielded vakhshdâd= "boiled" and âdêhiâd= "may be given."

<sup>6</sup> Jiv expressed correctly in Pâzand.

This expression may also be conveniently taken with what follows.

<sup>7</sup> Avistâk.

<sup>8</sup> The text gives the Huz. Jamalâ which has this meaning. Although we have construed its implication below, still what follows makes no direct mention of camel's milk, while the ass is named. Indeed it would be possible to secure the sense of "ass" here, because the Huz. Jamalâ can with a very slight modification become khamara=an ass.

this « case » is not right because « this milk is such as » will <sup>1</sup> have caused corruption <sup>1</sup> « in every instance ». This he makes clear from the text : Taurva<sup>2</sup> payâo<sup>3</sup> bavât<sup>4</sup> aspayâtatcha kharayâtatcha<sup>5</sup> ' Spoiled would become the milks from the mare and from the she-ass « through mixture with the milk from the camel ».' <sup>6</sup>

7. Dât-Vêh said : Verily, as one's aspiration <sup>6</sup> « must be towards » meritoriousness,<sup>7</sup> so only when one spurts <sup>8</sup> « the milk » quite like a spray,<sup>9</sup> will it really be proper ; for, it is not proper to hold it « merely ».<sup>10</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Thus in TD; HJ has payâo. It is adjective neuter nominative plural. It must be noted that such forms in adjectives are rare, but not altogether absent ; cf. payâ which is similarly formed by the addition of the primary suffix -â to the root.

Darmesteter thinks that this word is the masculine or the neuter form of tûiri, and renders it to mean "cheese" accordingly ; but this is surely erroneous.

<sup>3</sup> It must be observed that payâo is plural, whereas bavât is singular.

<sup>5</sup> If the reference above were not to the camel's milk but to that of the she-ass, the sense would be, " Spoiled would become the (mixed) milks from the mare and from the she-ass."

Darmesteter's translation, " Cheese can be produced from the mare or the she-ass," is evidently erroneous, because, this quotation is cited to yield a contrary sense which such rendering does not give.

<sup>10</sup> It seems to signify that as man's object in making an offering is to perform a meritorious act, it would be proper to indicate the sacrificial spirit by using up the things for presentation in the act of offering itself, and not by keeping them for after-use. Thus the milk for offering is to be spurted in sprays into the water, and not to be simply held forth during service.

It does not however appear as essential that things for offering are always to be wasted to the elements. They may best be consumed by those participating in the thanksgiving service, whenever that may be possible, or even may be given away to needy men and creatures.

CHAPTER XXII

ON THE PROCESS OF MILKING IN THE HOLY SERVICE<sup>1</sup>

1. When one is to take the fresh milk, one must proceed towards a faultless<sup>2</sup> « milch » animal, and one must recite the « following » text of Holy Wisdom on « that » faultless<sup>3</sup> animal:—

Ashem Vohû 3;<sup>4</sup> « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times »;

137 B Fravardnê.....; 'I confess myself.....';

Then one must glorify whatever period of the day one may have « while reciting, and recite onwards »:—

Géus Tashnê Géus Ūrunê ... .. 'for the Maker of the Living World, for the Spirit of the Living World.....';

2. « Then », in the case « when there is » one animal « for milking, one must recite onwards thus »:— tava Géus Hudhâonghō ūrunê<sup>5</sup> 'for the spirit of thee in the Living World of Good Nature,'—and when two «it should be thus »:—yavâkem<sup>6</sup> Géus «Hudhâonghō ūruvôibyâ»<sup>7</sup> '« for the spirits » of you two of the Living World, « of Good Nature », '—and even when there are more, « the general form of the formula » is not to be different<sup>8</sup> —; « and then one must recite forwards »,—khshnaothra<sup>9</sup> ..... 'With the establishment of the Holy Concord.....'.

<sup>8</sup> Of course not without the necessary modifications of this text. When there are more animals than two, this text properly would be, ..... khshmâkem (or yûshmâkem) Géus Hudhâonghō ŭruvôibyâ....'.

<sup>9</sup> Khshnaothra, yasnâicha, vahmâicha, etc., and Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô Zaotâ, etc., as usually occurring in similar formulas.

« And thus » one must take up the special formula for opening the function « of milking ».

3. Then one must recite the words: Asha-Sara manangha,<sup>1</sup> 'With meditation in accord with Supreme Righteousness'; and « on doing that », one must come to all the animals « one after the other, and milk them with the words » Asha-Sara vachangha,<sup>1</sup> Asha-Sara shyaothana.<sup>1</sup> 'with announcement in accord with Supreme Righteousness, with action in accord with Supreme Righteousness.'<sup>2</sup>

4. If one were to recite the<sup>3</sup> text of Holy Wisdom<sup>3</sup> more and take the fresh milk less, that would<sup>4</sup> not be proper.<sup>4</sup> « Similarly » if one were to recite it less and take « the milk » more, « that too » would<sup>5</sup> not be proper.<sup>5</sup>

5. If on milking<sup>6</sup> in<sup>7</sup> slender sprays one by one<sup>7</sup> « the milk » were to fall under, that would not be proper.

6. If on the collision<sup>8</sup> of two sprays<sup>9</sup> « the milk » were to fall under, that would not be proper.

<sup>2</sup> At present while pronouncing the word Ashem before each of these three expressions, one jet from the animal's teat is shot out on the ground, whereas on reciting each of the three expressions one jet is received into the milk vessel. Thus altogether three jets are shot out on the ground and three received into the vessel.

After that the priest stands up and recites two Ahuna Vairiyas, and the text Yasnemcha vahmemcha ... âfrînâmi Géus Tashnê..... Hudhâonghê ûrunê with modifications according to circumstances as indicated above. Then he passes his hand along the animal's back and recites the text Hazangrem baêshazanâm baêvarr baêshazanâm, once aloud, and once in undertone. Having done that he takes the milk vessel to the place of ritual and puts it aside.

<sup>4</sup> HJ has 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬌; TD has 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬌.

<sup>5</sup> The text has 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬌𐬎𐬌 which is sometimes a double negative to be read as a-lâ-shâyât and meaning "is not improper" which might be taken by one to be the sense here also. Sometimes however the word seems to signify a plain negative sense only, and then, it may be understood that two negative prefixes are put together simply by way of force, or that the expression must be for aê lâ-shâyât, meaning, "surely that is not proper."

<sup>9</sup> Tâk.

138 A 7. If there were to result <sup>1</sup> a wound to the teat <sup>2</sup> and the udder <sup>3</sup> by the hand, that could not be allowed.

8. If a change <sup>4</sup> « have entered the milk » through taint, <sup>4</sup> then that should not be allowed at <sup>5</sup> all.

9. If the colour « of the milk » have changed, and if it have changed owing to the grass « that the animal may have eaten, <sup>6</sup> or » if it have changed through « the animal's » pregnancy, <sup>7</sup> then that could <sup>8</sup> not surely be fit <sup>8</sup> « for use ».

10. If « indeed » it have become « so changed » before the Thanksgiving Service, then that could <sup>9</sup> not evidently be fit <sup>9</sup>; « but » if it become « so changed » after the Thanksgiving Service, then surely <sup>10</sup> that can be allowed <sup>10</sup> « to have been so used ».

11. A-vaêzô pasûm hâm pukhthem mananghê, <sup>11</sup> nôit payanghê...

<sup>3</sup> Vashtakih.

<sup>4</sup> The word here appears as 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥; but elsewhere we find the form 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥 which is read padvîshak by West, at Shâyast Lâ-Shâyast II, 7. The discovery of the etymology paiti-vîsh in this form at once justifies this reading and the meaning "contamination," which he has used there and elsewhere. Dastur Jamaspaji's reading patôshak and meaning "necessity" cannot be supported.

<sup>8</sup> It is possible also to take the sense as "could not be unfit"; but what follows seems to favour the meaning we have preferred; for, if such milk were considered fit, there would be no necessity of considering any such special circumstances as are mentioned just below.

<sup>9</sup> The other possible sense, "that could not be unfit," cannot suit here in view of the arguments in the previous note.

<sup>10</sup> Supposing that 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥 is for 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥. Yet the apparent sense "that (too) must not be allowed" may not altogether be unsuitable here.

<sup>11</sup> See note 3 on next page.

12. Uscha âpê shavô<sup>5</sup>-gâvayâis<sup>6</sup> « And » from beyond the water, « but », from in front of the Water,<sup>7</sup> with shooting<sup>8</sup> sprays<sup>9</sup> of fresh milk<sup>9</sup> khshavas vaghzhîbis antarr-barôit. and with the 138 B six<sup>10</sup> utterances<sup>11</sup> may one receive it in.

Darmesteter rightly sees in this word the root pach = "to cook"; "to be matured"; but he thinks that pukhdha is here translated two times, once by panj = five, and another time by pazd; and this would not be impossible in view of quite a similar case which just follows in Fol. 139, ll. 22 to 24 where the Avestan vidâyât is doubly translated with âkâs-aômand, as well as with sût-aômand. Still it must be presumed just here that what he reads as panj may simply be an error for pann-ach, inasmuch as all the five species of animals could not be intended here, not only because that would be absurd but also because that is contradicted in the preceding portion, and inasmuch as no special five kinds are mentioned anywhere here.

<sup>3</sup> Mazg. Darmesteter has rightly seen that this word translates mananghō; but he supposes that the latter may be corrupt for zemananghō = full of capacity to generate young ones; cf. 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 of Vend. XIII, 50. This supposition however is not necessary, because mananghō can be compared with Pr. 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 = power, and may be traced to a root man = to have vigour.

<sup>4</sup> It is meant that the animal must neither be lean nor plump, but must be vigorous and strong.

<sup>5</sup> The text has 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀; and the nearest understandable form is 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 which may be traced to 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 = to proceed, to shoot. And the sense finds a neat place in the context.

<sup>6</sup> Instrumental plural of gâvaya, an adjectival noun meaning "jets or sprays of milk."

<sup>7</sup> It seems to signify that the milking should be performed not too much near the water to which the offering is to be made, nor too much away from it or having it concealed from view.

<sup>8</sup> Rûyân = current, present participle of 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 or 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀, which are synonyms of the root 𐬨𐬀. Darmesteter hesitatingly reads it Rôshan.

<sup>10</sup> If this word be read ashtak or hashtak, it must signify "eight"; but it may be corrupt for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 which is the Semitic equivalent of the Aryan 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 = six.

<sup>11</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 is wrong for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 or 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 (milayâ).

The six expressions must be Asha-Sara manangha, etc., which have occurred above, and which are uttered while milking the animals.

13. Yatha nōit aētini <sup>3</sup> -dāiticha ā-rishyān,<sup>4</sup> « And this milking should be so managed » that they « who milk » might not give wounds « to the animals » through <sup>5</sup> causing scratching <sup>6</sup> ; thus for instance no wounds « whatever » must be caused to the sheep,<sup>7</sup> ā zî <sup>8</sup> dim aētaēshām baodhō <sup>8</sup> -jaitis āstāraitī.<sup>8</sup> because in that case the sin of causing them sensible injury is incurred by <sup>9</sup> one.<sup>9</sup>

14. Verily it becomes manifest that anaz.....<sup>10</sup> ' non..... ' <sup>10</sup> is a sin indeed.

CHAPTER XXII : APPENDIX

ON OFFERING THE PREPARED MILK IN THE HOLY SERVICE

1. Verily the time of bruising <sup>11</sup> and beating <sup>11</sup> things<sup>12</sup> for the liquid food<sup>12</sup> is not plain « here.<sup>13</sup> But this much is evident that » in

<sup>2</sup> This remark appears to refer to the utterances as really being only three expressions altogether. Otherwise 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭭 might really have been read ashtak or hashtak=eight; and then of course an objection could be raised to the expressions being called "eight," though it is not plain how such a statement could be made.

<sup>3</sup> This word is strange; but it may be represented in 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭭𐭥𐭭 of Yt. XXII, 13. This is doubtfully translated "thou sawest" by Darmesteter; but the meaning "thou used to be grieved at" would not be inappropriate there also.

<sup>10</sup> The word is incomplete and does not supply sufficient hint for a restoration. Still it is plain that it must have a reference to some wrong treatment of the animals.

<sup>12</sup> It is evident from the phrase Gām baoiryām used elsewhere, that milk must have entered largely into the composition of this liquid food known as bûr in Pahlavi.

<sup>13</sup> Still, it is apparent that its preparation must have occurred at just the time when other things for the holy ceremonial were prepared.

the function of Srôsh-Hâvan<sup>1</sup> « the Service of Life's Early Morn in Honour of the Spirit of the Moral Order » where they bruise<sup>2</sup> them, they should bruise them as<sup>3</sup> much as<sup>3</sup> must render «them» fit best<sup>4</sup> to swallow.<sup>4</sup>

2. When they have been bruised<sup>5</sup> and beaten<sup>5</sup> as much as must be necessary for the purpose in hand, and when they have been bruised and beaten to that right measure which is manifest from the Holy Wisdom, then<sup>6</sup> alone can they be fit<sup>6</sup> « for use ».

<sup>7</sup> This text belongs to Yas. LI, 22 with slight differences in forms of words. It occurs again at Yas. XV, 2, Yas. LXIII, 1 ; LXV, 16 ; and LXIX, 1-3. Probably however the reference is to this text occurring at Yas. XV, 2, for, somewhat similar manipulations are made there at present. At the words Ashât hachâ the milk is poured two times into a special cup from the bowl into which it has been milked ; and at vahistem yêsnê paiti the Leading Priest takes up the Twig of the Hallowed Portion, which lies on the cup, dips it into the milk that is poured into it, and passes that dipped end along the Barsôm band for some time. This is probably a reminiscence of the offering up of the Hallowed Milk at this stage.

<sup>8</sup> سوسوس.

CHAPTER XXIII

ON THE EVIL RESULT OF MAKING THE OFFERING DURING DARKNESS

1. Avatha Frabr̥rr̥ta zaōthr̥do <sup>5</sup> fra-bar̥it, Then <sup>6</sup> « only » indeed should the Frabortâr priest « whose function is to present things », present the hallowed portions, atha Hâvana<sup>7</sup>

<sup>2</sup> As the north wind brought sufferings and calamities to the ancients living in the cold regions, they are said to have thought the north to be the home of demoniac and wicked influences. It is not impossible however that they had the knowledge of the magnetic forces of the north and had associated that fact with the above notion in some way.

<sup>3</sup> When it comes exactly overhead, the Gâh changes; and at the time when the Gâhs change no religious function can continue, besides the fact that when the sun is overhead, the attitude of one holding the Barsôm towards him, must be too awkward to be allowed.

<sup>4</sup> 𐬨𐬀 before 𐬨𐬀 is for 𐬨𐬀; and as it repeats the sense of 𐬨𐬀, it must be omitted as in TD.

<sup>1</sup> Darmesteter renders the whole thus:— “.....in order that the libations take place, prepared with the full knowledge (that the rite be accomplished exactly as it should be and at the proper time) ..... ” He has thus taken vaêthat as a noun form, but surely that is a clear verb.

<sup>2</sup> The text has vîdâyât, but see Yas. XLVIII, 9 where the words occur with but a slight difference. The verbal form is evidently potential.

<sup>4</sup> Vîd means both to know and to obtain, and both these senses are here taken into service by the Pahlavi translator.

Taking up the following word 𐬵𐬀𐬀𐬀 along with what precedes it, it might be rendered:—“ .....men have verily been knowing and profiting—there is (one) who..... ”

<sup>5</sup> This critic has evidently the form 𐬵𐬀𐬀𐬀 before him.

<sup>6</sup> It must be remembered that 𐬵𐬀 in the Gathic text has reference to the beneficent man and not to water, and that there the grammar is masculine dative singular.

Darmesteter here renders:—“because it must be known for whom might piety be.”

<sup>7</sup> HJ has 𐬵𐬀; TD has 𐬵𐬀𐬀.

<sup>10</sup> Accusative plural. The accusative indicates the goal of action, or some preposition is missing from before the word.

<sup>11</sup> The radix here preserved is to be discovered in Pr. 𐬵𐬀𐬀𐬀 = to pour. The text has 𐬵𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀 for 𐬵𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀.

troupe<sup>1</sup> of demons the pouring<sup>2</sup> of all things spurted<sup>3</sup> forwards<sup>3</sup> during obscuring<sup>4</sup> darkness,<sup>4</sup> and without singing from the Ahuna Vairiya «the Glorification of the Lord's Holy Pleasure».<sup>5</sup> —

3. When one does not recite Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô «the Glorification of the Lord's Holy Pleasure», then it is evident from the Holy Wisdom that when that happens in a Thanksgiving Service, the Holy Life Flame «becomes» the most afflicted.<sup>6</sup>

4. And after all, it has been said that in the case when the Leading Priest does not manage well the text of the Holy Wisdom, wherever he might go and at whatever<sup>7</sup> time might he pour out «libations», he assuredly «becomes therein» a worshipper<sup>8</sup> of the demons.<sup>8</sup> And that becomes<sup>9</sup> expiated<sup>9</sup> with 3 Srôshôcharanâms<sup>10</sup> «the blows of the weapon of the Spirit of the Moral Order» to<sup>11</sup> the accompaniment<sup>11</sup> of the text of Holy Wisdom. And in «every» case when one has not attended well to the text of Holy Wisdom, one shall expiate with the same «penalty».

If no propriety and regularity be maintained in the recitation of holy texts no purpose can be served by their recital; and the spiritual vigour and gravity of the person showing fault therein must evidently suffer through that guilt.

<sup>7</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 should be 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌.

<sup>8</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 is wrong for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 (Shêdâ-yazak).

<sup>9</sup> Vizârt; Pr. گزاردن = to pay off; to satisfy.

It must be remembered that each Srôshôcharanâm could be transmuted into an imposition of about 3½ Dirhams.

Evidently, this penalty applies only to the guilt of ill-managing the holy texts, whereas the penalty for pouring libations in darkness swells enormously and becomes the Tanâpûhar; see below.

Ashemcha<sup>1</sup> dapascha<sup>2</sup> hû-frâshmôddâitîm....., 'And « the Praise of » Righteousness « becomes » a worship of demons « in the Service wherein the libation is poured out » after sunset ... ..', when according<sup>4</sup> to<sup>4</sup> the Holy Wisdom, there should have been recited Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô « the Glorification of the Lord's Holy Pleasure » at<sup>5</sup> the place where Ashem<sup>6</sup> « the Praise of Righteousness is erroneously recited by one ».

7. And it would likewise be improper if one were to recite « that text with a wrong pronunciation thus »:—Yathâ Ahî Vairiyô.....<sup>5</sup>

8. Sôshâns said: Verily, excepting in the Thanksgiving Service for the « Holy » Saps « itself », it does not become « so imperative to

<sup>3</sup> Were the libation to be an offering to the Holy Saps, then besides that the good act of reciting the Ashem Vohû would become changed into a wicked result by its recitation in the stead of the Ahuna Vairiya or in a wrong place, the Service in itself would turn to demon worship in the case when the offering to the Holy Saps would be made during darkness; and then the result would be the guilt of a Tanâpûhar.

<sup>5</sup> Otherwise:—".....instead. Similarly, if one were to recite a Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô where an Ashem was to be recited, then that (also) would be improper."

The form of the text may give preference to this rendering over the other; but that other receives the favour of the context without being far-fetched from the text itself; and that therefore must be preferred.

Again, the Avestan letter which is represented by the i of Ahî has a shape here which may be confounded with the letter represented by û; but the letters represented by û and i are in the text here written with distinct shapes of which that represented by û seems specially to be written in a way which would leave no doubt as to its nature, and the other is elsewhere used for the sound i, e.g., in Fol. 148, ll. 10-11, and Fol. 156, l. 9.

From these facts as well as from the fact that modern Kadimis pronounce Ahî instead of Ahû in the Ahuna Vairiya, and supposing that the ignorant classes of the community had begun to corrupt the pronunciation thus at the very time when the text here was written, we may easily see the justification of the translation preferred.

recite the Ahuna Vairiya in other cases ».<sup>1</sup>

9. Farrokhô « however » said : Verily, inasmuch<sup>2</sup> as « there is » 141 A water<sup>3</sup> « always » there « at a Service,<sup>2</sup> so », it must be proper<sup>4</sup> just so long « only » as one will invariably recite it.

CHAPTER XXIV

ON MAKING THE OFFERING INTENDED FOR THE WATER ALSO TO THE BARSÔM CLOSE AT HAND, AND VICE VERSA

1. Yô paiti apê baraiti, nôit barrsmainê, When one bears « the milk offering specially » for the water and not for<sup>5</sup> the Barsôm twigs, « i.e., when » they take<sup>6</sup> the milk offering « as intended » for the water, and do not take it « as intended » for the Barsôm twigs, yêzi barrs na antarât naêmât aêshô-drâjyêhê,<sup>7</sup> yavô-frathyêhê,<sup>8</sup> then if «there be» the Barsôm within the distance

<sup>1</sup> It is implied just above that the recitation of the Ahuna Vairiya is so essential here that it cannot be replaced with even an Ashem Vohû, and it has been said a little higher up in the commencement of this folio, that pouring out the libation without reciting the Ahuna Vairya must turn the Service into demon worship.

<sup>2</sup> As Farrokhô's remark must be pointing to the statement of Sôshâns, the former must be referring simply to the water that is invariably required and used in every Holy Service itself, independently of the special case in which an offering is particularly to be made to the Holy Saps.

<sup>6</sup> Or "hold," reading vakhdûnênd. If however it be read vabidûnênd, the translation can be:— "when they render the milk offering (pimeshn) to the water," etc.

<sup>8</sup> This reminds us of the expression aêshô-drâjô, yavô frathô—"as long as a ploughshare, as thick as a barley stalk," which applies to the Barsôm twig itself at Vend. XIX, 19, and below at the close of Fol. 142; whereas the words in the text here apply to the distance of the Barsôm from the water, as that is made plain from what is said below.

of a ploughshare lengthwise, and of a barley-stalk breadth-wise, paiti barrsma-chît barôit. one should bear it also to the Barsôm, « i. e. », one should take the milk offering also to the Barsôm.<sup>1</sup>

Darmesteter thinks that the expression yavô-frathyêhê in our text occurs through oversight.

It should be evident that the words drâjya and frathya must have meanings differing from the meanings of drâjangh and frathangh : they respectively signify “(distance) lengthwise” and “(distance) breadthwise.”

The Avestan Aêshô is rendered in Pahlavi 𐭠𐭥𐭩 (âsh or hêsh), Pr. 𐭮𐭩𐭥 = ploughshare; whereas yavô is rendered 𐭮𐭩𐭥 (yavi or yavi), Pr. 𐭮𐭩𐭥 = barley-grain, whence Darmesteter is led to construe yavô-frathô as signifying “thick as a barley-corn.”

<sup>1</sup> In modern practice a Barsôm twig is often dipped in the milk vessel and then passed along the Barsôm band at several places in the Yazeshn ceremony.

It must however be noted that the reference in the text is to the Barsôm that was spread on the ground.

<sup>4</sup> This could be transmuted into a fine of 3 Srôshôcharanâms or some good work of that value.

<sup>6</sup> 𐭮𐭩𐭥 is for 𐭮𐭩𐭥𐭩𐭥 (vâstrîneshn). The meaning might also be, “one must till the land.”

<sup>7</sup> If our supposition that thri refers to Srôshôcharanâms is right, the day's toil must have been such as could have at least earned 3 Srôshôcharanâms or from 10 to 12 Dirhams as a whole fruit of that toil and not necessarily as wages. The conclusion is evident because 10 to 12 Dirhams could not possibly be the wages of ordinary labour.

7. « At the words » Apô « at yazamaidê » <sup>1</sup> .....vyâddô <sup>1</sup> .....mâtârô jitayô.<sup>1</sup> ' « We express our thankfulness to the Holy » Saps... « We declare you as » profuse givers..... O ye motherly-ones ! ye life-promoters !', one should take « the milk first.» to the water, and next to the sacred Barsôm twigs.

8. At « the expression » .....râtôis <sup>2</sup> ..... ' .....of charity ..... ' one should pour the Hallowed Portion a little into the water.<sup>3</sup>

9. One should keep the Hallowed Portion 4 finger-breadths<sup>4</sup> above the water,<sup>5</sup> and should keep the sacred Barsôm<sup>6</sup> 4 finger-breadths above the Hallowed Portion, as it is manifest from the passage : Avavat tadha yatha chathwârô errzavô<sup>7</sup> 'As much thence as four finger-breadths.'

10. In all « the Services<sup>8</sup> of » Holy Wisdom one is to pour in the fresh<sup>9</sup> milk<sup>9</sup> at « the expression » Sûrunuyâo<sup>10</sup> ..... 'Letst thyself attend.....'; but in Dah-Hômâst « the Tenfold Service of All the Worshipful Ones » one should pour it in at .....vîspaya

<sup>1</sup> These words refer to the Holy Saps, and occur in Yas. XXXVIII, 3 and 5, and again in Yas. LXVII, 5 and 7. Evidently our text refers to this latter place ; see the reference to Yas. LXVIII, below.

The text is a little corrupt and is corrected.

<sup>3</sup> In modern practice, in the Yazeshn ceremony, the Hallowed Portion of the prepared fluid is poured into the Haoma mortar just before the recitation of Yas. LXVII, 5. Whereas at Yas. LXII, 11, the prepared fluid is poured three times into the cup of clean water, which is filled out from the water Basin near at hand, at the commencement of Yas. LX. This is probably a reminiscence of pouring the libation into a natural body of water.

<sup>6</sup> The Barsôm that is to be held in the hand,—perhaps only the twig of the Hallowed Portion.

In modern practice a little of the prepared fluid is poured into the Haoma mortar at this stage and also at the end of § 13 of this chapter of the Yasna.

« Vîsê Mâzdayasnê » â-frîndîmi<sup>1</sup> ' ..... I pronounce in benediction ..... for every « State of Mâzdayasnân Becoming devoted to the Supreme Wise One ».'

11. « In this case<sup>2</sup> also » the Hallowed Portion should be kept 4 finger-breadths above water, and the sacred Barsôm should be kept 4 finger breadths above the Hallowed Portion, even as it is stated « above ».

CHAPTER XXV

ON THE MANNER OF POURING THE LIBATION ON THE SACRED BARSÔM TWIGS

1. Yat barrsma aêshô-drâjô yavô-frathô,<sup>3</sup> kavachit aêtahê 143 A paiti-barôit. When the Barsôm is as long as a ploughshare and as thick as a barley-stalk,<sup>4</sup> then it should be of spiritual merit if one<sup>5</sup> might bear thereof<sup>5</sup> for<sup>6</sup> any purpose whatsoever.<sup>6</sup>

2. Yat masyô<sup>7</sup> aêtahmât Barrsma, If « however » the Barsôm « were » larger<sup>7</sup> than that « measure of » Barsôm, yatha aêtahê fra-strrrnditi atha aêtahê paiti-barôit. then « only » when one<sup>8</sup> might have to spread thereof<sup>8</sup> « on ground » should<sup>9</sup> one bear thereof for spreading,<sup>9</sup> —in winter when one

<sup>3</sup> See Vend. XIX, 19. The size here specified is the proper size of the Barsôm for all purposes whatsoever.

Darmesteter renders, "One can bear it (i.e., the libation) to no matter what side of the Baresman." And he could be right, for, paiti-barôit refers to the libation everywhere else here; but it is not plain why the libation should be taken in punctilious order along the Barsôm that exceeds the moderate size, and in any order along the Barsôm that has the moderate size.

<sup>7</sup> Neuter adjective, nominative singular of the comparative degree.

The Pahlavi 𐭮𐭲 is for 𐭮𐭲.

<sup>8</sup> Frâz vistareshn-ash; Pr. 𐭮𐭲𐭭𐭩 = to spread.

Darmesteter renders, "One can bear it according to the order of the preparation of the Barsôm."

would take the « precious » fluid to the sacred Barsôm twigs,<sup>1</sup> or in summer when one would take the sacred Barsôm twigs to the « precious » fluid.

In temperate weather however it was necessary to go out to a natural body of water and to perform the ceremony in the open air.

<sup>2</sup> According to l. 9, ff. of the previous folio, texts, of which passages of Yas. LXVII and LXVIII formed the essential portions, were to be recited while offering the libation to the water; and according to the same statement, the offering to the Barsôm was to be made in close connection therewith. Hence although the expression here at first sight recalls Yas. XXXV, 1, still this fact here, as well as the other expressions below, indicate that the reference in this place is rather to a special text comprising Yas. LXIII, 3, etc.

<sup>4</sup> The priest who manages the act described in these sections delivers up the object in his hand into the hand of the Zaoti, as is stated below at the top of Fol. 144 B. Unless therefore we are to suppose that the Zaoti handed it over to him somewhere previous to that, the Zaoti could not be the performer of this act here; and the other priest most likely to have done it was the Frabortâr priest.

<sup>5</sup> The form of the Avestan text is such that one might be led to suppose the object of carrying about to have been the Barsôm itself probably for spreading, as that use thereof is mentioned immediately above. But this statement concerning the proper size of the Barsôm and its use for spreading, as well as the gloss about pouring the libation are evidently introductory digressions. And the texts here are no doubt a continuation of the texts of Fol. 141, which prescribe the milk libations to be for holy water and sacred Barsôm both likewise.

Moreover, in Fol. 141 also the accusative of Barrsman indicates the goal of motion as here; and this is made quite plain there by the context: whereas here the Pahlavi is accute enough to have seen the point, for, it has generally placed the preposition pânn before the term Barsôm to indicate the proper sense.

Again, if the object of taking about were the Barsôm twigs for spreading, how could they, according to § 18 below, finally be delivered up to the Zaoti?

These and similar considerations which the whole text suggests, must persuade one with Darmesteter to understand that the object of taking about is the libation, and probably the milk libation, which was to be poured on the Barsôm twigs lying in various positions here described.

to <sup>1</sup> the sacred Barsôm twigs at the middle <sup>1</sup> « of the ritual ground ».

4. 'Yat' "Ameshé<sup>2</sup> Spénté"<sup>3</sup> yazâiti, frâtemâi barrsmân paiti-barôit. And when he worships in thankfulness "the 143 B Ameshas Spentas «the Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers»" of the great and the good world, he shall bear it to the sacred Barsôm twigs at the topmost part « of the ritual ground », i.e., to the topmost Barsôm.

5. "Apô at yazamaidê,"<sup>4</sup> havyôtemôî<sup>4</sup> barrsmân paiti-barôit. '« And when he utters » : "Verily we express thankfulness to the Holy Saps,"' and thus offers up thanksgiving to the Holy Saps, he shall bear it to <sup>5</sup> the sacred Barsôm twigs on the extreme left <sup>5</sup> with reference to <sup>6</sup> the special<sup>7</sup> place<sup>7</sup> of the Hallowed Portion.

6. "Ashâunâmcha"<sup>8</sup> ūrunascha fravashîscha yazamaidê," dashinôtemâi barrsmân paiti-barôit. '« And when he utters » : "We express thankfulness to the souls and the holy spiritual essences of the righteous ones,"' and thus offers up thanksgiving to the souls and the holy spiritual essences of the righteous ones, he shall bear it to the sacred Barsôm twigs on the extreme right with reference to the arrangement <sup>10</sup> of the Hallowed Portion.

7. "Vîspaêibyô yasnô-krrtaêibyô,"<sup>11</sup> madhemâi barrsmân<sup>12</sup> 144 A

<sup>1</sup> Darmesteter renders, "—to the middle of the Baresman"; and he has translated similarly throughout.

<sup>2</sup> The text in Yas. LXIII, 3, has "Ameshâ Spentâ"; and so also has Yas. XXXV, 1.

<sup>7</sup> Var = a space marked out and closed by a line material or imaginary.

<sup>11</sup> It will be seen that this exact form is not to be found in the other preserved texts. But other forms with this and another base are to be found in Vend. III, 31 and in Yas. LVII, 22.

paitibarôit. And on « reciting the words » : “ ..... for all the Worshipful Sections of the Holy Text .....,”<sup>1</sup> « i.e. », for the Yêinghê Hâtâm « sections », he shall bear it to the sacred Barsôm twigs at the middle with reference to the special place of the Hallowed Portion.

---

<sup>1</sup> Otherwise, “ for all the sections of the Holy Text of Worship,” as pointing to the Yasna Haptanghâiti ; but just as the Pahlavi has understood it even at Vend. III, 31, here also it takes the reference to be to the Yêinghê Hâtâm section of the Holy Text, besides that in Fol. 133, ll. 17-18 also the Yêinghê Hâtâm is mentioned just after the Yasn-kartak.

It is not plain what authority the Pahlavi writers had to construe the sense thus ; but it is remarkable that the Yêinghê Hâtâm section just follows the texts which are mentioned immediately above, and which we have traced as specially belonging to Yas. LXIII, 3. Hence it is not improbable that that may have some bearing on the Pahlavi gloss in our text here. The writer of the Pahlavi Vendidad has apparently taken the same sense, although Darmesteter has not noticed the fact at all ; whereas the Pahlavi Yasna passes on without hinting at any such allusion. And both Darmesteter and Mills have rendered the Avestan expression quite differently and in their own way.

It is remarkable that the Avestan text of Yas. LVII, 22 may be taken to give indirect support to the Pahlavi gloss here and in the Vendidad : that text mentions Yasnascha Haptanghâitis and Vispâoscha Yasnô-Krrrtayô both distinctly apart and in such a way that the latter cannot be simply a repetition of the former, so that it must be indicating something quite else, and that may be the Yêinghê Hâtâm sections. Yet indeed there is no clear reason why they may not signify the “ chapters of the Yasna ” generally.

Nevertheless it must be noted that, taking the statement in Fol. 156, ll. 1-5 along with that in Fol. 159, ll. 5-8, and also perhaps that in Fol. 133, ll. 12-17, it must be found necessary to construe by the expression Yasnô-krrrta the chapters of the Yasna Haptanghâiti only ; especially because, the acts indicated in Fol. 156, ll. 1-5 apply to but one definite place in the Holy Text, which cannot be the Yêinghê Hâtâm sections which are scattered through the whole of the Yasna, but may be the Haptanghâiti chapters which mark one definite place in the Yasna, and can suit perfectly well the meanings and contexts of the above passages in our text. Still then, it may suggest itself to one that the bases Yasnô-krrrta and Yasnô-krrrti may be marking distinctions ; so that while the former may be indicating the chapters of the Haptanghâiti, the latter which is clearly the base in Yas. LVII, 22, may be marking something else, and that, as we have already said, may be the Yêinghê Hâtâm sections. But this must look rather far-fetched, besides that if that were so, our text here must require such necessary corrections as are not warranted by its very clear nature.

Again, setting aside the Pahlavi glosses, one might be led to construe even in our text here, that the reference must be to the Yasna Haptanghâiti only,

8. « When he recites » “ ..... kudôzâtanûm ..... ”<sup>1</sup> “ ..... of .....born wheresoever .....,”<sup>2</sup> I am not aware at<sup>3</sup> which<sup>3</sup> « he is to bear the libation ».

9. « When he recites » “ ..... narûmchâ ..... ” “ .....of men.....,”<sup>4</sup> « he should bear it » near where the mortar « is ».

10. « When he recites » “ ..... nâirinûmchâ ..... ” “ ..... of women .....,”<sup>5</sup> « he should bear it » near where the pestle<sup>6</sup> « is ».

11. « He should recite » “ .....yaêshûm vahêhîs..... ” “ ... whose superiorly virtuous... ”<sup>7</sup> « when taking it » along the way « to the sacred Fire ».

12. « He should recite » “ .....âaênâo..... ” “ .....Consciences..... ”<sup>8</sup> when holding it » on the ground « before the sacred Fire ».

13. « On reciting » “ .....vanainti..... ” “ .....are triumphant « in Virtue » .....,”<sup>9</sup> « he should bear it » to a side<sup>4</sup> of the « holy » Flame.

14. « On reciting » “ ..... vanghen ..... ” “ ..... shall be triumphant « in Virtue » .....,”<sup>10</sup> « he should bear it » to the vessel with the Vars « ring for the Electrification ».

inasmuch as most of the expressions that are quoted in our text here, primarily belong to the Yasna Haptanghâiti which might therefore be glorified in the special text that was to be recited for the function indicated in our text here.

Notice besides, that the term Yasna in its special sense signifies the Yasna Haptanghâiti, and the term krîrta or kartak indicates the chapters of texts among other meanings. Hence there is no reason why these terms may not bear these meanings here also when the attendant circumstances are so favourable to such sense, notwithstanding the apparent contradiction of Yas. LVII, 22.

Thus then when the Pahlavi, here as well as elsewhere, appears decisive in one way, the Avestan on the whole favours quite a different signification; and certainly the student must follow the latter.

<sup>1</sup> This and the following expressions up to vaonarr form a continuous text in Yas. XXXIX, 2.

The contexts of this word here and below favour “side” as its exact meaning indicating any one of all the four sides of the sacred fire.

15. «On reciting» “..... vaonarr ... ..” “..... have been triumphant « in Virtue » .....,” “ he should bear it to touch » the hand of the Leading Priest.

16. Then he should bear it to the special place of the Hallowed Portion, and up to « the expression » .. .. . Khshathremchā..... and the Kingdom .....’ of the 3rd « Ahuna Vairiya,<sup>1</sup> the Glorification of the Lord’s Holy Pleasure », he should keep it at the special place of the Hallowed Portion.

17. At « the expression » ..... Khshathremchā ..... of the 3rd « Ahuna Vairiya, the Glorification of the Lord’s Holy Pleasure », he should bring it again to the sacred Barsôm twigs.<sup>2</sup>

144 B 18. Then finally he should deliver it up into the hand of the Leading Priest.

19. Then he<sup>3</sup> should recite<sup>4</sup> on up to:—

Yâis azâthâ ; mahmâi khvyâtâ avanghê.<sup>5</sup>

Mat vâo padâis yâ frasrûtâ izhayâo

Pairi-jasdi..... .

‘ .....with which guide « me ; and » for the help of mine may You be.

In the Yazeshn ceremony at present the Râthwî sits down near the Barsôm stand on reciting these Ahuna Vairiyas, washes his right hand, and cleanses with it the bottom of the chalice of the prepared fluid which is in the Zaothi’s hand, without touching the Zaothi’s hand. So that even now a function takes place at these Ahuna Vairiyas.

<sup>2</sup> Probably those nearest the Zaothi’s hand are meant. It is indicated that they have been already touched with the libation.

<sup>3</sup> In modern practice the Zaothi alone recites these texts; but, probably, the Frabortâr priest is here directly meant, as he has to attend some further function just below.

<sup>4</sup> One 𐬨 should be omitted; otherwise the translation might be: “ he should recite the 6 (sections) up to..... ”.

<sup>5</sup> Yas. LXIV, is wholly formed of Yas. L, 6-11, excepting that the 2nd line of Yas. XLVI, 3 occurs at its very commencement before those sections.

The first line in our text here is the last line of Yas. L, 7, and the line and a fragment that follow form the commencement of the next section.

At present the Zaothi turns the Barsôm-stands eastwards on ending the first of these lines here, and on commencing the next.

* With the steps of the Muse of Virtue's Harmony, that are highly famed of riches, I approach near You..... .<sup>1</sup>

20. Then he should come to the end of the sacred Barsôm twigs, up to 3 paces from the left side.<sup>1</sup>

21. Dakhshmaêstem<sup>2</sup> aêtat Barrsma yat paiti âpem frânayantem<sup>3</sup> ..... Clean wet<sup>2</sup> « should be » the Barsôm when it is<sup>4</sup> being brought<sup>4</sup> in contact with the water, even as it is to pass<sup>5</sup> through clean wetting thoroughly.

22. « Accordingly, just when » one recites the text Yazâi Âpem .....<sup>6</sup> ' I express thankfulness to the « Holy » Sap ..... , « should » the clean wetting « take place ».

23. Every one is to recite this<sup>7</sup> « text » Yazâi Âpem ..... ' I express thankfulness to the « Holy » Sap ..... ' during « the function of » wetting clean.

24. As regards the « Holy » Life-Flame,<sup>8</sup> « it should be

The text has dakhshmaêstim which suggests dakhshmaêstim (= clear wetting) as also a probable form of the word here. The Pahlavi simply imitates the word.

<sup>3</sup> From يأتي = to lead up to.

The grammar is present participle, neuter, accusative singular, the participle being related to Barrsman.

<sup>4</sup> دست should be دست <sup>5</sup> Yâtûnâc.

Different manipulations take place here in modern practice.

<sup>8</sup> Vadâkar seems to be the probable reading of the word; cf. Pr. وداغ = fire.

Dr. West has read it vashkar in Sh. Lâ-Sh., Ch. II, 47, and translated it "a wild spot." But there also the context speaks of the sacred Fire, and the idea of a wild spot appears to be an intrusion in the proper current of the discourse which remains undisturbed if the word is taken to mean "the sacred Fire" or "the vicinity of the sacred Fire."

That the sacred Fire or its special place must be the meaning of the word is also made plain from its use a little below in our text.

The word may also be read nazâkar (= the sacred enclosure); cf. Pr. نزا = enclosure; but that solution hardly fits well in the sense of the whole.

addressed » in a separate passage « thus »:— .....Tava Âthrô
.....<sup>1</sup> ‘ .....of Thee the Life-Flame..... ’

25. There is one who<sup>2</sup> says thus : Verily, one need not recite in 145 A a separate passage<sup>3</sup> « the text » .....Tava Âthrô Ahurahê<sup>1</sup> .....
‘ .....of Thee the Life-Flame of the Lord ..... ’

26. Dât-Vêh said : Verily,<sup>4</sup> during this<sup>5</sup> very function of one's<sup>6</sup> when one « just » takes the Hallowed Portion, « if » one were to recite the Holy Text « which is to be recited » during the clean wetting,<sup>6</sup> that should certainly be improper.

27. One is to recite Yasnemcha vahmemcha.....<sup>6</sup> ..... worship and adoration .....’ during<sup>7</sup> this same « function of »<sup>7</sup> clean wetting, as quite the essential<sup>8</sup> thing.<sup>8</sup>

CHAPTER XXV: APPENDIX

ON THE MANAGEMENT OF THE SACRED FIRE IN A HOLY SERVICE

1. This « must be noted » that immediately one looks on the « Fire » Altar,<sup>9</sup> one must verily recite Nemass-Tê Âtars Mazdôô

<sup>1</sup> These words belong to the Âtash Niyâyêsh in whose opening portions they are found. They likewise appear in Yas. LXVI, 11, Yas. III, 2, 14, etc.; and similar words are also found in Yas. LXII which is wholly included in the Âtash Niyâyêsh, because it is entirely devoted to the praise of the Holy Life-Flame. But some of the words which follow in our text here, belong only to the other distinct portions of the Niyâyêsh, so this text here must rather belong to it. The same words are again found in the Drôn Service for the spirit of the departed; so elsewhere the words may belong to the Drôn Service.

<sup>3</sup> This divine probably means that there is no necessity of reciting the whole Âtash Niyâyêsh here, and that passages like Yas. III, 2 or 14 may serve the purpose instead.

<sup>6</sup> It is stated above that the text Yazâi Âpem, etc., is to be recited at the time of the clean wetting of the Barsôm. So Yasnemcha vahmemcha..... etc., also must perhaps have belonged to the whole text for that function; but if our author have been referring to the texts of the Âtash Niyâyêsh only, then these words must of course belong to that. See note 4 on next page.

Ahurahe Hudhao Mazista Yazata!<sup>1</sup> 'Homage unto Thee O «Holy» Life-Flame of the Being Most Wise and Supreme, Thou Good-natured One, Most Majestic and Adorable!'

2. As one looks on the «sacred» pancake,<sup>2</sup> one has verily<sup>3</sup> to recite Yasnemcha vahmemcha..... '.....worship and adoration.....,' «although indeed» during that same sphere<sup>4</sup> «of action» the function of clean wetting may have no concern «to be performed simultaneously».<sup>5</sup>

3. Notwithstanding that «the persons assembled be» very many, «they are still» all «to recite» .....Tava Athro Ahurahê Mazdô ..... '.....of Thee the Life-Flame of the Being Most Wise and Supreme.....' when they enter in before and «when» they depart 145 B «from the altar of the Holy Life-Flame».

4. Behold, Afrog «has laid down that» the back must not be presented towards the «Sacred» Flame.

5. He «likewise maintained that the text» .....Tava Athro Ahurahê..... 'of Thee the Life-Flame of the Being Supreme.....' should certainly be recited<sup>7</sup> when «people» enter into and come

<sup>4</sup> Two texts in the Âtash Niyâyêsh begin thus: one is that which occurs in the commencement of Yas. LXII, viz., Yasnemcha vahmemcha hu-brrrtimcha, usta-brrrtimcha, vanta-brrrtimcha âfrinâmi Tava Âtars! etc., and the other that which is found in the closing portion of the Niyâyêsh thus: Yasnemcha, vahmemcha, aojascha, zavarrcha âfrinâmi Athro Ahurahê, etc. But the words Yasnemcha, vahmemcha, aojascha..... âfrinâmi.....also appear in the several Âfringâns in each of which the sacred cake is consecrated. Hence whether the reference by our author is to some text pertaining to that or to the text of the Âtash Niyâyêsh, is not quite plain.

It must however be clearly seen that our text advises the special recitation of Yasnemcha vahmemcha..... on looking at the sacred pancake, even in the case when the clear wetting of the Barsôm is not to be performed in the same place. So it is evident that the remark does not appertain to the continuity of the function treated in the previous case, but is a side remark only. Hence in any case the reference must be to the text of any service consecrating the sacred cake, although it is not clear to what exact text it points.

out from the houses of the demon-worshippers.<sup>1</sup>

6. « He also said that » people should particularly recite .....
 ...Tava Âthrô Ahurahê..... ' .....of Thee the Life-Flame of the Being Supreme.....' before the Bûrzîn Mitrô Fire « the Flame that is the Blessed Just Friend ».<sup>2</sup>

7. In the case when one offers up thanksgiving on the sacred Drôn cake in a « private » house, « evidently » it cannot be proper if one do to the « sacred » Fire in the place any one of these 3 « things, viz. », either one push<sup>3</sup> « the sacred Fire » forwards,<sup>3</sup> or kindle<sup>4</sup> it up very high, or take it away « during that function ».

There is one who says: Verily, it must be improper only in the case when one takes the Fire away or kindles it up very high « during that function ».<sup>5</sup>

8. When one offers up thanksgiving on the sacred Drôn cake in a « private » house, then in the case of one's arranging it<sup>6</sup> in the <sup>1</sup> Shêdâ-yazakân, taking 𐬱𐬀𐬎𐬌 to be for 𐬱𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀. Otherwise we must read shêdâyakân and translate " .....houses of the demons," probably meaning idol temples. But it was not likely that any occasions arose for the Mazdayasnans to visit idol temples as a matter of course.

The text was evidently to be recited as a protection.

<sup>2</sup> He must then have thought that it was not to be a rule to recite this before other fires.

The Bûrzîn Mitrô fire is said to have been originally the fire which was brought by Righteous Zarathushtra to the court of King Vishtâspa, and which did not require to be fed with any fuel, which could not be put out, and which did not scorch. It was afterwards enthroned on the Raçvant or " Radiant " Mount.

It was prohibited to kindle up the sacred Fire very high in a private house, evidently because it was dangerous to do so; for, every private house could not be constructed to be so safe from the dangers of fire as the special houses or temples of the sacred Fire, which were no doubt built with special care:

<sup>5</sup> This critic did not see any danger or impropriety in pushing the Fire forwards.

The previous opinion probably held it dangerous to do so, because the Fire might be spilled on the ground and might create harm, and improper because it could not appear fitting that it should be pushed during the Service.

<sup>6</sup> Either the Drôn or the Fire is directly meant; but it would be wrong to place either towards the north, as that was supposed to be the home of evil forces.

direction of the north, one « must be » in « spiritual » darkness<sup>1</sup> for one month.<sup>2</sup>

9. Sôshâns said that one should arrange the tuft ends of the 146 A sacred Barsôm twigs in the direction of the door « of the house ».

10. As however there is « always » Fire there in the place, the sacred Barsôm twigs « can » not « be said to have to be treated with immediate » reference « to the door of the house », inasmuch as they are « directly required » to be arranged « with<sup>3</sup> their tuft ends » towards the sacred<sup>1</sup> Fire.<sup>4</sup>

11. Sôshâns said: Behold, under<sup>5</sup> any circumstance<sup>5</sup> they are not to be turned towards the direction of the north when the doors to that « house are » 4.<sup>6</sup>

12. There is one according to whom the place<sup>7</sup> pertaining to the sacred Flame<sup>7</sup> « is to be » so<sup>8</sup> « kept always » that<sup>8</sup> that which is as the place of the sacred Flame shall, from morning<sup>9</sup> till afternoon,<sup>10</sup> be in the direction of the south,<sup>11</sup> from afternoon till midnight in the

<sup>2</sup> He must have suffered some disabilities during this period, through having involved himself in a spiritual eclipse.

<sup>4</sup> When the sacred Fire also would be placed in the direction of the door both statements would be actually correct. <sup>5</sup> Ākher.

<sup>10</sup> The sense of this word is plain enough, but not so its reading. It may however be read as-pahar, of which as seems traceable to a Semitic form represented in the Arabic عشا = evening, while pahar is plainly enough represented in the Persian روز = a period of three hours.

It may also be read khîz-pahar = the time of gambolling; Pr. خیز = gambolling.

<sup>11</sup> Because between these times the sun should certainly appear on the south to an inhabitant of Iran. And the sacred Fire must be in the same direction with the sun.

𐬔𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 is of course for 𐬔𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 (rapiswintar) = Av. 𐬔𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀. In the Pahlavi Vendidad this word is written 𐬔𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀 (rapitvintar).

13. In every case a lamp<sup>4</sup> is « to be addressed » just like a fire with .....Tava Âthrô..... '.....of Thee the Life-Flame.'

14. There is one who says thus: Verily, if there be no more light than that of a lamp, one cannot offer up thanksgiving on the sacred Drön cake.

15. The helping<sup>b</sup> priests<sup>b</sup> are to recite the Holy Text in just the 146 B same way as the Leading Priest, on their having to have recited « the text » Ashaya dadhâmi....., <sup>e</sup> 'I dedicate in Righteousness.....'.

16. There is one who says thus: Behold when « the Leading Priest » stands<sup>7</sup> by himself before the « sacred » Flame, they<sup>8</sup> « all » are to join in the recital<sup>9</sup> .....Tava Áthrô..... ‘.....Of Thee the Life-Flame.....’.

17. « If » the sacred Barsôm twigs « be taken » from « one sacred » Flame to « another sacred » Flame, « or » from the « sacred »

<sup>a</sup> For, the sun must of course be in the west between these times.

Daôshastar is Av.  $\text{𐬔𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬭𐬀}$  = the west.

<sup>2</sup> The words but by are missing here from the text.

<sup>8</sup> For, the sun must of course be in the east between these times.

Aûshastar is Av.  $\text{𐬀𐬕𐬎𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀}$  = the east.

<sup>5</sup> Râspîkân.

<sup>c</sup> The reference may be to the Drôn Service which is just hinted at, or to the function of partaking of the Hallowed Portion of the milk which is described from the close of this folio. The words occur in Yas. VIII, 1, where even now the Râthwi joins the Zaoiti in the recital. They are also found at the commencement of Yas. LXVI; but the words to be recited further on belong to the former chapter only.

<sup>8</sup> We have taken "MOU" of the text here to be a mistake for "MOU" (ashân = they) which follows. If however it be the proper text, the translation should be — "Behold, when (the Leading Priest) stands by himself before the (sacred) Flame, that must be improper, (for), they (all) are to join in the recital .....etc.," meaning of course that they also are to stand with him.

<sup>9</sup> 13012 12 seems to be repeated; or else the expression might be 13012 12 = they should recite on (his) reciting.

Flame to <sup>1</sup> the outside, « or » from the outside to the « sacred » Flame, then it can be allowed in every case excepting « that of taking them » from the « sacred » Flame to the outside, because that is not permitted.<sup>2</sup>

18. « When » the sacred Drôn cake « is used » in the Service of the « Holy » Flame, then that is so very meritorious indeed that though they might not perform a « special » service<sup>3</sup> thereon, still the sacred Drôn cake would become as much meritorious as « if that<sup>3</sup> too were performed »—there is one who states thus: still that would become as much meritorious as if the « special » service of the sacred Drôn cake « were performed thereon ». <sup>4</sup>

19. « Indeed » if one did not perform the Service « of the Holy Flame, the function » would become the worship of the demons.<sup>5</sup>

CHAPTER XXVI

ON THE OFFICIATING DIVINES PARTAKING OF THE HALLOWED PORTION

1. Apa adhât Frabrrrta aêtâbyô zaothrâbyô yâiti, When they « have gone » through « these », then after that, the Frabortâr « priest whose function is to present things for the offering », shall, « to obtain » the portion, proceed<sup>6</sup> towards those Hallowed 147 A

<sup>2</sup> The point is that if there arise the need of some sacred Barsôm twigs in the precincts of a sacred Fire, and if they can be spared at another, then they can be taken from the latter to supply that want; or they can also be brought from outside for that purpose. But even if there be spare Barsôm twigs in the precincts of a sacred Fire they must not be taken away outside.

<sup>3</sup> The special service for consecrating the Drôn.

<sup>4</sup> This last remark is made to make the statement clear.

<sup>5</sup> I. e., the special service for the glorification of the Holy Flame cannot be dispensed with at the sacred function of presenting the offering, though that for the consecration of the sacred Drôn cake is not considered here specially necessary when that other service is performed.

<sup>6</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀 seems to be for 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀 (yâtûnêt) which serves as a good rendering of the Avestan yâiti; cf. 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀 𐬨𐬀 which renders 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀 of Yas. XII, 3.

Amesha<sup>10</sup> Spenta! Daēna Mâzdayasnê! O ye that are the

It becomes interesting to compare the Pahlavi translation of these passages by the writer of the Nirangastân with that in the Pahlavi Yasna ; and it is easy to see that our writer has followed the other in his translation.

<sup>1</sup> We have taken one of the two words gôbeshn and karitûncshn to be a mistaken repetition of the other. Otherwise one might render “as (thou art) to be called in address.” See however the Pahlavi Yasna.

<sup>2</sup> Supposing 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 to be for 𐬨𐬀. Here the Pahlavi Yasna adds 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 = “through (your good) motive”; so the form in our text here may also possibly be a fragment of those words.

<sup>4</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 is for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀; see the Pahlavi Yasna.

<sup>9</sup> The reference here seems to be to a person of pretentious looks and false motives, who joins in a worship not because he sincerely regards it his duty to do so, but because that must enable him to receive a Mazdayasna's share of the offerings.

<sup>10</sup> See the form in Yas. VIII, 3, and cf. Vend. XVIII, 55, 59.

<sup>11</sup> Yâtûkîh applied to evil practices generally, and to magic and sorcery specially.

one» would be devoted to evil practice, avi tū<sup>1</sup> dim disyata yāo apacha ūruvardoscha zaothrdoscha. «these» make<sup>2</sup> ye known<sup>3</sup> unto him, i. e., make these clear unto him who does not worship «in sincerity», O ye that<sup>4</sup> be as Holy Saps, that<sup>5</sup> «be» as Holy Growths, and that<sup>6</sup> «be» as Hallowed Portions!

4. Yascha aêtaêshâm mazdayasnanâm prrrndyunâm airwi-zûnyanâm imâ<sup>4</sup> vachô nôit vîsaitê fra-mrûiti,<sup>5</sup> Whoever<sup>6</sup> of those adult<sup>7</sup> men<sup>7</sup> worshipping the Most High and Wise and invoking diligently<sup>8</sup> «the Divine Power»,<sup>9</sup> does not accept these words by announcing, i. e., does not recite «the text» Amesha

The reference evidently is to the insincerity of a worshipper and the influence of evil practices that are mentioned just above.

<sup>3</sup> 𐭮𐭮 𐭮 appears originally to have been 𐭮𐭮 𐭮 as is seen in the last case; and this again is a confusion from 𐭮𐭮 where the enclitic 𐭮 was confounded with the indefinite or interrogative 𐭮𐭮 and replaced with the latter’s Semitic equivalent 𐭮𐭮.

In the second case in the text these words have interchanged and added more error.

Our explanation here receives support from the opening words in the translation of the following expression. Our text there has 𐭮𐭮 𐭮 for 𐭮𐭮 of the Pahlavi Yasna.

<sup>8</sup> The intensive form of the word indicates this. The Pahlavi has expressed it by the idiomatic prefixing of 𐭮𐭮.

<sup>9</sup> I. e., the Divine Power who is made the special object of worship in a particular service.

Spenta! «etc.», aētām<sup>1</sup> ā yātumanahê jasaiti. will arrive thereby 148 B at a similitude<sup>2</sup> of evil practice, i. e., a sign thereof will be raised<sup>3</sup> in him.<sup>4</sup>

5. There is one who says thus that he will arrive « at that similitude » owing to the amening<sup>5</sup> that is pronounced<sup>6</sup>; « and » this « amening » is manifested from the text of the Holy Wisdom « concerning » the sacred Drôn cake Service for « redeeming » the Bâzâê « penalty of ninety Stîrs, that shall be recited in this case of tasting,<sup>7</sup> where it is found in the words » Athâ jamyât yatha â-frîndmi.<sup>8</sup> 'Be it so as I pray in benediction': « for » this « indeed » is the amening « owing to which » he happens to arrive « at that similitude, and » which is manifested from the text of the Holy Wisdom.

6. Behold, the sanctified<sup>9</sup> fluid<sup>9</sup> should have been lifted up and put down on the left hand side.<sup>10</sup>

148,
I. 24

<sup>1</sup> Apparently this is a feminine form of the demonstrative pronoun; but the Pahlavi here as well as in the Yasna seems to have neglected it altogether or perhaps taken it to be some noun form meaning 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 (hanbasânih or av-basânih, cf. Pr. 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌=resembling); if this were so, the word might be traced to a root h or ḥ=to resemble. It is however more likely that 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 translates the component 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 (𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌=to resemble) of 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬀𐬎𐬌, if that word does not mean as a whole simply "sorcery and magic" and take 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 to mean "quality."

<sup>4</sup> It is meant that if a person does not sincerely acknowledge the fact that a man who joins in a worship with insincere motives has to learn that the world of Righteousness receives harm through such evil practices, then he himself falls under the suspicion of being ready to follow such evil practice.

<sup>6</sup> I. e., when one plainly says "Be it so as I pray" at the end of the service, and still does not sincerely acknowledge what is professed in that service, then evidently one may do so because one may be ready to follow an evil practice,

- 151, 7.<sup>1</sup> On reciting: Ashaya<sup>2</sup> nô paiti-jamyât “Yêhyâ<sup>3</sup> Savâ ishdonî
l. 3 râdanghô”<sup>3</sup> .....<sup>2</sup> ‘In Righteousness approach us He “Whose Bounties «even» the munificent ones are wanting” .....,’ the Hâvanân «Priest whose function is to pound the Haoma» should have stood up, and recited Khvarata narô! .....<sup>4</sup> ‘Partake ye O men! of.....’.

8. In the Smaller Worship the Leading Priest should manage the text Amesha Spenta! .....<sup>6</sup> ‘O Ye Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers! .....,’ and should partake of the portion «of the offering».<sup>6</sup>

9. In the Greater Worship the Sraôshâvarz<sup>7</sup> «Priest who superintends with the Weapon of the Spirit of the Moral Order», should stand up and should recite Khvarata narô! ..... ‘Partake ye O men! of.....’.

10. Then he should go back<sup>8</sup> to the seat of the Frabortâr<sup>9</sup> «Priest whose function is to present things at the Holy Service», and 151 B should hold the special<sup>10</sup> formula for opening the function<sup>11</sup> in hand<sup>10</sup>

It will be seen that the statements which have commenced at Fol. 148, l. 23, do not give the continuity of the main theme, but describe details. <sup>6</sup> See Yas. VIII, 3.

<sup>6</sup> This priest goes through the same acts in the Yazeshn ceremony of the present day.

<sup>7</sup> All the priestly offices of the Holy Ritual, excepting that of the Zaoti and to some extent of the Sraôshâvarz, are now represented by the Râthwi for all practical purposes, so the special functions of those are either performed by him, or omitted sometimes if convenient.

<sup>8</sup> This indicates that previously he must have been near the place of the Frabortâr.

It will be seen a little below that the Sraôshâvarz had no special seat assigned to him in the precincts of the Holy Ritual, for, he had to move about and to watch that everything went right.

« with » Ashem Vohû 3 « the Praise of Righteousness 3 times,<sup>1</sup> and the holy words » Ahurahê Mazdâtô Raêvatô khshnaothra ..... 'With the glorification of the Most Wise Lord the Brilliant One.....'.

11. Then the Leading Priest should manage through the text Amesha Spenta! .....<sup>2</sup> 'O Ye Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers! ....., ' and should partake of the portion « of the offering ».

12. When the Leading Priest has<sup>3</sup> partaken of<sup>3</sup> the portion « of the offering », the Sraôshâvarz « Priest whose function is to superintend with the weapon of the Spirit of the Moral Order » should place the hand on the sacred Barsôm twigs, and should recite Atha zê mraot<sup>4</sup> ..... 'Thus indeed spoke ..... ' up to Fravaochat Ahurê Mazdêo Spitamêi Zarathustrêi<sup>4</sup> ..... 'Said the Most Wise Lord unto Spitama Zarathushtra.....'.

13. « Then », on having recited one Ashem Vohû « the Praise of Righteousness », he should<sup>5</sup> withdraw<sup>5</sup> the hand « from » the sacred Barsôm twigs.

14. When along with the Leading Priest, he has managed well so far the text of the Holy Wisdom, he « in his turn » should manage through the text Amesha Spenta..... 'O ye Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers! ....., ' and should recite Ashem Vohû 3 « the Praise of Righteousness 3 times »; and « then » he should partake of the portion « of the offering ».<sup>6</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Supposing that 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎 is for 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎. Otherwise the meaning would be "has to partake of," but that does not appear to be the real sense.

<sup>4</sup> The texts to which these belong are not preserved.

<sup>6</sup> It is not plain whether every priest attending the Holy Ritual officially, had to go through similar operations before his turn came for partaking of the offering, or whether the offering was to be passed to one from another, and directly tasted without any more ceremony. Still, the two doctors whose opinions are quoted immediately below, appear to make them compulsory in each case.

152 A 15. There is one according to whom he should also<sup>1</sup> recite through the entire formula<sup>2</sup> glorifying the period of the day<sup>3</sup>; «and» there is one according to whom it is necessary that he should have also recited the formula glorifying the period of the day,<sup>3</sup> for the reason that not even a word<sup>4</sup> can have been left by him from the sacred<sup>5</sup> Drôn cake Service for «redeeming» the Bâzâê «penalty of 90 Stîrs».<sup>6</sup> Hence it is that «just» when one takes up the special<sup>6</sup> formula for opening the function<sup>6</sup> at the commencement<sup>7</sup> of the sacred Drôn cake Service for «redeeming» the Bâzâê «penalty of 90 Stîrs», if one «directly» partake of the food and drink; that cannot be allowed.<sup>8</sup>

16. When the portion «of the offering» has to be partaken of by the Leading Priest, it should be handed to him by «the Hâvanân<sup>9</sup> Priest who pounds the Haoma»; and when it has to be partaken of by the Hâvanân, it should be handed to him by the Leading Priest.

17. «So also in another circumstance», when it has to be partaken of by the Leading Priest, it should be handed to him by the Frabortâr «Priest who presents things»; and when it has to be partaken of by the Frabortâr, it should be handed to him by the Leading Priest.<sup>10</sup>

<sup>10</sup> It does not appear to be meant that the Zaoiti has to taste the offering every time before the tasting by the other priests, but that the particular priest who may have to taste the offering after the Zaoiti according to circumstances, has first to hand it to the latter for tasting, and the latter must then hand it to him for tasting afterwards. After that it must be handed to the other priests, whoever they may be remaining to taste, in such order that whoever tasted last must hand it to the other next to him.

The remarks in the text however indicate that the turn for tasting the offering after the Zaoiti, had not been fixed for any one priestly official, but differed according to cases.

18. When one recites the special formula for opening the sacred Drôn cake Service for « redeeming » the Bâzâê « penalty of 90 Stîrs », and takes up the special formula « for the function of tasting », and partakes of the food and drink, then if one finish off « directly there-at »<sup>1</sup> the Holy Thanksgiving Service, that cannot « indeed » be allowed; « but » whether when one will not « thus » finish off the Holy Thanksgiving Service, this can be allowed or no is not clear.<sup>2</sup>

19. In the tasting it is allowed to<sup>3</sup> eat or drink<sup>3</sup> in only 2<sup>4</sup> portions.

20. This is manifest from the Holy Wisdom concerning<sup>5</sup> that « fact » after all,<sup>6</sup>—« namely » when one omits « some » recitation from the sacred Drôn cake Service for « redeeming » the Bâzâê « penalty of 90 Stîrs »,—then that must become just the same as if it may have been omitted from the sacred Drôn cake Service in honour of Srôsh « the Spirit of the Moral Order ».<sup>6</sup> 152 B

If one performs the tasting near the close of the Drôn Service after going through it faultlessly, and if one properly closes it and then continues the Holy Thanksgiving Service, then there will be nothing to invalidate this Service. But if any error be made in those particulars, as of failing to close the Drôn Service, then it is plain that the Drôn Service itself must be rendered void according to what is said in the commencement of this folio where it is made illegal to omit a single word from the Drôn Service, but it is not plain whether the main service itself can then be continued or no.

<sup>4</sup> One may taste one's portion in two small morsels or sips, but not more.

This remark is necessitated by the fact that a limit was to be prescribed to the quantity that might be taken by a person while tasting. It could not naturally be becoming to indulge in any larger quantity while simply tasting the offering.

We have solved 𐎠𐎡 as ae 2 (= "only 2"). It is however possible to take it to signify 3+2; but to allow five morsels or sips for mere tasting would be to allow too much.

<sup>6</sup> Does this mean that the Drôn Service in honour of Srôsh also is of the same merit as that celebrated in the case in which an animal is dedicated?

21. « The person who makes such omission » should commence over again the sacred Drôn cake Service for « redeeming » the Bâzâc « penalty of 90 Stîrs », and should stand up at the text ..... Yâ Âhûiris Zarathustris<sup>1</sup> '.....which is pertaining to the Lord and pertaining to Zarathushtra,' and should manage through, in just the exact manner, the text which those « who are engaged in the Service »
152, have verily to recite.<sup>2</sup>

CHAPTER XXVI: APPENDIX A

ON THE SACRED DRÔN CAKE SERVICE DEDICATED TO THE HOLY SAPS

148, 1. 25 1. When the Holy<sup>3</sup> Spiritual Essences<sup>3</sup> « are to be celebrated » in the Holy Worship, then the sacred Drôn cake is of course to be prepared therefor.<sup>4</sup>

2. But even when the Holy Spiritual Essences are not « to be celebrated » in the Holy Worship, still then also there are verily<sup>5</sup> to be prepared, the sacred Drôn cake, and also<sup>5</sup> the sacred Frasast cake, and also<sup>5</sup> the wine,<sup>6</sup> and also<sup>5</sup> the basin<sup>7</sup> of water,<sup>7</sup> and also<sup>5</sup> the fuel and incense in 3 sets; and these are to be placed on the right hand side.

149 A 3. In the sacred Drôn cake Service dedicated to the Holy Saps « there should besides be placed on the ritual table » the 6<sup>8</sup> portions of the good <sup>1</sup> animal product <sup>1</sup>: the intestinal <sup>2</sup> fat for the Holy Spiritual Essences, the head <sup>3</sup> for Ratwôk <sup>4</sup> Brizat «the Sublime Lord, and» the heart for the Holy Life Flames. It will not be well if other «things» are used instead of these; though» there is one who says: Verily, «that also is» best.<sup>5</sup>

4. Then there should be put under <sup>6</sup> cover <sup>6</sup> the sanctified fluid upon the sacred Frasast cake on «reciting» .....frasasti Ahurahê Mazdâdê, Ahunahê Vairiyêhê, Arshukhdhahê Vâkhs, Dahmaydo Vangh-uyâo Âfritôis.....<sup>7</sup>.

5. The sacred Frasast cake should «then» be borne to the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to the Most Wise Lord.

6. For Whosocver’s dedication might the sacred Drôn cake be, it should be placed in front «of the Zaoî» and close to the sacred Barsôm twigs.

<sup>1</sup> Gâvûshudâk.

A full list of the various parts of the slaughtered animal to be severally dedicated to particular Divine Powers is given in Shâyast Lâ-Shâyast, XI, 4.

<sup>7</sup> This text occurs in Yas. VIII, 1, but is not followed by the Yêinghê Hâtâm. This latter however ends Yas. VII, and there it is preceded by the last expression in our passage here.

In the Drôn Service for the spirit of the dead also the Yêinghê Hâtâm is not to be found in this connection.

In the Yazeshn Service the Zaoî and the Râthwi recite the passage both together now.

7. « Then there should be recited » :—

<sup>1</sup> This text is common to all the Drôn Services. But the holy dedicatory formulæ are different for the different Divine Powers in whose honour the Drôn Service may be celebrated in special cases. Thus, as the service described in our text is that dedicated to the Holy Saps, its holy dedicatory formula is of a special nature.

In the Yazeshn service, some of the texts here are now recited by the Zaoiti and the Râthwi jointly. Otherwise they must be those which are to be recited by the Zaoiti by himself, unless it is indicated to the contrary.

<sup>3</sup> Strangely enough this term invariably appears in the nominative singular in this combination, when all the other terms in the same syntactical relation require and have the accusative form.

<sup>4</sup> The holy dedicatory formula for the Holy Saps. Cf. Yas. VII, 3 ; I, 5 ; LXVI, 1, etc.

<sup>5</sup> This rule is preserved in modern practice; see similar passages in, for instance, the Drôn Service for the spirit of the dead.

It must always be remembered that in Mazdean philosophy Khvarrtha Myazda represent the food and the bounties of Life ; haurvata amrrrtâta as objects of presentations, represent the drink that waters Infinity and the food which nourishes Immortality ; gâus hudhdo represents the blessings of Animal Life ; âpê ūruvairê represent the circulation of the Sap of Life and the vegetation of the Growth of Life ; and aêsma baoidhi represent the fuel that feeds and the incense that perfumes the Fire of Life.

10. When one performs<sup>4</sup> the Holy Worship in dedication to the Most Wise Lord, «and» when in dedication to Srôsh «the Spirit of 150 A the Moral Order», or to Ratwôk Brizat «the Sublime Master of the Holy Order», one should introduce «the expression» ashâunûm .....<sup>5</sup> «into the holy dedicatory formula».

11. When there is to be performed the dedication to the Most Wise Lord, «then the dedication to» the Holy Beneficent Immortal Powers should be performed alongside<sup>6</sup>; «and» both «the leading and the helping divines» should recite the passage together.<sup>7</sup>

12. «Then there should be recited»:—

Ithâ<sup>8</sup> ..... . ‘So .....’ .

<sup>2</sup> The missing words are ughranûm, aiwîthûranûm, paôiryôtkâshânûm fravashinûm, nabânazdistanûm fravashinûm; cf. Yas. XXII, 27, etc., and, for instance, the Drôn Service for the spirit of the dead.

<sup>3</sup> The same is done in modern practice.

<sup>7</sup> The same is done at present also ; cf. Yas. VII, 1 ; Yas. LXVI, 17, etc.

<sup>8</sup> This is the opening word of Yas. XXXVII, the whole of which is recited elsewhere, as in the Drôn Service for the spirit of the dead, and only the first section in the Grace.

Evidently the whole chapter is required to be recited here.

<sup>1</sup> These are the opening words of Yas. XXXVIII, which also seems to be required to be recited here wholly. It is not however to be found in the text of so important a Drôn Service as that for the spirit of the dead.

In the Yazeshn Service both the chapters here indicated are now recited by the Zaoti alone.

<sup>2</sup> This must be common to all the Drôn Services, and is found elsewhere, for instance, in the Drôn Service for the spirit of the dead.

<sup>3</sup> This is special to the Drôn Service dedicated to the Holy Saps; cf. Yas. VI, 11, Yas. XVII, 12, and Yas. LXVIII, 7. The Holy Saps signify the currents of spiritual wisdom and of divine energy; see § 3 of the next Appendix.

This passage and the following passages pertaining to terms related to time, are not to be found in the Drôn Service for the spirit of the dead.

<sup>2</sup> Cf. Yas. VI, 2-8, and Yas. XVII, 2-8. The periods here relate to the Time

ON THE VARIATIONS IN THE LESSER<sup>4</sup> AND THE GREATER<sup>4</sup> SERVICES DEDICATED TO THE HOLY SAPS

152, 1. In the Lesser Service, when one is to recite the special<sup>5</sup>
 1. 22 formula for opening the function,<sup>6</sup> one should hold the formula for opening the function « thus »:—

Ashem Volû 3 « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times » ;

<sup>1</sup> The words wanted here must be Raêvantem, Khvarrnanguhantem yazamaidê ; Ameshâ Spentâ Hukhshathrâ, if the sequence in the Drôn Service for the spirit of the dead is followed here also. Otherwise cf. below, Fol. 153, ll. 26-27, Visp. IV, 1, and Yas. XVII, 1, according to which the missing words would be Ashavanem Ashahê Ratûm yazamaidê, etc.

<sup>2</sup> The words that must follow are, zdayêmi, nfyêmi, yazamaidê, nmânâyâo, vîsyâo, zantumâo, dukhyumâo, zarathustrôtêmâo. Cf. Yas. XVII, 18, and Yas. XXVI, 1.

The text pertaining to the Drôn Service dedicated to the Holy Saps, which is transferred into Fol. 152, l. 22, from Fol. 148, l. 25—Fol. 151, l. 3, ends here.

<sup>3</sup> See note 4 on the previous page.

<sup>7</sup> See Yas. VIII, 8, and Yas. LXVIII, 19, of which the former is now recited by the Zaoî and the Râthwi jointly, and the latter by the Zaoî alone.

<sup>3</sup> How this was to be done in the Lesser Service has been described above in l. 22 ff. of the previous folio.

The full assembly of the holy dignitaries was probably necessary in the Greater Service ; and possibly it was a service which comprised at least one more great text besides the Yasna. See note 5 to Nir. I, Chap. XIV: App. B, 3.

<sup>4</sup> Or perhaps the special divine whose function is to mix the Haoma with the milk and to dispense them. Although there is a confusion here in the text, in view of the text between this folio and the preceding, it must be plain that the Zaoiti could not be meant here, as the duty devolving upon him in the Lesser Service is discharged here by the Frabortâr priest.

<sup>5</sup> See Yas. VIII, 8, and Yas. LXVIII, 19. In the former case the Zaoiti and the Râthwi recite together now.

<sup>7</sup> This special name is required in the Greater Service, and may indicate that the full graduation of the divines was necessary in such services.

8. « And in that case » the<sup>1</sup> Leading Priest should recite one Ashem Vohû,<sup>1</sup> « the Praise of Righteousness, and then should recite onwards » :—

 our grateful veneration for the Opinions of Intelligence.’

9. .... up to varrshyamanacha ‘ ‘ ..... and those to

10. Yeinghê hâtâm ..... up to tâoschâ yazamaidê.<sup>4</sup> ‘ Among the living, whose ..... ’ u p t o ‘ we express our thankful veneration for those living men ..... ’.

153,
 l. 30

11. « When the recitation comes up to »<sup>5</sup> Vanguhîm idhât âdâm, TD:
vanguhîm ashîm .....<sup>6</sup> ‘ ..... the good gift herefrom and the good P. 24 blessing out of Righteousness ..... ,’ « then on reciting » âcha ‘ aloud,’ « the vessel<sup>7</sup> for the Hallowed Portion should be held »<sup>7</sup> above the water; « on reciting » nicha ‘ and slowly,’ it should be turned in ;

<sup>1</sup> In the text, this intrudes into the preceding through some error.

<sup>2</sup> The words that follow might be Raêvantem Khvarnanguhantem yazamaidê, as found in the Drôn Service for the spirit of the dead; but the text which follows belongs to Visp. IV, 1; and though that also commences with these words, it continues into Ashavanem Ashahê Ratûm yazamaidê.

<sup>6</sup> See Yas. LXVIII, 21. It will be seen that the text has already appeared at Fol. 153, l. 19, ff. of HJ, but no manipulations are there described. What is described here however evidently appertains to that text in the Greater Service.

The manipulations here described are not the same as those in the modern ordinary Yazeshn Service, for which see, for instance, Ervad Tehmurasp's Yasna with the Ritual, p. 225.

The Hallowed Portion here is that of pure water probably to be filled out from a stream of water in the Greater Service.

12. «On reciting» Apô<sup>5</sup> 'The Holy Saps,' «it should be kept» above the water; «on reciting» at<sup>5</sup> 'verily,' «it should be» on the way «to the special<sup>6</sup> place<sup>6</sup> of the Hallowed Portion»; «on reciting» yazamaidê<sup>5</sup> 'we reverence in thankfulness,' it should be spilled «a little» on the special<sup>6</sup> place<sup>6</sup> of the Hallowed Portion<sup>7</sup>; «on reciting» uiti: Yâ vé vanguhîs<sup>8</sup> 'thus: O ye who are the good,' «it should be spilled a little» on the stalk<sup>9</sup> ends<sup>9</sup> of the sacred Barsôm twigs<sup>10</sup>; «on reciting» Apaschâ<sup>11</sup> 'O ye Holy Saps!' «it should again be spilled a little» on the special place of the Hallowed Portion;

13. «On reciting» vdo 'you,' the Leading Priest and every one<sup>12</sup> who «may be» with the Leading Priest should drink a portion «therefrom».<sup>13</sup>

14. ... it should be turned round about the sacred Barsôm twigs<sup>14</sup>; ...

<sup>1</sup> In modern Yazeshn, on reciting these words, the cup of the prepared Haoma fluid is made to touch the edge of the cup of the pure water in various positions.

<sup>7</sup> In modern Yazeshn, on reciting the previous expression, a little of the prepared Haoma fluid is poured into the cup of the clean water.

<sup>13</sup> On reciting the above words in the modern Yazeshn, a little of the prepared Haoma fluid is poured into the cup of the fresh milk.

<sup>14</sup> Owing to the fragmentary condition of this and what follows immediately, the meaning does not become evident.

15. .... not at ..... « fuel<sup>1</sup> and » incense in 3 sets..... should be borne.

He should recite Thwām Ātareṃ<sup>2</sup> ..... ‘Thee the Holy Life Flāme .....’ at that time.<sup>3</sup>

16. « According to » Afrog, they all should proceed together<sup>4</sup>; not « one of » them should be left.

CHAPTER XXVI: APPENDIX C

ON TAKING THE HALLOWED PORTIONS FOR THE HOLY SAPS

1. If the 4 portions<sup>5</sup> be impure, they « should be made » pure ..... for the Holy Thanksgiving Service, as one has to be careful<sup>6</sup> P. 25 « therein ».

2. « As » flesh from the same animal<sup>7</sup> is to be brought again, ..... it should be brought again if it is not to be found at the Holy Thanksgiving Service .....

3. .... « if » not,<sup>8</sup> thanksgiving should be offered to the Holy <sup>1</sup> Apparently a direction is here given to offer these to the sacred Fire or perhaps to place them near it.

<sup>2</sup> These words must belong to an address to the Holy Flame.

<sup>3</sup> I.e., of taking the fuel and incense to the sacred Fire.

<sup>4</sup> Probably to the stream of water to fill the cup ceremoniously.

<sup>5</sup> Evidently these must be the four Hallowed Portions of flesh that could be taken of one animal according to Nîr. Bk. II, XIX, 1-2, or Fol. 126, ll. 3-6, especially because flesh is clearly mentioned in the next section.

<sup>7</sup> It is not quite plain which animal is meant; but probably it is that of which portions are dedicated to the different divine powers; and as its flesh is said to be brought again to the Thanksgiving Service from elsewhere, probably the reference is to its use at another part of the Service or at quite a distinct service.

<sup>8</sup> Evidently such must be the relation of words; because if we were to take lâ (= not) with what follows, the resulting sense would be contradicted by what is said at the end of Fol. 134 and on Fol. 135.

The force of this phrase must be that if flesh is not to be found for being offered up at the Holy Service, cheese may be utilised instead.

Sap by means of cheese ; but it would be that of .....

4. .... Next,<sup>1</sup> the portion<sup>2</sup> should be offered up in thankfulness with the sacred Drôn cake dedicated to the Holy Saps.

5. .... a single<sup>3</sup> ..... a single sacred Drôn cake, just as he speaks, " Behold here is the Drôn."

6. There should also be prepared the wine, also the basin<sup>4</sup> of water,<sup>4</sup> also the sacred Frasast cake, also<sup>5</sup> « the fuel and » incense in 3 sets ; and they should be placed on the right hand side.

7. « Then there should be recited onwards »:—

Khvarrthem myazdem â-yêšê yêsti haurvata amrrrîâta, gâus hudhâo, âpê ūruvairê, âsma baoidhi, khshnûmainê Ahurahê Mazdâô Raêvatô Khvarrnanguhatô, Ameshanûm Spentanûm ..... up to gaêthyanûm.<sup>6</sup>

..... aokhtô-nâmanô Yazatahê.<sup>7</sup>

' In worship I pray for the meat meal, both the drink of wholesomeness and the food of immortality, « what is » the good animal product, both the water and the vegetation, and both the fuel and the incense, for being in the Concord of the Most Wise Lord, the Brilliant and the Glorious One, of the Beneficent Holy Immortal Powers.....' up to 'of the worldly orders.'

' ..... of the Worshipful One invoked specially by name.'—
« This whole should be recited » 2 times.

<sup>1</sup> Or, " on another day " if we read javit yôm ; but how it could be utilised the next or another day is not made plain. Perhaps 𐬔𐬀 is an error.

<sup>2</sup> Or, " portions " of flesh or cheese.

Ahura Mazda, the Amesha Spentas, Sraosha, Âtar, Ratu Brrrzant, and again the Fravashis are invoked in similar terms in the opening portions of the Drôn Service for the spirit of the dead.

8. Khvarrthem myazdem â-yêšê yêsti ..... up to baoidhi, khshnûmainê Sraoshahê Ashyêhê ..... up to Âhûiryêhê, aokhtôndmanô Yazatahê.<sup>1</sup> 'In worship I pray for the meat meal, ..... ' up to 'incense, for being in the Holy Concord of Sraosha « the Spirit of the Moral Order » in kindred with Righteousness ..... ' up to 'appertaining to the Lord, the Worshipful One invoked specially by name.' — « This whole should be recited » 2 times.

9. Khvarrthem myazdem â-yêšê yêsti ..... up to khshnûmainê P. 26
ashdunûm Fravashinûm ..... up to aokhtô-nâmanô Yazatahê.<sup>2</sup> 'In worship I pray for the meat meal ..... ' up to 'for being in the Concord of the Holy Spiritual Essences of the righteous ones.....' up to 'of the Worshipful One invoked specially by name.' — « This whole should be recited » 2 times.

10. Avi..... 'Towards ..... ' ..... when no virtue has been achieved through worship.

11. « There is one » who says that the worship..... .

12. .... says ..... there is one who says, one<sup>3</sup> Drôn.<sup>3</sup>

13. Frasha adhât ... .. antarât<sup>4</sup> naêmât yûjyastôis pay .....
... asenti aêsmûscha brrrsmacha. Forth then ... .. shall have turned the head towards the Holy Fire<sup>5</sup> within a Yujyasti « of 16,000 paces of two feet each »<sup>6</sup> on ..... the fuels and the sacred Barsôm for the previous worship.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Otherwise, "behold, (that is) the Drôn."

<sup>5</sup> The reference evidently is to the Holy Fire of a temple in the circle of a particular locality.

<sup>6</sup> It points to the practice of so arranging the ritual that when there is a holy temple within a Yujyasti's distance from it, then the Leading Priest may face the direction in which it is situated, provided that is not towards the north.

As to Yujyasti cf. Vend. XIII, 17.

<sup>7</sup> No clear meaning can be guessed here.

14. Behold, this Yujya«sti» .....says hither.

15. Yâtaraêshâm<sup>1</sup> frdyu ..... tem .....

l. 30 fore— .....might seize at that through lustre.'

16. Hence<sup>4</sup> they who are among those not singing forth « well the Holy Text »—i.e., those who may have recited defectively the Holy Text for the office of the Râspik<sup>5</sup> « priests »—must fulfil it so much<sup>6</sup> under compulsion. Because, when one proceeds «to one's work» dutifully,<sup>7</sup> then «the case stands in such a way that» even when one proceeds<sup>8</sup> to a very great extent, one's<sup>8</sup> work does not become «the least» cancelled; whereas when one proceeds «to one's work» undutifully, then «the case is such that» just from when one proceeds but to the beginning, one's work «becomes wholly» cancelled.

It would have been possible to take this combination as two words yâta + raêshâm; but the feminine form in raêshâm does not appear possible owing to the fact that raêsha, the only known form that can be produced to show relationship to it, invariably appears in the masculine gender. Yâta on the other hand could stand as the nominative singular of the feminine base yâtâ = strength.

<sup>2</sup> Ablative of the neuter vanghangh = lustre.

<sup>5</sup> The special function of the priest holding this title distinctly, was simply to mix and dispense the Haoma drink and the milk according to the prescribed ritual. At present however he is the only priest who helps the Leading Priest in every function.

<sup>7</sup> I.e., having rendered oneself fit in every way. If therefore at the time of commencing a holy function, one have not remedied an error committed before, then one must be disqualified for that function; and until one remedies that, one cannot perform any holy function. If notwithstanding, one were to perform it, it would be cancelled from the very commencement.

<sup>8</sup> 𐎧𐎠𐎧𐎡𐎢𐎣 is wrong for 𐎧𐎠𐎧𐎡𐎢𐎣; see below.

CHAPTER XXVI: APPENDIX D

ON GATHERING AND TYING UP THE BARSÔM, IN THE HOLY SERVICE

1. When, in the function<sup>1</sup> of the Holy Thanksgiving Service,<sup>1</sup> one has to gather the sacred Barsôm twigs, one should proceed to<sup>2</sup> the precincts<sup>2</sup> of the tree,<sup>3</sup> and should faultlessly<sup>4</sup> recite the « following » texts of Holy Wisdom :—

Ashem Vohû 3<sup>5</sup> « the Praise of Righteousness 3 times » ;

Fravarânê <sup>5</sup> ..... ‘ I confess myself ..... ’ ; « the glorification of » what period of the day one may have, and the holy text .....
Ūruvarayâo Vanghuyâo Mazdadhâtayâo ashaonyâo <sup>5</sup> ..... ‘ ..... of the Good Tree created by the Most Wise One, « and » belonging to the Holy Order.’

2. « While reciting this » one should gaze on steadily<sup>6</sup> at 154 B the tree.

3. « Then » one should return « from it », and take the special formula<sup>7</sup> « for the function » from the Leading Priest ; « and then » one should recite in that place « before the tree » :—

Nemô ūruvairê! ..... <sup>8</sup>, ‘ Grateful homage « unto thee » O tree !
....., ’ and thereon one should gather the sacred Barsôm.

<sup>2</sup> ġ <sup>11</sup> seems to be for ġ <sup>11</sup> where ġ (var) = precincts. It might have been for ġ <sup>11</sup> (avô ol) where ġ would be redundant, but see Fol. 174, l. 6.

<sup>6</sup> Pann aêvakartakîh.

The same instruction as here, is given for modern practice.

The twigs are cut at the end of this text ; and for each twig that is cut one Ashem Vohû is recited. See below, Fol. 174, l. 19, ff.

4. When in « the function of » the Holy Thanksgiving Service, one ties up the Barsôm that is gathered,<sup>1</sup> « one should recite thus »<sup>2</sup>:—

Ashem Vohû 3<sup>3</sup> « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times » ;

Fravarânê Mazdayasnô ... ..<sup>3</sup> 'I confess myself the worshipper of the Most Wise One ... ..';

« Then one must glorify » what period of the day one may have and recite onwards Ahurahê<sup>4</sup> Mazdâô Raêvatô Khvarranguhâtô<sup>4</sup> khshnaothra ... .. up to frasastayaêcha.<sup>5</sup> 'With the realisation of the Holy Concord ... ..' u p t o 'and submission to the Holy Sway of the Most Wise Lord, the Brilliant and the Glorious One.'

5. « And thereat » one must take the special formula<sup>6</sup> « for the function » from the Leading Priest, and « on finishing the whole »<sup>6</sup> must stand again to the duty of the Helping Priest in « the function of » the Holy Text.<sup>7</sup>

6. One must recite for every Barsôm<sup>8</sup> twig « that is gathered » one Ashem Vohû « the Praise of Righteousness » and one Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô « the Glorification of the Lord's Holy Pleasure ».<sup>9</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Chînit.

<sup>4</sup> While reciting these words, the band is passed three times round the Barsôm for tying it.

<sup>6</sup> The whole is given here very briefly ; for, the actual act of tying up is not described. That however follows shortly after. When the above text is finished, 4 Ashem Vohûs are recited while washing the Barsôm in water. Then two knots are tied to the Band which is already passed round the bundle, and two Yathâ Ahû Vairiyôs are recited to accompany that act.

<sup>7</sup> Neither here nor just below is it quite clear whether the reference in this case is simply to the Preparatory Service itself or to a Helping Priest leaving the Main Service in its course for gathering and tying up the Barsôm. At present the Preparatory Service precedes the Main Service, which may favour the idea that simply the Preparatory Service might be meant here.

<sup>9</sup> At present one Ashem Vohû is recited for every twig that is gathered, but not one Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô also. Two Yathâ Ahû Vairiyôs, however, are recited on having collected all the twigs that are wanted ; and then some small texts follow and complete the function of gathering them.

8. In any case, when the Leading Priest chatters on, that surely must be illegal<sup>3</sup>; but it must also be illegal when the Helping Priest chatters on.

There is one who says « that the reference here is to one's speaking » ahead and behind « the others ».<sup>4</sup>

9. There is one who <sup>5</sup> says that when any one whatsoever chatters on, it must be illegal.<sup>6</sup>

CHAPTER XXVII

ON THE FUNCTIONS OF THE EIGHT OFFICIATING DIVINES

1. Chis<sup>1</sup> Zaotars kairim<sup>1</sup> anghat myazdôis<sup>2</sup> ayân<sup>3</sup>? What shall be the function of the Leading Priest on the days of

<sup>2</sup> The helping priest who might go out to gather the Barsôm twigs, cannot rejoin the Service in hand unceremoniously. He must recite special prayers for doing so. See again note 7 on last page.

<sup>3</sup> For 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 TD has the correct text 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀.

The divines must recite the text not only with the deepest concentration, but also the most correctly, distinctly, musically, sonorously, and above all harmoniously.

<sup>4</sup> This meaning can only indirectly be applied to drâyêt; and the critic here perhaps had some authority to base his remark on?

<sup>7</sup> Cf. 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀 of Vend. XVIII, 36, etc., from which it appears that 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀 in such cases has an indefinite gender.

Kairim is evidently the nominative singular of the neuter base 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀; cf. 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀, Vend. XIV, 11, etc.

<sup>8</sup> This is apparently the genitive singular of a strange form myazdi.

HJ has 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀; TD has 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀.

<sup>9</sup> 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀 is evidently a corruption of 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 which is the accusative plural or genitive singular of 𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀.

shall keep clean, i.e., keep pure, three sides<sup>1</sup> of the sacred Fire, Zaôthraêcha vâchim paiti-âdhayât, and shall return response to the Leading Priest thus:—Athâ Ratus ..... ‘So the Spiritual Master .....’<sup>2</sup>

5. Âat Frabrirtars, yat Âthrascha aêvûm thrakhtîm yaozhdathat, Whereas «the function» of the Frabôrtâr, «the priest who presents things at the offerings, is» that he shall keep clean, i.e., keep pure, one side of the sacred Fire, barrsmûncha frâkem,<sup>3</sup> 156 A Âthraêcha yasno-krrtaêibyô paiti-barât, and shall bear at the sections<sup>4</sup> of the Text of Worship<sup>4</sup> the twig that is to lie prostrate,<sup>3</sup> towards the sacred Barsôm twigs, and the portion of the ham<sup>5</sup> to the sacred Fire.<sup>6</sup>

6. Âat Âsnatars, yat haomemcha â-snayât, haomemcha pairi-harrzât. Whereas «the function» of the Âsnatâr, «the priest who washes, is» that he shall wash the Haoma, and he shall strain the Haoma with the Hâvanân priest<sup>7</sup> «on reciting the text» Vispâoscha Âthrô<sup>8</sup> ..... ‘..... and all ..... of Holy Fire.’

7. Âat Raêthwiskarahê, yat haomemcha gava raêthwayât, bakhshayât-cha. Whereas the function of the Ratwiskar, «the priest who prepares the mixture, is» that he shall mix the

<sup>2</sup> At such places as Visp. III, 6, where he makes response to the formula Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô yô Âtarrvakhshô ..... etc.

<sup>3</sup> Frâkhôgâm in Pahlavi, and later Frâgâm which signifies the twig which is laid prostrate at the feet of the Barsôm stand.

<sup>4</sup> Yazbahûnesn kartârîh. The reference seems to be to the chapters of the Yasna Haptanghâiti; see Fol. 133, ll. 12-17 along with Fol. 159, ll. 5-7 where it is said to be the special function of the Frabôrtâr to recite the Yasna Haptanghâiti. It must be recalled that Fol. 144, l. 1, ff. indicate this expression to signify the Yêinghê Hâtûm sections, but they are too many to suit the context here; see the note in that place. <sup>5</sup> Âstôwat.

<sup>6</sup> We must recall here Fol. 133, l. 13, ff. where also occur the sacred Fire, the portion of the ham, the Frabôrtâr, and the sections of the Text of Worship.

<sup>8</sup> These words cannot be discovered among the texts preserved to us.

156 B      8. There is one who says thus that he shall dispense mixed liquid food and the Hallowed Portion «of the Haoma».

10. Âpem Âbrrrs â-barât. The Âberet, «the priest who has to bear water», shall bear water.<sup>4</sup>

11. Sraoshâvarrzô aiwyâkhshayât. The Sraôshâvarz, « the priest who has to superintend », shall superintend ; i.e., any who might allow<sup>5</sup> defect<sup>5</sup> in the Holy Thanksgiving Service shall<sup>6</sup> confess that to him and shall implore him to be prescribed<sup>6</sup> the retribution « therefor ».

It is however possible that " " may simply be hanâ yôm = "on that day," —viz., the day of worship, and hence gosht alone may be rendering gava.

<sup>2</sup> Or perhaps simply "—the drink of the Hallowed Portion—," but the notes which follow indicate that more things than one were to be dispensed.

The reference must evidently be to the Drôn cake.

<sup>4</sup> The word ሥራዊ is probably an erroneous addition here, or it must be a part of the following expression, reading Srôshih and meaning "(pertaining to) the Spirit of the Moral Order."

<sup>5</sup> Farûtmândakih vabidûnêt; cf. Pr. فرومانده = defective.

<sup>6</sup> Ash ..... garzêt. Cf. the Patêt of the Rôvân.

CHAPTER XXVIII

ON THE RIGHT PLACES OF THE EIGHT OFFICIATING DIVINES

1. Zaotars ddityô gâtus The proper place of the Leading Priest madhemya nmânahê madhemât arâthraot <sup>1</sup> apa-sritô,<sup>2</sup> « shall be » in the middle of the house, in the middle, viz., of the largest « part »<sup>3</sup> in the interior « of the house, and » located<sup>4</sup> at the back of<sup>4</sup> the middle of the place 'of dedication' for the Leading Priest, « in order that he may be » stvi-ukhtis.<sup>5</sup> 'effectively heard.'

2. Hâvanânô ddityô-gâtus The proper place of the Hâvanân dashinem upa thrakhtîm<sup>6</sup>, fratarûm<sup>7</sup> barrsmân, aparûm Âthrô. « shall 157 A be » towards the right side « of the sacred Fire », <sup>8</sup> further

The word is evidently the ablative singular of a strange form arâthrû or ârâthru which may be traced to â-râ = to dedicate, or to ar = to venerate. It is translated Zôt-dân and appears to signify the seat of dedication for the Leading Priest; and Darmesteter thinks that that might be the Âlâtgâh, the table on which the utensils of the Service are placed.

<sup>8</sup> When the side is said to be "right," it is evidently meant to be that which is on the right of the Zaoti; and indeed that should be the proper place for the Hâvanân.

Darmesteter thinks that according to the disposition in our text the two lines of the divines on the right and on the left are quite the reverse of the disposition as is accepted at the present day, that hence the Hâvanân could not be on the right side of the Zaoti, and that the positions must be understood to have been determined not according to the place of the Zaoti but according to that of the arâthru or âlâtgâh.

from<sup>1</sup> the sacred Barsôm twigs, «and» nearer<sup>2</sup> to the sacred Fire.

3. Haoyât hê<sup>3</sup> naêmât Âsnatars. On the left side<sup>4</sup> shall be «the place» of the Âsnatâr.

4. Âtarrvakhshahê dâityô gâtus The proper<sup>5</sup> place of the Âtarrvakhsh dashinem upa thrakhtîm, fratarûm Âthrô. «shall be» towards the right side «of the sacred Fire, but» on the further side of the sacred Fire.<sup>6</sup>

5. Frabrîrtars dâityô gâtus The proper place of the Frabörtâr haoyûm upa thrakhtîm, fratarûm barrsmûn. «shall be» towards the left side «of the sacred Fire, and» further from the sacred Barsôm twigs,<sup>7</sup> «but» on the nearest side of the sacred Fire.<sup>8</sup>

But how could the positions be different according to the place of the arâthru from what they would be according to the place of the Zaoiti? And indeed we can see no great difference between the dispositions according to our text, and those which Darmesteter understands to be accepted in modern view. On consulting plate VI in Vol. I of his French translations of the Avesta, it will be seen that the Hâvanân is on the right of the Zaoiti, but nearer to him than the Âsnatâr; whereas according to our text the Âsnatâr should be nearer to the Zaoiti. The places of the Atarrvakhsh and the Raêthwîshkar are the same in both the cases. In the plate, the Frabörtâr is placed almost on the exact left of the Zaoiti; according to our text also he is on the left of the Zaoiti but in a situation between the sacred Fire and the Raêthwîshkar. The positions of the Âberet and the Sraôshâvarz are not fixed by our text; but they are marked in the plate as if fixed.

𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬭𐬀 is evidently a corruption of 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀.

<sup>4</sup> As all the divines have to face the Fire and the holy ceremonial, this situation would be on the side which is nearer the Zaoiti. <sup>5</sup> Dâitîhâ as in TD.

<sup>6</sup> This is the proper position for him because he has to face the Zaoiti and to tend the sacred Fire with the right hand. 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀 is evidently wrong for 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀.

<sup>8</sup> It will be recollected that it is stated above among the duties of the Frabörtâr that he has to keep clean one side of the sacred Fire; hence, it is evident that his position could not be away from the sacred Fire. It is here fixed to be by its nearer corner on the left side, which is just the position from which he could use his right hand for cleaning the nearer side of the sacred Fire.

6. Dashinât hê<sup>1</sup> naêmât Raéthwiskarahê. On his right hand 157 B side shall be « the place » of the Ratwîshkar.<sup>2</sup>

CHAPTER XXIX

ON THE HOLY LICENSE

1. Yêzicha aêta Ratavô anahakhta paragayanti,<sup>8</sup> And when those 'Spiritual Masters'<sup>9</sup> proceed «to a Holy Function»

<sup>3</sup> Thus HJ; TD has — errzvô. Both forms may yield the apt meaning, and may be traced to Av. 𐬥𐬀𐬭𐬀 = "to be true, fixed," and to 𐬥𐬀𐬭𐬀 which also bears a similar meaning.

<sup>4</sup> The text has aêta Âbrrrta which would be in the instrumental case, but the case of similarly used terms in the texts above and the word immediately following, would require it to be genitive here also.

<sup>6</sup> An-awar dravad gâs; cf. Av. 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 = firm. The word might be read garang and related to Pr. 𐬕𐬀𐬭𐬀 = appointed place of meeting.

<sup>7</sup> According to the modern idea as represented by Plate VI in Vol. I of Darmesteter's French translations, the Âberet is assigned a fixed place just alongside the Âtarvakhsh, but on the side facing the left of the Zaotî, whereas the Sraôshâvarz is given the furthest place just opposite the Zaotî, with the sacred Fire between them.

<sup>8</sup> Cf. words in the commencement of the Aêrpatastân.

The slight errors in the text here have all been corrected.

<sup>9</sup> The term 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 translating 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 has fallen out from the Pahlavi through some mistake.

It is made plain from what follows that this term signifies only the priests who assist the Zaotî, for he is kept distinct. Still it must be supposed that though at the function where the Zaotî presides he is kept distinct from the other divines, he himself must have the qualification to act as any one of them at another function.

without<sup>1</sup> the holy license,<sup>1</sup> i.e., without<sup>2</sup> authorisation<sup>3</sup> « from higher masters », Zaota vîspê ratuthwâis raêthwayêiti<sup>3</sup>; then for all, i.e., all « engaged » in the function of<sup>4</sup> straining,<sup>4</sup> shall the Leading Priest get « the things » properly mixed « by himself alone »; aêvadha Âsnathrat Hâvanânê raêthwayêiti. « indeed » solely by himself shall he mix well<sup>5</sup> « the things » without the Âsnatâr and the Hâvanân priests<sup>6</sup> even though they are on the spot.

<sup>1</sup> An-âfrâs. It is not quite plain whether the reference is to some general license granted on the priest's qualification for the holy office, or to a special permission to go to a particular function; still probably this latter only is meant. It is here understood that the Zaoti is supposed to have come with the holy license.

<sup>3</sup> The text has 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬵𐬀<sup>3</sup> but the Pahlavi renders 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬵𐬀. If however the text be representing the correct root, the word may be 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬵𐬀<sup>3</sup> = shall strain; cf. Pr. 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬵𐬀 = to pour out; the Pahlavi rendering gûmizêt may then also be made to yield a similar sense from Av. 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬵𐬀 = to sprinkle.

<sup>5</sup> Vêh.

<sup>6</sup> When they come with the holy license then alone can they pound and strain the Haoma.

<sup>8</sup> The root 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬵𐬀<sup>8</sup> here represented may be related to 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬵𐬀<sup>8</sup> = to renounce.

<sup>12</sup> 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬵𐬀 is evidently wrong for 𐬰𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬵𐬀 (dânâktar).

CHAPTER XXX

ON THE ZAOTAR MANAGING THE HOLY WORSHIP, BY HIMSELF

1. Yat aêvô Zaota frâ-yazâtîtê<sup>1</sup> myazdahê ayûn,<sup>2</sup> Zaotars gâtava<sup>3</sup>, When the Leading Priest prays<sup>4</sup> aloud by<sup>5</sup> himself<sup>6</sup> on the days of the meat offering, «i.e.», on the Season Festivals, «then» in the «special» place of the Leading Priest, aêtaya<sup>7</sup> myazdê aiwi-vaêidhayêiti rathwaêcha<sup>7</sup> myazdaêcha<sup>8</sup> rathwaêcha<sup>8</sup>, shall he loudly make known<sup>9</sup> the spiritual words of Holy Meditation at 158 B 'the right time'<sup>10</sup> of that meat offering, i.e., at the ideal<sup>11</sup> Season Festival, 'as the meat offering for the right time'<sup>12</sup>, «i.e.», for the ideal<sup>11</sup> Season Festival,<sup>13</sup> «viz.» «vîspaydo-sûchatcha ashaonô stôis yasndîcha valmdîcha khshnaothrâîcha fra-sastayaêcha»<sup>14</sup> "for the worship, and the adoration, and the Holy Concord and the <sup>1</sup> The text gives the Parasmaipada which is wrong in this case.

<sup>6</sup> This seems to be the locative form here, though of course we have 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥 as the usual form in that case.

Darmesteter renders, "He shall announce the Myazdas to the Ratu and to the master of the Myazda."

<sup>9</sup> 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 should be 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥.

<sup>13</sup> Darmesteter observes, "He announces the feast to the Ratu of the Gâhânbar, that is to say, to the Genius of the Gâhânbar whom one invites to the feast, and to the Genius of the feast itself." But that would be quite a spiritualisation.

<sup>14</sup> See Visp. IV, 2; and Visp. IX, 7. This evidently constitutes the special announcement.

2. He<sup>2</sup> shall make known that<sup>2</sup>; «but» behold if he have «instead» said «the text» Ahurdi Mazddi<sup>3</sup> ..... ‘Unto the Most Wise Lord .....’ all his work «would become» detrimental.<sup>4</sup>

159 Λ

<sup>10</sup> Taking Kartîn aê yazbahûnêt as the right text. See the expression Artô Kirtin at Fols. 79, l. 2, and 173, l. 12 and the Av. 𐎠𐎼𐎫𐎲𐎠𐎹𐎡𐎹 there and in Viss. I, 2, and II, 2.

4. Âtarvakhshahê gâtava âtareṃ airvi-vakhshôit. In the place of the Âtarvakhsh priest shall he kindle up the sacred Fire.

5. Frabrrrtars gâtûm Yasnem Haptanghâtîm frâ-yazdîtê.<sup>1</sup> At the place of the Frabortâr priest shall he celebrate the Yasn-ê-Hapt Hât, «the Holy Text of the Seven Chapters».<sup>2</sup>

6. Surely indeed, he<sup>3</sup> is to recite the entire text of Holy Wisdom up to the 3<sup>4</sup> recitals of Ashem Vohû «the Praise of Righteousness»; but excepting the Holy Text of the Seven Chapters,<sup>5</sup> he is to recite that whole in the capacity of the Leading Priest; whereas only when «he recites» that other<sup>6</sup> in the capacity of the Frabortâr priest, can that be proper.<sup>7</sup>

7. He should recite the text of the Holy Wisdom<sup>8</sup> in front of the sacred Barsôm twigs.

8. «In every case» he should proceed forward «to do the special work of another functionary», and should manage well the work

As the Zaoti has no assistants he has evidently to proceed to the special place of the Hâvanân, the Âtarvakhsh, and the Frabôrtâr to attend their special functions. The other functionaries appear to have been neglected in this case.

<sup>3</sup> The Zaoti evidently, who in this case attends the functions of all the other divines.

<sup>4</sup> The text has 𐬨𐬨 which may be deciphered to mean 6, but as the reference must be to the end of the Yasna and as only 3 Ashem Vohûs are to be recited there, the writing in this case is either an erroneous repetition of 𐬨 or may be read aê 3. It must however be remembered that one by one nine Ashem Vohûs are appended to the small texts at the end of the Yasna.

It must be noted that of the rest, two small texts, viz., Yas. VIII, 2 and Yas. LIX, 30, and the expressions Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô Yô etc., appertain to the Râthwi alone. As to Yas. VIII, 2 see also above, Nir. II, XXVI, 7, 9.

<sup>7</sup> Reading aê shâyêt, in conformity with the sense apparently suggested by the context. If however the negative be kept here, the translation should be, "because, if he were to recite that (whole) in the capacity of the Frabôrtâr priest, it would not be proper."

<sup>8</sup> This appears to refer to all the texts which he may recite.

«thus to be attended specially; but after doing that» he should 159 B return «to his own special place», should place his hand on the sacred Barsôm twigs, and verily should manage «onwards his main function».<sup>1</sup>

9. Behold it is<sup>2</sup> made manifest<sup>2</sup> that if he were to place his hand before the knot<sup>3</sup> of the Barsôm, that would not be right.

CHAPTER XXXI

ON THE APPOINTMENT OF THE ASSISTING DIVINES, AND THEIR SPHERES OF ACTION

1A, Yascha aêtaêshûm rathwûm paôiryô paiti â-jasât, Hâvandnem aêtem â-stayêiti,— And whoever of those Spiritual Masters<sup>4</sup> might arrive<sup>5</sup> 'first,'<sup>5</sup> him shall he appoint<sup>6</sup> as the Hâvanân,—

2. Behold, it is manifested indeed that when one is «qualified» to say «the Holy Texts» in an office where all of them have to <sup>1</sup> I.e., the function appertaining to the office of the Zaoî himself.

It would be an awkward manipulation to place the hand before the knot; it should be placed on the knot itself or below that to grasp the firm stalks.

<sup>4</sup> Evidently, all the Râthwis only, i.e., all the holy functionaries except the Zaoî.

<sup>6</sup> Yakavîmûnd seems to be a plural, but may be a passive, meaning, "he shall be made to stand for."

It appears that the injunctions appertain to the case when all the seven assistant priests actually have to attend the Service; and it is enjoined that according to the priority of their appearance the Zaoî has to appoint them to the several offices. It will be seen that the order of the priests is just the same as is given in Visp. III, 1, and in Uzîrin Gah, 5.

Darmesteter however believes that it is only the Râspi who here assumes successively the different offices; but he does not appear to have any substantial support when he says so. Why could not distinct functionaries have occupied distinct posts at the holy function, when the posts were really and originally meant for distinct functionaries? In emergencies and in smaller services only, one functionary or two might be made to do for all, but not therefore in every case. And here is a clear sense of a distinct priest occupying a distinct post.

celebrate the Thanksgiving, « then such a one is equally » qualified for every of the functions.<sup>1</sup>

3. Adhât anyaêshâm rathwûm pâti adhôt, And then, one<sup>5</sup> may respond among others spiritual masters<sup>6</sup> in<sup>7</sup> the post of a special spiritual master<sup>7</sup>, aêtaêshâm<sup>8</sup> ratavô azddi<sup>9</sup> « if » from among those<sup>8</sup> the spiritual masters are to proceed to the « Holy » function thri-gûim<sup>10</sup> antarr; an-antarr atha antarr<sup>11</sup>-patatha.<sup>12</sup> just within, « viz. », in<sup>13</sup> the inner space,<sup>13</sup> at the distance of but 3 paces; « but if that were to be » without, viz., outside the <sup>1</sup> The meaning is that these priests are so perfectly qualified that in being qualified for any one post they are also qualified for every other. In other words no such priest is qualified for any one post only; for, to be qualified as a holy functionary he must know to fill every and any post at the holy function. Hence one of them may once act as IIâvanân, another time as Âtarrvakhsh, another time as Frabôrtâr, and so on. Still it must be remembered that, actually, the several posts implied grades of offices.

<sup>2</sup> Accusative of Dânazvâza or Dânazvaz which must be analysed into dânangh + vâza or vaz; and dânangh seems to be an equivalent of dânu = stream or water, and vâza or vaz = gatherer or carrier. The word is undoubtedly another term for Âbrirt.

<sup>5</sup> One of the helping priests appointed as above at some certain function.

<sup>6</sup> I.e., those engaged in another and quite a distinct function.

inner space for<sup>1</sup> one to be engaged in it,<sup>1</sup> then let not one go into it, i.e., let not one be engaged therein.

160 B 4. Yat antarr vâ âyat,<sup>2</sup> antarr<sup>3</sup> vâ paiti,<sup>4</sup> thri vâ paiti âzditi, ayarr-drâjô vâ vâstryât. if one were either to proceed within «from outside the inner space»,<sup>5</sup> or to proceed without from within «to be engaged in the other function outside », then one should either redeem «the transgression» with 3 blows<sup>6</sup> «of Srôshôcharanâm, the weapon of the Spirit of the Moral Order », or should toil<sup>7</sup> the length of a day « in order that » the Thanksgiving « may be » valid « thereon ».<sup>8</sup>

5. Behold, on « assuming » the office of the Helping Divine, one must say these<sup>9</sup> texts of Holy Worship, viz.:—

Yadhôit gâem<sup>10</sup> ..... ‘Where indeed ..... life .....’; — « and » that « is » the Holy Text « to be recited » for one’s own self « first ».<sup>11</sup>

Yavat errdva<sup>10</sup> ..... ‘As much as lofty .....’; —and that is « the text to be recited on proceeding to » the holy functions in the Thanksgiving Service.

6. « All the time » from the commencement of the thanksgiving up to the conclusion of the thanksgiving, it is not lawful for the Leading

<sup>2</sup> The text has âat, but the form of the sentence as well as the Pahlavi suggest a verb in this place; and âyat is the best form that conforms to the Avestan as well as the Pahlavi.

<sup>3</sup> Here antarr could not be a verbal prefix as above, for it has no negative force as there; it is therefore simply an adverb of place.

<sup>4</sup> This seems to be the third person singular of the present tense of pat = to rush out from.

<sup>5</sup> This case is not mentioned above; but the alternative vâ and the text as we have restored it, suggest it.

<sup>7</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 is wrong for 𐬨𐬀𐬯𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌.

<sup>8</sup> See Fol. 141, ll. 14-16, or Nîr. II, Chap. XXIV, 2, etc.

<sup>9</sup> Namely, the following. It is not quite plain, but presumably the Helping Divines have to recite them when attending the other function mentioned above.

<sup>10</sup> The texts to which these belonged are not yet discovered.

Priest to move further than 3 steps « from his appointed place, even as the text testifies » Thri-gâm aiwyâstât<sup>1</sup> hacha Barrsma parditi.<sup>2</sup> 'He may proceed to the sacred Barsôm 3 paces from his appointed place of sitting.' « This statement is to be found in » the text of Worship with « the expression » Varstas-chit<sup>3</sup> ... .. 'And any the properly dressed ... ..'.

7. There is one who says that it is just on having to raise up the sacred Datûsh<sup>4</sup> « twig dedicated to the Giver, that there are necessitated » the 3 paces which « he has to proceed » forwards in the Dah-Hômâst<sup>5</sup> « the Tenfold Service of all the Worshipful Ones ».

8. « The text » Vangharstascha<sup>6</sup> ... .. 'And the barely dressed ... ..' is not differing « on this point ; though » there is one who says « that the text » Vangharstaschit ... .. 'And any 161 A the barely dressed... ..' is differing « hereon ».

<sup>1</sup> Ablative singular of aiwyâsta which may be traced to aiwi-âongh = to sit up steadily.

The word occurs also at the close of the preserved text of the Nirangastân at Fol. 193, l. 21. The passage there seems to have belonged to a text which described what was to be incumbent in every possible case as regards the performance of sacred services.

<sup>5</sup> If the text be not erroneous at the end of Fol. 162, it must appear from there that the entire book here, appertains to the Dah-Hômâst, although it is not clear how that is so specially.

The only way of explaining the term seems to be to trace it to vangh = to have clothings on, and harrz = to take off, though indeed such juxtaposition of roots is unusual.

The texts referred to here are not still discovered.

<sup>2</sup> This word evidently represents some root ñruvâkh or ñruvâh, which appears again to have the modified form ñrukh or ñruh signifying "to incite," "to heat."

Here, once again, the Pahlavi comes to our help when appearances might be so deceptive. Though the term which renders this word into Pahlavi has dropped out from this place just here, it is preserved below to be 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭩 (rânôkîh). This at once recalls the 𐭠𐭣𐭥 of the Pahlavi renderings of Yas. XLIV, 20, and Yas. LI, 12. In those two places it translates 𐬵𐬁𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬚𐬯𐬔𐬊𐬨 and 𐬶𐬏𐬕𐬰𐬙𐬱 respectively; and this result of Pahlavi scholarship may be supported on the ground that these Avestan terms represent the roots 𐬑𐬫-𐬢𐬽 and 𐬢𐬽 respectively.

Again, the glosses there explain אֲנִי as signifying אֲנִי אֲנִי and אֲנִי.

The only other Avestan term in which the root here represented reappears, seems to be the  $\text{𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬭𐬀}$  of Yt. XIX, 69, where it evidently signifies "heat."

Darmesteter renders the word "pleasure," because he suspects the root śruvâkshb, and hesitatingly suggests fraśruvâkshsti (= joy), as probably the correct form.

The word is corruptly written here as  and as  below.

<sup>4</sup> The sense seems to be that when one is goaded and helped on to a success by a sinful excitement of the spirit, the success must be full of woe, not only for him who is won, but also for him who wins, inasmuch as it has made the latter sinful. For, evidently under the influence of such excitement, one must employ wicked means to gain the end, besides one's having suffered a degradation in spirit through such excitement.

3. Âvôya druzhaiti<sup>4</sup> Spitama Zarathustra! yô fra-üruvâkhti havahê ürunô druzhaitê.<sup>5</sup> He tells falsehood wofully O Spitama Zarathushtra! who has it told by the wanton excitement of his own spirit<sup>6</sup>; inasmuch as by having uttered « that » he will have become grievously sinful.

5. Āvōya dāthrem<sup>8</sup> dadhāiti Spitama Zarathustra! yēinghē
 162 A dāthrahē dāiti,<sup>9</sup> noit<sup>10</sup> hava ūruva ūrūrvāza.<sup>11</sup> He gives a gift wofully O Spitama Zarathushtra! by the giving of whose gift his own soul will not have<sup>12</sup> received satisfaction.<sup>12</sup>

7 The preaching of truth must be the ideal of the priest; hence he must be the most watchful against the erroneous incitements of the spirit; for, these will lead him most readily into teaching wrong, the results of which must certainly be very baneful.

<sup>8</sup> The text erroneously has dârem. <sup>9</sup> Instrumental.

<sup>11</sup> Reduplicated Perfect, Parasmaipada, third person singular of ǫruvâz. The text has vâo râza which is certainly erroneous. The Pahlavi suggests some form of ǫruvâz; and the one that we have restored seems to be the only possible one as can even the most faintly be reconciled with the corrupt form in the text. Darmesteter hesitatingly suggests urvâza.

<sup>12</sup> *Aûrvâkhninî*t as in TD. Indiscreet giving can bring no satisfaction to the giver and indeed may prove a curse to the recipient by creating in him idleness and craving, and thus may also incur a loss to the world by missing a chance of supplying some real want. Whereas the case of one who gives with wrong motives is too evident to be discussed.

6. «Such indeed» is every person who calls «himself» a «peasant»,<sup>1</sup> and yet will be giving in the imprudent<sup>2</sup> way.

7. Dâthra<sup>3</sup> zî paiti nivâitis<sup>4</sup> vîspahê anghêus astvatô Humataêshucha Huukhtaêshucha Huvarrstaêshucha. Through Charity «shall be realised» indeed the passing<sup>5</sup> of the whole corporeal world into Good Thought, into Good Word, and into Good Deed, even as the soul is to be passed from hell and to be delivered as good.—There is one who says: Even into the other virtues<sup>6</sup> «shall that be realised» inasmuch as<sup>6</sup> the «whole» individuality<sup>7</sup> is to be delivered «from sin».<sup>8</sup>

Hallowed Portions that is the most sublime in<sup>10</sup> itself,<sup>10</sup> the best<sup>11</sup> to be wished for, and the most<sup>12</sup> graceful<sup>12</sup> to view<sup>13</sup> yâ nairê<sup>14</sup> ashaonê dasti aiwi-cha haithya<sup>15</sup> chashânâi-cha,<sup>15</sup> which is given<sup>16</sup> to the righteous man and to the student<sup>17</sup> «of Truth»<sup>18</sup>

<sup>5</sup> Barâ vazâreshnuh by which the translator here must have intended to convey the same sense as the translator of Yas. X, 16, where also that translator gives the same rendering as here, and where the sense of «passing» or «passing away» is apparent. And this must suggest that nivâiti may be traced to 𐬨𐬀𐬮𐬀𐬵𐬀 = to blow down.

<sup>8</sup> This critic overlooked the fact that all virtues whatsoever are embraced in the Good Thought, the Good Word, and the Good Deed, and so his remark becomes superfluous.

<sup>9</sup> The words 𐬨𐬀 𐬨𐬀 intrude here in the Pahlavi. <sup>10</sup> Pann tan.

—there is one who says, « to the » “instructor,” i. e., to him who commits « Truth » to heart and disseminates<sup>1</sup> it again,<sup>1</sup> paiticha pâresmandî Khratûm Ashavanem and to the investigator of Holy Wisdom, i. e., to him who knows the marvels<sup>2</sup> of the Holy Formulæ.<sup>3</sup>

CONCLUDING GLORIFICATION

Ashem Vohû Vahistem ‘asti.’ Righteousness is the Highest Good, that is to say, the harvest<sup>3</sup> of Virtue is excellent.

The end of the pre-eminent<sup>4</sup> Holy Book appertaining to the Dah-Hômâst<sup>5</sup> « the Tenfold Service of all the Worshipful Ones ».

<sup>3</sup> Anbâr.

The Ashem Vohû glorifies the close of the book.

The order of the words as they are here and just after, is such as to create in us the suspicion that some terms have fallen out from this place.

<sup>5</sup> It is not easy to see the relation of the Dah-Hômâst specially to this book. At most it might be said that the Book appertains to the Dah-Hômâst in so far as it treats of matters appertaining to the Greater Services : but then it must appertain to the other Greater Services also, such as the Dvâzdah-Hômâst or the Dô-Hômâst, or, even without such distinctions, any other Hô-mâst. Probably, therefore, the text is seriously erroneous here.

Himself, the Virtuous One.

CHAPTER I

ON THE ESSENTIAL NATURE OF GIRDING ON THE SACRED VESTURES

1. Aiweyāsta mazdayasna Gāthāo srāvayen,<sup>2</sup> nēit an-aiweyāsta.
The worshippers of the Most Wise shall sing the Holy Songs girded<sup>3</sup> in sacred vestures,<sup>3</sup> i. e., they shall then have put on the sacred shirt and the sacred girdle, and not without<sup>4</sup> sacred vestures.<sup>4</sup>

2. Kva ithra aiweyāonghayionti<sup>5</sup>? Where on the bodies of persons shall they gird<sup>6</sup> « them » on here, i. e., in the world<sup>7</sup>?
I. e., on what part shall they gird « them » on?

<sup>1</sup> Read Bāndak which translates the Avestan Āra.

See note 5 at the close of the previous book.

Darmesteter refers only to the sacred girdle in his translation here: but evidently the gloss in this place as well as the sense of the passage make it plain that, here at the least, the reference is both to the sacred girdle and the sacred shirt.

<sup>6</sup> Here undoubtedly there is quite a direct reference to the sacred girdle, though at the same time the sacred shirt is indirectly hinted at as that which is to be girded upon.

<sup>7</sup> Daheshn. Otherwise, the word might be for 𐬀𐬵𐬀𐬭𐬀 (gāsân); but that does not appear probable.

4. Chvat aiwydlonghaydonti<sup>3</sup>? How large at the most<sup>4</sup> shall y gird « them » on?

6. This is evident from the text of Holy Wisdom that if a sick person or a pregnant<sup>13</sup> woman were to attend any place « of worship », this should be improper according to this rule<sup>14</sup> even as it is manifested in the Holy Wisdom « that way ».

The reference seems to be to the fact that such persons would be unable to have the sacred vestures girded in the proper way prescribed here, or would be unable to perform the attendant ceremony with exactitude.

7.—In <sup>1</sup> other words,<sup>1</sup> one should have « the sacred vesture <sup>2</sup> about » 4 finger-breadths « loose round the body » according to « the text » Pairi zî ..... ‘ All round indeed ..... ’

8. If « the sacred vesture » hang down all <sup>3</sup> on one <sup>3</sup> side, that verily cannot be proper.

9. « Here the case of » the common <sup>4</sup> people <sup>4</sup> and of the philosophers <sup>5</sup> cannot be different « from that of the divines ».<sup>6</sup>

10. There is one « however » who says thus that « an irregularity here » may be allowed for the common people though it cannot be allowed for the philosophers.

11. The sacred <sup>7</sup> girdle <sup>7</sup> should be « made » from these several things: the wool <sup>8</sup> and the hair <sup>8</sup> of the woolly goat species and of the 164 A woolly camel species.<sup>9</sup>

12. Sôshâns said that that <sup>10</sup> made from cotton <sup>10</sup> is also allowed.

13. As regards raw <sup>11</sup> silk <sup>11</sup> and prepared <sup>12</sup> silk <sup>12</sup> « the sages » have been divided in opinion.

<sup>2</sup> The sacred shirt may also be intended, though it is not improbable that the reference may be solely to the sacred girdle. The Sh. Lâ-Sh. IV, § 2 states the looseness of the girdle to be 3 finger-breadths, and § 5 of the same states the looseness of the shirt to be 4 finger-breadths round the body.

Evidently, this looseness must not be of this extent u n i f o r m l y all around because that would be too much; it is apparently meant to be of that extent as measured at a n y o n e side only from all around the body.

See for a classification of this kind Dink, Bk, VIII, Chap, I, 5, and the learned note of Dr. West appended to it.

<sup>9</sup> One must read in this connection the whole of the 4th chapter of the Shâyast Lâ-Shâyast. The words of our passage here are almost entirely to be found in the first section of that text.

<sup>10</sup> Pumbakîn-ach.

The Sh. Lâ-Sh. does not speak on this material.

<sup>12</sup> Aprîshûm.

It must be noted that Shâyast Lâ-Shâyast, IV, 1 and 4 reject the girdle made from silk flue (parûn) or plain or figured silk (parand), and from brocade and painted silk.

14. It should be made tubular<sup>1</sup> and its looseness<sup>2</sup> round « the waist should be » at the least 4 finger-breadths<sup>3</sup> « to make it » good; and Afrog said « it should be » a single<sup>4</sup> continuous piece.<sup>4</sup>

15. Maîtiyôkmâh « maintained that » a person can have the meritoriousness « derivable from having the sacred girdle on in all its perfection », up to just the extent that « is noted in the text » Thri vîstasti aspayâo paurvô<sup>5</sup> azyâo arrjô 'Three spans'<sup>7</sup> « of it have » pre-eminently the value of the mare with<sup>8</sup> a free-moving air<sup>8</sup>; « because surely » it must not increase more than that.<sup>9</sup>

16. When it has been cut,<sup>10</sup> then if one sew it up with the same material that the girdle<sup>11</sup> is « made » of, that can be allowed.

<sup>1</sup> Daôkrît (?); cf. Pr. دور = circuit.

Otherwise, daôk-radak = double-warped (?); cf. Pr. دو and رد = line.

The Vitast is the span-measure of 9 inches. See Dr. West's note 3 to Bûnd, XXVI, 3.

<sup>6</sup> Adverb.

<sup>7</sup> Twenty-seven inches would be the measure of the girth of the sacred girdle as it would fit with proper looseness on the waist of the youngest Zoroastrian who would be a child of seven. And the reference apparently is to that limit of measure. Because, were this length simply proportionating itself with the value of a mare, and really indicating only a proportional part of the whole girdle, irrespective of any class of its wearers and in relation to the value of the whole proportionate with its entire actual length worn by different individuals, then a stout person must score greater merit than a lean, and a full-grown individual more than the tender young or the withered old, which should be quite absurd.

In Nir. II, Chap. II: App. B, 11 a cattle-head appears to be valued at 30 Stîrs; whereas in Nir. II, Chap. IV, 5 a precious beast of burden is assigned the Khôr value of sixty Stîrs. Now in those times when domestic animals were specially valued, a good young mare must have been prized even more than a horse; hence she must have fetched a value of no less than about a hundred Stîrs. Hence putting on the sacred girdle would become the good deed of some hundred Stîrs at that value.

<sup>10</sup> If the modern custom of working up the ends of the sacred girdle into proper tassels is original, then the reference must be to accidental cuts on the girdle and not to the cutting of the ends on completing its weaving.

<sup>11</sup> Ayîwyâghanîh,

17. When at the time one has girded it up it is exactly <sup>1</sup> 4 finger-breadths in looseness,<sup>2</sup> then « alone » can it be proper.

18. If «it be made » of cotton, then it must<sup>3</sup> consist<sup>3</sup> « as » uniform<sup>4</sup> from<sup>5</sup> one end to the other.<sup>6</sup>

19. Sôshâns said: Behold, if one would make<sup>6</sup> the girdle hold<sup>6</sup> 164 B some<sup>7</sup> sort of poniard<sup>7</sup> in it and would hang it in a double knot<sup>8</sup> therein, that could not be proper.

20. This invariably<sup>9</sup> « applies » to all persons: namely, to him who may have had performed a Thanksgiving Service for himself « and may be attending » at the thanksgiving, and to him<sup>10</sup> who may have had performed a Thanksgiving Service for himself<sup>10</sup> « and may » not « be attending » at the thanksgiving or to him who may not have had performed a Thanksgiving Service and « may be attending at » a thanksgiving or may not be « attending » at a thanksgiving<sup>11</sup>—in<sup>12</sup> all cases<sup>12</sup> when a person holds a weapon<sup>13</sup> in the girdle and hangs it in a double knot, that must be improper.

21. There is one who says thus: Verily, it should be plain<sup>14</sup> and in<sup>15</sup> one uniform piece.<sup>15</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Bâin yakavimânêt.    <sup>4</sup> Âc-tâk.

<sup>7</sup> Tikhak-ak ac gûnâk; cf. Pr. تیغ.

The first word has the diminutive suffix.

<sup>8</sup> I. e., the knot formed in and by the sacred girdle itself. It is prohibited to put the sacred vesture to common uses. See Dink, Bk. VIII, Ch. XXXVIII, 26.

<sup>11</sup> All this amounts to saying, "in every possible case." These particulars are stated to dispel the possible idea that might arise that the previous remark could apply only to a person concerned with some sacred Service and not to one pursuing the ordinary avocations of life. And hence it is made plain that whether a person have a Service celebrated or not, and whether a person attend a Yazeshn or do not attend,—in every case it is unbecoming to hang a weapon by the sacred girdle.

<sup>14</sup> Sâtak as in TD; Pr. ساده. Cf. Shâyast Lâ-Shâyast IV, 4 and 11 where also plainness is enjoined

23. To go barely dressed<sup>3</sup> is not a sin for males, but it is a sin for females; and that is the sin of moving<sup>4</sup> about without proper clothing.<sup>4</sup> « But » that is not « so » at night when these retire to sleep, as that is so much a different « case »; still even then they should have the sacred<sup>5</sup> shirt on and the sacred girdle<sup>5</sup> on the waist,

CHAPTER II

2. Yatha ā-thravanô<sup>9</sup> bis, paiti<sup>10</sup> maidhyôî<sup>11</sup> paitistânê.<sup>11</sup> As

4. Yat masyô<sup>9</sup> aêtahmât vastrem, When the vesture is superior to that « in value », <sup>10</sup>aêtavatô<sup>11</sup> aêtahê nitema<sup>12</sup> aiwyâstô, 165 B ratufris. then one « dressed therein » is in the same spiritual merit as one dressed in<sup>13</sup> that of the smallest « lawful value and measure »; because « were that which is » in the superior value and measure not « to be taken » at this estimation, that should certainly be unfair.<sup>14</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Darmesteter renders, "a pair of drawers." But the scantiest lawful dress could not exclude the sacred shirt and girdle; and as these are recognised as protections for our body and soul, our meaning appears more probable, and the Pahlavi pâswânak also stands to support us.

<sup>4</sup> Probably the instrumental; the Pahlavi is kutak, and the Persian is کوت. Darmesteter suggests that this may be another form of kutaka which is found in Vend. XIV, 5.

<sup>8</sup> When one has the means to put on fully decent clothes, one should not put on merely those of the last degree permitted simply to men of the smallest means.

<sup>12</sup> Most probably the کوت of the text is to be corrected thus; because the meaning which this word may yield cannot be quite appropriate here, as it must bear some sense derivable from کوت = to show contempt.

<sup>13</sup> It must be noted that the form of the original is in the instrumental case.

<sup>14</sup> According to the idea expressed at the end of the previous paragraph, the question of decency would make a person accountable if he would not put on vestures more fully decent than the poorest lawfully permitted. And still, evidently, the spiritual merit of having put on proper clothing must not differ in the case of the man of the smallest means with his poorest lawful garb, and of the man most luxuriously clothed besides having put on the essential lawful vestures.

5. The sacred shirt can lawfully be made of any material. That<sup>1</sup> made from vegetable materials<sup>1</sup> is just the proper thing according to what is manifested from the Holy Wisdom. « But » about raw<sup>2</sup> silk and prepared silk<sup>2</sup> they have been divided in opinion.

6. If one have<sup>3</sup> put it on excessively,<sup>3</sup> that shall be improper.

There is one who says thus: It can be said « to have been made » of the proper measure when it has been made in<sup>4</sup> such a way<sup>4</sup> as to be « of a looseness » within<sup>5</sup> 4 finger-breadths « round the body. Besides », it is required to be singlefold.<sup>6</sup> « So that when it » has gone « to just this extent of looseness and quality », then alone can it be « said to be » not lacking in propriety.<sup>7</sup>

7. There is one who says thus: Verily, about<sup>8</sup> « allowing » 2 folds « to the shirt, a decisive opinion is » not evident ;<sup>9</sup> « but » 3 folds are « surely » not permitted.

8. If, on having girded up « the girdle », one were to let it hang

<sup>2</sup> Kôzh va aprishûm as in TD; Pr. كز and ابريشم. See above, Fol. 164, l. 2. At Sh. Lâ-Sh. IV, 4, dyed silk seems to have been permitted. But Dât. D. XL, 2 states: "The sacred shirt should be pure white and singlefold"; and according to Meher Yasht, 126, "white" should symbolise the Good Religion.

<sup>3</sup> Awir tan kart yakavimûnêt. This excess is explained below to be that beyond 4 finger-breadths round the body; and concerning length we may understand from what is said above that it must not go below the knees.

<sup>5</sup> Bain. Slight variations in the looseness seem to have been permitted.

<sup>7</sup> I. e., when the measure and fold of the vestment do not exceed the prescribed limit.

<sup>9</sup> It seems that the case of the inclement cold weather necessitating a cheap padded clothing for the poorer classes had presented itself to the doctors of the religion; and they apparently had hesitated to compel the wearing of a special vestment where means could not afford it. It must have occurred to them that if the sacred shirt could be allowed to be of a double fold, it could then be padded and could efficiently protect the body as well as the spirit.

down excessively<sup>1</sup> or to cut it down too much, that would not be proper.<sup>2</sup>

9. Afrog said : Verily, if one were to use it as a sash<sup>3</sup> for the 166 A shirt,<sup>4</sup> that should not be proper.<sup>5</sup>

CHAPTER III

ON THE POSITION OF THE SACRED GIRDLE WHEN GIRDING ON ARMS

1. Yôî<sup>6</sup> aiwyâdonghayêintê<sup>7</sup> karrtéscha,<sup>8</sup> a-ratuf-rayô.<sup>9</sup> Those who engirdle, i.e., gird<sup>10</sup> over, cuttnig<sup>11</sup> arms<sup>11</sup> with the sacred girdle, «i.e.,» bind the sacred girdle over «them, i.e.», put them into the girth<sup>12</sup> at the abdomen<sup>12</sup> and bind the sacred girdle over them, are lacking<sup>13</sup> in spiritual merit.<sup>13</sup>

2. Pascha aiwyâstem ni-laoshayêinti,<sup>14</sup> ratuf-rayô. «But if » after having girded up the sacred girdle they<sup>15</sup> let them hang<sup>15</sup> «in the girth at the waist », i.e., they bind the sacred girdle over and let «the arms hang » down «in their girth above it, then » they can be in spiritual merit.

<sup>1</sup> Farêstakânak.

<sup>2</sup> It should not be more nor less than of a looseness of 4 finger-breadths round the waist ; see note 2 to Fol. 163, l. 23.

<sup>9</sup> The text has ratufryô.

<sup>10</sup> Kaspênd, perhaps related to Pr. 𐎧𐎠𐎢𐎡 = to twist.

<sup>3</sup> This is a translation of the text Yôî rathêschâ pasvarrzdêschâ barrsmainê hãm-varrntayêinti, which occurs at Fol. 173, ll. 9—10. Its second and third words which might puzzle one are simply transliterated as ras pasvarâzd. The latter may be traced to Av. pas = to bind and vr̥rt = to circumscribe.

<sup>8</sup> The sacred girdle which has to pass three times round the waist before it is finally tied up. Darmesteter takes this as referring to the band for the Barsôm bundle, which also has to pass three times round, and is to be tied up like the sacred girdle on men's waist, excepting that it is not to be loose like the latter. As however the theme has up to this appertained to the sacred shirt and girdle, and especially because the corresponding text for the Barsôm band occurs below between Fols. 172 and 173, one must be persuaded to take this text as relating to the sacred girdle and not to the band.

<sup>12</sup> The texts concerning the Barsôm are misplaced here, for, the previous subject has yet to continue, as appears from additional texts thereon continuing on the second half of Fol. 168. They are therefore removed all from here up to Fol. 168, l. 21, and placed after Fol. 172, l. 20 below, where the subject of the Barsôm is continued.

5. «The<sup>1</sup> looseness of the sacred shirt and girdle<sup>2</sup>» should be 168,
«at least» 4 finger-breadths as well before as it should be behind.<sup>3</sup> l. 23

6. Kiryâtrö-Bûjît said: Behold, it is not proper «to say» “as well before”, as after all «the looseness» is required on any side that there is.<sup>4</sup>

7. There is one who says that Kiryâtrö-Bûjît «said this» of course as referring to the «looseness of» 4 finger-breadths.<sup>5</sup>

CHAPTER IV

ON THE POSITION OF THE SACRED VESTURE WHEN PUTTING ON GARMENTS

1. Yôî<sup>6</sup> vanghenti krrrîtscha As to those who dress<sup>7</sup> themselves in «thick»<sup>8</sup> jackets<sup>9</sup>, as of woven<sup>10</sup> stuff<sup>10</sup> quilted<sup>11</sup> with

<sup>4</sup> Kiryâtrö-Bûjît's observation is apparently thoughtful: the looseness has not a reference to any special sides only: it may be taken on any side provided it measures 4 finger-breadths wherever the measure is taken. Perhaps the previous observation signifies that the looseness is to be measured on two opposite sides, thus making it altogether 8 finger-breadths, although that of 8 finger breadth ought to have appeared too much.

<sup>5</sup> This observation seems to have been necessitated, because the curt way in which Kiryâtrö-Bûjît's remark is noted appears to have created some confusion among the ancient scholars.

It must be noted that the manuscript TD closes at this stage.

<sup>7</sup> 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 𐭠 should be 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 𐭠 (mûn hîmbend) or 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 𐭠 (mûn nihîmbend) cf. Pr. 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 = to cover.

<sup>9</sup> Darmesteter reads karînitak and renders “tatters;” though such meaning is radically possible as being based on Av. 𐬀𐬀𐬎 = to cut, still it is not favoured by what follows.

The word may also be read kartitâk, but kartak simply appears to give the proper form; cf. Pr. 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 or 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 = jacket; frock; and Guj. 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥; see note 4 to Fol. 166, l. 1, above.

<sup>10</sup> Tanpist or tûpist; cf. Pr. 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 = to weave, and 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 = woven stuff, been girded up with the full<sup>1</sup> « sacred » vesture<sup>1</sup> underneath,<sup>2</sup> then « alone » can they be in spiritual merit; anasprærnô-vastrahê aiwydonghaydonti, a-ratuf-rayô. but if they have been girded<sup>3</sup> up without the full « sacred » vesture « underneath », then « surely » they must be lacking in spiritual merit.

2. It is thus then that even though one have completed « one's dressing with clothes from » woven stuffs « quilted » with lint, and with glossy garments of bright silk tissue such as « it is » not « possible » for the lower<sup>4</sup> classes « to put on »,<sup>4</sup> and stuffs of « rich » mule loads<sup>5</sup> 169 B for linings that « make garments » comfortable, and still one have not therewith the sacred vesture, then that « shall be » the act of moving about without the proper clothing, and it shall be held as the sin of having moved about without the proper clothing.<sup>6</sup>

3. Whereas even though one may not have done « as above in dressing », but have<sup>7</sup> notwithstanding<sup>8</sup> « put on » the sacred vesture, then that shall not be an act of moving about without the proper clothing, and it shall not then be held as an act of having moved about without the proper clothing.

<sup>3</sup> This may suggest to some that the full vesture must indicate simply the sacred shirt and not the sacred girdle also; because when it is said "if they have been girded up without the full vesture", it may appear that a girdle may have been understood to have been put on, though the "full vesture" is not there. This is plausible; but the girdle so indicated to be on, may only be the waist-band which engirds the outer garments, and not the sacred girdle itself. If, however, one translates "dressed up", instead of "girded up" this difficulty will not arise.

<sup>6</sup> When people can manage and endure to put on such heavy dressing, it must surely be irreligion in them if they neglect to put on the light and cheap sacred vestures which are understood to be holy emblems, and efficient protections.

<sup>7</sup> It is an error in the text to give here "have not" instead of "have"; and hence the word 𐎠𐎡𐎴 here ought to be dropped, because it cannot be allowed that one can go without the sacred vestures and still cannot be in sin; for, it will be recollected that it has been noted between folios 164 and 165 that even when men retire to sleep the sacred vestures are to be kept on the body. . <sup>8</sup> Patash.

4. Yôî vanghenti<sup>1</sup> varndoscha<sup>2</sup> pairi-ürusvistîs,<sup>3</sup> As to those who put on singular<sup>4</sup> garments<sup>5</sup> having<sup>6</sup> brilliant<sup>7</sup> fringes<sup>8</sup> and tassels,<sup>9</sup> adhkêsha<sup>8</sup> frazushô vanghascha<sup>9</sup> upa-rasmanâi,<sup>10</sup> that may shine<sup>11</sup> on military displays<sup>12</sup>, « such as » the precious<sup>13</sup> mantle<sup>13</sup> and the robe<sup>14</sup> of unique distinction,<sup>14</sup> — rich<sup>15</sup> glossy garments of bright silk tissue,<sup>16</sup> which cannot<sup>17</sup> be « available » for the

<sup>2</sup> Accusative plural and probably feminine, though the other genders may as well apply on taking the same base in 𐬨𐬀 for the masculine, and the base in 𐬨𐬀𐬀 for the neuter.

Cf. 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀 of Vend. XVIII, 64, which suggests the sense of “a verdant covering”; and 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀𐬀 of Yt. XXIV, 30, where Darmesteter construes the sense of “luxury.”

<sup>3</sup> This word seems to be compounded of pairi + ürus, probably related to aurora, and signifying “brilliancy”, + vistis, the accusative plural of visti, a noun form derived probably from 𐬨𐬀 = to cut up; the Pahlavi however sees in it the suffix 𐬨𐬀𐬀 = “having”, or the radix 𐬨𐬀 = “to obtain”, for, it renders it by 𐬨𐬀𐬀.

<sup>5</sup> Lôbeshnîh (?), better lôbeshnîhâ (?)

It seems to be a Huzvaresh word related to Ar. لباس (libâs).

<sup>6</sup> Parzamôk, a possessive adjective from parzam; Pr. 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀 = a fringe; a tassel.

If however 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀 is not to be redundant in the text, then parzamôk cannot be taken as an adjective, but must be taken as a noun.

<sup>7</sup> Tâpîk; cf. Pr. 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀 = to shine.

<sup>12</sup> If we have restored the Avestan word aright, this must evidently be its meaning; and the Pahlavi also must yield it on reading it aôzantân; Pr. 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀 = military equipments.

<sup>14</sup> Kapâh-îh aê aévatâk, taking 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀𐬀 instead of 𐬨𐬀𐬨𐬀𐬀; otherwise 𐬨𐬀 should be dropped as redundant.

lower classes, and which when trimmed<sup>1</sup> with fur<sup>1</sup> at various places are 170 A really such as «to be» quite delightful,<sup>2</sup> yêzi adhare<sup>3</sup> aiwydonghaydonti ratufrayô; if indeed they gird up the sacred vesture underneath «them» then «alone» can they be in spiritual merit; uparem<sup>4</sup> aiwydonghaydonti, a-ratufrayô. «but if» they gird up the sacred vesture over<sup>5</sup> «those other», then «surely» they must be lacking in spiritual merit.<sup>6</sup>

«Nevertheless», when «it is to bê hung» by a side «only», it «must be» well «to drop it» by the “northern”<sup>12</sup>, i.e., the left side.

6. Yôî vastra vastrem aiwydonghaydonti, As to those who gird on vesture upon vesture, i.e., put on the sacred shirt and girdle, «adharât naêmât»<sup>13</sup> uz-barenti, aratufrayô; if they pass that 170 B

<sup>6</sup> Notwithstanding all the luxurious dressing, it is considered essential that the sacred shirt and girdle be kept next the skin.

<sup>8</sup> The text has 𐎠𐎡𐎢.

<sup>10</sup> Vaghân. Here and above Darmesteter has erroneously read the word nîhân. Here at any rate it should have been plain to one that 𐎠𐎡𐎢 is simply the transliteration of 𐎠𐎡𐎢.

<sup>11</sup> Zak-i.

<sup>12</sup> Apâkhtar; 𐎠𐎡𐎢 should be 𐎠𐎡𐎢.

The left side is called the “northern” because it faces the north when one turns towards the rising sun. And it is advised to cover it preferentially, probably because it was considered specially accessible to the evil influences having a mysterious connection with the north, or because it would leave the right hand unobstructed in work.

<sup>13</sup> These words are necessary here and must be restored.

ON USING ONE SACRED GIRDLE FOR TWO IN SPECIAL CASES

171 A

— yêzi nôit antarr-drrrayâiti va a-ratufraya. whereas if « either of them » do not tie up ‘at the « cut » end’ each « piece » as it may stand asunder « when cut into two », then both<sup>9</sup> become lacking in spiritual merit.

2. Yôl aiwydonghaydonti uscha-nmândi nmînayâscha,<sup>11</sup> « Whereas, as to those » who have to put on a girdle<sup>12</sup> « between two

<sup>4</sup> It is implied that it is long enough to be cut up into two girdles.

<sup>5</sup> The text has ལྟུང་དཔྱད་ཀྱིས་, but see below.

<sup>6</sup> وا should be و = و. The next word is corrected accordingly.

<sup>7</sup> I.e., each of the two into which the whole piece is cut up.

<sup>8</sup> Into a tassel, if the modern practice is a continuation of the ancient.

<sup>9</sup> The Pahlavi has "each on both sides."

<sup>10</sup>  $\aleph_{\alpha+\beta}$  should be  $\aleph_{\alpha+\beta}$ .

<sup>12</sup> It appears that the girdle in this case is just so long as to fit a single person, and that hence it cannot be cut up in the middle, but must be torn through along its length.

171 B while posted » on a tower<sup>1</sup> or in forts<sup>2</sup>, yézi tarascha airwyðonghana aipi-varrchainti, ratufrayô; if they tear the belt through « across its length » according to what must be the « exact » mean,<sup>3</sup> then they can be in spiritual merit; pascha vâ para<sup>4</sup> barenti, a-ratufrayô. « but » if they take away the « entire » back,<sup>5</sup> so that it will have the front but will have no back<sup>6</sup>, or the front,<sup>7</sup> so that it will have the back but will have no front, then they become lacking in spiritual merit.

CHAPTER VI

ON THE CASES WHEN THE FULL SACRED VESTURE MAY BE TAKEN OFF

1. Yôî vanghenti<sup>8</sup> nadhéscha<sup>9</sup> sâdhayantîscha<sup>9</sup> charrmûncha<sup>10</sup> huki,<sup>10</sup>

Men posted on towers and forts could not sometimes procure the sacred girdle at once when wanted; and then it could be allowed to tear a girdle through to supply two men.

<sup>3</sup> Patmânak. It will be seen from what follows that the sacred girdle is required to be so torn as to be separated at the middle of its width, and not edgewise, for then the wrong side which forms the inner side of the tubular girdle must be exposed which is thought not allowable: the torn girdle should still remain folded double and hiding the wrong side of the weaving.

It will be evident that the girdle when torn edgewise will retain the original width, but will be singlefold with one side as the right side, and the other as the wrong; when however torn at the middle of its width, it will have only half the original width, but will retain the doublefold and will not expose the wrong side.

<sup>5</sup> The girdle being a woven tube pressed down into a strip, has a double fold. It has a right and a wrong side, and it is so managed that the wrong side goes to the inside of the tube, and the entire outside presents the right side of the weaving; so that both the sides of the ordinary girdle are right to appearance; yet optionally any one of the two sides is said to have the "front" and the other the "back;" though really there is no such distinction.

<sup>6</sup> By tearing away edgewise, and thus exposing the wrong side of the girdle, which is not allowed.

<sup>9</sup> These are obscure words; yet it is evident that they indicate some garments.

<sup>10</sup> The grammar in the case of this as well as the two preceding words, seems to be masculine accusative plural. As regards the form سما we may recall سما of Yas. X, 11, which also is used for accusative plural.

<sup>2</sup> Sadnûkâik (?) or sadrâkâik (?), perhaps for sadrâkâ-ich ; Pr. سدرة ; Guj. सदरे = the "Sudrah" or the sacred shirt, to the material of which apparently is the reference here. It is not plain whether the Avestan Sâdhayanti has anything to do with the descent of the modern Sudrah.

<sup>3</sup> Lit. "dried" ; Pr. خشک.

<sup>4</sup> سودا should be سودا as far as we are enabled to correct it.

It will be recollected that according to Sh. Lâ-Sh., IV, 4 prepared skin has been allowed as an eligible material for the sacred shirt.

<sup>8</sup> Râishând. This special form probably indicates the force of the original re-duplication.

The reference seems to be to men engaged for battle when they could not use lighter materials besides these heavy garments. They appear to have been permitted to take them off occasionally when very uncomfortable to keep on continuously, though of course under ordinary circumstances it is not allowed to take off the sacred shirt.

<sup>11</sup> سودا should be سودا (râishând) as above.

<sup>13</sup> An-ayîwýageshnih. It will be seen that forms of this word are varying in Pahlavi without any change of meaning.

<sup>12</sup> These texts concerning the Barsôm were misplaced above where the previous subject had yet to continue, as it has appeared from additional texts thereon continuing on the second half of Fol. 168. They are therefore removed all from there up to Fol. 168, l. 21, and placed after Fol. 172, l. 20 here where the subject of the Barsôm continues.

the Act of the Law, spreads<sup>1</sup> the sacred Barsôm twigs even as Saint Jâmâspa<sup>2</sup> had spread,—for, verily after all<sup>3</sup> he was the leader<sup>4</sup> of congregations<sup>4</sup> «when» he celebrated the Season Festivals,—must score spiritual merit.

3. Thris ũruvaraya.<sup>7</sup> With the twig in three «pieces».<sup>8</sup>

4. Chyâo-vaitîs<sup>9</sup> âêtayâo ũruvarayâo anghen? What sorts of the twig shall those be?

5. Tarô denâtrô<sup>10</sup> varrsô stavanghô.<sup>11</sup> More than a Danar in

<sup>2</sup> Jâmâspa is here taken as having been the ideal master in the conduct of the holy service. See Dînk. Bk. IX, Ch. XXIV, 17.

It occurs to Darmesteter that the reference might perhaps be to a special rite where one would follow the ancient and orthodox ritual. But see note 2 above.

<sup>8</sup> Darmesteter recalls Yas. LVII, 6, and Yt. XII, 3, but the latter allusion does not seem to be apt.

<sup>9</sup> The text has chyâo vaitîsa. Darmesteter suggests as correction chyâo-vaitish; but the correct nominative plural of chyangh-vaitî would be chyâo-vaitis. It will be noticed that the first part of the compound has also to suffer declension. Recall 𐭪𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥 of K<sub>10</sub> L<sub>2</sub> quoted by Geldner at Yas. XLIV, 12.

<sup>10</sup> Apparently the accusative plural of danar which perhaps indicates a weight; cf. Vend. XVI, 7. Its Pahlavi equivalent dânôr or dânar does not appear to have a steady sense: see Sh. Lâ-Sh., XIII, 9, and Dînk. IX, Ch. XIX, 2, where the senses of “repetition” and “morsel” respectively are perceived by Dr. West, though in the latter the sense of the weight danar might likewise serve. The Pr. دیناری (= a small iron nail) might suggest the meaning of a nail's length.

weight<sup>1</sup> and the Vars<sup>2</sup> Ring<sup>2</sup> in bulk<sup>3</sup> « which size », Soshâns said, « need be » at but one end<sup>4</sup> « of the twig, while » Kiryâtrô-Bûjît said « that that should be » at both the ends.

6. Âat upema<sup>5</sup> aêshô drâjangha, yavô frathangha.<sup>6</sup> Whereas at the utmost<sup>7</sup> it shall be a ploughshare in length and a barley-stalk in thickness.<sup>8</sup>

7. This is manifest from the Holy Wisdom that the consecration<sup>8</sup> of the sacred Barsôm twigs should not be distinct from that of the <sup>1</sup> Adâzak for andâzak; Pr. ۸۱ = quantity. Darmesteter reads âyâpak, and thinks that the reference in the assertion may be to length. But it seems more probable that the weight and the bulk only are meant.

<sup>2</sup> This must be the sense here. If it were to be taken simply to signify hair, that would be a very extravagant statement irreconcilable with fact; see the next note.

<sup>3</sup> Ziyâk or zâyak; cf. Av. 𐬰𐬀 = to increase; and. Pr. ۱۴ = augmentation.

Darmesteter reads zahâk, and translates "thickness."

The Pahlavi translations of Vend. VI, 16 and 20, also render the Avestan word here by 𐬔𐬀𐬭𐬀 and explain this as signifying 𐬔𐬀𐬭𐬀 (darânâc) which usually translates the Avestan drâjangh, and signifies "length" or "duration." But as they explain this word thus in its association with quite different terms, one cannot be justified in supposing that their explanation in association with the term varra also would have been the same.

And the remarks of the Pahlavi writers, which just follow in this association herè, make it plain that the idea of the thickness of a hair could not have appeared even to them as applicable to the Barsôm twigs however small. Darmesteter nevertheless accepts and applies this idea, and believes that it is applied simply metaphorically, for really, he says, the thickness of a barley-corn is meant. Besides there seems to him no difference between stavangh and frathangh. In view of apparent objections as well as the two remarks which follow in the text, such explanation is unacceptable to one.

<sup>4</sup> Kôst. The end meant is apparently the thicker end. This and the following remark must make it evident that the reference is not to length.

<sup>7</sup> This further suggests that the above passage intends to signify the least size which the expression governed by the term tarô (= more than) has already indicated above; and if our translation above is correct it may also be inferred from these passages that the Vars Ring must be thinner than the barley stalk.

sacred Drôn cake<sup>1</sup>; because<sup>2</sup> that is not necessary for so small an affair.<sup>3</sup>

8. The merit of « using the Barsôm » is increased until « it attains the size of » a ploughshare in length and a barley-stalk in thickness. But it could not be increased more than that even though it were to attain a much greater size.<sup>4</sup> 167 B

9. It « will » not « be » irreligion<sup>5</sup> when one performs thanksgiving « with the Barsôm having the length of » 3<sup>6</sup> Vitasts « of nine inches each ».

10. There is one « however » who says: That « can be so even when its length is only » of 2 Vitasts instead of such « length » of 3 Vitasts.

11. Verily it is allowed « to take » the Barsôm from any tree, excepting that along the length of whose body there are perforations.<sup>7</sup>

« And also » there is one who says in<sup>8</sup> the same way,<sup>8</sup> namely: It is allowed « to take » the Barsôm from any tree excepting that along whose body there are perforations.<sup>9</sup>

12. There is one who says thus: Verily, even that which has the body « like that » of the sweet<sup>10</sup> basil<sup>10</sup> is « only » fit for the Service<sup>11</sup> of the Novitiate.<sup>11</sup>

13. That whose<sup>12</sup> body is not « even so little rough as of<sup>13</sup> » the sweet basil, or what is not « even so little rough as<sup>13</sup> » the sweet basil is alone fit for the « sacred » twigs « for all services whatsoever ».

<sup>1</sup> It is apparently meant that during the consecration of the Drôn the Barsôm also must become consecrated; see above, Nir. Bk. I, Ch. VIII: App. B, 8-10.

<sup>3</sup> Mindavam.

<sup>4</sup> To employ a larger size than the largest lawfully permitted might perhaps be allowed, but that could not increase one's meritoriousness. Cf. Fol. 164, ll. 5-8, above.

<sup>5</sup> Tarmineshnih.

<sup>9</sup> This repetition is quoted to support the assertion of the main writer.

It seems that the stalk of the sweet basil is considered midway between smooth and perforated.

<sup>13</sup> This evidently must be the sense.

CHAPTER VII: APPENDIX A

ON THE VARYING NUMBERS OF THE SACRED BARSOM TWIGS REQUIRED IN THE SEVERAL SERVICES

1. « According to different cases » there may be wanted 3 twigs<sup>1</sup>; and there may be wanted 5 twigs; and there may be wanted 7 twigs; and there may be wanted 9 twigs; and there may be wanted 12 twigs; and there may be wanted 13 twigs; and there may be wanted 21 twigs<sup>2</sup>; and there may be wanted 33 twigs; and there may be wanted 3<sup>3</sup> twigs
168 A less than 70 twigs; and there may be wanted 551 twigs.<sup>1</sup>

2. 3 twigs are wanted in the Service for the Novitiate.<sup>4</sup> And when there are not to be had five twigs, it is fit for one to celebrate the Service on the sacred Drôn wafer<sup>5</sup> « also with 3 only<sup>6</sup> ».

3. « In that connection it should be borne in mind that just as, » when « that Service is celebrated » with 3 twigs then if one would offer thanksgiving on the sacred Drôn cake without gazing on them that should certainly be improper,<sup>7</sup> so also, when « there are » five twigs then « too » if one would celebrate thanksgiving on the sacred Drôn cake without gazing on them, « that » should be « equally » improper. .

There is one who declares the former to be « like a case of » chattering<sup>8</sup> irreverently,<sup>8</sup> and the latter like « a case of »

It will be recalled that above, at Fol. 78, l. 25, ff., we had a description of the different measures of the Twig of the Hallowed Portion, required in the several services.

<sup>6</sup> It is evidently meant that as a rule five twigs are wanted in the common Drôn Service, so where five twigs can easily be procurable, five must be taken, but where that is inconvenient, three alone may suffice.

<sup>7</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬌𐬀 should be 𐬨𐬀𐬌𐬀𐬌𐬀.

See Sh. Lâ-Sh., Chap. V, and Nir I, XIV: App. C, etc. And in connection with the terms drâyet and gûmânîk cf. Fol. 67, ll. 3-8.

having<sup>1</sup> lack of faith<sup>1</sup>.

4. 5 twigs « are wanted » in the « ordinary » daily<sup>2</sup> Drôn Service.

5. 7 twigs « are wanted » in the Drôn Service of the New Initiate,<sup>3</sup> and of Ratwôk Brizat « the Sublime Lord », and of the worship for the First<sup>4</sup> Rapitwin « the great Equinoxial Celebration ».

6. In any case when the bundle « has to contain » these more than five<sup>5</sup> « Barsôm twigs » in the worship<sup>6</sup> of the sacred Drôn cake, then when one celebrates the thanksgiving at one's own house, it is requisite « to retain » one<sup>7</sup> as that pertaining to the Holy Master, and to deliver the 6<sup>8</sup> twigs to the Disciples, aṣ also it is fitting when the 6<sup>8</sup> 168 B twigs « are taken » to oneself, and the one<sup>7</sup> is assigned to the Disciples.

<sup>1</sup> Gûmânîk. It should seem that the guilt of chattering would be more serious than the guilt of having lack of faith in some things; because, the chattering would not only indicate an indifference about the solemnity of the function wherein it might be shown, but would make that indifference manifest in an act involving a great guilt. At this standard the first guilt in the case here would be judged more severely than the other.

<sup>7</sup> Perhaps "the twig that is to lie prostrate" at the feet of the Barsôm stand; the other twig which appertains to the Hallowed Portion counts besides the numbers described here.

The alternative that is here given, also perhaps indicates that the worth of the Priestly Master is equal to the total worth of all his qualified disciples.

<sup>8</sup> The text has ٩ which looks as if it were "9"; but that would refer to a number which must at the least be ten. Now besides that that number is not stated to be the legible quantity for any service, there would then have to be accounted for the two legible quantities of seven and nine which must occur between five and ten; and there would appear no reason why these legible numbers should have been overlooked. It would be possible to get over the difficulty only by supposing that the writing ٩ did not represent "9", but was aê 6 ( = those or the six ); for then the number 6 with the one extra unit would make "7", the legible quantity next to "5."

It is not plain whether the number "7" would be intended here to point to the number of the Officiating Divines, from whom the Sraôshâvarz would be taken as distinct because he would be holding the Sraôshôcharana and superintending the Service.

7. 9 twigs « are wanted » in the Drôn Service of the King of Kings.<sup>1</sup>

8. 12 twigs « are wanted » in the Drôn Service pertaining to animals.<sup>2</sup>

9. 13<sup>3</sup> twigs « are wanted » in the Smaller Worship.<sup>4</sup>

10. 21 twigs « are wanted » in the Worship<sup>5</sup> of the Early Dawn.<sup>5</sup>

11. 33 twigs « are wanted » in the Visparat « the Service of All the Reverential Ones », <sup>6</sup> and also in the recitation<sup>7</sup> in<sup>7</sup> the Aêvak-Hômâst « the Onefold Service of All the Worshipful Ones » and in the Hâtôkht<sup>8</sup> « the Service of the Consummate Word » of the Aêvak-Hômâst.<sup>9</sup>

12. 70 twigs less 3<sup>10</sup> twigs are wanted in the Dvâzdah<sup>11</sup> Hômâst, <sup>1</sup> The King of Kings being a greater personage than any of his subjects, more twigs were necessary for the consecration of the Drôn which, according to the history of the Sassanides, he had daily to perform.

<sup>2</sup> Probably where an animal is to be dedicated : and that would indicate the Drôn Service for redeeming the Bâzâc penalty of 90 stirrs, which penalty would in one way be attaching to the act of dedicating the animal.

<sup>3</sup> The text erroneously has 15, but explanations which follow at Fol. 173, ll. 20-21 decide in favour of 13.

<sup>4</sup> A service with abridged functions and texts probably ; see above, note 4 to Fol. 59, l. 11 or Nir. I, Chap. XIV : App. B, 2.

<sup>5</sup> Yasht ê Hâvan, — the ordinary simple Yazeshn apparently ; for although the Yasht ê Naök Nâcvar, the Visparat, and the Bakân Yasn are said at Fol. 92, ll. 10-11 to be the services that can be performed in the Hâvan Gâh, still they must be distinct from the Yasht ê Hâvan, because, for instance, the Visparat is here mentioned distinct from the Yasht ê Hâvan.

<sup>6</sup> Evidently because there are 33 Ratus ; see again the remark at Fol. 173, l. 22, ff.

<sup>8</sup> Av. Hadhaokhta. The reference seems to be to a service in which the Hâtôkht nask was to be recited. See S. B. E. Vol. V, p. 224, n. 8 ; and statements in S. B. E. Vol. XXXVII.

<sup>9</sup> Probably the Hâtôkht Service in which the principle of the Aêvak-Hômâst was followed.

See note 5 at S. B. E., Vol. V., p. 212.

<sup>10</sup> See note 3 to Fol. 173, l. 24, or § 9 of the next Appendix below.

« the Twelfefold Service of All the Worshipful Ones », and the Dah-Hômâst,<sup>1</sup> « the Tenfold Service of all the Worshipful Ones<sup>2</sup> — and in »<sup>3</sup> the Dô-Hômâst, « the Twofold Service of All the Worshipful Ones ».

13. 551 twigs<sup>3</sup> « are wanted in » the<sup>4</sup> Holy<sup>5</sup> Ritual Concerts<sup>5</sup> of the Stôt « Service of the Divine Anthem ».

Dât-Vêh observed: Behold, « such reference to » Arrtô-Krrrthana,<sup>6</sup> the Holy Ritual Concerts of the Stôt<sup>7</sup> « Service of the Divine Anthem, is » not « to be found » in « any » teaching.<sup>4</sup>

CHAPTER VII: APPENDIX B

ON THE CAUSES WHICH DETERMINE THE VARYING NUMBERS OF THE SACRED BARSOM TWIGS

These are the causes why « the sacred Barsôm twigs » are taken « in those special numbers »<sup>8</sup> :—

1. 3 twigs « are taken » in<sup>9</sup> reference to<sup>9</sup> « the triplet of » the 173 B Good Thought, the Good Word, and the Good Deed.

2. 5 twigs « are taken » in reference to the 5 days of the Gâhanbârs,<sup>10</sup> « the Season Festivals ».

<sup>3</sup> The statement concerning the next number 551 appears, owing to the displacement, so late as in the eleventh line of Fol. 173, which is joined up here.

<sup>4</sup> All this has already occurred at Fol. 79, ll. 2-4. See notes to that piece.

<sup>10</sup> Gâs; see this word with the same signification in Bund. XXV, 3, etc.

10. 551 twigs «are taken» in reference to the 551<sup>4</sup> Fragarts, «the Books of the Holy Sciences».<sup>5</sup>

<sup>5</sup> Dink. Bk. VIII, Ch. I, 20, and the selections of Zât-Sparam, 6 in the S. B. E. Vol. XXXVII, note that all the Hâs and Fragarts of the Nasks numbered a full 1000, though the actual numbers noted in the Dinkard and the Rivâyats give totals varying between 799 and 930. At any rate our number indicates more than half of all the books of the Nasks; but it is not quite easy to decide as to the books of which Nasks are here intended. Following the classification of Dink.

11. As « there may be » twigs and twigs in varieties<sup>1</sup> « of sizes »<sup>2</sup>, in the case of both the Dvâzdah-Hômâst, « the Twelfefold Service of all the Worshipful Ones », and the Ratwôk-Brizat, « the Service of the Sublime Lord », they<sup>3</sup> should be gathered<sup>3</sup> in the size<sup>4</sup> of the forearm,<sup>4</sup> « of course » in different numbers of twigs « as are required in the several cases ». If however one were to gather « them in this special size » in the case of one « of these<sup>5</sup> only », that should be improper.

As regards the passage from which one can speak about this circumstance of “ the size<sup>6</sup> of a forearm ”,<sup>6</sup> even as a person observes, « it is just this » :— ... zastâ ratus frêna <sup>7</sup> ... ‘ ... the spiritual master with ... of the size of the forearm ... ’

CHAPTER VII: APPENDIX C

ON THE MANNER OF TAKING THE SACRED BARSOM

1. « The doctors » are<sup>8</sup> of this « opinion » concerning<sup>9</sup> the sacred Barsôm twigs that there is no special ceremonial for « the mere

Bk. VIII, Ch. I, 9-11, and the notes of the numbers of the books of the several Nasks in the Dinkard and the Rivâyats, we find that the books of the Gâthîc Nasks are given the different totals 212 and 315, the books of the Hadha-Mânthric Nasks are given a steady total of 319, and the books of the Dâtîc Nasks are again given totals varying between 268 and 296. Now the least total 212 of the Gâthîc Nasks and the total 319 of the Hadha-Mânthric Nasks give the number 531 which is a total nearest to our number, as can be discovered from these facts. Allowing then for probable mistakes, the books of the Gâthîc and Hadha-Mânthric Nasks which form the highest and the middle grades of the Nasks, appear to have been intended here.

<sup>7</sup> The text is corrected; see note 4 above. The original to which this fragment must have belonged is not to be found now.

act of » taking the Barsôm in the hand, except when taking<sup>1</sup> it off<sup>1</sup> « from the tree ».

2. Concerning whatever<sup>2</sup> thing may the Barsôm have to be taken, when one has to gather it one should proceed to the precincts<sup>3</sup> of the tree, and one should recite the Holy Text in<sup>4</sup> front of<sup>4</sup> the tree and take the special<sup>5</sup> formula for opening the function,<sup>5</sup> « thus » :—

Ashem Vohû 3 « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times; and the Confession of the Faith », Fravarânê Mazdayasnô ... 'I confess myself the worshipper of the Most Wise One ..... '

« Then one should glorify » what period of the day one may have ; and before the tree « should one say » :—

Ūruvarayâo Vanghuyâo Mazdadhâtayâo ashaonyâo khshnaothra<sup>6</sup> ..... 'In holy concord with the Good Vegetation established by the Most Wise One, and of the Holy Order ... — ' up to the end.

3. As to how far can one lawfully go from tree to tree « to gather the Barsôm », it is observed « that one can go as far as » a Dakhshmâst « of 8 Hâsars ».<sup>7</sup>

174 B There is « however » one who remarks thus that if « one were to go that far » for every individual twig, that should not evidently<sup>8</sup> be proper<sup>9</sup>.

<sup>3</sup> Varîh. This term indicates the precincts of the various sacred objects within a certain radius.

<sup>5</sup> Vâch. This whole service will be found fully described in Ērvad Tehmurasp's Yasna with the Ritual at pp. i-iii of the Preparatory Service. Besides, recall Fol. 154, l. 9 and following.

<sup>6</sup> There follow the usual words up to frasastayaêcha, the formula Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô Zuotâ, etc., up to mraotû, and then the words Nemî Ūruvairê Vanguhi Mazdadhâtê ashaonê.

The distance must be that of about 8 miles; and the necessity of going so far * from tree to tree would arise only in the case of the larger numbers of the sacred twigs which it might not be possible to gather all from the same tree, or the same locality.

4. There is one who says that « while engaged in gathering the Barsôm », if one were to listen attentively to some <sup>1</sup> voice <sup>1</sup> « that might arise », that should not be proper.<sup>2</sup>

5. On « reciting the word » Ashem<sup>3</sup> 'Holiness,' one should take hold of « the Barsôm twig to be cut »;<sup>4</sup> on « reciting » Vohû<sup>3</sup> 'Good', one should put the knife at « the twig, just where it is to be cut »<sup>5</sup>; and on « reciting » Vahistem<sup>3</sup> 'the Highest Good', one should cut it off.<sup>6</sup>

6. During the time when there have been gathered « every<sup>6</sup> » 3

one twig from a tree or of his negligence in approaching trees so little yielding, and not of a necessity to have to go from one tree to another for every twig that may have to be gathered; for, how could it be supposed that within a radius of even eight miles there could not be found trees which could at once yield more twigs than one and which could from the first be approached in preference to the less fruitful? because, besides the fact of the rarity of a number of trees each capable of yielding only one twig, there is also to be borne in mind the circumstance that the ancient Iranians wanting these twigs so often, must everywhere have procured and helped growth of trees yielding the twigs in profusion.

It may however be imagined that the critic must have in his mind the emergency of having to gather the Barsôm in some barren region, but there also there would not be found just such trees, each at a span of eight miles and yielding only one twig individually.

<sup>3</sup> These words of course belong to the Ashem Vohû formula which is to be finished through on cutting off the twig.

<sup>4</sup> In modern practice a little of the tip of the twig is here first cut off.

<sup>6</sup> The reference seems to be to 3, or every lot of 3 when more than 3 twigs are wanted. When just three twigs have been gathered, if it be found that one has become unclean, then this can be made clean and fit for use in the way stated in this passage; but if it be found that all the three have become unclean then they cannot be made clean in any way, are unfit for use, and must all therefore be rejected from the collection. And when one has to gather a larger number, one must carefully inspect every additional lot of three that may be gathered, and must act in the above manner if unclean twigs be found in that new lot. Thus one has to go on adding every three of tested purity, and the last fraction of that number, till the desired quantity is gathered.

Strangely enough the case when there may be found two twigs unclean in every lot of three, is not noticed here.

twigs with the accompaniment of the Holy Text, whenever there may become unclean « any » one twig « only of the three », then « after getting it cleaned » one may « simply » hold over again the special little service for opening the function « of gathering the Barsôm, to render the result valid ».

7. When however one has gathered « every » 3 twigs with the accompaniment of the Holy Text, if all the 3 become unclean, then one cannot « thus simply » hold over again the special little service for opening the function « of gathering the Barsôm, to render the result valid »<sup>1</sup>.

8. If the tip of a twig be dried up it should « first » be cut off,<sup>2</sup> and then it should be gathered.

175 A 9. Sôshîns said: Verily if they do not cut it off even then<sup>3</sup> it may be allowed; because when a dried portion has grown on fresh, it should be « treated » just like iron<sup>4</sup> « which cannot be polluted by itself »; for what is dried up cannot make anything « else » unclean unless that itself<sup>5</sup> have become unclean; hence it is acceptable that whether « there are » one or more « of such twigs with dry tips », they be held as if they have not been unclean « at all »; and so, if one were « to consider them fit and » to observe<sup>6</sup> « thereon » the special little service « for gathering the Barsôm », that<sup>7</sup> should be allowed.<sup>7</sup>

10. There is one who says thus: Verily it can be proper « only » when one recites an Ashem Volu « the Praise of Holiness » on e v e r y twig « that is gathered ».<sup>8</sup>

<sup>2</sup> In modern practice a little of the tip is invariably cut off at the word Ashem. See again below at Fol. 177, l. 4.

<sup>8</sup> This is just what is done in modern practice also. See also below, Fol. 181, ll. 19-22. Fol. 154, l. 28 adds a Yathâ Ahu Vairiyô also.

12. Indeed when « the twig » comes out at<sup>4</sup> once<sup>4</sup> with the force of the knife, then « only » can it be proper. « Still » if it come out from « its very » root, that cannot<sup>3</sup> be allowed.<sup>3</sup>

13. If it have been broken up together<sup>5</sup> and if it be watery<sup>6</sup>, that 175 B cannot be allowed.

14. It is not proper to have the Barsôm<sup>7</sup> merely<sup>7</sup>; there should « also » be the « Barsôm » band.

15. When « the twigs » have been gathered, if there settle any dirty<sup>8</sup> thing thereon, that must<sup>3</sup> not be allowed.<sup>3</sup>

16. There is one who says thus: Verily when not « a single twig » drops down « on the ground as one gathers it », that<sup>9</sup> should be quite the fittest thing.<sup>9</sup>

17. If a twig becomes unclean<sup>10</sup> when one<sup>11</sup> drops it just as one holds it, then there is no necessity of washing the hand « therefor »<sup>12</sup>; but when one takes it up again, then one should certainly wash both « the hand as well as the twig ».

18. If a place be « sufficiently » clean<sup>13</sup> « to put them there », there is no necessity of holding « the gathered twigs » in the hand.<sup>14</sup>

The stroke should not be given so feebly as to leave the knife in the twig without cutting it off, nor should force be applied to it in a way as must pull it out by the root. <sup>4</sup> Barâ âsist should be barâ âsisht. <sup>5</sup> I.e., crushed up.

<sup>10</sup> ܐܬܝܬܝܬܐ seems to be for ܐܬܝܬܝܬܐ (a-pâtîyâp).

CHAPTER VIII

ON THE SACRED BARSOM BAND

172, 1. 21 Yôî<sup>1</sup> barrsmûn fra-starenti<sup>2</sup> hamûscha<sup>3</sup> varrdhêscha thanvarr-cha<sup>4</sup> antarr-dâshta,<sup>5</sup> As to those who have to spread out the « sacred » Barsôm twigs which are rendered<sup>6</sup> just like 'weapons<sup>7</sup> of protection ' ' as the bow,<sup>8</sup> aye, as the bow,<sup>9</sup> the rapier, the knife,<sup>9</sup> and<sup>10</sup> any others whatsoever.<sup>10</sup>—

« Note that the Avestan specially mentions only “ the bow ” here, evidently because » “ the bow ” « is » made<sup>11</sup> of wood<sup>11</sup> particularly.
—yêzi thris hathrâkêbis yâlayanti ratufrayô;<sup>12</sup> when indeed they pass<sup>13</sup> « the band round the Barsôm bundle » 3 times<sup>14</sup> toge-

<sup>1</sup> These passages open the theme of the Barsôm band, which is resumed at Fol. 175, l. 26, and hence they are transferred there.

The text has only 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌.

<sup>3</sup> The text has haômûs-cha, but neither the sense nor the Pahlavi suggests any reference to haoma; probably it is only an accusative plural form of hama = like.

<sup>4</sup> The text has thanvas-cha, but cf. the Pahlavi, and Vend. XVII, 9, 10, etc.

<sup>7</sup> The Pahlavi omits to translate the word varrdhês-cha, or the expression rendering that has dropped out from the text. The enclitic cha connects it with thanvarr-cha and thus helps us to decide its meaning; cf. 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 of Yt. XIII, 71.

We have however forms of 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 and 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 which signify “ plant ”, or “ withe ”, or “ growth ”; but none of these meanings seems to suit here.

<sup>8</sup> Sanvar which simply transliterates the original.

ther, i.e., tie it evenly 3 times, then surely they are in spiritual merit<sup>1</sup>; yêzi dat<sup>2</sup> nôit thris hathrâkébis yâtayanti, a-ratuf-rayô. 173 A but when they do not<sup>3</sup> pass « the band round the Barsôm bundle » 3 times together, then they become lacking in spiritual merit.

2. Behold it is no « special » consideration whatever<sup>4</sup> on what « particular » occasion may « the Barsôm » have to be taken into use, but in any case, it is to be washed clean and « there are to be recited » the special<sup>5</sup> formulæ with accompanying ceremonial<sup>5</sup> for taking it into use, such as must, for<sup>6</sup> all occasions,<sup>6</sup> « render it » as Barsôm « proper ».

3. There is one who says thus that one should do the tying<sup>7</sup> « of the bundle » at the « lowest »<sup>8</sup> third « of the length of the Barsôm twigs, « in the way prescribed by the Holy Text », Yôî rathéscha pasvarzdéscha barrsmainê hâm-varrntayêinti<sup>9</sup> ..... ‘As to those who have to bind « the band » to the Sacred Barsôm « as tight as it were »

The Barsôm band is to be passed 3 times round the twigs, and tied exactly in the manner of the sacred girdle round the waist, excepting that while the latter is to fit loose, the former is to be tight.

<sup>2</sup> The text erroneously adds here 𐬀𐬀𐬀.

<sup>7</sup> Pâsh; Av. 𐬀𐬀 = to bind; Pr. 𐬀𐬀𐬀. There is also the Persian word پاشیدن = to spread, and that might have suggested here a reference to the spreading of the Barsôm; but neither would it then be plain why only a third of the Barsôm in hand needed be spread, nor would there be evident the aptness of the quotation which follows.

<sup>8</sup> The Barsôm band is to be tied at the lowest third of the Barsôm's length at the stalk end, evidently to ensure firmness in the bundle; see above, l. 20 of Fol. 79.

<sup>9</sup> It will be recollected that the Pahlavi of this text has already occurred at Fol. 166, l. 13.

Rathés-cha pasvarzdés-cha appear to be accusative plural. Ratha has almost the sense of the chariot wheel; and pasvarzdés-cha may be traced to pas = to bind, and vrnt to tie round; and the whole word may thus signify the “rim” of the wheel.

1. 20

4. The « Barsôm » band « taken » from<sup>2</sup> any green plant whatsoever<sup>2</sup> should<sup>3</sup> be lawful,<sup>3</sup> as is clear from the passage ... kām-chît vâ vakhshyaêshâm<sup>4</sup> ... '... of any growth whatsoever ...', « provided indeed that » it has not crept along the ground on which it may be growing.<sup>5</sup>

176 A        5. There is one who says thus: Verily, so long as « the withy for the Barsôm band » is « at least » of the length of the Barsôm « branch » <sup>6</sup> in growth, and has been growing fresh <sup>7</sup> so that thus it can « conveniently » be tied and no injury <sup>8</sup> therefrom can occur, that shall be quite <sup>9</sup> fit « for use ».

6. The estimated fitness<sup>10</sup> « of the band to be used » for Service<sup>10</sup> « is just » such that when one may hold down a twig « of the plant » another « also » will come down « owing to the elasticity of the plant<sup>11</sup> »;

<sup>1</sup> The enumeration of the different services at which the various numbers of the Barsôm twigs are wanted, was interrupted after the last but one number at Fol. 168, l. 23, and that is now resumed and completed quite abruptly in the text which follows; so it is joined up there at its proper place.

The above passages have opened the theme of the Barsôm band, which is resumed at Fol. 175, l. 26; hence that other text is joined up here in this place.

<sup>4</sup> The text has  $\text{𐎧𐎠𐎢𐎵𐎠𐎢𐎵}$ . Cf.  $\text{𐎧𐎠𐎢𐎵𐎠𐎢𐎵𐎠𐎢𐎵}$  of Yas. LX, 4, and, for the grammatical form,  $\text{𐎧𐎠𐎢𐎵𐎠𐎢𐎵}$ .

<sup>5</sup> In other words it should not be made of a creeper.

In modern practice the band is made from the leaves of the date palm.

The word here in the text is simply rw which may be taken to be a mutilated form of rwþ ( rôst ) which occurs immediately below.

<sup>6</sup> This must apparently be the meaning. Evidently the length of the Barsôm twig, as it is taken into use, might be too small for the Barsôm band to tie the larger numbers of the Barsôm twigs, and hence the reference must be to the full Barsôm branch.

<sup>9</sup> Aê, taking ~~—~~ for the ~~—~~ of the text.

10 Yashtakîh.

<sup>11</sup> Apparently the flexibility of the withy must have been in the mind of the writer when he wrote these lines, for it is evidently characteristic of flexible plants that when one of its twigs is held down others bend down with it.

and it will be proper « to take the band » from just such twig inasmuch as its fitness<sup>1</sup> for holy Service<sup>1</sup> is manifested that way.

7. There is one who says thus: Behold, one<sup>2</sup> must take care lest<sup>2</sup> the next period of the day overtake one « in one's act of taking the Barsôm band ».

8. « And » there is one who says that it can be « brought in » in<sup>3</sup> the « same » period of the day<sup>3</sup>, because « it can be taken from » trees of all kinds of growth, « and so can be picked without too much loss of time ».

9. There is one who « says » thus that if while one be picking it the « next » period of the day overtake one, one should « in that case first » say the special little service for closing the function, and then one<sup>4</sup> should again hold<sup>4</sup> the special little service for commencing the function « of picking it in the next period »<sup>5</sup>.

10. As soon as it is picked, it should be held in the hand.

11. In « all those cases of » night, rain,<sup>6</sup> or anything<sup>7</sup> against the Law<sup>7</sup> in which it cannot be lawful to gather « the band ordinarily », 176 B if one gathers it with the accompaniment of the Service of the sacred Drôn cake, that shall be allowed.<sup>8</sup>

12. In order legibly to pick it at night, there is essential the light of the fire<sup>9</sup>.

13. There is one who says thus with reference to this ceremony « of picking », that when one has picked « the band »<sup>10</sup> and has put it on the tree, then if night overtakes one, that shall not be proper.

<sup>3</sup> Otherwise, « in the (same) spot »; but the ideas in this and the previous statement seem to be related. The reference evidently is to the necessity of picking the band in the same Gâh.

<sup>4</sup> Lakhvâr vakhdûneshn-ash.

<sup>8</sup> The special addition of the sacred Drôn Cake Service to the act of picking the Barsôm band, removes the impropriety of those cases.

<sup>10</sup> The following statement points to the fact of the Barsôm twigs being put upon the trees after being gathered. But as the theme here has been concerning the band, it is probable that the reference is to that also.

Note that the followers of the Primal Creed put the «gathered» Barsôm twigs on trees.

15. As regards the sacred Drôn cake,<sup>4</sup> when it is the only one «available», then «though it be» entirely<sup>5</sup> shrivelled<sup>6</sup> up<sup>6</sup>, even then it can be fit as Drôn.<sup>7</sup>

16. When one has<sup>8</sup> picked «the Barsôm and the band» most suitably<sup>8</sup> first of all, then at last one shall hold without<sup>9</sup> any indifference<sup>9</sup> the special service for opening the function «of tying up the band to the Barsôm thus»<sup>10</sup>:—

Ashem Vohû 3; «The Praise of Righteousness 3 times»;

<sup>1</sup> Rôyeshman ê ragalman. It will be recollected that it has been stated above at Fol. 173, ll. 8-9 that the Barsôm twigs are to be tied up at the lowest third towards the ends.

<sup>2</sup> Zak ê Yasht gûn; perhaps the last word in this is erroneous for avô (avô).

<sup>3</sup> From this and what has been said above at l. 16 one can observe here that the impropriety noted in this place would not exist had the Drôn Service been included in the function, and the Barsôm tied up into a bundle before returning; because if the Barsôm were not tied, that would be quite wet and so unfit according to Fol. 181, ll. 12-17 or § 4 of the next chapter.

<sup>7</sup> Of course when a better cake is available it should be wrong to use one such as this.

<sup>8</sup> Awir khûp chît yakavîmûnêt. 𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌 of the text seems to be for 𐬀𐬯𐬭𐬀𐬎𐬌; see l. 7 of the following folio where the correct form occurs.

<sup>10</sup> See Ervad Tehmurasp Anklesaria's Yasna with the Ritual, p. x of the Preparatory Service for the text occurring below. The whole function of tying the Barsôm band is there described fully on pp. ix-xi. Also, recall Fol. 77, l. 10, ff., and Fol. 154, l. 20, ff.

17. One must trim well the root<sup>1</sup> and the tip<sup>1</sup> « of the band »<sup>2</sup> and must do it without any indifference.

18. But as regards the rose<sup>3</sup> withy<sup>3</sup> « picked for a band », even though one take it with indifference, even then can that be fit.<sup>4</sup>

19. Mâhgôshnasp said: Behold, when « the band » is picked very suitably from the first, and is fibrous,<sup>5</sup> then alone can that be good.

CHAPTER VIII: APPENDIX A

ON MISCELLANEOUS OBSERVATIONS RELATING TO THE BARSOM OR THE BAND

1. One must have the Barsôm twigs of becoming<sup>6</sup> shape and size<sup>6</sup>: « their » tips must be becoming ; and « their » girth<sup>7</sup> must be « becoming ». When the tip is too<sup>8</sup> profusely tufted,<sup>8</sup> that is not proper; « nor » is it proper when the size<sup>9</sup> of the tip is like that of the end.<sup>10</sup> When the ends rest with the tips, that is not proper.<sup>11</sup> When <sup>1</sup> Taking د لسنه instead of د لسنه.

been thornless; otherwise one could not take them indifferently.

<sup>4</sup> The indifference is permitted evidently because of the superior quality of the withy which required no special trimming.

<sup>5</sup> Pann rîsheshnih; cf. Pr. ریش = fibre.

The fibrousness would be indicative of tenacity as well as flexibility.

<sup>10</sup> It would not have been plain whether the reference was to the twigs having to be leafy or to their having to be tapering, were it not for what follows at Fol.
180, l. 7, which makes it plain that the former sense is implied.

177 B they are entirely <sup>1</sup> slender <sup>2</sup> along their whole length,<sup>2</sup> that is not proper, « nor » is it proper when the Barsôm twigs are very <sup>3</sup> stout<sup>3</sup> along their « entire » size<sup>4</sup>.

2. If one cut « the Barsôm » with the root « attached to it » that cannot be fit.

3. If one tolerate<sup>5</sup> a fissure<sup>6</sup> through the length of a Barsôm « twig » that may be allowed; « though » there is one who says thus that that must not be allowed because<sup>7</sup> deliberate<sup>8</sup> rejection<sup>8</sup> of a twig<sup>9</sup> by a twig<sup>9</sup> is permitted.<sup>10</sup>

4. « As regards » the Frâkhôgâm « twig that is to lie prostrate »<sup>11</sup>, verily when one takes the Barsôm twigs, there must be « taken among them » several<sup>12</sup> Frâkhôgâm twigs.

5. There is one who says that among the Barsôm twigs several Frâkhôgâm twigs are necessary « in order that » when one twig may become impure a « Frâkhôgâm » may be close<sup>13</sup> at hand<sup>13</sup> « to replace it » when it has been bound up in the « Barsôm » bundle.<sup>14</sup> And in order that it may always be immediately<sup>15</sup> available<sup>15</sup>, it must be close at hand as having been bound in the bundle<sup>14</sup> and as having been bound with « the observation of » the Service of the Holy Text.<sup>16</sup>

6. Ever<sup>17</sup> always<sup>17</sup> when the « Barsôm » bundle is cut,<sup>18</sup> or «when»

<sup>10</sup> Wanton waste is not allowed in the Zoroastrian religion; still, according to this writer, a Barsôm twig may deliberately be rejected and replaced by another if found in the least degree defective.

a knife breaks it open, one must sprinkle<sup>1</sup> a little pure water on it. 178• A

There is one who says thus: Verily it must of course be sprinkled on while<sup>2</sup> the act « of opening the bundle » takes place,<sup>3</sup> « because » it need not be sprinkled on after<sup>3</sup> the act has taken<sup>3</sup> place.<sup>4</sup> 178, l. 4

7. <sup>4</sup> When « the Barsôm bundle » is tied up, then it can be well 178, only when neither on the Barsôm nor on the « Barsôm » band may 1. 18 anything<sup>5</sup> be lying.

8. If one do not say the special little service for gathering<sup>6</sup> « the Barsôm or the band », that must be wrong.

9. When « the Barsôm bundle » is tied up, then though one may not close the little service therefor<sup>7</sup> with gazing on it, still if one « properly » closes the little service on the sacred Drôn cake, that can be allowed.<sup>8</sup>

When « the Service is performed » for being in the Holy Concord of Srôsh « the Spirit of the Moral Order », then also the case is not different.

10. If on « taking » the sacred Barsôm twigs, one<sup>9</sup> press one's waist as if tired,<sup>9</sup> or look<sup>10</sup> wearied,<sup>10</sup> or be<sup>11</sup> vexed,<sup>11</sup> or « if the proper »

<sup>3</sup> Yahvûntak.

The pure water must be sprinkled on the bundle while one opens it, and not after having opened it, evidently because it must then revive the flexibility of the Barsôm twigs and band, and obviate their being injured in the act of opening the bundle.

<sup>4</sup> Here, in the text, there follows from l. 4 to l. 17 of this folio a subject that is quite distinct from that which is being treated on, and which is disturbed by its intrusion; hence it is transferred below, after l. 10 of the next folio.

<sup>7</sup> For gathering the Barsôm and the band and tying them up into the bundle.

<sup>8</sup> It is possible to render "that should not be allowed," by reading a-shâyêt; but in these portions the negative expression prevailing is 𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬀 (â-lâ-shâyêt), so we have read in this place â shâyêt, and have rendered the meaning accordingly.

Besides recall what is said at Fol. 167, ll. 11-13, according to which the meaning that is preferred here, should be evident.

<sup>10</sup> Barâ sôgêt; cf. Pr. 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 = to be afflicted; or barâ sôzêt; cf. Pr. 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀 = to be anguished.

<sup>11</sup> Barâ ranjet; cf. Pr. 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀. The word may be corrected to 𐬨𐬀𐬭𐬀.

time of the Season Festival overtake one quite when the thanksgiving service therefor has already been finished,<sup>1</sup> that surely cannot be proper.

11. When the thanksgiving service has not yet been finished « on the proper time of the Season Festival overtaking it »,<sup>2</sup> then « simply » the Barsôm bundle must be untied<sup>3</sup> and tied up again.

179 A 12. If in the sacred Drôn Cake Service of Dahâm « the Pious Devoted One » one place the Barsôm again as<sup>4</sup> the Barsôm, or the « next » period of the day overtake one « while engaged in the act of that Service »,<sup>5</sup> even then one need not wash the Barsôm, « although indeed » there is one who so says that one must wash it.

13. The Barsôm twigs « in themselves »<sup>6</sup> can neither cause defilement by direct contact « nor » defilement by indirect contact.

14. Mâhgôshnasp said: Behold when 2 « Barsôm twigs » are lying quite as one « through » one<sup>7</sup> having covered the other,<sup>7</sup> « then » on<sup>8</sup> account of<sup>8</sup> that<sup>9</sup> one<sup>10</sup> « twig so covered up, the case of » one

It is evidently improper that one should undertake a work of devotion and veneration, and show signs of being tired and vexed on having gone through it. All such work is to be accomplished most vigorously and cheerfully without expressing any marks of fatigue or worry.

<sup>1</sup> No unnecessary or unbecoming haste is to be manifested in the performance of a holy function. It must take place at the proper time and at due pace. And it is equally evident that a service performed outside its proper occasion should certainly be wrong.

<sup>2</sup> I.e., though the service has been commenced too early for its occasion, still it has not been commenced so early as to be finished off before the occasion sets in; so it can be made valid with such special manipulations as the one here described.

<sup>4</sup> Ol. It might signify "to"; and in that case the reference would be to the taking in of some additional Barsôm twigs. More probably however the reference is simply to the use of the Barsôm for a second time after having been already utilised at another sacred function.

<sup>5</sup> And when the Barsôm must be untied and tied up again.

<sup>6</sup> This qualification is necessary, because had some polluting matter attached itself to the Barsôm, the statement could not hold then.

CHAPTER VIII: APPENDIX B

ON THE VICINITY OF NOXIOUS CREATURES WHILE GATHERING THE BARSOM OR THE BAND

1. Noxious <sup>5</sup> creatures are always impure ; « hence their vicinity 178, to the Barsôm or the Barsôm band is always to be avoided ». <sup>6</sup> l. 4

2. There is one who says : « They are of such kinds as » the black woodcock <sup>7</sup> and the voracious <sup>8</sup> tiger. <sup>9</sup>

3. « As to » the slender <sup>10</sup> eagle, <sup>11</sup> « even when it is » in front « of one gathering the Barsôm or the band », that is allowed ; so also it is allowed « when it is » behind « one gathering the Barsôm or the band ».

<sup>1</sup> In other words, one who allows one twig of the Barsôm to be entirely covered up by another at a holy function, becomes culpable of a Tanâpûhar sin.

<sup>4</sup> What follows in the text from here up to l. 18 of the next folio, treats of a theme about spreading the Barsôm, which is resumed so late as at Fol. 187, l. 12; whereas the themes relating to the gathering of the Barsôm and the Barsôm band which have been treated before this text about spreading, continue again from Fol. 180, l. 18; hence that whole text from here up to Fol. 180, l. 18 is transferred from here and joined up to what follows in Fol. 187, l. 12, especially when that passage which is found here next would be so isolated in its wrong place in the text here, but can fit best in that other.

<sup>5</sup> As regards the altered order of the text here see note 4 to § 6 of the previous Appendix.

<sup>6</sup> The whole of what appears in the text as it stands is obscure. As it intrudes into the theme of gathering and tying the Barsôm and the band, it is taken as most likely that it has a reference to avoiding the vicinity of noxious creatures to the sacred operations. The idea of the dedication of animals can apparently have nothing to do with the statements here, as it might appear at first thought.

<sup>11</sup> Homâh; Pr. هما = an eagle; a phoenix; an auspicious bird.

CHAPTER IX

ON CAUSING EXHAUSTION OF THE BARSOM TREE

1. Yô<sup>1</sup> barrsma taoshayêiti<sup>2</sup> draos<sup>3</sup> vâ paiti sôinma<sup>4</sup>, As to him 180, who « must think that by gathering all he » will<sup>5</sup> have to 1. 18 shear<sup>6</sup> the Barsôm either to the complete<sup>6</sup> stripping<sup>6</sup> of a plant<sup>7</sup>, unâm<sup>8</sup> vâ kat-chit vâ paiti sidaranâm<sup>9</sup>, or to the causing of a hollow<sup>10</sup> in it, or to the causing of any sort of flaws<sup>11</sup>, yêzi tistrô tarô<sup>12</sup> denânô hathrâchis<sup>13</sup> nis-hischaiti<sup>14</sup>, a-ratufri<sup>15</sup>. if « in that case » he seeks<sup>16</sup> « out of such plant » more<sup>17</sup> than<sup>17</sup> 3 units<sup>18</sup> of « twigs » all at a time, he shall be lacking in spiritual merit<sup>19</sup>.

<sup>4</sup> Evidently the accusative singular of sôinman, formed on the analogy of the word chinman, from the root si = to be destroyed. Otherwise it may be analysed into sô (= to cut) + in (the primary suffix) + ma (the secondary suffix).

<sup>6</sup> Zagûrârak (?); cf. Pr. زکور = a robber. The word could be a corrupt form of sûrâk, but that signification follows as a distinct case.

<sup>7</sup> Dâr; Pr. دار.

<sup>9</sup> Perhaps formed from دراو = دراو = to damage.

<sup>19</sup> If a Barsôm plant is in the danger of being totally stripped of its twigs or of being rendered defective owing to one's taking a greater number of twigs from it, then one must not take from it more than 3 twigs. It is evidently presumed that there can be no tree which must absolutely be damaged by taking from it just 3 twigs only; and that must certainly be due to the great care taken of such trees,

181 A

3. Yô ũruvarayáo ava-vaêjaiti,<sup>4</sup> As to him who « must think that he » can<sup>5</sup> « conveniently » gather of the tree « its twigs » quite exhaustively<sup>6</sup> when he wants<sup>8</sup> them for the Holy Thanksgiving Service, yêzi tîsrô tarô denânô hathra-chis barrnti<sup>7</sup>, ratufri ; if « in that case » he gathers<sup>8</sup> quite more than 3 units « of its twigs » all at a time<sup>9</sup>, then « alone » can he be in spiritual merit ; yêzi dat nôit tîsrô tarô denânô hathra-chis barrnti<sup>7</sup>, a-ratufri.

<sup>1</sup> All this takes place in the Preliminary Service before the commencement of the Yasna proper; see pp. 1-3 in Ervad Tehmurasp's Yasna with the Ritual.

<sup>3</sup> The Leading Divine is presumed to have been acquainted with the nature of the act, even when he has not performed it himself, and to be conniving at the fault ; hence he must appear to have slipped into a degree of indifference to solemn propriety which should indicate such weakness as must half strand him on the disbelief of the apostates. And this weakness and exposure to such danger are said to remain until the Holy Service advances sufficiently to re-establish in him the firmness of faith which must secure him against that danger.

<sup>6</sup> Thus if we take דָּרַשׁ as an error for דָּרַשׁ. Otherwise, the meaning would be :—“as he has to perform service at ...”.

<sup>7</sup> This is apparently present, third person, singular of Av.  $\{t^h\}$  (→ to cut off), II class. Otherwise it would have to be corrected into  $\{t^h\}$ ; but cf. below, Fol. 186, l. 25, and Vend. XVII, 2, 4.

<sup>8</sup> מִשְׁתָּט is an error for מִשְׁתָּט the present, third person, singular of מִשְׁתָּט (setâtan = to take), through its being confounded with a form of the same looking infinitive מִשְׁתָּט (sûâtan = to stand) and then with the form of its equivalent מִשְׁתָּט. The word is rendered מִשְׁתָּט just below.

9 "14" should be restored after 7.

whereas if he may not cut off<sup>1</sup> quite more than 3 units « of its twigs » all at a time, he shall be lacking in spiritual merit.<sup>2</sup>

4. Note that when it would have rained « on the Barsôm » it would be rendered unfit, as too much water could not be poured thereon.<sup>3</sup>

There is one who explains thus that « in that case » so<sup>4</sup> much<sup>4</sup> wetness<sup>5</sup> would be found<sup>6</sup> on spreading<sup>7</sup> « the Barsôm », that owing to 181 B too<sup>8</sup> much<sup>8</sup> wetness<sup>9</sup> the ground would not admit of being spread over with the « proper » sprinkling<sup>10</sup> of sanctified water<sup>10</sup>.

5. At « the word » Ašem ... 'Hôliness ...', one should take hold « of the Barsôm twig »; and at ... Vahistem ... '... the Highest Excellence,' one should cut it off.<sup>11</sup>

6. Twig<sup>12</sup> after twig<sup>13</sup> should fall to the accompaniment of the Holy Text; and one should recite one Ašem Vohû<sup>14</sup> « the Praise of Righteousness » for every twig, as just one twig should be taken with every Ašem Vohû, « the Praise of Righteousness<sup>14</sup>».

<sup>2</sup> For, he would then be unnecessarily wasting time and energy in going to other plants for gathering more twigs. Evidently the remarks here must apply only to the case in which more than three twigs would be wanted; because when only three twigs would be required it would be causing sheer waste to compel taking more, although cases like that should be quite rare as there would generally be wanted more twigs.

<sup>3</sup> The reason for this opinion follows immediately.

<sup>7</sup> 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥𐭥 should be 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 as in the text below. <sup>8</sup> Awîr awîr.

<sup>14</sup> See above, Fol. 175, ll. 6-9.

CHAPTER X

ON THE NUMBER OF THE BARSOM TWIGS WHILE MARKING AND HALLOWING THE HOLY PRECINCTS

182 A « hathra-chis » handarrzhaiti <sup>9</sup>, a-ratufri. whereas when one does not bind together quite more than 3 units « of the Barsôm twigs » <sup>8</sup> just at that same time, one becomes lacking in spiritual merit.

2. Indeed <sup>10</sup> « with respect to this function » this only is certain that <sup>10</sup> within the 3 circular furrows that are ploughed in the ground one

<sup>3</sup> This form is strange to us; and the Pahlavi also renders it by the Pâzandicised gâvîna, though it attempts to explain it.

<sup>5</sup> This meaning can be conjectured from the evident composition of the word, as well as from the gloss.

Here as well as below the Avestan as well as the Pahlavi give the plural, but that is apparently a mistake.

<sup>8</sup> This must evidently be the meaning, as the main term in the sentence as well as the general theme here must point just to that. The reference must no doubt be to the Barsôm to be used while marking and hallowing the sacred precincts.

The next higher and appropriate number would be 5.

<sup>9</sup> Thus restored and corrected.

is to place corn, i.e., grain, in one small<sup>1</sup> basket<sup>1</sup> with<sup>2</sup> the new milk of the cow<sup>3</sup>, near the place of the « Barsôm » band; but about other<sup>3</sup> things<sup>3</sup> I have no knowledge.

CHAPTER XI

ON CROPPING FRESH BARSOM FOR THE SERVICE AT THE PLACE OF ANOTHER

1. Yô anyêhê asahya Barrsma fra-strrrnaiti<sup>4</sup>, As to him who has<sup>5</sup> to spread<sup>5</sup> the sacred Barsôm twigs at the place of another, yêzi pâiti-shâo ũruvardo upa-dâdhâiti, ratufris; just only 182 B when he crops « the twigs » ‘fresh’<sup>6</sup> « from » the trees, i.e., gathers the Barsôm « quite » fresh, then « alone » can he be in spiritual merit; parô upa-dâitô fra-strrrnaiti,<sup>4</sup> a-ratufris. whereas when he spreads those that have been cropped « quite » previously, he becomes lacking in spiritual merit.

2. « With regard to » the Barsôm « that » has been gathered « previously », even when one knows assuredly thus :—“It has certainly been « gathered » for me quite according to the prescribed rules,” still then it shall be wrong « to use it ».<sup>7</sup>

3. « So also » when one has not held up just that<sup>8</sup> which has not been gathered « previously », one should « certainly » be wrong.

<sup>6</sup> The Avestan pâiti expresses this sense which the Pahlavi omits from the translation through some mistake; still it expresses it in the gloss.

Shâo is apparently the demonstrative adjective tâo in its euphonic modification.

« As regards holding it up », it must indeed be quite evident that it cannot be held up whenever both the hands are to be borne into the pure water « for the cleaning manipulations ».<sup>1</sup>

4. There is one who says thus that water-cress<sup>2</sup> likewise must be placed there « in the Service at the place of another », as this is just what is required according to the rule.

A 5. « As regards » a noble<sup>3</sup> and the lady of a noble and a ruling prince<sup>4</sup>, indeed when a person such as these has « the Holy Service » celebrated at one's own house, then just only when one « would place » along with the sacred Drôn cake fresh sweet basil as much as should be necessary, then « alone » would one have acted quite according to the rule.

CHAPTER XII

ON THE SEVERAL POINTS IN THE HOLY TEXT WHERE THE BARSOM MUST BE SPREAD OUT DURING THE DIFFERENT SERVICES

1. Hapta henti<sup>5</sup> Hâvana<sup>6</sup> Ratavô, barrsma strrrnaêta<sup>7</sup>: «When»

<sup>1</sup> It is requisite that there should also be ready freshly gathered Barsôm for holding up, as for spreading, whenever that manipulation should be necessary. But of course it could not be said that the Barsôm was to be held up quite constantly, because evidently it could not be held up whenever both the hands were employed in some prescribed manipulation.

<sup>6</sup> Locative singular of Hâvani which here signifies any of the Yazeshn Services held during the morning period. In this case there appears a special reference to the services that were attended by the full graduation of the officiating divines. It may be recalled that above at Fol. 92, l. 11, ff. the Naôk Nâêvar Gûmânîk, the Visparat and the Bakân Yasn are described as the services that must specially be performed in the Hâvan Gâh.

While it may appear from here that the full holy graduation could specially attend the services of the morn, it may also be inferred from what is said in the commencement of the next folio that perhaps a lesser graduation could suffice during the continuation into other periods of the day, of the greater services which lasted for days together. Though such inference is not quite evident, one may be led to it by the association of the seven places of manipulation with the seven divines in this instance, and the mention of only four places with reference to the other cases, where it might refer to only four divines on the same analogy; and then it would not be clear why a lesser number of divines should suffice in so great services as are referred to there, unless the reference were simply to their continuation into further periods.

in the Service of the Morn the Spiritual Masters<sup>1</sup> are seven, one shall spread out the sacred Barsôm « accordingly »: i.e., that shall verily be brought about<sup>2</sup> just at seven places « in the Holy Text », and that manipulation shall not take place « except just » when one arrives « at these several places in the text » thus :—

2. Paoîrya, “Yêinghê mê Ashât hachâ”<sup>3</sup> ...; Firstly, at « the text » “Yêinghê mê Ashât hachâ ...”, « Whose supreme excellence owing to Righteousness the Most Wise hath shown unto me »,’ in the text<sup>4</sup> of Holy Praise<sup>4</sup> ;

<sup>1</sup> The Spiritual Masters are evidently the superior priests who assist the Zaotar in the performance of the Great Yazeshn Service, just as the same term Ratavô has indicated above at Fol. 157, ll. 23-24. Whereas having in his mind the passage about the 33 Ratus, which he quotes, Darmesteter observes : “These seven masters of Hâvani strangely recall the 33 Masters who approach the sacrifice at the hour of Havani (Yas. I, 10); and as these seven masters personify the sacred texts of the Yasna, one should be inclined to infer that the 33 masters are incorporated into the 33 texts of the Staota Yasnya recited at the Hâvan Gâh, in the Service of the Yasna.” But probably he has gone into an error here, not simply because the term has been used previously in the signification we have preferred, but also because if his supposition were admitted, and if the number of the places of manipulating the Barsôm referred to the Ratus, it would be ununderstandable why in the greatest and most comprehensive services associated with the next case only four Ratus should have sufficed; whereas our meaning can fairly meet that circumstance by taking the reference to be simply to the four divines that could have attended during the continuation of the great services.

<sup>2</sup> Cf. Pr. بروردن. The reference apparently is to the spreading out of the Barsôm,—probably on the Barsôm-stand according to the indication of the Pahlavi at Yas. III, 1 and Yas. XXII, 1—, and tying it up again, at the several places in the holy text, described here. The Barsôm which is to be held in the hand alone could be meant, as it cannot be plain how the Barsôm could be spread seven times on the ground. Darmesteter understands the reference to be simply to laying down the Barsôm on the Barsôm stand, but the term strrâcâta and its Pahlavi equivalent vastareshnih must point to some act of spreading.

<sup>3</sup> This Gathic text properly belongs to Yas. LI, 22; but here the reference is to its occurrence at Yas. XV, 2 where in modern practice also certain manipulations occur; see Ervad Tehmurasp’s Yasna with the Ritual at that place.

<sup>4</sup> Frit (?), probably Av. Frîd. The term seems to be technically applied to some texts, just as Frasûr appears to be applied to some other order of texts, in the same way.

183 B 3. Bitya, Ahunanâm Vairiyanâm ; Secondly, at the recitation of the Ahuna Vairiyas<sup>1</sup>, « the Glorifications of the Lord's Holy Pleasure », in the text of Holy Praise ;

4. Thritya, “Dâidî moi ...” ; Thirdly, at « the text » “Dâidî moi... ..”<sup>2</sup>, « Grant unto me ... » ;

5. Tûrîya, Ustavaityâo vâ Spentâ-Mainyêus vâ hâtôis handâtâ ; Fourthly, at « the completion of » the whole<sup>3</sup> body<sup>3</sup> of the Chapter<sup>4</sup> either of Ushtavaiti<sup>5</sup>, « the Holy Song of Bliss »<sup>4</sup>, or of Spentâ-Mainyû, « the Holy Song of the Holy Spirit<sup>4</sup> », in<sup>6</sup> its special Holy Song<sup>6</sup> ;

6. Pukhdhâ, “Yêinghê me Ashât hachâ... ..”<sup>7</sup> ; ‘ Fifthly at “Yêinghê me Ashât hachâ”<sup>7</sup> ... ..’ in the text of Holy Praise<sup>7</sup> ;

7. Khstvô, “Dâidî moi... ..”<sup>8</sup> ; ‘ Sixthly, at « the text » “Dâidî moi... ..”<sup>8</sup> ;’ in the holy<sup>9</sup> text of High Intonation<sup>9</sup> ;

<sup>1</sup> Between Yas. XV, 2 and Yas. XVIII, 1, there occur no Ahuna Vairiyas, nor any text involving the words Ahunanâm Vairiyanâm, though at the end of Yas. XVIII, at the nearest, there occur 4 Ahuna Vairiyas. Unless therefore we suppose that the order of the texts in the Yasna might have been different in former times, or that some Ahuna Vairiyas then existing between Yas. XV, 2 and Yas. XVIII, 1, have now disappeared from thence, we must remain in indecision about the reference of the text here.

<sup>4</sup> The word hâtôis makes plain that the reference is to the Ushtavaiti Hâ, (i. e., Yas. XLIII), or the Spentâ-Mainyû Hâ, (i. e., Yas. XLVII), and not to the complete clusters of the two Gâthas. 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬎 (Yasht) is wrong for 𐬨𐬀 (Hât).

<sup>5</sup> 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬎 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬎 should be 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬎 or 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬎.

<sup>6</sup> I. e., the first chapter only of either Gâtha, to which the stanza supplying the name of the Gâtha belongs.

<sup>7</sup> Between the above and the next text this text occurs first at Yas. LI, 22, and then at Yas. LXIII, 1. As special manipulations of the Barsôm take place at the latter, it is probable that the latter is the place here intended.

<sup>9</sup> Frasûr appears to be a technical designation of some texts of the nature of Yas. LXV which seems to be so called here.

The word may be traced to Av. 𐬨𐬀 and 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬎 = having power, pitch, or tone ; otherwise the word may be representing 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬎 in a corrupt form.

9. Âat anyâhu ratufrishu<sup>3</sup> chatangrô<sup>4</sup> kainghâoschit<sup>5</sup> barrsmân 184 A fra-stairyata<sup>6</sup>: Whereas in other Right Reverential Worships<sup>3</sup>, « e.g. » the Visparat-Dvâzdah-Hômâst<sup>7</sup> « the Twelffold Service of All the Worshipful Ones including the Service of All the Reverential Ones<sup>7</sup> », one shall spread forth the sacred Barsôm 4 times in the case of any whatsoever « of those », i.e., that shall verily be brought about<sup>8</sup> at 4 places « in the Holy Text, thus »<sup>9</sup>:—

<sup>1</sup> Darmesteter thinks that the reference is to Yas. LXIV, 3; but that chapter gives the last six sections of Yas. L, which is not the Spentâ-Mainyû Hâ; and again the sequence of texts would be going wrong if we accepted the opinion.

These incongruities quite vanish when we only look a little further into the Yasna texts: the Spentâ-Mainyû Hâ is wholly quoted at Yas. LXVIII, 24-29 which is the place possibly meant here.

Again the manipulation is required to take place either at the recitation of the Spentâ-Mainyû or of the Ushtavaiti Hâ, and as regards that it may be noticed that at Yas. LXXI, 16 where the Ushtavaiti Section is found, was probably to be recited the Ushtavaiti Hâ wholly, and there probably the manipulations indicated in the text were to take place according to circumstances.

<sup>4</sup> When the word has puzzled scholars a little at Yt. XIV, 44, the Pahlavi here settles the meaning to be “four.” It will be recalled that the word has already occurred at Fol. 126, l. 4; but its Pahlavi is lost there.

<sup>5</sup> Feminine, genitive, singular, as having a reference to Ratufri. The word in the text is corrupt; and instead of—chit Darmesteter proposes—chôit.

<sup>7</sup> Cf. the Visparat-Dô-Hômâst described below. It may be noted that the merit of celebrating the Dvâzdah-Hômâst is said to be 100,000 Tanâpûhars; and that same is said to be also the merit of celebrating the Visparat when that is attended with the full ritual; see West's note 4 to Sh. Lâ-Sh. XVI, 6. Perhaps this last is one of the kinds mentioned here. Of course, among other services, the Rapitwin also would be meant here.

<sup>8</sup> See note 2 to § 1 above.

10. Paoirya, “Yêinghê mê ... ..”; ‘Firstly, at «the text» “Yêinghê mê ... ..”<sup>1</sup>” in the text of Holy Praise ;

11. Bitya, “Ahunanâm Vairiyanâm”<sup>2</sup>; Secondly,<sup>2</sup> at «the recitation» of the Ahuna<sup>3</sup> Vairiiyas<sup>3</sup> ‘in<sup>2</sup> the text of Holy Praise’;<sup>2</sup>

12. ‘Thritya’<sup>2</sup>, “Dâidî moi Yé Gâm ... ..”; ‘Thirdly,<sup>2</sup> «at the text» “Dâidî moi Yé Gâm ... ..”<sup>4</sup>’;<sup>2</sup>

13. Tûirya, Ustavaityâo<sup>5</sup> vâ Spentâ-Mainyéus vâ ‘hâtôis<sup>2</sup> handâtâ<sup>2</sup>. Fourthly, at the «completion» of the whole body of the Chapter either of Ushtavaitî, «the Holy Song of Bliss», or of Spentâ-Mainyû, «the Holy Song of the Holy Spirit»,’ as described above, in the text of Holy Praise.<sup>6</sup>

CHAPTER XII : APPENDIX

ON THE SUBSTANCE OF THE VĪSPARAT-DÔ-HÔMÂST

1. In Substance<sup>7</sup> the Visparat-Dô-Hômast<sup>8</sup> «the Twofold Service of All the Worshipful Ones including the Service of All the Reverential Ones» is «just the same as» the Hâvan-Dô-Hômast «the Twofold Service of All the Worshipful Ones including the Service of <sup>1</sup> See note 3 to § 2 above.

<sup>5</sup> The text adds here the term Gâthayâo’; but if we must complete the text here as it is given above, then that term cannot stand with hâtôis which has a subsidiary denotation.

<sup>6</sup> Possibly, the third and the fourth places here are not the same as those so numbered in the previous case; they must be those that are indicated as sixth and seventh in that connection; see notes 8 and 1 to § § 7 and 8 above.

<sup>7</sup> Châshtak.

<sup>8</sup> The exact signification of the Dô-Hômast is not known, but it seems from the following that there were at least two kinds of it: in one the Holy Service of the Yasna was primarily concerned, and in the other the Holy Service of the Visparat which includes the Yasna but which in substance is nothing more than that. For an explanation of the other Hômâsts see note 5 to Bah. Yt. II, 59 in S. B. E. Vol. V.

It is probable that in the Visparat-Dô-Hômast the Visparat was recited along with the Yasna every day of the period through which the Service continued.

the Morn»,—but not so even in textual<sup>1</sup> extent<sup>1</sup> as in substance, « so that » when one celebrates in thanksgiving the Vîsparat-Dô-Hômâst « the Twofold Service of All the Worshipful Ones including the Service of All the Reverential Ones », then that being the greater<sup>2</sup> of both the 184 B
Hômâsts, it<sup>3</sup> lasts up to the forenoon.<sup>3</sup>

2. And « in that respect it must be remembered that » in which-ever that is the greater « of the Hô-mâsts », on ' both the occasions ' « when » one is to recite the Aûshtwat, « the Holy Song of Bliss », and the Spendômat, « the Holy Song of the Holy Spirit », <sup>5</sup> one is required to recite in « that » Hô-mâst the Spendômat first<sup>4</sup>, either in<sup>7</sup> their proper places<sup>7</sup> or at the close<sup>8</sup> of the Holy Thanksgiving Service.<sup>8</sup>

3. « The texts of the Vîsparat-Dô-Hômâst are as follow<sup>9</sup> » :—

(1). Vîspāns Ameshān Spentūn yazamaidê<sup>10</sup>; ' We adore in gratefulness all the Immortal Holy Beneficent Powers ; ... .. '

(2). Ashem Vohû 3<sup>11</sup>; « The Praise of Righteousness 3 times » ;

Yêinghê mê ... ..<sup>11</sup>; ' Of whom, to me ... .. ' ; ... ..
... ..

<sup>3</sup> Frayar.

<sup>4</sup> Kolâ 2 vîn, i. e., while reciting the passages indicated in the fourth and the seventh places described on Fol. 183A, as well as just below.

<sup>5</sup> Evidently the reference in the first case must be to the two entire Gâthas, whereas in the next the two Hâs alone could be meant. See what follows.

<sup>6</sup> This and what follows below indicate that the order of the texts was not the same in the Dô-Hômâst as in the Yasna and the Visparat.

<sup>7</sup> The words pann gâs ê napshman are just those that are found above in the last Folio at lines 22 and 30 ; but the exact sense is different here, as referring to the proper places of the texts in the Yasna, i. e., as Chapters XLIII and XLVII, and not indicating them simply generally as in that previous case.

<sup>8</sup> Yasn sar, i. e., at Yas. LXVIII, 24-29 and Yas. LXXI, 16 possibly.

<sup>9</sup> The following texts are introduced abruptly, but as the Visparat-Dô-Hômâst is just being talked about, and as the texts belong to the Visparat, though with a different extent and order, one is naturally led to conclude that they are the texts of the Visparat-Dô-Hômâst. Evidently it is not a complete enumeration of the texts, but simply a summary description of the most remarkable in order, extent, or detail.

<sup>10</sup> These texts probably do not properly belong to any others that we have ; but they may be compared with Yas. XLII, 6.

<sup>3</sup> See end of Visp. IX, and see also the close of Visp. VI, and Visp. I, 9.

4. That text<sup>7</sup> of the Holy Service<sup>7</sup> can be less than this ; « and indeed » it is allowed to have it in smaller extent than this ; but such<sup>8</sup>

 text appears to separate this expression from the preceding ; otherwise it could be taken in continuation of the preceding text.

<sup>3</sup> Evidently, if the two preceding texts are recited separately, the response must be repeated in each case separately.

<sup>6</sup> Apparently the above is simply a summary of the most important texts of the Visparat-Dô-Hômâst,— especially those which differed in order, extent, or detail from the texts in ordinary use.

CHAPTER XIII

ON THE RIGHT MANNER OF SPREADING THE SACRED BARSOM

1. <sup>3</sup>Yô ūruvarūm barrsma<sup>4</sup> fra-starrnaiti<sup>5</sup> hamô-varrshajîm<sup>6</sup> 179, paouru-fravâkhshem<sup>7</sup>, As to him who has, for spreading out as 1. 10
Barsôm, the plant with the same stem and many<sup>8</sup> branches<sup>8</sup>, i.e., such as whose stem is one and whose limbs are several, vîbarô<sup>9</sup> fravâkhshô<sup>10</sup> ratufris, nôt a<sup>11</sup>-vî-barô. if he takes the twigs 179 B apart<sup>12</sup> i.e., if he cuts them asunder, he scores spiritual merit, « but » not<sup>13</sup> if<sup>13</sup> he does not take « them » apart, especially « because<sup>14</sup> while » some twigs « may thus be used » in the service in hand, other twigs « can be spared to be used » as twigs in another service.

<sup>2</sup> The text which follows at this stage up to l. 12 of folio 187 is really a continuation of the theme which is commenced at Fol. 190, l. 11 below, and breaks off suddenly at l. 17 of that folio; and just in its place here in the text it intrudes quite in the midst of the themes which are still treating about the Barsom. Hence it is transferred to its right place in the text after Fol. 190, l. 17 below.

<sup>4</sup> Had this word been an adjective qualifying ūruvarūm, its proper form should have been barrsmanîm; but probably both are nouns in the relation of direct and indirect objects.

<sup>9</sup> Evidently the nominative singular of vî-barant.

<sup>14</sup> This is the especial cause; but other reasons; such as the awkwardness in using the twig itself, may also be considered.

2. Paoiris<sup>1</sup> paoiri<sup>1</sup>- fravôkhshô fra-starnaiti,<sup>2</sup> « If however he » has, for spreading out, many clustered<sup>3</sup> twigs, « i.e., » bunched<sup>4</sup> twigs, such as on every one of which a bunch of shoots has grown<sup>5</sup>, vî-baras-cha a-vî-baras-cha ratufris<sup>6</sup>. then both when he takes them apart as well as when he does<sup>7</sup> not take them apart<sup>8</sup>, can he score spiritual merit.

3. Note however that it is indeed so manifested regarding the rose withy that it<sup>9</sup> must be proper<sup>9</sup> only when one will not have taken apart « its clusters »<sup>10</sup>.

4. Yô barrsma anahmât<sup>11</sup> naêmât hûm-srishâiti<sup>12</sup> hûm-vâ-darrza-
180 A yêiti, As to him who<sup>13</sup>, all on any one side, — « the meaning may be » thus; or « it may be », “As to him who<sup>13</sup>, all on both the sides,<sup>14</sup>” — has heaped<sup>15</sup> up the Barsôm closely together<sup>16</sup> or has packed<sup>16</sup> « it » up closely together<sup>13</sup>, vî-barô ratufris, nôit

<sup>5</sup> What is meant is not a cluster of twigs, but individual twigs, each having on itself a cluster of small shoots.

<sup>6</sup> The text is here wholly corrected.

<sup>7</sup> 𐬀𐬀 has disappeared from after 𐬀𐬀, and so must be restored.

<sup>11</sup> This word has puzzled the Pahlavi doctors, because, they have fluctuated between the significations of “one” and “two” as its probable meanings. But their former conjecture seems to be the correct one as ana may be another form of aêva = one.

The meaning might otherwise be “... pressed up together ...”; but the sense seems to refer to the act of spreading the Barsôm, not of tying it up into bundles.

<sup>16</sup> Or, “crammed it up together;” see the last remark in the previous note.

a<sup>17</sup>-vî-barô*, only when he takes «the twigs» apart can he be in spiritual merit, but not when he does not take «them» apart.

5. Note that it can indeed be manifested « in this relation » that if the top of the Barsôm twig is too<sup>1</sup> profusely tufted<sup>1</sup> that cannot be proper<sup>3</sup> ; nor can it be proper when the bulk<sup>3</sup> of the tip is just like that of the end<sup>4</sup>.

6. Atha yatha yô hām-vaêshya<sup>5</sup> hām-vaêshyêiti<sup>6</sup>, va<sup>7</sup> naêma hām-srishaiti<sup>8</sup>, vî-baras-cha a-vî-baras-cha ratufri<sup>9</sup>. Whereas<sup>9</sup>, as<sup>10</sup> regards him who<sup>10</sup> with even<sup>11</sup> bunching<sup>11</sup> has<sup>12</sup> clustered together « the Barsôm shoots » evenly<sup>12</sup>, and has uniformly heaped<sup>13</sup> them up together on both the sides<sup>14</sup>, « both » when he takes<sup>15</sup> them apart<sup>15</sup> as also when he does<sup>16</sup> not take them apart<sup>16</sup> can he be in spiritual merit<sup>17</sup>.

<sup>4</sup> This idea cannot of course be derived from the above passage, like the previous one; rather it modifies this previous idea by asserting that while the cluster is not to be quite thick, it is also not to be removed altogether.

* The text has hām-vaêshyâ; it may be derived from Hām-vish = to spread or sprinkle evenly.

<sup>6</sup> This appears to be a denominative verb derivable from the above form. The text however has יִצְחָק וַיֵּלֶךְ.

<sup>8</sup> Several apparent errors in the text are all corrected here.

9. 1009 must be supplied as the translation of 1009.

The term ~~1901140~~ appears to be intrusive.

10 ~~if~~ should be if.

<sup>12</sup> Oḥ ham âgisht yakavimûnêt; cf. Pr. آغيشتن = to mix; to embrace.

The words ~~on~~ ~~the~~ intrude here from l. 2 above.

19  $\text{אֶת־הַיָּדָיו}$  would be a better text than  $\text{אֶת־הַיָּדָיו־}$ .

၂၃၇-၆၃ of the text.

<sup>10</sup> Achadarûnêt, lit. = heaps up.

17 When the clustering and heaping are uniform, they need not be thinned.

ON THE RIGHT MANNER OF GOING TO FETCH WATER FOR THE SACRED BARSOM

1. Frashāvayô aiwi-gômê<sup>7</sup> ratufris, nôit<sup>9</sup> paiti<sup>8</sup> a-frashāvayô. By going forth to fetch «water» in winter—i.e., when one fetches<sup>9</sup> water for the sacred Barsôm twigs—is one in spiritual merit,—not by not going forth to fetch, i.e., when one does not fetch «water».

2. Ká<sup>10</sup> fra-shúitis?—yat kvat<sup>11</sup>? Of<sup>10</sup> what kind<sup>10</sup> shall be the going forth?—‘i e., in what way’? «such that» just<sup>13</sup> at that section<sup>13</sup> of Khshvas Vagzhibis<sup>13</sup> «the Six Utterances» when water

<sup>2</sup> And therefore, also not clustered. The proper text should be  $\frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2} = \frac{1}{2}$ .

Proper clustering and proper strength of the twigs are both necessary.

The water was to be fetched from outside the holy precincts probably because as to be kept liquid by the application of heat, as the intense cold of the winter would congeal any water that might be kept by.

<sup>13</sup> See above, Fol. 138, l. 15, where Darmesteter has already suggested that the reference is to Asha-sara manangha, asha-sara vachangha, asha-sara shyaothana which words have occurred at Fol. 137, ll. 22-25.

is wanted in winter for the sacred Barsôm twigs unless<sup>1</sup> one goes forth in this<sup>2</sup> manner<sup>3</sup> it should be unlawful—?

ON TAKING CHARGE OF THE BARSÔM SPREADING OF ANOTHER

1. Yô anyêhê dahmahê barrsma frastarenti<sup>12</sup> fra-jasaiti, As to him who will<sup>13</sup> take charge of<sup>13</sup> the Barsôm-spreading<sup>14</sup> of another<sup>16</sup> pious<sup>16</sup> individual<sup>16</sup>, i.e., when the person will take charge of the Thanksgiving Service, i.e., the Worship, that the other has to perform, yêzi hôi dahmô antarât naêmât hâthrahê, a-ratufri; if the pious individual be within the distance of a Hâthra from

<sup>3</sup> Patmânak.

<sup>4</sup> The words pann rōyeshman Barsôm are probably a mistaken repetition of the preceding words which are the same as these, although they have the Aryan sar instead of its Semitic equivalent rōyeshman.

<sup>5</sup> Barâ.

<sup>7</sup> That is to say, while going to fetch the water one must not walk over the Barsôm

<sup>11</sup> In summer the water that was to be sprinkled upon the sacred twigs, could be kept within the holy precincts and close by; for, then there could not be the necessity to have kept it under the application of heat outside the holy precincts to prevent its being congealed, as it would be necessary in winter.

When a priest has got ready a Service for himself and is away from it, but further than at a Hâthra's distance from it, then he is in a position himself to carry that Service through ; and so if another priest wishes to carry that Service through, he is bound first to take that other priest's permission.

If however the other priest has gone beyond a Hâthra's distance from the rice, then possibly inasmuch as he ought not to have gone so far under the circumstance, he forfeits his claim to those preparations ; and any other priest then take possession of them, and may carry the Service through without being rendered answerable in any way.

 charge to a woman<sup>9</sup> or a child<sup>9</sup>, i.e., she or it is authorised by one « to take it », havâi rathwê, pathayêiti<sup>10</sup>. « then only when one 189 B does<sup>11</sup> so » in the capacity of « one being such a » one’s own lord,<sup>11</sup> can one be proceeding<sup>12</sup> in the right way.<sup>12</sup>

4. Indeed that must « always » be « the case » whenever she « happensto be » in what may similarly be woman’s<sup>13</sup> proper<sup>14</sup> functions.<sup>14</sup>

 of Dâiti. Darmesteter very aptly recalls vâstrô-dâtainya of Visp. I, 2, and II, 2.

 folio helps us to restore it. It is a fragment of some text which gave instructions in respect of gathering the sacred Barsôm twigs.

<sup>8</sup> The point is that when any such charge is given to a child the things must be in ready condition, and one should not leave anything for the child to prepare, as it is incapable of doing it.

<sup>9</sup> The Pahlavi appears to have rendered both these terms in the plural number; still however 1<sup>re</sup> may be the preposition avô, and not the plural suffix.

<sup>10</sup> This is the form in our text here and below, though elsewhere in the Avesta the root appears in the fourth class.

<sup>11</sup> Otherwise, “ ( ... takes it ) for one’s own lord.”

<sup>14</sup> Bahâr. A woman or a child, it must appear, could take any such charge,

5. Daêvayasnem vâ tanuprrrthem vâ astem dasti, If one entrusts a charge to a demon-worshipper<sup>1</sup> or a transgressor in one's person<sup>1</sup>, i.e., this is authorised by one «to take the fuel and the Barsôm to the place of the holy ritual», paoiryâi dahmanûm pairigrrrmyâi<sup>2</sup>, pathayêiti. then on the first of pious men<sup>3</sup> taking over «the charge», viz., the fuel<sup>4</sup> «and the Barsôm», shall one be considered to have proceeded in the right way<sup>5</sup>.

190 A 6. Behold concerning collaborators<sup>6</sup> there is no distinction as to self and others<sup>7</sup> in this, viz., in it being never lawful to gather the 3 twigs «indicated in » Nôit thrayûm<sup>8</sup> upamanûm fra-vâkhshayûm upathwrrrsôit. 'Not of the three uppermost<sup>9</sup> twigs shall one cut.'

7. «So also» concerning collaborators there is no distinction as to others and as to self «regarding what is enjoined in » A-thwrrrsaya<sup>10</sup> âêtahê thwâm<sup>11</sup> ... .. 'Thou shalt not cause thee to cut of that ... ..'

provided that that was on authorisation from her or its lord. So also in all other similar functions befitting a woman she could undertake them specially on authorisation from her lord. Still it must appear from Aêr. Bk. I, III, 5-6 and Bk. I, IV, 1, etc., that under certain conditions a woman could undertake such functions or a child could be engaged in them even without such authorisation from either's lord.

<sup>2</sup> Apparently the dative of a noun from pairi-grrm which is another form of pairi-grrw. = "to take over."

<sup>5</sup> When any of such men takes a charge to a sacred function, the first priest meeting him on the way must take over the charge from him; otherwise that priest should be culpable, and the things must lose their value.

<sup>6</sup> Hambarakân. The reference must evidently be to those who help one another at a holy function, and have distinctions of rank such as of the Zaotî and the Râthwi. It is meant here that one's holding a special rank must not exempt one from the discharge of such duties.

<sup>8</sup> In the previous instance, thryâm is the form used; both forms can apparently be used without any distinction.

<sup>9</sup> Evidently the central ones along one of which the stalk is growing. Their destruction must apparently harm the growth of the tree.

<sup>11</sup> This is another fragment of some text giving injunctions on the precautions to be taken on gathering the sacred Barsôm or the fuel.

8. « So also concerning collaborators » there is no distinction as to others and as to self as regards it being requisite for both the persons<sup>1</sup> to gather « the sacred fuel and the Barsôm » just according to the law, and it being unlawful when there happens wilful injury, as when the root comes out,<sup>2</sup> inasmuch as « what is gathered » is to be lawful as fuel and Barsôm ;—but that is to be so when it cannot be taken into use as wood, for, when it can be taken into use as wood, then it can be allowed even if one destroy it by the root.<sup>3</sup>

CHAPTER XVII

ON THE QUANTITY OF THE SACRED FUEL AND INCENSE FOR THE SERVICE

1. Chvat nâ nitema aêsmahê paiti-barô ratufris? By taking how much fuel at the least<sup>4</sup> is a person in spiritual merit?

2. Yatha varrshnahê kehrpalê<sup>5</sup> dêus<sup>6</sup>. As much as « when heaped up would reach » the shoulder of one<sup>7</sup> having the constitution of a vigorous<sup>8</sup> male.<sup>7</sup>

190,
l. 17

<sup>1</sup> The Zaoti and the Râthwi probably ; otherwise any two of the helping priests with distinctions of rank.

<sup>2</sup> Taking 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 (khâst) instead of 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥. Otherwise the meaning must be “ ... is desired (to be taken).” Cf. above, Fol. 175, ll. 13-14, and Fol. 177, ll. 16-17.

<sup>3</sup> One must not take a tree out by its root while gathering from it the Barsôm or the Aêsam. That can be done only when one wants to use it as wood. Indeed, it must be considered wanton destruction to take it out thus while gathering the Barsôm or the Aêsam.

<sup>6</sup> This word is strange, but the Pahlavi renders dûsh and may signify “shoulder” which idea suits the context.

<sup>7</sup> 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 is certainly wrong for 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥 𐭠𐭣𐭥𐭥

With his usual penetration Darmesteter recalls Âfringân I, 5.

It will be seen that just in the next paragraph it is stated that a hundred loads are wanted in one of the greater services. If therefore, the reference here be to one of the smaller services, the quantity here must be much less than that. But if the reference be to the least quantity wanted in one of the greater services, then evidently the quantity here must approximately equal that other. Indeed in both the cases the meaning is left vague to a certain extent.

185, 3. « There should be kept ready at hand and » dāityāi
 1. 24 pairistāi <sup>1</sup> 'well tested according to the Law,' a hundred <sup>2</sup> loads <sup>2</sup> « of wood-billets with incense ».

4. « Indeed » even <sup>3</sup> the procedure <sup>3</sup> regarding the testing <sup>4</sup> of the incense for the Holy Thanksgiving Service is not different « from that for the wood-billets ».

5. « The wood-billets should be » frarāthni-drājanghō <sup>5</sup> 'of the length of the forearm,' solid <sup>6</sup>, and varis<sup>7</sup>-stavanghascha <sup>8</sup> 'of the thickness of the wrist.' <sup>7</sup>

6. One <sup>9</sup> should guard against <sup>9</sup> « any » increase <sup>10</sup> « herein, as 186 A surely » any excess <sup>11</sup> above this is illegal, as waste. <sup>12</sup>

7. There is « however » one who says thus: Verily, as it is manifested from the Holy Wisdom, any excess above this is said to be « permitted up to » 14 « loads » <sup>13</sup> altogether.

CHAPTER XVIII

ON THE PRESENTATION OF THE SACRED FUEL AND INCENSE DURING THE SERVICE

1. Kva aētem aēsmem <sup>14</sup> paiti-barāt? Where might one take forward the fuel « for presentation »?

<sup>2</sup> Sat-varakân (?); cf. Pr. ۵۰۰ = hundred, and ۵۰۱ = a row; or ۵۰۲ = a load; cf. Guj. બારી.

The reference here must evidently be to the quantity of the fuel and incense that might be used in one of the greater Services. The smallest Hômast lasted for 144 days and the largest for 264. In the larger Hômasters, other texts were additionally used beside the Yasna. To supply any ceremonial so extensive as this, a hundred loads would not under any circumstance be too much, though, as just above observed, the sense of a "load" must remain somewhat vague.

<sup>13</sup> This would make 114 loads at the most.

2. Antarr Ahuna<sup>1</sup> Airyamna.<sup>2</sup> Between the Ahunas, « the Glorifications of the Lord's Holy Pleasure », and the Airyaman, « the Praise of Noble Gentility ».<sup>3</sup>

3. « The prayer by which » the fuel goes<sup>4</sup> to be taken into Spiritual Account,<sup>4</sup> is this :—

Khshnaoθra ..... ' With being in the Holy Concord of ..... '

Yathâ Ahû Vairiyô ..... ' As is the Lord's Holy Pleasure ..... '

Yazamaidê ..... ' We express our obligations to ..... '

In the Holy Songs « there should be recited » 10 times the whole of Yasnemcha<sup>5</sup> ..... ' ..... and the worship ..... '

Barata brrrtem<sup>6</sup> ..... ' Carry ye ..... as borne ..... '

Yâsangha<sup>7</sup> Âtars! âêsmem—dâityô—âêsmân ..... ' Demand thou O Holy Flame! the fuel—the lawful fuel-pieces ..... '

4. « And the prayer by which » the incense goes<sup>4</sup> to be taken into Spiritual Account,<sup>4</sup> is this :—

Ni-vaêdhayêmi ..... ' I devoutly glorify ..... '

Yatha Yim Ahurem Mazdâm ..... ' So that ..... Who is the Most Wise Supreme Being ..... '

<sup>3</sup> Darmesteter rightly understands this as signifying "during the recitation of the Gâthas," because the text at ll. 19-21 of this folio also appears to indicate that sense. When so taken, the Ahunas must be the Ahuna Vairiyas recited at the close of Yas. XXVII. The exact place of presentation is indicated below to be Yas. XLIII, 1; see at the top of the next folio.

When that is taken to be the sense, the reference here cannot be to the mere acts of producing the fuel for feeding the sacred fire, but must rather be to a symbolical presentation of the fuel; because, through the entire holy service, the sacred fire is to be fed and kept aflame from the very first.

The following are evidently the prayers necessary for the consecration of the fuel and the incense.

<sup>5</sup> This apparently indicates the whole of Yas. LXII whose opening word is just the same as here.

<sup>7</sup> Cf. Vend. XVIII, 18-21. The text corruptly has akyâoschangha, but the corresponding text below at l. 17 has yâsangha which clearly indicates the form we have restored. The reference here is evidently to the acts which promote good life.

Nemô vâ vanghavô!<sup>2</sup> ..... 'Homage unto you O ye good ones ! .....'

Yâsanguha Âtars! baoidhîm—âêtâm baoidhîm ddîtyô-baoidhayô ..... 'Demand thou O Holy Flame! the incense—that incense which is composed of « different » lawful incenses<sup>3</sup>.

5. Oimchit<sup>4</sup> *ava vâchim Gâthanâm a-srutelem pairi-barô, a-ratufri*s. On one's taking forward « the fuel and incense » without reciting a single word of the Holy Songs,<sup>5</sup> one<sup>6</sup> becomes 'lacking in' spiritual merit,<sup>6</sup> because one has to recite « this » text of Holy Wisdom just as one goes through « that » function.

6. P scha vâ fara vâ pairi-barrnti,<sup>7</sup> *a-ratufri*s. 'If one goes through « the text »' too late, as when one goes through the function first and recites the Holy Text afterwards, or too early, viz., « when one goes too early » through the Holy Text, 'then one becomes lacking in spiritual merit.'<sup>8</sup>

7. « The presentation shall take place on the recitation of the texts »:—

Athô Ratus ..... 'So the Spiritual Master .....

Mazdayasnô ahmi—Mazdayasnô Zarathustris ..... up to ... â-stôitis. I am a worshipper of the Most Wise One—a worshipper of the Most Wise One according to the Holy Creed of Zarathushtra ..... up to ... the praiseworthy glory .....

<sup>3</sup> The text apparently signifies this, and refers to the virtues which perfume life.

<sup>5</sup> Cf. ll. 5-6 of this folio, just above, where it is indicated that the fuel (and incense) are symbolically to be presented during the recitation of the Gâthas.

<sup>7</sup> No doubt the form is singular here; and so it must indicate the radix barrn; cf. Pairi-barin at Vend XVII, 2 and 4, where it has a different shade of meaning; and see Fol. 181, ll. 6 and 9.

<sup>8</sup> When a function is to be gone through to the accompaniment of a holy text, evidently the function and the text must proceed at regular steps together,

Nemô vé Gátháo Ashaonîs! 'Homage unto you O ye Holy Songs!'

Ustâ ahmâi .....<sup>1</sup> up to ..... fra-charantô<sup>2</sup> aêva Mazda- 187 A
yasna barrsmân strrrnti, 'Beatific gladness «shall be» for him
.....',<sup>3</sup> up to '..... walking forward, those worshippers of the Most Wise spread the sacred Barsom twigs, ..... ' and again up to ..... yô anu aêshem ..... 'who according to pleasure ..... '.

8. Tat hama, tat airwi-gâma. «It shall be» so in summer,
«and it shall be» so in winter «likewise.»

9. Āat Aêshô Yô armôshidô airwi-errtô-Gâtus<sup>3</sup> ..... Then He Who is abiding still in peace enthroned in the most exalted State<sup>3</sup> ..... «Evidently, the text to continue here is» just what we «know it to be» in this case.<sup>4</sup>

187,
l. 12

CHAPTER XIX

ON THE KIND AND SIZE OF THE SACRED MORTAR AND PESTLE

1. <sup>5</sup>This «is» manifested from the text of Holy Wisdom, «viz.»:—

Asmanaêibya<sup>6</sup> havanaêibya ratufrîs, ayanghaênibya, zemaênibya. 190,
1. 17
One is in spiritual merit by having the mortar<sup>7</sup> and pestle<sup>7</sup>

<sup>1</sup> This appears to indicate that the presentation of the fuel and incense must take place while reciting the Ushtavaiti Hâ.

<sup>3</sup> Evidently the reference is to the Sacred Flame, as can be seen from Yas. LXII, 8; hence the words to follow must be some such expression as "..... shall accept and consume these presentations ....."

The text is corrected. It breaks off all of a sudden probably because it is assumed to be too well known to be repeated here.

It must be noted that the Pahlavi renders in plural numbers here.

<sup>6</sup> The Pahlavi âsimin has guided us to restore this term. Cf. Visp. X,

2, etc.

<sup>7</sup> The term havana has this combined sense which is also indicated by the application of the dual number to it in most of the cases.

of silver,<sup>1</sup> « or » of steel, « or » of porcelain.<sup>2</sup>—

2. Yêzi anu-syðonta<sup>3</sup>, a-ratuf-rayô.<sup>4</sup> Indeed if they would allow « anything essential to the Service » to be omitted, i.e., if they would leave out anything, they would be lacking in spiritual merit.

3. Behold, as a remedy optionally<sup>5</sup> to be applied,<sup>5</sup> « an extra quantity of » pure water should be kept ready.<sup>6</sup> It is essential for the Barsôm stand when it happens to be impure. And it is essential as a purifying medium whenever one has to be scrupulously careful « about cleanness ».<sup>7</sup> It must not « however » be used for the fuel stand.<sup>8</sup>

191 A 4. — Nôit astaênaêibya, nôit drvaêni-bya,<sup>9</sup> nôit fravâkhshaên-aêibya ratuf-ris. Neither by having « the mortar and pestle » of bone, nor of wood, nor of lead, can one be in spiritual merit.

<sup>1</sup> The Pahlavi gives this meaning ; and there is no reason why that should be rejected for the sense “ made of stone,” as is done by some scholars.

<sup>2</sup> The substance which would serve to make mortar and pestle, must be harder than ordinary earthenware; and hence the substance here intended might be some sort of porcelain.

<sup>3</sup> This is the form that may best be reconciled with what we have in the text, viz., anusvâo anta.

It is the imperfect, Atmanepada, subjunctive, third person plural of anu-sî. The form in the text would suggest the root anu-su, but no meaning attached to that term can yield a sense that may suit here ; whereas the root sî = “ to lie off ” can suggest a cogent meaning. It will also be seen that it is impossible to trace a form of an-us or an-vas in this case.

<sup>6</sup> Some extra water must always be kept by in reserve, to be used on emergency.

<sup>8</sup> There is hardly any doubt that the word here expresses the âêsam-dân; evidently no water can be sprinkled on it, because the sacred fuel is to be kept scrupulously dry.

Nor also is it difficult to explain how the form fray could be corrupted from fray : apparently as is elsewhere the case, the Aryan fray and its Semitic equivalent fray have coalesced, through the error of the copyist, into the corrupt hybrid fray.

5. Dâityô anyô<sup>1</sup> havanô, dâityô anyô<sup>1</sup>; As the law requires « so should be » the one<sup>2</sup> Haoma-pounding utensil, « i.e., the mortar, and » as the law requires « so should be » the other,<sup>3</sup> i.e., the pestle<sup>4</sup>; yatha va<sup>4</sup> dhâityô<sup>5</sup> hita.<sup>6</sup> ‘so « closely » are both bound up together in view of the law.’

6. When<sup>7</sup> in both the cases<sup>8</sup> one recites the Holy Service according to the law « first, and » performs the function « which is to accompany it, afterwards », that should be lacking in spiritual merit.<sup>9</sup>

7. Verily, « as regards » any function that must be performed to the accompaniment of the text of Holy Wisdom, it « can be » quite correct only when one manages it aright, to the accompaniment of the text of Holy Wisdom. Whereas when one recites away the Holy Text and performs the function afterwards, that cannot be proper; because,<sup>10</sup> when the Holy Text is already recited away, one will not have « any more » Holy Text for recitation in accompaniment of the function. 191 B

8. Chvathya nâ nitemaîbya hâvanaîbya<sup>11</sup> ratufris? With how little mortar and pestle at the least is a person in spiritual merit?

If that form be correct, it must be only a variant of anyô which both the Pahlavi and the possible sense make evident.

<sup>7</sup> This is no translation of the preceding Avestan text as it may at first sight appear, for the words directly run on into what follows.

<sup>8</sup> Probably of cleaning the mortar and of cleaning the pestle.

<sup>11</sup> It will be noticed that in the preceding instance forms of havana have been used.

9. Yâ<sup>1</sup> thrayâstuma<sup>2</sup> hâitîm<sup>3</sup> hîs<sup>4</sup> khvistô<sup>5</sup>. « With such pair<sup>6</sup> » as must crush those Haoma pieces into a Haoma drink of three doses.

CHAPTER XX

ON THE HAOMA, THE WATER, AND THE MILK FOR THE SACRED DRINK

1. Chyâvantô aêtê<sup>7</sup> âsavô anghen? Of what size shall those « Haoma » twig-pieces be?

2. Bashi<sup>8</sup> drâjanghô, aogê<sup>9</sup> varrsô. Of the length of two finger-breadths,<sup>8</sup>—or aêvahê haom<sup>10</sup> ... .. ‘ ... its own ..... of one « unit of two finger-breadths’ measure »,’—and in thickness as much as the Vars ring<sup>11</sup> « for the electrification ».

<sup>2</sup> The word is obscure, but seems to indicate a quantity divisible into three. The text is corrupt, and is corrected throughout.

<sup>5</sup> Present, Parasmaipada, third person dual of probably 𐬭𐬀 a root signifying “to crush”; cf. 𐬭𐬀 = “to break,” of which 𐬭𐬀 might be a variant; cf. also Pr. 𐬭𐬀-𐬭𐬀 = to moisten and crush.

The Pahlavi simply renders hûnitâr; so perhaps it does not perceive a verbal form in the original.

<sup>6</sup> I.e., the mortar and the pestle.

<sup>8</sup> This word is obscure. Still, it may be related to vā, the abbreviation of dva=two. And as “finger-breadth” is the usual unit of measure in such cases it must appear likely that the word may signify “two finger-breadths.”

The Pahlavi nearly transcribes the word with 𐬔𐬭. There is however a Persian word 𐬔𐬭 which resembles it, and signifies “a bolt-pin”; but one cannot be certain whether that word can bear any relation here, especially when “a bolt-pin” must indicate quite a vague length.

<sup>9</sup> The locative singular of aoga which may be taken as a variant of aogangh=“size”; “thickness”; cf. the forms nema and nemangh.

<sup>11</sup> There can be no doubt that Varrsa here means the Vars ring; it must be absurd to suppose that the hair could be meant.

7. Behold, Afrog makes<sup>1</sup> known<sup>1</sup> at<sup>2</sup> this place that if there be no Hallowed Portion of the Holy Sap<sup>3</sup> « at the function of pounding the Haoma », the Holy Service must pass into retribution, hence it must not be performed « in that case; and likewise » if there be no 192 B Vars ring<sup>4</sup> « for the electrification », then also it must pass into retribution, and « hence » it must not be performed « in that case also ».

CHAPTER XXI

ON THE THINGS IN THE HOLY APPARATUS THAT MUST BE ONE'S OWN, AND THE THINGS THAT MAY BE BORROWED

1. Havanaêibya nâ havaêibya-cha ang-havaêibya-cha ratufris<sup>5</sup>. A person is in spiritual merit by having the mortar<sup>6</sup> and pestle<sup>6</sup> of one's own, and also<sup>7</sup> by having those not one's own;—provided always one is<sup>8</sup> careful<sup>8</sup> thus: Surely indeed in any case I<sup>9</sup> shall « always » be requesting their loan<sup>9</sup> in the right way<sup>10</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> 𐬀 must mean thus at this place; for, the sense of “from” would make the statements of Afrog inferences from what is said above in the text; but no such inferences can be drawn.

<sup>3</sup> No doubt the reference is to the two cups of electrified water, filled out at the Preparatory Service from the basin in which the Vars is moved a thousand times while reciting the 101 Names of the Most Wise. It is so essential because the Haoma drink is to be prepared with just this water.

<sup>6</sup> According to the restoration of the Avestan text, the term 𐬀𐬀𐬀 (hâvan) should be supplied in the Pahlavi here.

<sup>10</sup> One may use one's own mortar and pestle and so also those of others provided one borrows them in the proper manner.

2. Atha Haoma,<sup>1</sup> atha apa, atha<sup>2</sup> Varrsa,<sup>3</sup> atha aiwydlonghana. The same « may be the » case with the sacred Haoma twigs; the same « may be the » case with the holy water; the same « may be the » case with the sacred Vars ring « for the electrification; and » the same « may be the » case with the sacred Barsôm band.<sup>3</sup>

3. Hava<sup>2</sup> nâ gava,<sup>2</sup> hava<sup>4</sup> aêsmâ, hava Barrsmana ratufri.<sup>2</sup> « Whereas » a person is in spiritual merit « only » by having one's own animal drink<sup>5</sup> « i.e., fresh milk », one's own fuel, « and » one's own Barsôm twigs<sup>6</sup>.

CHAPTER XXII

ON THE EXTENT TO WHICH THE THINGS FOR THE SERVICE SHOULD BE SOUGHT

1. Chvat aêtaêshâm<sup>7</sup> kâ-chût upô-isât? How far should one 193 A seek any whatsoever of those «things for the Holy Service»?

2. Yavat hâthrem. As<sup>8</sup> far as<sup>8</sup> « one » Hâsar « of two thousand feet ».

3. Yô aêtaêshâm oim<sup>9</sup> kâ-chût upô-isât; aêtavat apa-yaêsha<sup>10</sup>, As to him who might have sought any one « only » whatso-

The reason why some of the things can be borrowed and not others is not quite plain. But it may be supposed that things that cannot be borrowed must be understood to have greater essentiality of sacrifice.

<sup>7</sup> The text here adds the word Ahurânê; but it appears to be an error.

ever of those « things for the Holy Service », 'and have failed to get ready any more than' just that<sup>1</sup> much<sup>1</sup> « alone », antarr hâthrem-chit aêtê anyâ upô-isôit ; quite within a Hâsar's distance shall he seek those other, « i.e., » those<sup>2</sup> « other things for the Holy Service » ;

193 B 4. Yêzi nôit upô-isaiti, thri vâ âzditi, ayarr drâjô vâ vâstriydt. « Indeed » if he will not seek them and obtain them, he shall suffer 3 blows « with the weapon of the Spirit of the Moral Order », or shall toil the length of a day « in retribution, to render » the thanksgiving valid<sup>3</sup>.

5. Yô upô-isaiti, nôit vanasti, As to him who seeks those, « i.e., » those<sup>4</sup> « things for the Holy Service, and still » does not find them, an-â-stryêitê.<sup>5</sup> he is not rendered culpable « for that failure ; i.e., » after all he is guiltless even when he does not perform the Holy Thanksgiving Service « owing to that ».

6. <sup>6</sup> Varrstaschit <sup>7</sup> maghnentaschit <sup>8</sup> srâvayôit ;<sup>6</sup> Even as when

<sup>2</sup> If there is no error concerning this figure, then we must understand that the reference is just to those five things which one is allowed to borrow ;—viz., the Hâvana, the Haôma, the Ap, the Vars, and the Ayiwâhan. Of these the man is supposed to have only one ready with him ; the other four he has to seek out from within a Hâsar's distance.

If this is so, it may be inferred that whenever the man proceeds to a Holy Service he should invariably have ready those three things he cannot borrow.

<sup>3</sup> Certainly it could not be meant that the Service could be performed even without the things he should have sought out himself. Evidently those things must have been procured by others on his failure ; because otherwise the Service could not be performed at all.

<sup>4</sup> The text here has 3, but see line 11 of this folio, and note 2 above.

The text has 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬌 whereas Tehmurasp Fragment XII as well as the Pahlavi vashâtak-ach suggest vangharrstaschit as probably the right word here ; but as the form of the word here is fairly clear and is warranted by its previous occurrence at Fol. 160, l. 27, and because a contrast of ideas immediately follows and the expression here also may have such contrast, hence it is found best to keep the word as it appears in the text.

one is with<sup>1</sup> the « full decent » clothing<sup>1</sup>, so also when one is barely<sup>2</sup> covered,<sup>3</sup> one shall sing « the Holy Text » quite up to the commencement of the « next Holy » Book<sup>3</sup>; yêzi is<sup>4</sup>-cha nôit is-cha, nôit ashavanem<sup>5</sup> ain-istem<sup>6</sup> â-stârayêiti. « for », whether one is rich, as I « now » said,<sup>7</sup> « or » not rich, a holy man is not rendered culpable for want of means, « i.e., » when he cannot « afford to » perform the Holy Thanksgiving Service.<sup>8</sup>

7. Behold, throughout this « Sacred » Book<sup>9</sup>, its celebration by a novitiate<sup>10</sup> should go into retribution altogether.<sup>11</sup> Not a single 194 A

<sup>1</sup> Read a-vashâtak-ach. Vashâtak-ach is supposed to point to vashât-dûbâreshnûh i.e., going without the Sadrah and the Kôsti; but no such indication is here possible.

<sup>2</sup> Barâlnak-ach; i.e., without the full decent clothing, but not quite nude; because with the other essential of clothing at least the sacred vestures must be on.

<sup>3</sup> This appears to signify that he must sing through the whole of the sacred book. The verb srâvayôit above, suggests that the reference must be to all the texts of the Gâthas or, more comprehensively perhaps, of the entire Staota Yasnyas; and here that whole or any one complete chapter of its might be meant. See such injunctions as are given above in Nir. Bk. I, Chaps. IV, XIV, etc. Evidently it would be absurd to suppose the reference to be to this Fragart of the Nirangastân itself. Cf. the end of this Folio.

<sup>5</sup> The text has an-ashavanem but that is evidently wrong; cf. also Ervad Tehmurasp's Frag. XII which gives the correct reading, and to which the whole of this text also belongs.

<sup>6</sup> Ervad Tehmurasp's Frag. XII has ainistis = "want of wealth," which may in that case be taken as the subject of â-stârayêiti.

<sup>7</sup> As commanding the means of getting the full decent clothing.

<sup>8</sup> When a man is so very poor that he cannot even get the full decent clothing and is quite barely dressed, then he does not become a sinner if he cannot perform a Holy Service on account of his extreme poverty. He has simply to sing the Holy Text instead; and he shall thereby have performed as meritorious a deed as if he had performed the Holy Service itself.

The holy religion of the Mazdayasnas has always been considerate towards the poor while demanding the fulfilment of its injunctions; see, for instance, such liberal exemptions as at Nir. Bk. I, Chap. VIII App. B. 12, and Nir. Bk. II, Chap. XI. Indeed poverty is no sin in itself; so when poverty prevents a man from achieving anything which sacred duty commands and which he is anxious to carry out, he must not become culpable through that disability.

man should perform it indifferently except the pure<sup>1</sup> man<sup>1</sup> vangharr-stas-chit<sup>2</sup> 'even though without the « full decent » clothing',—and as there is one who says, « except » rathwê<sup>3</sup> upa su-varrzê<sup>4</sup> '« the pure poor man » in beneficial service to a master.'<sup>5</sup>

CONCLUDING GLORIFICATION

Ashem Vohû Vahistem astî<sup>6</sup>; Righteousness is the Highest Boon,<sup>7</sup> that is to say, the storing<sup>8</sup> of Virtue<sup>8</sup> is excellent;—ustâ astî; ustâ ahmâi hyat Ashdî Vahistdî Ashem.—blessed is « that » Righteousness; and blessed<sup>9</sup> « is that » for one to whom « there must result » from one's blessedness the blessedness for every one whatsoever<sup>9</sup>, « when » one must render Righteousness proclaimed<sup>10</sup> to others<sup>11</sup> as Righteousness 'the Most Excellent Good', i.e., « when » one must practise it oneself and must preach it to others<sup>12</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> Vangh = to have clothing + harrz = to strip + ta, the past participle suffix + s the sign of the nominative + chit.

<sup>5</sup> A man so poor as to lack even the lawful clothing, and a man so poor as to have to serve a master in honest but humble way, are too poor to observe all the requisitions of the Holy Creed, and are therefore exempted from such duties. See note 8 on previous page.

<sup>6</sup> The text is wrongly divided in the original.

<sup>9</sup> This is merely the translation of the celebrated first line of the Ushtavaiti Gâtha; and the Pahlavi writer here has seen a close relation between that line and the Ashem Vohû formula.

The meaning of the statement is that the most blessed man is he to whom the right blessing is that which is the blessing of every one,—in other words, who recognises his own good in the good of all.

<sup>10</sup> Lit. "must render it that which makes proclaimed." The word 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬎𐬎𐬎 may be read yôkhsinîtâr, and taken as a causal agentive noun traceable to Av. 𐬨𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬎𐬎 = to proclaim.

<sup>12</sup> I.e., he must set Righteousness before others as realised in himself.

THE POSTSCRIPT

As <sup>1</sup> regards him who performs the Worship of the Divine Being 194 B without any doubt about the Divine Being and with « an assurance of » the reality <sup>2</sup> of things, such a one « is like » a child to the Divine Being, and his place is in the Supreme <sup>3</sup> Heavenly Condition of Spiritual Harmony.<sup>3</sup>

---

The copyist has here appended a note in Persian which reads: "Completed on the 3rd day of the 2nd month of the year 1097 Yazdajardi, (by) the copyist Jâmâsp, the son of Mûbed Âsâji, the son of Faridûn, a resident of Naôsâri." But it is completely repeated in the Pahlavi Colophon given at the end.

<sup>1</sup> This and the following three paragraphs before the Colophon belong to the sayings of Saint Âtrôpât Mahraspand, which are quoted in the Sixth Book of the Dînkard, and classed as D, § 1 by Dastur Darabji in his edition.

It is evident that the Glorification of Righteousness which has just preceded concludes a Fragart; but it is not quite clear whether these paragraphs which follow it, are intentionally placed here to be a postscript to the work, or represent simply a page originally belonging to some MS of the Dînkard and thence attached to the MS of the Nîrangastân through mistake, even before it was copied. This last may appear just possible; but the text can also stand as quite an apt postscript.

This word opens the concluding benediction of the copyist.

<sup>5</sup> See ll. 13—14 of this folio.

<sup>7</sup> The MS. of the Nīrangastān is said to have been first brought to India in 1090 A. Y., i.e., only about seven years before this copy was prepared. Hence this may signify that a hundred and fifty years ago some people in Naôsâri had made up their minds to get a copy of the Nīrangastān which though probably not in India at the time, yet must have been known here then ; because, the writer of the original copy brought here, was just that Shahpur Jamasp who wrote the letter which Nariman Hoshang brought to India from Iran in 847 A. Y. ; and Shahpur had copied the work seven years before this date. Hence people in India might have heard about the Nīrangastān so early as 847 A. Y. or 250 years before this copy HJ was prepared in 1097 A. Y. Indeed HJ is simply a later copy of the previous transcript prepared by this Shahpur whose colophon is copied in HJ folio 1, ll. 17-19 thus : " I the servant of the Religion Shapuhar Jâmâsp Shatrōyâr Tahworōin Shatrōyâr prepared ( this ) copy in the year 840 of Yazdajard."

<sup>2</sup> It seems to be meant that 150 years previously Jâmâsp's grandfather had undertaken to procure and prepare a copy of this work, but owing to one reason or another it could not be procured till 1090 A. Y., and the copy could not be taken till Jâmâsp wrote it seven years after.

Of course it must be remembered that even if TD is older, it has come to India very recently.
